Japs Abandon Holmahera Isle

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, August 22 — Japan is withdrawing her planes from the Moluccas and ripping up the abandoned dromes, leaving that island cluster south of the Philippines wide open for Allied invasion.

Largest island of the Moluccas group, also known as the Spice Islands, is Halmahera, 200 miles west of New Guinea and only 300 south of Mindanao.

Announcing that "under constant punishment, the enemy is apparently withdrawing his air forces to bases further westward beyond our bomber range," an Allied communique said Monday.

"This will make possible an advance westward without the necessity of costly frontal assaults to clear the way.

"Our Air Force is continuing its pressure but is finding many enemy air bases,, non-operating and other stripped of planes.

"The enemy is no longer contesting the air over the Moluccas." The communique added that the Molucca chain was being "strategically sterilized and divided into its component links," leaving the numerous garrisons there impotent for anything but local action.

Air patrols near Celebes damaged a 3,000-ton freighter and sank a 500-ton coastal vessel Saturday, while fighters sweeping Ceram Island, South of Halmahera, destroyed or damaged a small freighter, three coastal vessels and six barges.

TRIPLED IN TWENTY YEARS!
In the years 1923 to 1943, Bell Telephone plant in service has increased from 79 millions to over 234 millions.
THAT'S a lot of money . . . and a lot of plant. But when war came, those twenty years of long-range planning and large-scale development are what made it possible for the telephone to handle an unprecedented load with so little let-down in quality of service.
Today, extensions and new installations are strictly limited to those dictated by war necessity. But tomorrow the work will go on; tomorrow, new investments in telephone facilities will keep pace with new knowledge and new needs.

FRENCH FORCES LIBERATE PARIS CITY

Reds Drive Nearer Ploesti Oil

Romanian Campaign In High Gear
Bucharest In Turmoil

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 23—(AP).—A new Red Army offensive, probably designed to knock Romania out of the war and break Hitler's grip on the Balkans, smashed forward today on a 150-mile front beyond Iasi to within 180 miles of Bucharest and 155 of the great Ploesti oil centre.

Advancing over the bodies of 25,000 Germans slain in three days while 12,665 others trudged wearily back to prison cages, Red Army groups under Generals Rodion Y. Malinovsky and Fedor I. Tolbukhin drove within 51 miles of the mouth of the Danube.

German shock troops tried to stiffen war-weary Rominian divisions as Russian tanks rolled at least 10 miles of Iasi. Tolbukhin's drive through Bessarabia headed cross country for a junction with Malinovsky in the Galati gap, the capture of which would make much of the Balkan area untenable for the enemy. Advances ranged to 44 miles. The Bessarabian capital of Chisinau was left trapped in a deep pocket on the Dnestr.

Many In Panic.

As the Red Army drive into Romania went through its fourth day, Bucharest was reported in panic with many of Premier Antonescu's formerly fanatical supporters openly discussing the chances of suing for peace. Each mile the Red Army advanced strengthened peace tremors in Bulgaria, too, and gave new hope to Yugoslavia and Greece.

Romania, besides being Germany's greatest oil reservoir, is one of her largest breadbaskets.

Announcing last night that the two-pronged attack began four days ago, a Russian communique said the 2nd and 3rd Ukranian Front Armies of Generals Rodion Y. Malinovsky and Feodor Tolbrukhin had swept through more than 350 towns, top-

Mortar Showers Reporter's Jeep

By ROBERT KIRK
Aneta War Correspondent.

WITH THE NETHERLANDS FORCES IN FRANCE, August 23—(CP-Aneta). — Reporters entering Deauville yesterday with an advance party of a Netherlands artillery unit had a narrow escape as the Germans made a last, desperate effort to recapture the resort on the Bay of the Seine.

A mortar shell scattered shrapnel over the jeep driven by Pat O'Hagan, of Sudbury, Ont., in which the press party was riding. My camera was pierced and Photographer Hendrik Jansen of London, England, had a close call when a piece of shrapnel plunged into the camera he had slung in front of him.

We were an advance party of a Netherlands artillery unit, temporarily detached from the Princess Irene Brigade, serving with the 1st Canadian Army, and incorporated with a famous British artillery regiment.

The Anglo-Dutch artillery force reached Deauville ahead of the bulk of the infantry as the 1st Canadian Army's sweep up the Channel coast continued. Netherlanders and Belgian troops are taking part in this sweep with the Canadians and the Britons of the 1st Canadian Army.

Deauville was reached late yesterday shortly after Cabourg and Houlgate fell before the onrushing Allies.

To Meet In France

LONDON, Aug. 23—(CP).—The Daily Herald said today that plans were being made for Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt to be present at the triumphal Allied march into Paris "if that is practical."

The Daily Mail, in an article by Don Iddon, also said that a conference between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill would "take place within a matter of weeks on French soil."

Japan Rushing Reserves To Philippines

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Japan, recipient of many a stinging Allied blow in recent months, stands like a boxer awaiting the next punch.

Where will it fall, and who will launch it? Not one opponent but many, circle Japan. Will British land and naval forces strike from the southeast, or are more island defences in the Pacific to be assaulted?

The disaster that appears to be rushing on Germany underlines the mounting danger. Britain has given repeated assurances that additional manpower and naval strength will be diverted to the Pacific theatre once Germany has been defeated. Canadian officers are learning the technique of Pacific fighting with American units and the R.C.A.F. is studying lying requirements in that theatre. Australian army, navy and air force units already are co-operating with the Americans in considerable strength.

A Ghost Force

Unpleasant things are doubtless brewing in the Southeast Pacific area, where Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten is Allied commander-in-chief, with headquarters in Ceylon. Admiral Mountbatten, noted for his audacity as a destroyer and then a commando force commander, is likely to hit with sudden savagery at the Japanese in his theatre.

A "Ghost Force" of 14th Army raiders, made up of Indian troops who ranged widely behind the Japanese lines during the operations in which the enemy was driven out of India's Manipur Province, sounds like a typical Mountbatten innovation. They lived off the country, killing hundreds of Japanese retreating into Burma.

The Japanese also are anticipating "fresh offensive operations" in the area north of Australia, according to a recent Tokyo dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio.

Chinese reports say the Japanese are pouring reinforcements into the Philippines and Formosa to meet an Allied onslaught and are believed to be bolstering defences in the Canton area against a feared landing on the China coast.

A recent Associated Press dispatch from Chungking said the feeling in the Chinese capital was that the Allied advance through Japanese island positions in the Pacific must have revealed some unexpected enemy weaknesses enabling a speedier execution of plans to defeat Japan by land, sea and air.

Puts One Over On Major

Canadian Weds Daughter Of English Major

WELLAND, Aug. 23 — (CP). — Trooper Lloyd Cross of the Three Rivers Regiment is home here on furlough after service in Sicily and Italy with a story of marrying the daughter of an English major who had him before a military court of inquiry for failure to salute.

It was in London's Victoria Station in 1942 that Cross failed to salute. A Major Wood rebuked him acidly and inquired for his number and unit. Next thing Cross knew he was before the court which cleared him after his advocate made contentions about saluting in various zones.

Happy to get out of that predicament, Cross went to a restaurant, where he met a pretty girl. They engaged in an animated conversation and the Welland man learned she was Ethel Emily Wood, daughter of the bristling major.

At the reception which followed the wedding several months later, the major proposed a toast to the bride and groom, saying with a twinkle in his eye: "I never dreamed that this brazen Canadian would become my son-in-law."

Canadians 30 Miles Past Falaise

Piles Of Germans Lying Dead Along Pocket Roads

BY ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE, Aug. 23 — (CP Cable) — In the five days since the capture of Falaise the 1st Canadian Army has played a big part in the battles of the Falaise pocket and Trun gap and has pushed 30 miles east of Falaise.

South of the Canadian Army units of the British 2nd Army also are pushing east and with the Americans already on the Seine between Paris and Rouen a great Allied Army in swinging around to trap the German forces still west of the Seine in another huge pocket.

As the drive to the Seine on this northern flank went into high gear, the last groups of Germans encircled in the Trun area were being mopped up.

Late yesterday I passed through Trun, after roaming over roads southeast of the town where the Germans suffered some of their heaviest losses in efforts to escape through the gap. What were probably the last batches of prisoners were coming in from the plain and woods beyond the town.

They were beaten men and looked it. They simply stumbled down Trun's main street to prisoner-of-war cages, the last dregs of a defeated army.

Later in Caen I passed 25 big truck-loads of prisoners being taken to the beaches for ships to England. They were just as sorry a looking crowd as the ones in Trun.

On roads winding over the sodden hills southeast of Trun I saw the remains of 7th Army columns which tried and failed to get through the gap. The carnage was terrible. There were spots where the enemy dead were piled by the score along the roads and the muddy ditches ran red with German blood.

Roads Littered

Weapons littered the roads and fields were covered with broken ammunition and ration boxes. Big, squat Panther tanks were knocked out or abandoned in ditches and hedges, some of them still smoking.

The most grisly sights of the war were seen along these tree-flanked roads winding eastward. Dead horses lie grotesquely along the escape route. One can't go 100 yards without passing shattered trucks, tanks, half-tracks and self-propelled guns. For miles and miles this havoc goes on.

These columns were not shot up by aircraft as much as those on the plains south of Trun. These were ambushed by Polish and Canadian troops in narrow defiles in the woods. They were ambushed by sights by tank gunners and they were torn to pieces.

I doubt if more than a few hundred Germans ever got over these roads and thousands must have tried. Now all that remains is this carnage and the sickening smell of death that clings to everything.

Saturation Raid Hits Jap Isle

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Aug. 23 —(AP) — Unchallenged heavy and medium bombers have poured 245 tons of bombs on Halmahera, last island barrier between Allied southwest Pacific forces and the Philipinnes, during two days.

A record 135-ton bombing, which destroyed eight parked planes, supply dumps and defence positions and sank a freighter, was reported to-day against that octopus-shapad Japanese base. A 110-ton strike had been announced yesterday.

Considering Halmahera's topography— much of its 6,700 square miles are unexplored jungle wilds and only a few coastal sectors are of military use— these are mighty blows.

They are being stepped up more than a week after its airfields were rendered useless to the enemy and its garrison has been weakened by continuous sinkings of small ships trying to sneak down with supplies from the Philippines.

Other air blows by planes based in the Marshalls and Marianas and extending over 90,000 square miles of ocean were reported from Pearl Harbor yesterday.

Near Marcus Island, little more than 1,000 mile southeast of Tokoyo, two supply ships were left burning. Other planes combed the Carolines chain.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Aug. 23—(AP).—B. L. Fagin, who hoped to settle lengthy arguments about Payette Lake's legendary sea serpent, is a disappointed man. Color pictures he snapped of the monster six weeks ago came back today—blank. "The film was underexposed," he explained ruefully. Fagin described it as a greenish-yellow, snake-like thing, 30 feet long, with a tail like an airplane rudder.

Flaming Plane Crashes Infants' School

MANCHESTER, England, Aug. 23 —(CP Cable).—A flaming American bomber crashed into the heart of the Lancashire village of Freckleton today, killed at least 50 persons — 34 of them small children—injured 30 others and left an indefinite number unaccounted for.

The big machine, enveloped in flames, crashed into the infants' department of a church school, left it a mass of burning wreckage, bounced across the main street into a former garage where between 20 and 30 servicemen were sheltering, wrecked it, and then set fire to all the central section of the village.

Fire brigades from all neighboring communities raced to the scene of havoc, where rescue workers were braving the flames to dig through the wreckage in search of little bodies.

It was a difficult task to recover the bodies from the heated rubble and it was impossible to make immediately an accurate count of the casualties.

But at least 50 bodies were recovered and were carried by teams of stretcher-bearers to an improvised mortuary, where residents waited to identify their missing kin.

All the dead children were under five years of age and some of them were infants. Among them were some who had been sent away from London to escape the robot bombings.

Some Soldiers Die.

Bodies of 16 adults—including three American soldiers—had been recovered late this afternoon and rescue workers said they expected they would find more bodies among the wreckage of the former garage which had been turned into a serviceman's canteen.

Half the school, which only yesterday had re-assembled after summer vacations, was demolished, including the infants' department which housed 41 tots.

The plane, according to an eyewitness who was standing at a window at the time, was flying low, suddenly burst into flames, turned over on its back, "crashed into the top of the school and flashed across

To Continue Lend-Lease Aid Until Nazis, Japs Defeated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 — (CP) — President Roosevelt told Congress today that lend-lease aid should continue until the unconditional surrender of both Japan and Germany and emphasized that United States lend-lease has been solely for the defence of the United States.

The President's report covering the operations of the Act since March, 1941, to June 30, 1944, during which total lend-lease has reached $28,270,000,000, of which $4,000,000,000 was distributed during the quarter ended June 30.

Apparently taking note of statements by some persons that this vast program of Allied aid should be curtailed or dropped after Germany is defeated, the President, in forwarding a quarterly report to Congress, asserted:

"We should not permit any weakening of this system of combined war supply to delay final victory a single day . . ."

"We know that by combining our power we can speed the day of certain victory. We know also that only by continuing our unity can we secure a just and durable peace."

The President said lend-lease is playing a vital role in current offensives that find the Allies "moving relentlessly along the roads which lead to Berlin and Tokyo."

This report comes at a time when Congress is bothered by rumors that a move is afoot to carry lend-lease operations to the United Kingdom into the post-war period.

The State Department has denied in general terms that such an extension is being considered but did not rule out the possibility.

Britain Benefits Most.

More than 43 per cent of total lend lease has gone to the United Kingdom and 27.5 per cent to Russia.

50,000 Armed Men Defeat Garrison Holding French City

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 23—(AP). — Paris shook loose the shackles of four years of enemy bondage today and stood free once more, liberated by armed and unarmed tens of thousands of Frenchmen who swept the Nazis from the city's street, while Allied armed might drew up around the capital. A special communique from Gen. De Gaulle's headquarters in London announced the liberation after four days of street fighting that recalled scenes of Bastille Day when the mobs of Paris once before struck an historic blow for liberty. This time, the communique said, the fight was led by 50,000 organized French forces of the interior, bolstered by hundreds of thousands more who joined in with whatever weapons they could find.

The announcement touched off broadcasts to Frenchmen everywhere as the triumphant strains of "La Marseillaise" sounded again to the news of a French victory.

There was no word immediately that Allied troops had entered the city.

But the French said they had seized all public buildings, won complete control of the situation, and captured all the Vichy representatives who had not fled.

Paris, the city of light, was back in French hands just four years and 74 days from the time Adolf Hitler's troops marched in. German troops, then at the flood tide of conquest, entered June 14, 1940.

First Capital Freed

The city became the first continental capital of a full-fledged ally to be freed from German domination. Rome has been taken, but Italy started the war as an enemy and now is a co-belligerent.

Gen. De Gaulle conferred with Gen. Eisenhower in France two days ago—presumably on details of civil affairs control of the capital which once more is the pride of all France.

(The BBC reported today the head of the French Committee of National Liberation had arrived in Rennes on the Brittany peninsula, after visiting Coutances, Avranches and a number of other liberated French cities.)

There was no announcement after the De Gaulle-Eisenhower conference. It seemed likely the French, who freed the capital, would be allowed to administer it.

There was no indication in the French communique what casualties had been inflicted on the German forces or how many had been captured. Allied airmen for two days have been reporting the Nazis pulling out of the city to the east over every road.

When the end finally came for the Germans, they had as little chance

Canuck Units Advancing At Great Speed

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY WEST OF THE SEINE, Aug. 23 —(CP Cable)—Canadian Army armor and infantry drove eastward today in a relentless offensive which swept up town after town and promised to carry them swiftly to the River Seine.

On a score of roads British and Canadian troops are moving as they never have moved before in France. Infantry are making forced marches day and night and shuttle services of trucks are rushing many of them straight to the forward areas.

The Canadians are advancing so fast that headquarters staffs can scarcely keep abreast of reports of new gains pouring in from the quickly-changing battlefront.

Infantry are on roads which run a scant five miles to the mouth of the great river. Tank regiments are thundering through village after village, pacing the guns and supply columns behind them.

Dauville has fallen to the Belgians, British troops are cleaning up Pont L'Eveque and are moving on from there and from captured Lisieux. Farther south the Canadians are driving forward from Orbec, 15 miles east of Vimoutiers, after a stiff fight.

At several points the Germans are fighting clever rearguard actions, but they are being overwhelmed as they were in Dauville, Lisieux and Pont L'Eveque.

Nothing can stop this avalanche bursting through to the Seine.

The dash of British and Canadian airborne troops along the coastal flank has been one of the sensations of the present advance. They burst from the narrow bridghead which had been fiercely held since D-Day and swept eastward in the role of infantry.

Bombers Wreck Vienna Area

ROME, Aug. 23—(AP).—Several hundred American heavy bombers and fighters fought through large forces of Nazi interceptors today and bombed military installations in the Vienna area of Austria for the second straight day. Medium bombers attacked rail bridges in Southern France near Lyons.

Particularly heavy opposition was encountered at the Markersdorf airdrome, 35 miles west of Vienna. A number of Nazis were destroyed there.

A German radio said the aircraft centre of Weiner Neustadt also was attacked.

The four-engine craft also bombed Po River railway bridges at Ferrarra.

The flight to Lyons was the deepest penetration of Southern France yet for medium bombers based in Italy. Other planes continued the methodical destruction of rolling stock used by the retreating Germans in Southern France.

Fifty-seven German planes were shot down yesterday when they attempted to oppose the Allied bombing assault against Silesian and Austrian oil targets.

Allied losses were 39 heavy bombers and six other aircraft, from all operations.

Approximately 200 Nazi fighters attacked American formations which bombed oil refineries, storage tanks and other vital fuel installations in daylight at Odertal in German Silesia and at Korneuburg and Lobau near Vienna.

The fiercest battles were fought by heavy bombers and escorting fighters over Lobau where flak also was intense.

Armored Column 160 Miles From Hun Border

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 23 (AP)—Allied columns hammered in a tightening trap today on Germans falling back in a "rout" on the Lower Seine and speared deep southeast of Paris in menacing new drives 160 miles from the German border.

Canadian and British troops scored advances of 10 to 15 miles in the chase of the battered German 7th Army toward the Lower Seine from the disastrous Falaise trap. On the English Channel coast, the Canadians battled some seven miles across the Seine estuary from Le Havre. Germans in that port lobbed shells across the water.

A U.S. armored column plunged beyond Sense, 58 miles southeast of Paris. It stood but 160 miles from the Reich's frontier.

Between Sens and Paris, the American 3rd Army was operating in woods near Fontainebleau. In this sector the Americans had thrown a bridgehead over the Upper Seine.

While the British and Canadians pushed to the Lower Seine, U.S. units hit down the Seine toward the season, bringing in the eastern jaw of the pincers.

They menaced Evruex and Vernon, about 50 miles from the Seine's mouth.

Allied airmen declared the German retreat had appearances of a rout. By ferry and rubber boats, the enemy attempted to escape across the Seine at about 30 points, under a hail of bullets and cannon shells from low-swooping Allied planes.

Supreme Headquarters declared 40,000 to 50,000 Germans had been captured in the Falaise pocket, with the Nazis dead still uncounted.

(One Berlin broadcast said the U.S. bridgehead across the Lower Seine—presumably referring to the Mantes area 25 miles northwest of Paris—had been liquidated in a German counterattack.

(The Germans reported fighting south of Paris, and said the "20th American Army Corps" was striking toward Nemours and Montereau, both about 40 miles southeast of the capital.)

Supreme Headquarters this evening had no confirmation of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's announcement that Paris had been liberated, with its own citizens rising to expel the enemy.

The city had been outflanked by American bridgeheads across the Seine to the northwest and southeast and some radio reports, which were not confirmed at Supreme Headquarters, already placed American tanks at Meaux, less than 25 miles from Chateau-Thierry, scene of bitter fighting in the First Great War.

The new Allied tap of Field Marshal Gen. Guenther von Kluges riddled forces along the left bank of the Seine appeared to be closing on all sides as the Germans gave up all attempt at an organized rearguard action.

At the Seine crossings Allied planes hammered the German troops and were expected to deliver still more punishment today as the weather showed signs of clearing.

Other German troops fled toward

Allies Reach Grenoble For Big Gain

140 Miles North Of French Coast In Surprise Thrust

By NOLAND NORGAARD,
Associated Press Staff Writer,

ROME, Agu. 23 — (AP) — American troops of the 7th Army, in a spectacular surprise thrust deep into southern France through German defences, have entered the large industrial city of Grenoble, 140 airline miles north of the Mediterranean coast it was announced to-day.

A swift-moving armored and motorized infantry column plunged into the city, long a hotbed of the French patriot movement, with "French forces of the interior playing an effective support role," Allied Headquarters said.

This quick advance put Maj.-Gen. Alexander M. Patch's forward elements within less than 240 airline miles from the most southerly points officially announced as reached by American troops south of Paris, and it appeared that the two Allied French points would be joined much sooner than originally thought possible.

Grenoble, 58 miles southeast of Lyon and situated on a river leading directly to the Rhone Valley 30 miles to the west, is 80 miles or more beyond the last reported Allied positions in southern France.

Lying in the French Alps, the city has a population of approximately 100,000 and is a rail centre on the Paris-Lyon-Marseille route.

Towns taken by the Americans en route to Grenoble include Digne, Sisteron, Aspres, Gap, St. Bonnet and L'Argentiere, the latter 35 miles from the Swiss frontier and for all practical purposes already had sealed off the Nazi forces in southern France from communicaion with the enemy in northwestern Italy.

The Allies also were in position, by striking westward, to cut off German units reported fleeing from the Mediterranean beachhead along

Butter Output Drops Sharply

TORONTO, Aug. 23 (CP)—The Ontario Department of Agriculture said today in its monthly dairy report for July that the output of creamery butter was down in every section of the province. Production amounted to 9,074,000 pounds, a decrease of 12.3 per cent from July, 1943, when output amounted to 10,350,000 pounds. Production for the first seven months of 1944 totalled 44,975,000 pounds, a reduction of 12.2 per cent from the same period last year which stood at 51,234,000 pounds.

Butter stocks in Toronto warehouses on Aug. 1 show an increase from 4,466,000 pounds to 5,592,000 pounds from the previous month and dairy factory stocks are also up.

Cheddar cheese production shows a 5.4 per cent decrease from a year ago, output being 16,094,000 pounds. Stocks at cheese factories were down from the previous month although higher than the same month last year.

Commercial dairy sales of fluid milk for June 1944, amounted to 34,247,000 quarts valued at $3,560,600 which is substantially higher than in June 1943. Fluid cream sales were up from June 1943, at 1,021,000 qurats valued at $461,400. Production of condensed, evaporated and powdered milk during June was 20,665,000 pounds more than 2,000,000 pounds more than the previous month and somewhat more than in June, 1943, when output amounted to 20,200,000 pounds.

Patriots Get New Warning

Huns Threaten Italians Aiding Allies

ROME, Aug. 23 — (CP) — Increasing severity of enemy treatment of Italian patriots harassing the Nazi rear areas in northern Italy was disclosed by the 8th Army's capture of an order from Colonel Von Hofman, which decreed immediate shooting of "anyone assisting the criminal and treacherous Partisans by giving them food or lodging."

He announced he would support "any officer who exceeds our customary degree of restraint in his choice of measures for dealing with the Partisans," adding, "all civilians arrested in the course of reprisals against the Partisans will be sent to concentration camps and shipped to Germany as laborers."

Only minor activity was reported on the entire Italian front, with the Poles continuing to clear the enemy from their few remaining positions on the south side of the Metauro River on the Adriatic sector.

The Allied command announced that the total number of prisoners taken since the landings had risen to more than 17,000.

Inside Toulon French troops yesterday blazed their way to points half-way between the railway tracks which bisect the city. The naval arsenal was half a mile away and the docks only a few thousand yards.

The desperate defenders, trying to emulate the Nazi last ditch fights in Cherbourg and St. Malo, fought from well prepared positions with support of heavy coastal guns and depressed anti-aircraft guns. French forces battling their way from the east reached Pradet.

Encirclement of Marseille continued on a broad front, with American forces sweeping around to the west and last reported only a dozen miles short of closing the gap. French forces attacking frontally fought forward to three miles from the city's outskirts. American columns were fighting three miles from the Etang de Berre, a virtually landlocked body of water northwest of the city.

In the course of the Marseille encircling movement, French forces pushed on to high ground northeast of the city.

A dispatch from Associated Press War Correspondent Edward Kennedy said the main German resistance in the area was on another high ridge dominating approach roads from the east. Kennedy said haze and smoke rising from the harbor indicated the Germans were demolishing installations there.

American troops rolling westward from Aix-en-Provence, 15 miles north of Marseille, passed through Velaux in a nine-mile gain. Another column was beyond Euilles, northwest of Aix.

In a march westward down the Durance Valley on both sides of the river of the same name, Allied spearheads were several miles beyond Cadnet and only 28 from Avignon, on the Rhone River.

Garrison Wiped Out

Premier Stalin announced the fall of Iasi in an order of the day. Russian forces first drew up before the city last April. A communique said "the large garrison was wiped out to the last man" in 24 hours of street fighting.

Gen. Malinovsky's troops also threw German and Romanian forces out of Mironeasa, 16 miles southwest of Iasi; Targu-Frumos, 27 miles to the west, and Ungheni-Targ, 10 miles east on the Prut river, the Soviet communique said.

On the southwest the 3rd Ukrainian Army drove beyond the ancient fortress town of Tighina and captured Cimislia and Tarutino, 44 miles from the starting point. Among 150 other towns that fell was Volintiri, 60 miles from the Danube's mouth.

(At Tarutino Gen. Tolbukin's troops were some 70 miles northeast of the Galati gateway leading both to Ploesti and Bucharest, the Romanian capital.)

In conjunction with the new offensives Red Army planes raided Constanta, Black Sea port 135 miles down the coast. A communique said two transports, five auxiliary craft and four barges were sunk. Other vessels were damaged and an oil refinery set afire.

Bomb Toll Heavy

Six hundred German tanks, vehicles and locomotives fell before the guns and bombs of Allied planes, Supreme Headquarters said, while a belated German air force attempt to give fleeing Nazi ground troops cover resulted in the destruction of 37 enemy aircraft.

In the eastward drive along a front extending for 50 airline miles from the English Channel coast southward to Gace; a series of towns toppled. Netherlands and Belgian forces of the 1st Canadian Army thrust along the coast, taking Trouville, Villers-Sur-Mer and Deauville, famous holiday resorts in peacetime.

Farther inland, Canadian and British forces engulfed Lisieux and Laigle.

Allied Headquarters said Pont L'Eveque, 10 miles north of Lisieux, also has been captured.

On the inland side of the giant trap being forged for the German forces still remaining southwest of the Seine River American troops pushed towards the sea on a course parallel to the Seine, reaching points near Evreux and Vernon.

The whole German area south of the river was contracting rapidly, with indications that the present pace would wipe out German resistance anywhere south of the river within the next 48 to 60 hours.

Normandy Disaster Tops Stalingrad

LONDON, Aug. 23 (CP) — The BBC, in a broadcast beamed today to the German army, quoted a British military expert as saying that "the amount of German troops and material destroyed in Northern France is greater than at Stalingrad."

The Germans were told in the broadcast that of about 750,000 German troops thrown into the battle in France, "more than half have been killed, taken prisoner or wounded . . . and the rest face even a greater trap . . ."

that while more than $400,000,000 worth of lend-lease has gone to Canada, it was for trans-shipment to the United Kingdom or other United Nations for further fabrication or for the use of United Nations forces training in Canada.

No lend lease aid is furnished to the Canadian government.

The Lend-Lease Act was extended this year until June 30, 1945. Some legislators have said this government should not be too hasty about extending it again if Germany collapses meantime. Certain government officials, though, have felt the Act should continue to apply to Britain after the war has been reduced to operations against Japan, while others believe the aid should go to countries in the European theatre only to the extent that it directly helps to defeat Japan.

Over 3 Billions

Reverse lend-lease was estimated in value at more than $3,000,000,000. The report emphasized, however, that ultimate measurement of aid given and received could be found only in terms of battles won enemies killed and captured, and hundreds of thousands of lives saved, rather than in dollar figures.

The report said the geographical position and material strength of the United States have called upon it to give most toward winning the war in production and in money, while the major Allies are giving more in lives, destruction of their homelands, and in suffering of their people.

Aid furnished since the lend-lease program began nearly 3½ years ago includes 30,900 planes, 15 per cent of American output. Allies purchased another 7,000 for cash and the United States retained 175,000.

This country also has leased, 1,400 naval vessels of all types, the great majority being landing craft, patrol, torpedo boats and similar craft, but including a "few score" larger combat vessels, such as convoy escort aircraft carriers and corvettes.

Other aid has included 511 cargo ships of 1,000 gross tons or over and 1,284 merchant and auxiliary craft of under 1,000 gross tons; 26,900 tanks and 637,600 ordnance vehicles, jeeps and trucks. The Allies have purchased an additional 1,600 tanks and 270,000 trucks, with the United States retaining for its own use 36,500 tanks and 1,500,000 other military motor vehicles.

Parisians Mark Boches For Death

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (CP) — The BBC said today that hand bills had appeared in Paris, as the underground prepare for the day of liberation, which carried the message: "Mark down your Boche. There will be enough to go around."

The broadcast, recorded by the Office of War Information, said that the Germans, fearful of the Parisians, were camping in the Place de la Concorde. Strongpoints have been established in the big hotels such as the Scribe, the Majestic, and the Crillon, it was said, and the Gestapo have fortified their main office, while branch offices have been reinforced by the German army.

Digging Cellars

TORONTO, Aug. 23—(CP).—Fifteen city hall employees will join the "pick and shovel commandos" today on vacant lots in an effort to speed building of new wartime homes to relieve the shortage. On Monday 12 Canadian Legion members volunteered their services and more veteran volunteers are expected shortly.

Huns In Rout Airmen Claim

LONDON, Aug. 23 —(CP —Allied aerial forces resumed their assaults upon the fleeing Germans in Northern France as the weather showed sings of clearing to-day and headquarters announced they had smashed 600 assorted tanks, locomotives, railway cars and other vehicles in sweeps from the Seine river mouth to south of Paris in the last 24 hours.

The Germans were reported in a rout, attempting to cross the Seine in 30 places west of Paris in a motley fleet of craft which included many collapsible rubber boats.

The German radio, meanwhile, announced that for the third straight day Allied Mediterranean-based bombers and fighters were attacking targets in the Danube region.

From their northern bases, the Allied air forces yesterday flew 1,400 sorties— only about one-eighth of their D-day record but much better than the previous day, when the weather stopped all flying.

The battered German air force threw 100 or more planes into the battle area. Thirty-one were shot down and six more were destroyed on the ground against a loss of two Allied planes reported so far.

Education Lack Irks Coldwell

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 23 — (CP) — An address here by M. J. Coldwell, National C. C. F. leader, highlighted last night's activities in the New Brunswick election campaign.

Mr. Coldwell said the issues of next Monday's election were education, health and housing, and said he was "appalled" at what he termed the "neglect" of education in the province by recent governments.

It was time for a national plan to restore control of Canada's resources to the people. The Dominion had done a fine war job but just as big a job would follow the war's end.

Hugh Mackay, Progressive Conservative leader, has been busy campaigning in his own constituency of Kings during the past few days. Both Mr. Mackay and the Liberal leader, Premier J. B. McNair, will wind up the radio broadcasting phase of their campaigns Friday night.

For the past nine days forest fires have interfered with the comparatively quiet campaign and forced cancellation or postponement of numerous speaking engagements

The Belgians and Netherlanders were with them. Cabourg was captured. Houlgate was invested and leaving the Netherlands troops to clean it up, the airborne troops to their maroon berets and sloppy battle smocks struck on.

They captured Villers-sur-mer and, as an officer said today, "played in every casino along the resort coast right to Deauville and Trouville."

The Germans put up heavy resistance in several towns and in some woods but could not stop these parachute and glider men. This was the first chance they had had to run wild and they had the time of their lives.

They had little transport, but loaded their jeeps with eight or 10 parachutists in each and scotted over roads and fields. They manhandled their own guns along the roads, infiltrated behind the Germans and cut them up.

The steeply-banked Risle River is the chief barrier which Canadian and British forces must overcome before they reach the Seine.

The Canadians beyond Orbec are now about 16 miles from the Risle according to last reports, which may be far behind the actual fighting.

As troops on the coastal flank get near the Seine they come within range of big coastal guns at Le Havre on the north bank of the River. Already there has been some shelling from this area.

The skies today were clear and the muddy roads were rapidly drying up, permitting an increase in the speed of the advance.

"Within a few minutes," the witness said, "the whole building was a mass of flames."

The plane plunged almost in the centre of the village, setting afire the whole area. Several other buildings were wrecked or burned.

Forty-one children of the school's enrolment of 180 were known to have been in the building at the time and a few hours after the crash the bodies of 31 had been recovered.

A procession of four stretcher-bearer parties took the bodies to an improvised mortuary as they were recovered from the scattered debris by rescue workers who were extending their efforts with all the aid they could enlist.

Fire brigades from all the surrounding districts wear called to deal with the flames that broke out in the wrecked buildings.

One soldier who was nearby when the plane crashed, said "the whole scene was like a battlefield. Windows through a great part of the village were broken, the fire, though still burning, is under cotrol."

of keeping their stolen prize as the French four years before had of defending it.

Plenty of Food.

Now that liberation has been accomplished, a high ranking Allied officer estimated 75,000 tons of food a month would be sent to the city by rail, truck and barge. Huge stocks of food, medicine and clothing are waiting in Normandy for the relief of the city's residents. Distribution will be made by the Civil Affairs Branch of the Allied Command.

The story of how the underground armed its great forces is still to be told in detail.

A heavy toll was taken of the Partisans in the long years of the stubborn resistance. London French estimated 12,000 Parisians were killed by the Germans before D-day and another 6,000 since. Between the French armitice and D-day they believed, on the basis of underground reports, that 30,000 Parisians were arrested for political reasons, and that 348.00 were deported for forced labor.

The fact that seizure of the city was completed and announced by the French may have been part of the plan to bolster French confidence and emphasize to the world the resurgence of France as a great naiton.

A special communique said:

"On Saturday, August 18 in the morning the National Council of Resistance and the Paris Committee of Liberation in agreement with the National delegate, a member and representative of the Provisional Government of the French Republic ordered general insurrection in Paris and the Parisian region.

"The F. F. I. (French Forces of the Interior), 50,000 strong, armed and supported by several hundred thousand unarmed patriots ,went into action immediately.

"Yesterday, Aug. 22, after four days of fighting the enemy had been defeated everywhere. The Patriots occupied all public buildings. Vichy representatives were arrested or have fled. So the people of Paris played a major part in the liberation of their capital.

"The Paris police, which was already on strike, took possession of the Police Prefecture and turned the Ile de la Cite into a fortress against which the Germans' attack broke."

The announcement came through the headquarters of Gen. Pierre Koenig, commander of the F. F. I.

36th Reporter Killed Overseas

LONDON, August 23 — (AP). — William Stringer, 27, Texas-born war correspondent for Reuters, the British news agency, was killed while covering the advance of the U.S. 1st Army in France, it was announced officially to-day.

Details of Stringer's death were not known.

Stringer had been in Britain just over three months when he went into Normandy on D-Day. He was the first reporter inside Cherbourg.

He is survived by his widow Anne, an employee in the New York office of Reuters.

Stringer was the 36th Allied war correspondent killed during this war. The death of Tom Treanor, correspondent for the Los Angeles Times and the NBC, killed on the road to Paris, was announced yesterday.

GovernmentInterested In Kawartha Lakes

Kawartha Lakes district will not be overlooked in any plan for establishing summer camps on a low cost basis, as a scheme of the provincial government, Hon Dana Porter, Minister of Planning and Development, has said.

Writing to Mayor Hamilton, the Minister gave the assurance that this district would receleve a prominent place "in any plans or projects such as you mention."

"I may say, incidentally, that I am personally familiar with the attractions of that whole area, and it will certainly not be neglected."

Hon. Mr. Porter said he had expected to visit Peterborough this summer, but had delayed his coming on account of the illness of Harold R. Scott, M.P.P.

Mayor Hamilton's letter had been in reference to intimations that the provincial government, in looking forward to ways and means of contributing to improved health of the people of Ontario, had mentioned the possibility of a series of summer camps to be operated at as low a cost as possible.

Japanese Launch Tremendous Push

CHUNGKING, Aug. 23 (AP) — Japanese troops have launched an attempted enveloping movement against Chinese in the area of the enemy-held Canton-Hankow railway junction of Hengyang, and were engaged by the defenders 18 and 25 miles northwest of the city, the high command announced last night.

South of Hengyang the Chinese recaptured several points on the outskirts of the Japanese-held railway town of Leiyang, below which the Chinese have put up a determined stand to stem the enemy drive down the railway.

351 Polio Cases

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 23—(CP).—The number of infantile paralysis cases in Buffalo last night exceeded the total recorded in 1939, the last epidemic year. Ninetsen additional cases were reported, bringing the city total to 351, compared with 347 during all 1939.

General Council Meets Sept. 6

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 23.—(CP). —The 11th General Council of the United Church of Canada will open here Sept. 6 and continue for nine days and Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, secretary, said 286 commissioners will attend. The delegates will come from 11 conferences of the church from Nefoundland to British Columbia and from Missionary Councils overseas. Last General Council met in Belleville, Ont., two years ago.

One of the first orders of business will be the election of a moderator to succeed Rt. Rev. Dr. J. R. P. Sclater of Toronto. The moderator serves for two years.

Among matters slated for discussion are on 80-page report of a commission named two years ago to study "the church, nation and world order," constitution of the recently-organized Canadian Council of Churches, a forward movement after the war, a new system of assessing pastoral charges for support of the pension fund, rehabilitation of chaplains and presentation of reports by various church boards, commissions and committees.

The conference sermon will be preahed by Rev. D. H. A. Kent, principal of Queen's Theological College of Kingston.

Jap Cabinet Discusses Superfortress Raids

NEW YORK, August 23 — (AP)— The U. S. superfortress raids on the Japanese homeland Sunday were the main topic of discussion at a meeting of Premier Kuniaki Koiso's cabinet to-day, a Tokyo radio announced in a broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

Reports on the raids, in which Japan was hit day and night blows, were given by War Minister Gen. Sugiyana, Home Affairs Minister Shiego Odachi and Munitions Minister Ginjaro Fujimara, the broadcast said.

Another Japanese Broadcast recorded by the Associated Press quoted the Tokyo newsper Asahi as speculating that the super-fortresses which made the raids might have taken off from bases in India, refueled at Chengtu in China's Szechwan Province and then flown to Japan.

St. Mary's Man Acting Brigadier

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 — (CP) — Lt.-Col. J. H. S. Lind 35, of St. Marys, Ont., has been promoted to rank of Acting Brigadier, Defence Headquarters announced last night.

Brig. Lind, general manager of a St. Marys industrial concern in peace-time is a graduate of Royal Military College and was second-in-Command of the Perth Regiment when war started, but relinquished the appointment to go overseas in 1940.

Posted to Headquarters of a Canadian infantry brigade as staff captain, he returned to Canada in 1942 to assume command of the Perth Regiment with rank of Lieutenant-Colonel and went back to Britain with the regiment that year.

From May, 1943, until February he held staff appointments, first with a Canadian Corps Headquarters and then with a divisional headquarters. Later he served in Italy.

His wife and three children live in St. Marys.

New Landing Reported Near Bordeaux

LONDON, Aug. 23 —(AP) — A new Allied Landing near Bordeaux on the southwest coast of France was reported early to-day in apparently well-authenticated advices from the Spanish frontier, but hours later Allied Supreme Headquarters still declined to confirm or deny the report.

A dispatch written in Hendaye, France, by Charles S. Foltz, chief of The Associated Press Madrid bureau who crossed the border into southern France after the Germans had evacuated frontier posts, quoted French military authorities as saying the landing was begun last night under cover of a naval and aerial bombardment.

The operation, the French officials said, was co-ordinated with a ground attack by American and French forces which effected a junction at noon yesterday on outskirts of Bordeaux.

The officials declared Allied planes have paved the way for the landing with a low level attack and that Allied warships had poured shells into Bordeaux for more than an hour.

The American troops participating in the assault from the landward side of the city were said to have driven southward from the Loire river, 170 miles to the north, while the French were described as a well armed division of volunteers which left Hendaye yesterday.

Foltz, who filed his dispatch through Spain after returning [illegible] the border, said explosions which sounded like an intense aerial and naval bombardment in the Bordeaux area weer clearly audible in Irun-Hendaye frontier region.

Occupy Perpignan.

Radio France at Algiers said French forces of the interior have occupied Perignan and that three Allied planes already have landed there to establish contact with the French patriots. Perpignan is eight miles inland from the Mediterranean coast and 15 miles north of the Spanish border.

In response to queries concerning the reported landing a spokesman at Allied Supreme Headquarters said th French announcement was "outside our province" and declined further comment. The war department public relations office in Washington said it had no information on new landing.

Bordeaux, a city of 260,000 situated at the mouth of the Gironde river 100 miles north of the Spanish frontier, apparently is the last pocket of organized German resistance in southwestern France.

The city was the seat of the Reynaud Government at the time of the French collapse in June, 1940, and it was there that the decision was made to sign an armistice with Germany.

Hitler Has Lost Control Of Nazi Machine

By DEWITT MACKENIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Liberation of Paris—most glorious moment in the rebirth of a great nation—gives us striking confirmation of a momentous fact which has been emerging gradually from the blaze of battle—that Hitler has lost control of the great Nazi machine, both civil and military, through which he has ruled France since her tragic collapse.

It isn't merely that his organization has gone to pieces in Normandy, or in Brittany, or in Southern France, but that his entire regime of occupation is in a state of dissolution. He no longer can call on the north to help the south, or the east to aid the west. The vast civilian population which he enslaved is out of hand. His reign in France is, in his own language, kaput—smashed.

The significance of this is, of course, that France during all these tragic years has been the main German shield against attack by the western Allies. We always knew that the only way Hitler could be defeated was by invasion of France.

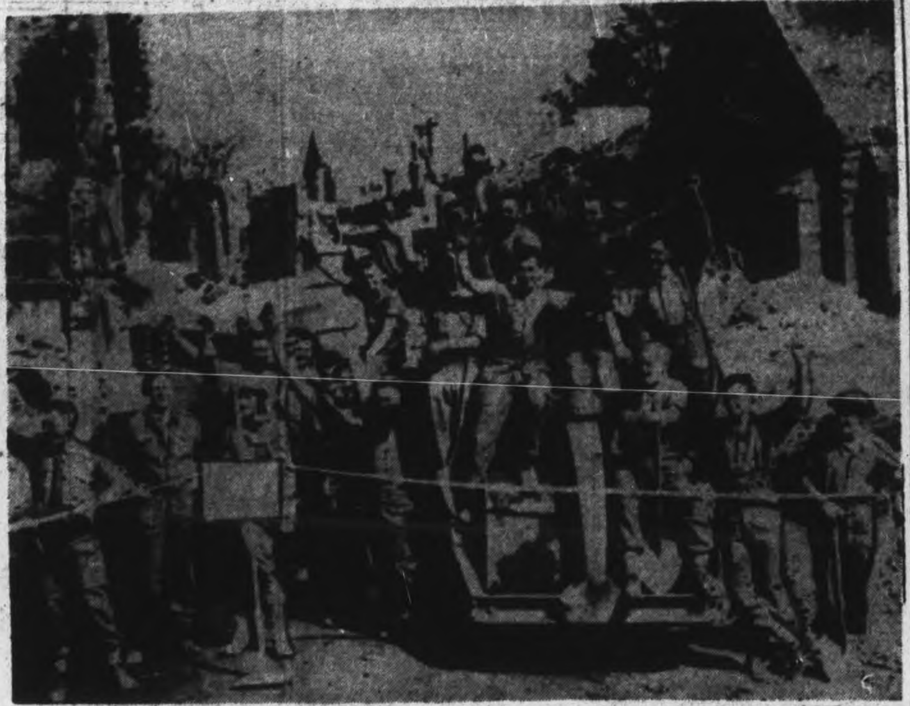
Collapse Certain

When the Allies finally drove ashore in Normandy, in the greatest and most dangerous adventure of its kind in history, there was no anticipation that Hitler's machine would go to pieces as it has done. Its collapse means a speedy end to his power throughout all Western Europe.

This breaking up of Hitler's organization in France has been brought about by many factors. Among these has been the cutting of vital communications over a long period by the dominating Allied air forces. Western Europe has been slashed to ribbons. Finally came the invasions, and the flanking of Paris which is the nerve centre of the entire country.

And then there have been the French forces of the interior—the vast underground army of patriots who are called "Maquis." The measure of their contribution to the reclamation of their country is vast. Throughout all the years of enslavement and terrible privation they have kept the flame of independence burning.

So justice has made a happy gesture in decreeing that the Maquis should be the ones to take over their capital from the Boche.



CEREMONIAL OPENING OF "ANDY'S ALLEY"—Canadian engineers who opened a road through a devastated French town in Normandy in five days celebrate the opening of the new road by breaking a ribbon with a steamroller, used on the construction job. The road was named "Andy's Alley."

Water Works Stack To Be Taken Down

COBOURG, Auf. 23.—(ENS). — Charles Jackson of Cobourg, has been awarded the tender for removing the large brick smokestack at the waterworks and has engaged some workmen of Uxbridge to do the job. The stack, which is 85 feet high, cannot be taken down by removing bricks at the bottom until it topples over, because of adjoining buildings. It has to be removed brick by brick, starting at the top. At one time used when steam turned the pumps, it became of little value after electricity was used to operate the pumps and draws too much for the purpose of draft for the heating system. Work will start on its removal in a week or two.

Burglar Takes Cigars

COBOURG, Aug. 23.—(ENS).—Two articles of rare value were stolen when somebody broke into the station at the ferry docks. Entering via a window the thief rummaged through the office used by the customs and immigration officers when the car ferry is in port. Two cigars, a rare and valuable commodity at the present time, were stolen by the burglar.

Former Roseneath Boy Reported Hun Prisoner

ROSENEATH, Aug. 23.—(ENS). —Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thackeray, Roseneath, that Albert Waller, reported missing since April 2, has written his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Waller, that he is a prisoner of war in Germany. He was a member of the special service force of paratroopers serving in Italy when he was reported as missing.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Waller and family, farmed in Alnwick township previous to moving to Oshawa about three years ago. They have two other sons in the service, Granville in France and James at Camp Borden.

Children Told How To Collect Milkweed

COBOURG, Aug. 23 —(ENS) — School children of Northumberland County are again being asked by the Dominion Agricultural Supplies Board to collect wilkweed pods. Last year leaves were desirable but more efficient methods of rubber production have been found and this year the need is only for the silk in the pods which takes the place of kapok, imported from Burma before the war. It makes excellent material for life preservers and is used for airmen and sailors.

L. I. Johnson of the Divison of Botany, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, who is in charge of the collection, visited R. C. Banbury, county agricultural representative recently, to discuss the arrangements. The supplies board is to forward a large supply of onion sacks which will hold about 20 pounds of pods when clean.

These will be available in any quantity which the teacher desires, from the Department of Agriculture at Brighton. The inspector will explain the situation to his teachers and supervise the distribution.

The children are urged not to pick the pods until they are fully ripe and show some signs of starting to burst open. This will be in most cases after school opens. It is suggested that the bags be hanged over a fence or in an airy building as they will dry about five to six pounds per bag. Arrangements will be made to pick up the bags from each school and the child will be paid 20 cents per bag for collecting the material. The bags are small and it is suggested that they should not be pressed down too firmly but filled and tied around the top, Mr. Banbury advises.

Gore's Landing Guides Attend Annual Camp

GORE'S LANDING, Aug. 23 — (ENS) — Camp Wren Oriole operated last week with 15 Girl Guides enjoying the annual outing. Three cars driven by Norman Waldon, Ray Eagleson and Roy Gilpin, took the Guides with their tents and equipment to the camp grounds, just west of Glen Lynden Farm, overlooking Rice Lake. Two tents were used for sleeping and one as a cook tent.

The daily camp program commenced with 6 o'clock reveille when the flag was raised, the salute taken and prayers, Bible reading and a hymn was sung. The program for the day was then planned following which breakfast was held. This consisted of cereal, pancakes and maple syrup; bacon and eggs, toast and eggs, toast and jam, coffee and cocoa.

A lunch of sandwiches at noon and dinner in the evening comprised the regular meals each day.

After breakfast each morning, the camp was cleaned and a general inspection held. Swimming and games were organizezd and during the week the Guides had two corn roasts and one paper chase.

Farmers Feed Grain As Pastures Burn

Most of the reports to the Department of Agriculture this week, from its county representatives, sound attuned to a minor key. The lyric note of June has trailed off into a lacklustre compendium of late summer disappointment.

Farmers have taken to feeding silage and grain to the livestock, especially the cattle which should be living off the pasturage, if the weather had not deserted eastern Ontario through the peak of summer and into its present waning. So the little "glooms" appear to be holding the whiphand this week, and the "joys" have been put to rout.

Here's Glengarry, for example: "Milk flow continues to drop and a great many farmers are feeding as heavy as in the winter. A shower Wednesday of last week was of little value to the crops, although it was sufficient to put out most of the fires. During the early part of the week farmers had to stop work to fight fires in bushes and pasture land. Corn has been at a standstill.

Frontenac farmers have been feeding silage, hay or grain to maintain milk production.

Storm Damage

Leaf hoppers have done considerable damage to the potato crop in Grenville county. Damage in thousands of dollars was caused Wednesday, August 16 by a tornado-like wind across the Easton's Corners section wrecking several barns, silos and other outbuildings.

Lanark succinctly sums up the late August aspect: "In all too many cases cattle are beginning to look something like the countryside —rather hot and dried up."

And so go the week's reports, a unison monotone elegiac of an agricultural season that was filling the bucket in Mid-July and then kicked out half of the milk by a mean and tenacious drought throughout the last half of summer.

Corn Suffers

Here is Leeds: "Extremely dry and hot weather have cut down crop prospects greatly. Corn on light land and heavy clay is badly burned, but there are still many good fields of corn. Late potatoes have suffered."

Stormont: "Farmers shipping whole milk are feeding grain quite heavily."

Hastings, nearer home, has about 75 per cent. of the grain crop threshed or under cover; yields are below average in most sections; tomatoes and corn have been adversely affected by the dry weather.

Excellent progress has been made with the Northumberland harvest, but threshed yields are not so large as the straw indicates "but are certainly average."

Peterborough harvesting is nearly finished; second cut alfalfa is being taken care of. Prince Edward county oats "are very disappointing."

Schools Open Sept. 5

Premier Drew as Minister of Education last April announced that all schools would open this year on September 5; but should a board so desire it could keep the schools closed during September. This week he announced that there would be no change in the department's plan and he is to be congratulated for his stand. In past years school boards, parents and employers of students never really did know even up until the opening day as to whether the schools were going to re-open or not.

Boards of Education protested that they were in a position to determine whether the schools should re-open or not for no general rule could be followed throughout the whole province. Last year the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School in the Upper Grades did not re-open until the middle of September; but a check up revealed very few of the students had in the two weeks been engaged in the harvesting or the packing of crops.

This year with the long dry August the harvests have been gathered earlier and the canning season is now well advanced thus there will be no need of the schools in Peterborough not re-opening on September 5.

An Eastern Ontario Regatta

For many years it has been felt that Peterborough needed some event that would serve to publicise this city.

At various times suggestions have been made but the situation remains unchanged, and every public holiday sees Peterborough folk heading out of the city to their favourite fishing spot, or picnicking place.

A plan that appeals strongly to us is the holding of a mammoth regatta, to declare eastern Ontario champions, and the events could be run off on Labor Day at Little Lake with the Crescent street shoreline being a natural grandstand for more than 10,000 people.

It is a pity that more encouragement in actual competition is not given in a city that has world-wide renown as the home of the Peterborough canoe, and it seems odd too that Peterborough does not provide a competition that would bring the cream of the regatta talent from all the resort areas in the Kawarthas.

It would take some organizing to revive the regattas at Chemong, Mt. Julian, Kawartha Park, Crowe's Landing, Trent River, Belmont Lake, Bewdley, Hiawatha, Alderville, Buckhorn, Crowe Lake, and other well known summer spots. These could be held on Wednesday afternoons or Saturday afternoons throughout the summer, and on Labor Day, each resort could send the best competitors to the regatta in Peterborough to declare champions in singles canoes, tandem canoes, canoe fours, gunwale races, crab races, canoe sailing, mixed doubles, and many other events.

Under present conditions, the Medical Officer of Health would probably prohibit the holding of swimming races in Little Lake, but these are not essential and rather uninteresting from a spectator's point of view.

Such a regatta would interest the Americans who spend their holidays in this district, and it would also attract entries from the Scugog Lake area, Bay of Quinte section and other places in Ontario.

Sea Cadet competitions with 10-man crew cutters could also be on the program, open to sea cadet crews from across Ontario and this in itself would add much to the program.

The regatta program could be supplements by ball games, speed boat races, picnic or any other events which would round out a perfect holiday program for visitors and homesters alike. If some committee or service club takes this suggestion to heart, in 1945, the first Kawartha district regatta can become a reality.

Do We Want Bureaucracy?

Mr. Charles P. McTague, national chairman of the Progressive Conservative party, appealed to the electors of West Lambton last week to turn-out the present government at Ottawa and rid the country of bureaucracy. We are not so sure that the Canadian people, no matter how much we hate the name, or how they would vote, are anxious to get rid of bureaucracy.

The common interpretation of a bureaucrat is a government official engaged in the job of running the rest of us. Our whole tendency in recent years has been to have a nation of "leaners", people who are too willing to let the other fellow do it. We find it in our municipal governments, in our provincial and in our federal governments. The ordinary citizen wants to take no part or have anything to do with the government of his country.

All our social security schemes, which are much to the fore at the present time, are furthering the cause of the bureaucrat. We are complacently approving of boards for this purpose for that, all because we as citizens do not want to accept our duties under a democracy.

We are engaged in a war to save democracy, but it is possible to win the peace and lose democracy in a couple of years, because we are so selfish we want to be left alone and prefer to be "leaners".

We love the part of democracy where we can criticize just as much as we like the other fellow, the man who is attempting to run our city, our province and our country. But when we are asked to accept responsibility we shirk off into the corner, with the excuse we are too busy. Over and over again it has been noticed that the busiest men in the world today are always able to find time to help some other worthy cause.

Criticism of our leaders in public office is good and often gets results, but how easy it is to offer destructive criticism rather than constructive criticism.

Wars, we are fully aware, cannot be fought and won without bureaucracy, and we feel that if Mr. McTague's party had been in power during this critical period it could not have carried on without the bureaucrats. Abnormal times we grant require extraordinary authority to be exercised, hence the cry to get rid of bureaucracy looses much of its effectiveness.

But we cannot get rid of this by simply cleaning out the bureaucrats at the top, there must be created in the minds of the people the necessity to be leaders and to assume their proper responsibilities.

Milkweed Floss Needed

Alongside the roadsides, in the pastures and the vacant lots the common milkweed is forming pods with their silky content. Early in September, the pods will have turned brown and ready to split open, to release the natural parachutes, on which the seeds are borne about by the lightest of breezes. This year if the plan now being formulated in Ontario and Quebec goes through, there will be fewer of these delicate seed carriers on the autumn breezes. Instead, milkweed floss will be going into life jackets in place of kapok.

Canada and the United States have no kapok. It formerly came from Java and the supply on hand at the time of Pearl Harbor has all been used. The floss from the ordinary milkweed can be used as filling for life jackets.

Peterborough county's quota is 8,000 bushel bags full of milkweed pods and a like amount is required from each of the counties of Victoria, Durham, Northumberland and Hastings. The campaign is going to be directed through the schools. The bags will be provided and arrangements as to collection will be announced. Payment of 20 cents a bag is being promised.

This is a most worthy project and the boys and girls of Peterborough city and county can co-operate. While the war may be over in Europe before the floss can be used for life jackets, the Allies have still a long way to go before they put out Japan. Vast stretches of the Pacific are yet to be retaken, and the lives of many boys will be saved by their life jackets.

Commercial milkweed in Peterborough proved a failure, thus the wild variety must fill the bill. The milkweed only grows in Ontario, Quebec and part of the United States, and the goal among boys and girls of the eastern section of United States is 1,500,000 pounds of floss.

Canada Needs One

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

FOR several years Canada has very badly needed a first-rate politician cartoonist. This Dominion undoubtedly takes its politics more seriously—not to say virulently—than almost any other country in the world, but we have no artist who puts our controversies in graphic form. There was a time when several of the larger Canadian papers maintained cartoonists, and some of them were men of perception and talent, but at present there is not a single cartoonist in the Dominion whom it would not be gross flattery to describe as second-rate. The need for trenchant political comment of the sort which is only possible in a political cartoon has never been more obvious than it is now, but the artist to take on the job is lacking. This is the more curious, as Canada has a very respectable showing of artists in other fields; we can produce painters, etchers, water-colourists and engravers whose work commands respect here and abroad, but for fifteen years at least we have not brought forward one solitary political cartoonist.

✦ ✦ ✦

A POLITICAL cartoonist needs an unusual association of talents. In the first place he must be well-informed in politics, yet detached from them; he needs the outlook of a political philosopher. Second, he must be an artist of ability; a cartoonist is not a man who cannot draw well enough to be anything else; he is a man who is able to get his effects with such boldness and economy of means that they are clear after they have been reproduced through the rough medium of the newspaper press; the better artist a cartoonist is, the more value his work has. Third, he must possess that quality which is not always found in artists—he must be able to work quickly and to order; he must produce his drawing every day, on time, without fail. And last, though not least, he must possess a lively imagination; without that, he cannot succeed.

✦ ✦ ✦

MEN with all these talents are rare, but they do exist. There are a few of thme at work in the United States at present, though that country has suffered a falling-off in this branch of journalism since the First Great War; the vigorous days of Thomas Nast, Gillam and Keppler have gone. But in Britain there are perhaps half a dozen political cartoonists of the first rank . The undoubted master is David Low, whose work is familiar everywhere. Low is the creator of Colonel Blimp, the symbol of reaction, muddle and bureaucracy. Low is one of the greatest living exponents of line-drawing, and his work will take an important place in the history of British art. As a political commentator his name may not live so long, for although he can strike a powerful blow when he feels like it, much of his work is marred by a sourness which appears to have little to do with politics. Low makes bitter fun of politicians, but sometimes he seems to forget that even the most dunderheaded of them shares a common humanity with himself. On more than one occasion Low has been criticized in Parliament for work which was considered inimical to the best interests of the country; to this he would doubtless reply that a faithful support of Government policies is a shallow sort of patriotism. But the aspect of Low's work which is difficult to understand is that he opposes many things, but it is hard to know what he supports. Capital, Labour, Reform, Conservativism, Tradition, Radicalism—all suffer his derision, but none of them can count on his support. It is not necessary, of course, that a man of what we may call derisive genius should support anything, but there is evidence enough to show us that Low does not properly belong in that small and somewhat unhappy class.

MEMBERS of an older generation may wish to dispute Low's claim to first place among British cartoonists, putting forward Sir Bernard Partridge as their choice for that place. Partridge is the political cartoonist of "Punch," who draws those square-jawed, large-bosomed, awesome young women who represent Peace, or the British Commonwealth, or Humanity, or something of the kind. As an artist he is extremely able, but as he draws what he is told to draw, and rarely obtrudes anything of his own feeling into his work, it has a somewhat stilted and theatrical air. "Punch," which began as a radical magazine, and spent many happy years taking pot-shots at celebrities of all kinds, is now staid and heavy, and nothing much in the way of light-hearted political comment is attempted; the magazine prints one full-page political cartoon a week, and it can always be depended upon to represent a solid, high-minded but essentially dull point of view.

THE field for a political cartoonist in Canada is wide open. Our notable political figures give him all the scope he needs. Mr. King is an excellent subject for caricature—a study in curves; so is Mr. Bracken—a study in straight lines. Mr. Coldwell's earnest schoolmasterishness could be turned into very good fun; Col. Ralston is a gift to any artist with half an eye. But this wealth of material is unexploited because we have no artist with the inclination the insight and the wit to go to work on it.

THE value of a first-rate political cartoonist to the political life of his country is incalculable. He can prick a bubble with a single picture, where the writer of editorials or special articles would need two or three thousand words. He can expose the essential ridiculousness of politicians just when they are representing themselves as high-minded saviours of society. He can be more impudent in his approach to the great and the near-great than any writer could be, unless he were forgetful of the laws of libel. We need such a man in Canada, and we have needed him for fifteen years at least, but he has not been forthcoming. Let us hope that the wait will not be too greatly prolonged.

Up and Down

Pilots have their ups and downs. This one had nursed his Beaufighter across the sea to North Australia and was making for a strip when the second engine cut out and he landed his remnants without wheels under some overhead wires. He and his observer tramped round the plane on a tour of inspection and then made for some huts in the distance.

Army men rushed out highly excited because the plane had landed in the middle of one of their pet minefields.

"Makes you think, doesn't it?" said the pilot. —Australian News Letter.

17 Points For Drinkers

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

THE unusual success in the rehabilitation of confirmed drunkards by the recently established Bureau of Alcoholic Therapy in the Department of Welfare of New York, is based primarily on a 17-point mental diet.

This diet consists of a series of thought capsules delicately implanted in the mind of the patient in accordance with his personality and the circumstances of his addiction.

Edward McGoldrick said that more than 150 individuals of varying degrees of culture and social status have been hoisted out of their alcoholic doldrums by this treatment since its establishment 14 months ago, and that it has attracted the attention of social service agencies throughout the country.

The suggestions which appear to have worked most effectively with the inebriates are as follows:

"1. I know I must abstain from alcohol, not merely for the sake of others, but first and foremost for my own self-esteem.

"2. I refuse to amuse others with my drinking escapades of the past. My abnormal drinking was pathetic, not funny. I know that fundamentally frustration was the cause of my abnormal drinking.

"3. If I pray for help, I can't expect God to throw a miracle. He cannot do for me what can only be done through me.

God will provide the food—he won't cook the dinner.

"4. An alcoholic is made, not born. Heredity, therefore, is not the cause of my drinking. Such an excuse is an age-old dodge to avoid the reality of seeing myself as I really am.

"5. I know my drinking past has no power over me other than my present feelings about that past.

"6. Regret and despair over yesterday's drinking will only make today a torment, and since tomorrow grows out of today, it will hear the image of today.

"7. I know there is a danger in being cocky over short-lived sobriety. A sense of exhilaration as well as one of depression is equally a good excuse for taking a drink.

"8. I do not need alcohol. Others can do without it.

"9. I know from my own personal experience that drinking never solved a problem for me. As a matter of fact, it only made matters worse.

"10. I realize that I must be absolutely sincere in my effort to overcome the habit of drinking, otherwise no one can help me.

"11. I know that I have put a lot of effort and time into becoming an alcoholic. I know that were I to exert a similar effort and concentrate on doing so, I could successfully achieve that which I want to do, to be or to have.

"12. I know that I cannot do everything I wish to do in twenty-four hours, but staying sober and working diligently, all things can be handled in due course.

"13. I realize that staying sober is of paramount importance in my life, and that one drink of any form of alcohol, including wine or beer, is sufficient to start me on a spree.

"14. I know that in abstaining from liquor I am not doing something big for society, but only doing that which I should properly do.

"15. I realize that I must not neglect my physical health.

"16. I know that my normal drinking has retarded maturity.

"17. I realize that it is necessary to abstain from alcohol, but my ultimate goal is to attain a peace of mind in an active, industrious and constructive life."

✦ ✦ ✦

Mr. McGoldrick, an attorney, who four years ago was an alcoholic himself and is the son of former Justice Edward J. McGoldrick, of the Supreme Court, explained that these thought suggestions cannot be served to the patients indiscriminately as one would serve a handful of pills. There must be individual contact and continuous supervision over a period of time. There are conferences with patients from fifteen minutes to an hour, three or four times a week. The appropriate idea is discussed, sometimes bluntly, sometimes indirectly.

The Case Of Mussolini

From NEW YORK TIMES

WHETHER or not the man Benito Mussolini is alive today is uncertain. We do know, on authority of a medical document for which this newspaper's correspondent in Rome, Herbert L. Matthews, vouches, that this person had duodenal ulcers as early as 1923, that the trouble recurred in 1929, and that a year ago they cost him a loss of fifty pounds during the last month of his Roman rule. This athlete who played tennis, rode wild horses, ran with his panting Cabinet at the head of the Bersaglieri, had his picture taken skiing on Mt. Terminillo and cutting wheat in the reclaimed Pontine Marshes; this apostle of the active life who denounced slippers and threatened to throw an armchair out the window; this rugged individualist who essayed to sweat the individualism out of the rest of the Italian people, this Mussolini was sick. Trying to give the impression of a man who lived on raw meat, he clung to a diet of milk, fruit and sugar.

As a clinical case Mussolini may be remarkable. He overcame his difficulty. Had he been content to cultivate a vineyard in the Mediterranean sun, looking over that blue sea where the Roman galleys passed but not launching warships, gazing over the hills where the legions marched but summoning no new legions, he might have lived out a useful, cheerful span. The doctors know how to treat the plain man's ailment. But Mussolini had another disease—the disease of empire. He looked at Italian peasants and workingmen and saw eight million resistless bayonets. He looked at the sea and craved domination over it. He looked at Ethiopia and lusted after it. His eyes fell upon troubled Spain and he recruited vineyardists, Neapolitan cab drivers, Roman shoemakers, Florentine tourist guides, nice Italian boys who desired to sing a little, make love a little and marry pretty girls who presently had several children and grew plump—he recruited these Italians to destroy such liberty as might be born in Spain. He looked across the Alps and saw Adolf Hitler, who despised him, a kindred soul.

So the actual man lost fifty pounds when he saw his power slipping. How much did the operatic hero lose who said "Live dangerously," "We shall drive ahead," "He who stops still is lost," "Rome dominates"—how much did Caesar lose? Not fifty pounds, but half a world of land and water, an astronomical number of tons of base and glittering dreams. For this Fascist empire, like that of the Nazis, would not be cured. The cause of infinite pain and tragedy, it was destined to die in pain and failure.

The First Ideal Reviewer

You will notice that in choosing a title for this lecture I made a distinction between criticism and reviewing. This was because I believe that while a reviewer may be a critic and his criticism a review there are differences between what a man will write as his first word and what he will write as his last word upon any given book or author. Whereas reviewing is, on the whole, an immediate and provisional estimate of performance, criticism, in the words of Arthur Symons, "is a valuation of forces."....

The reviewer, confronted with the same work, which the critic regards as a manifestation of the soul, is called upon to tell the world whether it has instant and calculable merit as a book..

It was Sainte-Beuve who first reconciled criticism and reviewing....It was his habit to devote twelve hours on each of five days a week to the preparation and writing of his one article, to give a further day to the correction of his proofs, and then to take a day's holiday. His article appeared every Monday, and it dealt as a rule with a single book....It was Sainte-Beuve's aim to be a disinterested "naturalist of minds."....He represented, in spite of much learning and great experience, a point of view which I may describe as the humane, in opposition to the academic or doctrinaire. This is the reason why he was a better reviewer than the aesthete and the dilettante. Strangely enough, he was more interested in the work before him than in any exhibition of his own superior knowledge or in any abstract conceptions of Art or Literature. A pragmatist, you say? At any rate, the first ideal reviewer.—From "The Reviewing and Criticism of Books," by Frank Swinnerton.

GOOD MOVE

There is a move on foot, as the saying goes, to abolish the phrase, "Don't you know there's a war on?" Everybody ought to know there's a war on without being told — and the saying should not be used as an excuse for poor service. —Ottawa Citizen.

IT'S A COLD DAY

A Brooklyn man accused of unlawful entry of an apartment is said to have strolled about the neighbourhood until he found a householder leaning from a window in search of a breath of fresh air and then picked the lock of the apartment door. Apparently it's a cold day when a burglar can't find opportunity to ply his trade. —Buffalo Courier-Express.

CAPITALIST RUSSIA?

Both capitalism and communism are fighting words. They are symbols, expletives, banners of conflict.

Before the argument can be conducted in a reasonable tone of voice they must be explained. Capitalism is not happily named.

For if a capitalist society is one that lays particular stress upon the accumulation of capital, then Soviet Russia is the most capitalist state that ever existed.—New York Times Magazine.

SLUM CLEARANCE

Ottawa's housing plan, we learned, provides that municipalities must pay half the "excess" cost of acquiring and clearing slum sites for erection of dwelling units by limited dividend housing corporations or life insurance companies.

The Federal treasury will pay the other half and cities may try to wheedle part of their portion from provincial governments.

When we start paying out our hard cash to correct evils which should never have been allowed to develop in the first place, City Hall will begin to pay more attention to its prevention duties.—Vancouver Sun.

NEVER AGAIN

Even a war industry can be maintained underground. The Germans had one as far back as the time of the Weimar Republic, and doubtless will have one again, despite all we try to do about it. And this nucleus of a war machine is something that can be expanded rapidly, perhaps too rapidly for a widely dispersed international police force to handle. We know how long it takes to build up a national defence mechanism from scratch. Because we have had to do it within the past five years, we almost lost our freedom. Mr. Coldwell may be disposed ... chance again, but for the next few years, at least, not many Canadians will see things ... way.—Windsor Star.

A Bible Message

Listen, O isles, unto me; and hearken, ye people, from far; The Lord hath called me from the womb.... And he hath made my mouth like a sharp sword; in the shadow of his hand hath he hid me, and made me a polished shaft; in his quiver hath he hid me; and said unto me, Thou are my servant, O Israel, in whom I will be glorified. ....

And he said, It is a light thing that thou shouldest be my servant to raise up the tribes of Jacob, and to restore the preserved of Israel: I will also give thee for a light to the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my salvation unto the end of the earth. (Isa. 49: 1, 2, 3, 6.)

Now when John heard in the prison the works of Christ, he sent two of his disciples, and said unto him, Art thou he that should come, or do we look for another?

Jesus answered and said unto them, Go and shew John again those things which ye do hear and see: the blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them. And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me. (Matt. 11: 2-6.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Fifty Nazi pilots knocked at the gates of heaven and sought admittance. St. Peter waved them back.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but only six of you ... come in."

"But there are fifty of us," the Nazis protested.

"Maybe," replied St. Peter, "but Field Marshal Goering's communique said that only six ... been shot down."

In a small town out West there was a sudden commotion. It appeared that a wire had fallen across the main street and was holding up traffic. No one dared to touch it in case it should be "live."

"Send down two reporters," he ordered: "one to touch the wire and the other to write up the story."

Delegates Focus Talks On Peace Program

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 — (CP) — Current diplomatic problems have been ruled out of the Dumbarton Oaks post-war security talks, it was understood today, and sessions are to be concentrated on blocking out the basic principles of peace organization.

Apparently this did not preclude the possibility that consideration should be given to putting at least a part of the projected organization into temporary action as soon as possible, pending decision by the United Nations of whether they wanted to set up the agency to be designed here.

Diplomatic quarters attached considerable significance in this connection to a statement by Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British Delegation chief, at the opening session of the security talks. Emphasizing that "peace may come sooner than some expect," he declared:

Want Definite Plan

"It would be folly to delay the construction of at least some framework of future international cooperation until the problems of peace confront us with all their insistency."

The conference settled down to its first working session today, following yesterday morning's formal opening and an afternoon meeting of Sir Alexander Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet representative, and Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., the American delegate, to decide on mechanics.

Announcement of the results of this meeting was withheld until today when they could report to the full conference, but it was understood that they covered the scope of the talks, the time and frequency of sessions and similar questions.

Various officials said it was the intention of the conferees to limit their talks strictly to evolving plans for an international organization and to avoid any discussion of such issues as boundary disputes and occupation or disposition of enemy territory.

Any agreement made at Dumbarton Oaks will have no validity unless the Soviet, British, Chinese and American governments formally accept it, subject to later approval by all the united nations.

3 Pig Litters

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 23 — (CP).—Harvey Richards of East Luther township owns a Yorkshire sow which is doing its bit towards a large production. The sow has had three litters—a total of 63 pigs—in two days short of 13 months.

Special Power To End With The War

CANBERRA, Aug. 23 (CP)—Continued counting of votes in Saturday's "powers referendum" today increased the total registering opposition to granting the Australian government additional sweeping powers for five years after the war.

The latest available figures were 1,786,260 against the measure and 1,536,717 in favor. The government's present virtually unrestricted powers will end automatically soon after the war is over.

Customs Minister Richard Keane said yesterday the outcome of the referendum would not affect the government's determination to continue price stabilization during the war but would greatly restrict its powers to maintain price stability after the war.

Prices were but one of the 14 points on which the government sought extended powers the others including care of ex-servicemen, employment and unemployment, marketing, air transport, national works, health, family allowances production and distribution of goods and control of companies and combines.

Want Their Rights

Opposition Leader Robert Menzies saw in the defeat of the government plan "a warning that the necessary coercions of wartime have not blinded the people's perception of their rights."

He added: "I am convinced that the vote was not against the constitutional revision. Most of those who opposed the government's proposals agree that after the war the constitution should be reconsidered. For this purpose the opposition considers there should be a meeting of a representative convention as soon as possible after the end of the war."

Prime Minister Curtin described himself as "disappointed but not surprised" and said "the approach to the people was made under all kinds of difficulties and was prejudiced by pre-occupation with the war as well as by the irrelevancies which have marked every referendum since federation.

"We have put forward proposals in which we believe, and they have been defeated. It now remains for those who opposed our plan, or professed to have another, to produce theirs."

Widow's Crops Saved By Kindly Neighbors

MANVERS, August 23 (ENS) — Left alone and without help to harvest the summers' crops on her farm two miles west of Bethany when her husband passed away recently, Mrs. Gilbert Kinkade has had just cause to celebrate the kindliness and cooperation of her neighbours, who fell to with a will and between them managed to cut and thresh many acres of fall wheat and get it sold on the market.

When Mr. Kinkade died in the middle of harvest time, it was imperative that something be done immediately to assist his widow, unable to obtain any farm labor at a critical time. Although most farmers of the district were busy harvesting their own fields—and with little enough assistance themselves—they banded together and in turns took care of Mrs. Kinkade's crops. David Masters, a soldier who had obtained leave to work as a farm assistant and who formerly had lived with Hiram Ward on the farm adjoining the Kinkade property for sixteen years, saw to it that the cutting of the grain was performed. Jack Armstrong, working in the evening and morning hours before and after other jobs, threshed the fall wheat. Kind neighbours saw that the crops reached market; and the climax came last Saturday when, with 30 acres of grain yet remaining to be harvested, a group of neighbours gathered with wagon racks and quickly finished the job.

You Can have Brighter Teeth!

Impartial laboratories made hundreds of tests. Scientists checked their findings with photoelectric measuring devices and authorize this statement: PEPSODENT POWDER PRODUCES A LUSTRE ON TEETH TWICE AS BRIGHT AS THE AVERAGE OF ALL OTHER LEADING BRANDS... BRIGHTER THAN ANY OF THEM—BAR NONE! These results have been double-checked by identical twins who made practical in-the-home tests... by technicians in dental clinics... by dentists in their own offices. The result is always the same: Pepsodent Powder with Irium makes teeth far brighter.

Irium is an exclusive, patented cleansing ingredient found only in Pepsodent. To make your teeth brighter, get Pepsodent Powder with Irium... today!

You Can change your Face!

Crooked, improperly spaced teeth need not permanently affect your looks. Today dentistry can do wonders in straightening crooked teeth and improving your appearance. Or, like the movie stars you can have chipped or broken teeth recapped. Your dentist can tell you what needs to be done and how quickly you can expect to see results.

Yes, it's the truth... modern dentistry can help you have sound, good-looking teeth through a series of corrective treatments. But it's up to you to keep them clean and bright through careful daily brushing.

Ayrshire Cow Sets New Record

OTTAWA, August 23 — (CP) — The Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association announced to-day the heifer Chestermere Ruth, owned by J. A. Hodgson, of Forest Lawn, Alta., has established a Canadian Ayrshire production record of 16,719 pounds of milk, 753 pounds of butterfat, with an average test of 4.38 per cent fat. It is the highest record set by an Ayrshire in the two-year-old class of the Record of Performance.

The mark also is the highest made in that class by an Ayrshire on two milkings a day. Former leaders established records on three milkings a day. The record is based on the lactation year.

The previous high mark was set by Hybrid, owned by the College of Agriculture at Ste. Anne de La Pocatiere, Que., with 16,017 pounds of milk and 692 pounds of buterfat on three milkings a day.

Churchill Sees Oshawa Unit

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Aug. 23 — (CP Cable) — Prime Minister Churchill inspected troops representing the Calgary, Three Rivers (Que.) and Ontario Regiments after addressing more than 1,000 representative soldiers of an independent armored brigade.

In his speech Sunday, previously reported, Mr. Churchill said: "I am not prepared to predict an early conclusion of the war but I would not guarantee it will not end sooner than we have, up until now, allowed ourselves to hope."

The troops and their Sherman tanks were drawn up on a hillside in an undisclosed sector behind the Florence battlelines. The Ontario Regiment of Oshawa, Ont, the Three Rivers Regiment and the Calgary Regiment constitute the 1st Canadian Army Tank Brigade.

Mr. Churchill also inspected supporting arms and a British artillery self-propelled regiment whose men fought with the Brigade for some time and now wear the Maple Leaf on their weapons and vehicles.

Clever Tennis Played In Junior Finals

MONTREAL, Aug. 23 —(CP) — Five Ottawa players qualified for the Junior Men's Single Quarter Finals in the Province of Quebec Junior Boys and Girls Tennis championships yesterday while two Ottawa women reached the quarter finals in the Junior Women's Singles.

Yves Sarra-Dournet reached the playoff round with two victories to his credit in the preliminaries, defeating Gerard Messier of Montreal, 6-8, 7-5 and 6-4, and J. P. Faguy of Montreal, 6-2, 5-4. Bob Duford also marked up a dual victory in yesterday's round scoring 6-1, 6-3 over Roger Brouillard of Montreal and 6-1, 6-3 over Bob Huband of Ottawa.

Paul Ollivier of Ottawa defeated Claude Trudel of Montreal 6-3, 6-0 and Andre D'Aoust of Ottawa, 6-2, 6-1, to make the quarter finals. Frank Kaszas of Ottawa was extended to three sets to defeat Bud Marsh of Montreal 6-4, 2-6 and 7-5 but easily defeated G. La Mothe, Montreal 6-2, 6-3.

Redmond Quain of Ottawa upset Bob Turgeon of Quebec, 5-7, 6-3 and 6-4 and will be matched against Roland Raymond of Montreal, the winner to enter the quarter-final against Sarra-Bournet.

Yvon Gauthier of Quebec also qualified for quarter-final, turning back Johnny McCuaig of Ottawa 6-2, 6-1 and Jim Spencer of Beauharnois, 6-3 6,-3.

In the Junior Ladies' Singles, Dorothy O'Brien and Janet Rutherford of Ottawa reached the play-off rounds. Miss Rutherford defeating Helene Chevalier of Montreal 6-0, 6-8, 6-0 and Dorothy Helleur of Montreal 6-0, 6-8, 6-0 and Dorothy Helleur of Montreal, 6-1, 6-1. Miss O'Brien advanced after defeating Beverley Mace of Ottawa 1-6, 6-4, and 6-4.

Gilbert Jolicoeur and Hammie Quain of Ottawa reached the quarter-final in the Boy's Singles division after Jolicoeur turned back Raymond Page of Montreal 6-3, 6-2 and Quain upset Guy Dagenain of Montreal, 6-0, 6-3.

Brintons Defeat Westclox 10-7

The Brinton team defeated the Westclox in a Men's Industrial Softball fixture, Tuesday evening on the Brinton diamond. The score 10 to 7.

Plenty of hitting by the Brinton boys sparked the play. M. Byers coming through in the eighth inning with a home run with the bases loaded.

Art Philipp went the distance for the Brintons, while R. Currie for the Westclox was replaced in the third inning by Nicholls.

The highlight of the game was a new version of the hidden ball trick. One of the Westclox boys (no names mentioned, although he must have been of Scotch descent) made a litwager with Mr. Larry Maguire, the hard working secretary of the league, that he would get on. He did by a very close margin. Mr. Maguire threw a coin, but it fell about six feet short of the base. The runner could not resist the temptation, and while stepping over to pick it up, was quietly tagged out by S. Craig the Brinton first baseman.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

On August 17, 1942, we wrote the following appeal to oud lawn bowling members regarding our tournament that we were staging in aid of the British War Victims' Fund.

During the past year many towns and cities of the British Isles have been heavily bombed, homes have been completely demolished, families have been separated, children have been left orphans, many have been killed, many others maimed for life, while we over here have been priviliged to continue on in every walk of life just as if nothing serious was happening.

Let us put ourselves in the position of the people of some towns of England. Supposing some night when we have all of our greens occupied that suddenly out of the sky should come the mad maniac and drop one of his infernal high explosive bombs right in the centre of our greens. We're just wondering what would happen? We're wondering how much of the Dominion Woollens factory would be left to-day. We're wondering how many of the beatuiful homes that surround our grounds would stand up under the onslaught, and how about the people who live in them. We're wondering what would happen to Mount St. Joseph and its faithful occupants. We're wondering how man would be left to know what happened. We're just wondering. Can you see the picture? And having all this in mind our hearts go out to those gallant people who are taking it on the chin without a whimper."

So on Friday night of this week at 7 p.m. we are holding our annual British War Victims' Fund tournament. Everybody is welcome to come. All of the money raised is to be handed over to the Fund, as we understand that many prizes have been donated. The fee is $1.00 per player and that is not much—we've spent five times that at our out-of-town tournaments. So let's make a big effort to put this across and remember:

"If nobody thought just a little about you
And nobody thought about me
And we stood all alone in the battle of life
What a dreary old world this would be?"

The novice competition sponsored by the Peterborough Examiner, got off to a good start last evening and it was expected that the games would reach as far as the semi-finals. It was by far the biggest entry that we have had for many years. Just who will win out we have not the slightest idea.

There was some real high class bowling when you consider that these boys are all new bowlers. Many of the old timers were sitting on the verandah and on the benches looking over these newcomers.

It is most likely that a night, not too far distant, will be set aside for the semi-finals and fials.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 23— (AP) — One southeastern football coach claims his first task every morning is to "check the hotels to see who is in town and then try to keep our players away from them..... That may be a slight exaggeration, but this corner's spy, in that territory reports a "regula epidemic of player snatching." .... Unless the Yankees come through with a last-minute spurt, this season will be the eighth in 24 years that no New York team has made the World Series. In that stretch 22 Gotham clubs have appeared in the series.

When Connecticut jumped the National Boxing Association in order to recognize Hartford's Willie Pep as World Featherweight champ, it took a big load off the tongues of fight announcers, who had to use doubletalk every time they introduced Willie in his home state. Now Commissioner Barney Coskey's big job will be to get Pep to defend his title for less than $30,000.

To-day's guest star:

Bob Stedler, Buffalo, N. Y., Evening News, "All seven of the proposed new professional football leagues want to include Los Angeles as a member and all claim to have financial support. Are there that many movie stars willing to lose money so as to avoid paying taxes?"

PRODUCTION PEAK

Production of aircraft is likely to reach an all-time peak in value in 1944-45 with an increase of about 10 per cent. over last year.

MARCHILDON MISSING IN ACTION—FO. Phillip Edward Marchildon of Penetanguishene, is reported missing in action. He broke into professional baseball with the Toronto Maple Leafs, and was with the Philadelphia Athletics at the time he joined up over a year ago.

Aircraft Holds Westclox To 4-All Tie

The Westclox-Aircraft race for the Senior Girls' Championship stalled temporarily at Ashburnham Bowl Tuesday evening, when the third game of the play-off series was thrown into a 4 to 4 deadlock in the seventh inning, and was called by Umpire Herb. Payne on account of darkness. The two teams will clash again Thursday evening at the Bowl, and both teams are anxious to take the verdict then; as the Westclox, at the present, are two games ahead of the Aircrafters.

The Westclockers started the ball rolling in the first inning; 2 runs crossed in order. Aggie Anderson scored on a hit into right by Viola McLean, and McLean scored when Eleanor Craig fumbled Marjorie Hawthorne's easy roller. Aircraft came back in the second inning to sew up the game, when 2 runs crossed.

Eleanor Craig singled to first, Marg. Selkirk was safe when her shot to short stop was bounced, and Audrey Patterson walked. Marg. Selkirk was out, when she attempted to steal second base. Helen Hunt singled to right field scoring Eleanor Craig. Rose Redpath sent an easy one to Joyce Withers, but was safe when the pitcher failed to throw the ball anywhere. Audrey Patterson was walked home when Emma Roberts waited for 4 balls.

An single run in the fifth inning broke the tie, and sent Westclox out one run ahead. Aggie Anderson scored on the play that put out Nona Whetung at first base.

A 2-run rally in the seventh gave the Arcrafters a one-run lead. Norma Strickland sacrificed to score Marg. Batley, and Annette De Carlo scored when Eleanor Craig's roller was fumbled by Verna Patterson.

Game Called

The game was called after one run, turned in by Westclox in their half of the seventh frame, again put the two rival teams on even terms. In the seventh, Nona Whetung scored when Eleanor Craig left her base, and Marjorie Hawthorne, who had walked, was beginning to dash to second. The ball was thrown to Annette De Carlo, but it was too late; Nona Whetung reached the base a few seconds before.

Joyce Withers pitched for Westclox, fanning 2, walking 5, and allowing only five blows. Norma Strickland held the mound for the Aircraft team, striking out 4, walking 3, and allowing 7 hits. During the seven innings of play, Westclox left 6 runners on bases; Aircraft left 7 also, including once when the bases were loaded.

The teams—

Westclox — Aggie Anderson cf, Viola McLean ss, Nona Whetung 1b, Marjorie Hawthorne 3b, Barbara Rome lf, Beryl Dobbin rf, Isobel Bullock c, Verna Patterson 2b, Joyce Withers p.

First Game Of Playoffs Tonight

The first game of the Ontario Intermediate "A" playoffs will be played tonight at Riverside Park, when Trenton meet Plazas, local City League champions. The second game will be played in Trenton Friday night.

Plazas will be at full strength tonight and have one of the best-balanced teams to represent this city in years. They have three starting pitchers ready, Dave Wilson, Terry Woods and Frank Stokoe. No announcement has been made as to the starting pitcher for tonight's game but any one of the three should make a good showing.

Reports from Trenton are to the effect that they have a powerful team, shadowing any outfit from that town in years. Fans are assured of a good, fast contest tonight.

The game will commence at 6:15 o'clock and should draw a bumper crowd.

Combines Beat Drafters 14-6

The Nashua-Raybestos Combines defeated the Drafting Room gang 14-6 in an exciting Industrial League game held at East City Memorial Park.

Drafting Room team started out right with Dunford knocking a home run one on in the first inning. They added another run in the second on hits by McMichael, Waterman and Shaughnessy. Both teams went scoreless till the fourth when Nashua cashed in on an error by scoring two runs. Both teams added another one in the fifth, while Nashua scored two in the sixth and the Blue Print boys one run. Nashua added two more in the seventh while the Drafting added another one on a home run by Bob McQuaig. No runs were scored in the eighth, but in the ninth the Nashua men ran lose with Montgomery knocking a home run with two on and another four runs came in after. Drafting could not retaliate in their last half and thus the game ended. McIsaac handled the game very well behind the bat.

Waterman was the best hitter with 3 for 4 for the Drafting while Montgomery and Maudsley were the pick of the Nashua men.

Score by innings:		R.	H.	E.
Nashua	000212 207—	14	17	1
Drafting	210 011 100—	6	13	4

Batteries:

Bill Cook, Sault Ste. Marie right winger, turned professional with Saskatoon Shieks of the Western Canada League 22 years ago today. He went to New York Rangers, newly-formed National Hockey League entry in 1926, teaming up with his brother, Fred, and Frankie Boucher to form one of hockey's greatest all-time forward lines. All are now retired.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

After lasting only three innings in Monday's American League fixture with Cleveland, Oscar Judd, pitcher of Boston Red Sox and product of Ingersoll, Ont., has been granted leave of absence and has retired for the balance of the season, it was announced yesterday by General Manager Eddie Collins at Boston. Judd has been troubled with a sore arm and his record for the year was one victory and one loss, his previous appearance on the mound having been in June.

The $1,500 Ticonderoga stakes for three-year-old trotters featuring the grand circuit card at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., last night went to Top Row, owned by E. A. Tassi, San Jose, Calif. He won the first heat in 2.10 and was second in the next dash.

The second of the five-race series in the 22nd International Star class yacht championships yesterday at Chicago found Gerald Driscoll of San Diego, Calif., the winner for the second time. Only Canadian entry to cover the 10-mile course was B. G. Waddell of Sarnia.

Kitchener scored an easy 14-0 victory against Tillsonburg at Kitchener last night in the first of their O. B. A. juvenile playdowns, with Shorty Wildfong allowing only two hits against 17 gathered by his mates.

Basic Training Centre No. 20, Brantford, washed off Guelph 5-2 last night at Hamilton in the deciding tilt of their O.A.S.A. intermediate "A" series. The winners face Simcoe Training Centre No. 26 in the next round for an all-soldiers series.

First encounter of the O.A.S.A. intermediate "B" series last night at Tillsonburg saw the locals fail before Burlington 7-6, nine errors ruining the chances of the home team. Second game is scheduled for Thursday at Burlington.

Senators Blank Brownies To Slice Lead

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

Emerging from their final Eastern invasion with a slight limp and new respect for the Philadelphia A's and the Washington Senators, the league-leading St. Louis Browns headed home via Detroit and Cleveland to-day bolstered by a 4½-game lead.

Johnny Niggeling blanked the Brownies last night in Washington 3-0, as the Luke Sewell men wound up their trip with only seven wins in 16 games A scrap between Nels Potter and George Case touched off a free-for-all among the players in the seventh inning.

Boston fell before Cleveland again, 5-3, when Steve Gromek outsteadied the wild Emmett O'Neill. Detroit, the Western club with the best record in the East, slid down below the New Yorkers in boing 9-7 at the Yankee Stadium. Hal Newhouser failed in his search for win No 21, losing to Rookie Mel Queen who needed a parade of relief help to hold the edge.

Russ Christopher took his 7th straight, the longest streak of the year in the American, when he hurled Philadelphia to a 5-1 victory over Chicago's Johnny Humphries.

Pittsburg continued to rush headlong in mad but futile pursuit of the Cardinals. The Pirates trimmed Brooklyn 7-5, their 17th win in the last 18 games, but St. Louis, the defending champs, upped their lead to 17 games by twice trimming Boston 7-4 and 2-1. Harry Brecheen notched his 13th triumph at Jim Tobin's expense and Max Lanier outpointed Al Javery with a one-hitter, a scratch single off Whitey Kurowski's glove by Butch Nieman in the first inning.

Cincinnati split with the Phils on Tom Delacruz's five-hit, 5-1 job in the second game after Ron Northey's 15th homer had given Bill Lee a 4-3 edge in the first. New York copped the season series from Chicago by staggering to a 9-8 victory with the Cubs threatening until the every end.

RED SOX SLUGGERS—The heavy hitting delivered by this trio is keeping the Boston Red Sox in the American league pennant race. The batting Bostonians are Bobby Doerr, top; Bob Johnson, centre, and Pete Fox.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, August 23 — (CP).— You can chalk up one favorable credit for the war anyway—it's making big-time sport and big-time sport promoters much more appreciative of the part the amateur game and the small fry play in their scheme of existence.

There was a time when good material was plentiful as all get-out in any sport you could mention, and it was always there for the asking. But now that manpower is so shy, the professional and top amateur organizations have to dig deep for player fodder.

It's encouraging to see a move like that made by Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, whose interest in the small fry is taking the shape of a special all-star professional amateur baseball contest to-night. The Toronto Baseball Association is providing the opposition, and the boys have been getting a lot of good out of practices at the Leafs' park and pointers from the players themselves.

Then the game's proceeds that will be turned over to the amateurs will help them on their way financially.

It's a good move, and one that will pay dividends in future, if it is repeated at not-too-infrequent intervals. The big-time footballers out in Winnipeg found it a profitable venture in terms of player returns when they acted similarly to coach and encourage the youngsters in the Manitoba capital in years gone by. Any spadework done in that direction won't be regretted when it comes time to harvest the crop in future years.

Taciturn Phil:

Elmer Ferguson reports in the Montreal Herald that Phil Watson, loquacious ice artist with Montreal Les Canadiens last winter, is writhing in agony keeping himself silent as the Canucks' summer softball squad wends along its schedule. Phil says he is saving all his wisecracks for the winter, and he hopes to talk at least 20 players into the penalty box early in the season. If he doesn't burst before then, Phil realy should be full of opponent-maddening sugestions.

Incidentally:

Edmonton schoolgirl Edith Skitch is a claimant for a share in the Dominion 80 meters intermediate hurdles record. In a recent meet she stepped the distance in 13 seconds, equalling Hamiltonian Betty Taylor's 1931 mark.....They have marked up another one for the record books at Fredericton. They had to call a baseball game there when forest fires sweeping the New Brunsick woods poured a pall of gloom over the diamond in the fifth inning.

Newark Lead Cut To Half A Game

(By The Associated Press).

That whiffing sound you heard was Red Embree racking up his 180th International League strikeout.

The big Baltimore fireballer leads the league in that department and polished his record further last night when he threw a neat 14-1 three-hitter against Syracuse for his 166th victory.

Red is far out in front of his nearest strikeout competitor, Johnny Maldovan of Newark. He has thrown 16 complete games, second only to Hod Lisenbee with 20.

Jersey City aided the Baltimore come back cause as they defeated Newark, 7-5. Andy Fleitas' first home run in organized ball provided the margin of victory, together with his total of five runs batted in.

The Newark lead now is down to half a game and sets the stage for the forthcoming series with Baltimore.

Bill Trotter won his sixth straight as Rochester laced Buffalo, 6-0. Trotter allowed only three hits, and no Bison got past second base.

Toronto and Montreal split a daytime double-header, the Royals taking the first 6-2 and the Leafs coming back in the second, 1-0. Luther Knerr lost the opener, while the nightcap was a pitching duel between John Gabbard and the Leaf's Alec Mustaikis, who scattered four Royal hits for the decision.

Murder Charge

MOOSE JAW, Sask., August 23 — (CP). — Royal Canadian Mounted Police said last night that John Schell, 50, Drinkwater, Sask., district farmer, has been charged with murder of Albert V. Lott, 57, a neighbor. Lott died in hospital here on Sunday of gunshot wounds.

Texas Bad Man Humbled Is Disqualified

A career of insolence and defiance of the referee in the wrestling ring Tuesday night at the Brock Arena brought about the downfall of the badman, Dr. Len Hall, in his match with Earl McCready in the feature exhibition of the evening's entertainment, after both wrestlers had scored falls in a bout marked with a great deal of heavy and consistent dueling.

Seven minutes after the start of the third round, the Texan dentist had his opponent crucified upside down on the ropes at the corner of the ring, and when the referee attempted to interfere with the Doc's sadistic tactics of kicking the helpless McCready while in this position, he himself was bunted out of the ring. Returning to his post and recovering from the daze occasioned by his fall, Referee Maxwell tried valiantly to restrain Hall from using his concentration camp strategy, but to no avail; and finally, with the whole-hearted approval of the audience, disqualified the offender and declared McCready winner of the bout.

The main match of the evening was preceded by a row between excitable Bunny Dunlop and sturdy Tom Collins, which the former won by a fall after 19 minutes; and a second preliminary with Irish Jack Kennedy and Strangler Bob Wagner opposing each other, which went the time limit to end in a draw.

No Dull Moments.

A lot of the old socko was in evidence in the Hall-McCready bout and there was scarcely a dull moment in the 31 minutes of actual fighting that made up the nip and tuck contest. Doc. Hall appeared to have the upper hand through most of the first fall, but in the end he proved the victim of McCready's expertly applied cartwheel hold, which put that businesslike wrestler one up after 12 minutes of fast and frenzied tussling.

From the start the Doc was in there with his bag of dubious tactics and many times resorted to getting purchase on the ropes when he found himself in a tough spot, a method of breaking or easing the pain of a hold for which the crowd did not thank him very kindly. Hall seemed from the beginning to be doing most of the moving around and grabbing for holds and meting out assorted varieties of punishment, while wily McCready, feeling he could afford to bide his time, waited for the really opportune moments to lay into his opposition with his best knockout stuff. Though appearing to be taking the lion's share of the third degree, the statistics show that McCready had the Doc out of the ring twice in the course of the first fall, while managing to stay inside the ropes himself. Nevertheless, it was a surprise to the spectators when the Moose got his cartwheel spinning and after giving Hall a few revolutions pinned him to the floor for the initial count.

Lots of Variety.

In the second installment of the main to-do at the Brock last night, the crowd immensely relieved to see McCready make the badman leave the ropes alone when he was flat on his back in McCready's vicelike grip on his foot by the simple expedient of hauling Doc Hall's struggling weight clear into the centre of the ring without sacrificing his advantage. This was only one of many diverting moments in the second fall, which saw the Doc out of the ring on his ear for the third time in the match; and witnessed a lot of illegal tactics on his part that were always obvious to the straining audience pulling for their favorite but were more often than not concealed from the busy eyes of the overworked referee.

In the end, however, Hall evened the score when he used the crucifixion game that later would lead to his own eventual downfall. He picked McCready up and banged him twice against the ropes and then wound him into the ropes upside down. This time McCready recovered and got back to his feet, but he was in a groggy condition and easy meat for the badman the minute he got into action. Hall took the second fall in 12 minutes.

McCready tried the cartwheel once again in the third round, but it was not successful and his opponent managed to squirm free. Shortly thereafter, the Texan heavyweight, goaded on by the boos of the crowd, got his dander up and launched into the rash actions that drew down the just wrath of the official and resulted in a win for McCready. A little extra-curricular slamming about came after the gong sounded, when McCready could restrain his pent-up wrath no longer and went after Doc. Hall before that gentleman had had an opportunity to remove himself from the ring. The audience was vastly delighted.

Dunlop versus Collins was an exhibition of wrestling in which it was made amply clear that virtue does not always have its just reward. Tom Collins abided by the rules, but Bunny Dunlop violated practically every article of the wrestling code, and due to his caginess in concealing his actions from the referee, also got away with it. He kicked and scratched and pulled hair; he hit below the belt and over the kidneys and pulled his opponent's nose and bit his opponent's arm; and to climax the show, he went to work with the strangling rope concealed in his tights and half-chocked the rapidly weakening Irishman. Collins, flushed and hardly able to see straight, then went down for the count.

Dirty Old Wagner.

Irish Jack Kennedy went the whole way against Strangler Wagner, though subjected to much the same treatment as the loser in the previous match. "Dirty Old Wagner" as he came to be called by the infuriated youngsters at the ringside, had quite a good bag of tricks himself; but his cautious opponent stayed in there pitching and on the whole gave as good as he took. Finally, in self-defense, Kennedy was forced to resort to one or two of the less sportsmanlike techniques used by the Strangler, such as hair-pulling; and the match ended on a high pitch of action, with Wagner alternately choking his opponent with the strangle hold and then being nearly choked by a firm headlock between the thighs that appeared to be Kennedy's favorite grip.

26 Amateurs Qualify In O'Shanter

CHICAGO, August 23 — (AP).— The chaff was separated from the wheat on Tuesday as 26 of 384 amateurs and 25 of 49 women qualified for 72-hole medal play finals in the two divisions of the Tam o' Shanter All-American golf tournament.

Heaviest interest, however, centred in to-day's qualifying round for 215 professionals, with the 40 low scorers and 40 exempt stars surviving for the 72-hole race for golfdom's greatest prize list—$42,500 in war bonds—which starts Thursday and runs through Sunday

After yesterday's par-busting brigade of amateurs had finished their chore with 22 scoring 75 or beter, only two of yesterday's 119 Simon-pure entrants could crack into the qualifying fold by coming within three strokes of par. One of those who tried in vain yesterday was Louis Sabo of Windsor, Ont., who colected a score of 77.

No one came within seven strokes of the brilliant 67 fired on Monday by Detroit's public links star, Ed. Furgol. Two Chicagoans, Louis Esposito with 74 and George Kinsman with 75 were the only ones to make the grade yesterday of the big group left over from Monday's dawn-to-dark assault

Hotel Keeper Held On Murder Count

LOST RIVER, QUE., Aug. 23 — The Brunelle Hotel here was closed last night while E. E. (Eddie) Brunelle, its operator, was held by Provincial police in Montreal in connection with the fatal shooting here last Friday night of Hugh Miller, 31, of Montreal, a wounded Dieppe veteran on leave from Ste. Anne de Bellevue Military Hospital.

Brunelle was taken to Montreal by Provincial police as the climax to four days' investigation in this little community, 20 miles northwest of Lachute. An inquest is to be opened in Lost River at 2 p.m. today by Dr. A. R. Cote of Brownsburg, the district coroner.

Investigation established that the 32-shotgun slugs which killed Miller entered his body from above, and followed a downward course, it was learned. This indicated the shot was fired from the hotel verandah, about 10 feet above the spot where Miller was standing when hit.

Roderick Chisholm, sawmill owner, who lives diagonally opposite the hotel, said there had been no disturbance preceding the shot. Another adjacent householder, William Beaton, corroborated Chisholm's words. He said that at the sound of the shot he had gone to the aid of the fallen man.

When they questioned Brunelle and his wife during their investigation, Provincial Police were told that neither had heard the shot ,it was reported. Hearsay, uncorroborated by official sources, was that Brunelle, 51-year-old veteran of the last war, had fired by intention or accident at a crowd of merrymakers who showed intentions of forcing an entrance to the closed hotel.

Harry Thompson of Montreal, who was driving Miller to a recently inherited farm near Weir, and the victim's wife, were reported to have been in an automobile near by at the time of the shooting. The couple's home is at 6321 Twelfth Ave., Rosemount.

The shooting was reported to have occurred shortly before midnight on Friday last. Miller, who came through the Dieppe battle and survived a serious motor accident in England which had since confined him to the military hosital at Ste. Anne de Bellevue and from which he was on brief leave, was going to look over his property with a view to settling on it at the first opportunity.

Miller was still on crutches, and his leg, broken in eight places in the motor accident, was still in a plaster cast when he was struck down.

Bulgars Claim Mistake Made

LONDON, August 23 — (CP). — The Bulgarian Govtrnment of Premier Ivan Bagrianov put forth another tentative bid for peace last night, but Turkish dispatches said it was conditioned on retention of at least a part of the Balkan territory Bulgaria gained as a German ally.

"Bulgaria is too small to take part in this world war," Foreign Minister Parvan Draganov said, asserting that his country's declaration of war on Britain and the United States had been a mistake and adding: "Her interests are confined to the Balkans."

He insisted these "interests" embrace Thrace and Macedonia and an outlet through the former to the Aegean—long a sore point in Balkan diplomacy—as well as certain former Yugoslav teritory. He offered to withdraw Bulgarian garrison troops from what he called "non-Bulgarian" territories in Yugoslavia.

The Greek Government in Cairo already has expressed its opposition to any peace that would strip Greece of Thrace, of Macedonia and similar opposition undoubtedly would come from a reconstituted Yugoslavia.

All available information indicates that peace talks reported conducted in Turkey between Bulgarian and Allied representatives led up to only one point on which Britain and the United States would agree to an armistice—unconditional surrender.

Tobacco Saved

SIMCOE, August 23 (CP)— Fears that the $20,000,000 tobacco crop in this district— largest in the history of the industry here— would not be harvested were banished on the week-end, according to a report from T. A. Phillips, National Selective Service Officer in charge of the tobacco office. The crop will be saved because there was sufficient labor to harvest it, Mr. Phillips said.

A NATION OF 'CAPITALISTS'

"Capital . . . is simply . . . 'saved labour'. A man doesn't spend all he earns, and capital, which always starts in a small way, comes into being."

"Anyone who has a savings account or owns a home, a share or a bond, or a life insurance policy, is a capitalist, and a better citizen for it, since he has a stake in the country . . . we are a nation of 'capitalists' . . ."

"We provide for those who bring their investments to us for management, a helpful service in safeguarding for them the fruits of their labour during their lifetime, and a sound administration of their estates after their deaths, to best assure the security of their dependants."

French Woman Paratroops Aid Partisans

MONTREAL, Aug. 23 — (CP). — Mrs. Andre Simard of Quebec, only woman representative on the French Provisional Government at Algiers, said here Tuesday that French women, trained in North Africa, were being dropped by parachute over France to aid formations of patriots fighting the Germans. Mrs. Simard returned to Canada recently after serving with the Provisional French Government for six months.

The women who were trained in Africa had escaped from France, and "are as brave, as active and as strong as the men," she said. They are writing "one of the most extraordinary pages in French history."

She added: "If the Allies are advancing so rapidly in France, it is on account of the French patriots clearing the way for them. These people of France have never lost hope and are the ones who are paving the way to victory."

As soon as the enemy is driven from Paris, the French Assembly now in Algiers will reassemble in Paris and will be enlarged with French leaders who remained in the country and participated in the resistance against the enemy, Mrs. Simard said.

"The first job of this new assembly will be the reorganization of the country in the grandeur and dignity of France," she said. "If we may have certain weaknesses toward high personalities in France, the resistance groups will not allow us to be feeble."

People Retain Desire For Little Stories

By DOUGLAS AMARON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON. August 23 — (CP) — Front-page headlines told of smashing victories in Russia, of a breakthrough in Normandy, of a big push by the Polish forces in Italy. But the little people and the little stories had their place in "the rest of the news."

Great Britain's newspapers, as small as they are, still find space to tell their readers what is going on at home. The gossipy chatter that frequently gets read in full while only the headlines of the "big" stories are perused still is "news."

Here, for instance, were some of the little stories of a day when news was "hottest."

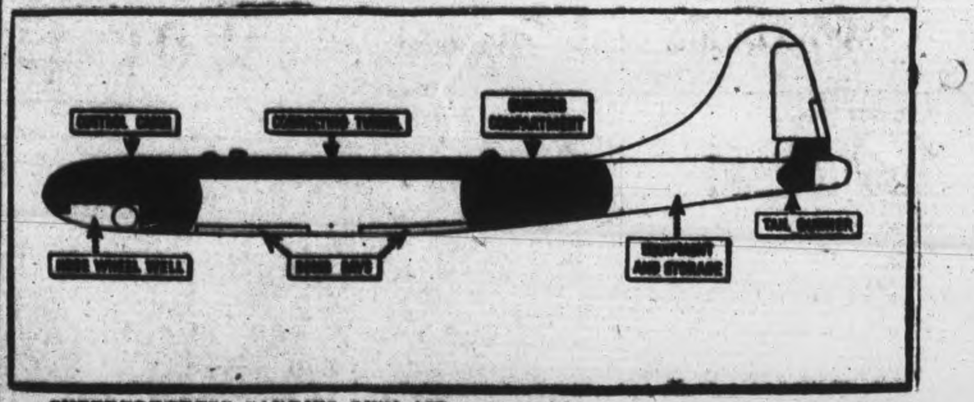
The rector of a Lewes Church was being prosecuted for allegedly refusing to fire-watch .... Bath's Food Council filed a protest with the government that its supplies were not sufficient to feed 8,000 evacuees.... Quarduplets were born to a woman in Edinburgh ....

A looter who stole $7 worth of articles from a bombed house went to gaol for six months .... A London widow appeared in court on a witchcraft charge .... The Government was criticized for transporting a German officer prisoner in a first class railway carriage. ....

The wife of an Air Vice Marshall was granted a divorce .... The City of Edinburgh conferred its freedom on Viscount Linlithgow, former viceroy of India .... There was a rush to adopt babies, but twins could find no takers....

And a letter to the editor read:

"The queue at the fishmonger's was 30 yards long, mostly women. The siren sounded, so I decided to wait for the 'imminent danger' signal to give me a better chance. It came, and the machine roared overhead. Did those women move? No —no one of 'em, and I had to wait my proper turn. Carry on. Southern England!"



SUPERFORTRESS CARRIES OWN AIR PRESSURE ALOFT—Drawn in solid black on this cross-section cutaway of the Boeing B29 Superfortress is one of the secrets of the giant new bomber — the secret of its "pressurized" sections in which all crewmen, from pilot to tail gunner, work and fight comfortably and efficiently in ground-level air pressure and without oxygen masks at very high altitudes above ack-ack fire and surface storms. As shown in the drawing, the forward control cabin is connected with the gunner's compartment by a long, circular, man-size tube. The tail gunner's compartment, like its occupant, is all on its own.

Flying Bombs Increase As Allies Gain

LONDON, Aug. 23 (CP)—Flying bombs plunged into Southern England yesterday on an accelerated scale, bringing a heavy toll of casualties while the populace dug into debris, buoyed up by news of Allied headway toward the rocket coast across the Channel.

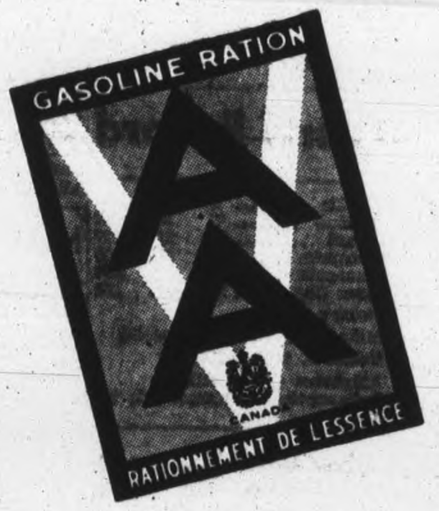
Taking advantage of several days of bad Channel weather, the Nazis maintained intermittent salvos of the buzz bombs, possibly with the idea of depleting their stocks in the Pas de Calais before having to evacuate the area.

Although Prime Minister Churchill twice has urged all non-essential Londoners to evacuate the buzz-bomb belt, the exodus has dropped to a trickle as the city's residents read day after day of spectacular victories in France. But the latest attacks, bringing heavy casualties and destruction, grimly underscore Mr. Churchill's sober advice that the robot menace is apt to continue until the final victory over Germany.

Powerful gun barrages on the coast this morning exploded a number of robots in their flight. Crashing robot bombs gave home-defence workers a busy night. Huge cranes were pressed into action to lift blocks of masonry while stretcher parties and doctors stood by directing the search through loud-speakers.

One robot demolished a factory and damaged a near-by church. Fire broke out in the factory and about eight employees were killed.

YOUR AA RATION IS AN "ISSUE" OF VITAL AMMUNITION



THINK!.. before you waste a drop!

GASOLINE for all purposes—civil and military—comes from the one common petroleum pool of the Allied Nations! Oil control in Canada must keep our withdrawals from this common pool down to a minimum. Your AA ration was not given to you for pleasure driving. It represents the outside limit of what the average motorist should use for essential wartime driving including voluntary war work.

In this country, where train, bus and street car systems cannot alone carry all essential traffic, the motor car is an indispensable link in the nation's transportation chain. It is to help keep civil transportation rolling that your AA gasoline allowance is made. Only in instances where this basic allowance is insufficient for some specific essential service or war job, are extra rations being allowed.

Remember that your gasoline ration is an "issue" of ammunition. Don't waste it. Don't squander it on needless trips. It is your obligation to make your AA allowance do a real wartime job. Every gallon we can go without here at home means that much more for the fighting men.

MODEST MR. FORD

Only one criticism of Dick Ford's Wednesday morning program from St. John's chimes tower: it is too brief, especially this midweek morning at 10 a.m. when windows are open and people are leisurely abroad, and the conditions are most favorable for a public audience. Aldermen Seeking Sewage Data

Alderman Dutton and City Engineer Parsons were authorized by the council Monday night to attend, if both can go, the convention of the Federation of Sewage Works Associations of the United States and Canada.

The motion by Aldermen Bradburn and Sands conceived the prospect of Peterborough's representatives obtaining from those sessions of public sanitation ideas which might be valuable to this city as it approaches its sewage disposal problem.

Incidentally, Mr. Parsons is president of the Canadian Institute on Sewage and Sanitation, an affiliate of the Federation which is composed of similar groups from all parts of both countries.

The incoming president at Pittsburgh will be a Canadian, Dr. A. E. Berry, Toronto, Sanitary Engineer, and director of the sanitary division of the Ontario Department of Health.

Major Concern

Peterborough's sewage problem, as reported from preliminary comments by the council, was described by Alderman Bradburn recently as a major concern for this community. The sewage disposal plant has to be modernized, particularly in its secondary stage of sludge disposal. The Ashburnham septic tank will have to be discarded, and presumably the present outlet will be diverted across the river from Burnham's Point to McDonald's Point to connect with the main sewer on George street.

Council has been talking of the need of another large sewer down the west side of the city, and also the possibility that the George street trunk conduit may have to be enlarged. It was felt the other night that the sending of two representatives to the Pittsburgh convention might turn out to be a good investment in information and ideas applying to this city's sewage problem.

Many Farmers To Go West

Harvesting of Western Canada's plentiful grain crops, now that their own crops for the most part are in, will shortly be calling farmers of this district many miles from home, to the great farming communities of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Albertea. Upwards of 300 have already registered for this work, it was stated at Selective Serice this morning.

The time when harvesting assistance will be required and the quota for the Peterborough district have not as yet been set, W. H. L. Mellis, Selective Service manager, informed the Examiner today; but he expects the date will be forthcoming shortly. Meanwhile, many more farmers have made known their desire to proceed West than was the case last year, when those who went returned home with appreciative reports of working conditions in far-off farming communities. This is the second half of a reciprocal movement of farm labor that saw a number of Western farmers journey east earlier in the summer to give assistance to Ontario's hard-pressed rural families.

The response so far to the urgent need for part-time help at the Canada Packers, where the canning of a bumper tomato crop is now getting underway, has been slight and women volunteers are still desired. Mr. Mellis said, adding that his office was trying to obtain three men to-day who could go on the job. Some 15 additional male workers will be required for Sept. 1, by which time canning will have reached the seasonal peak.

Farmers from this area have gone to Fort William, where elevators are crammed to capacity, to aid in clearing grain for shipment down from the head of the Lakes, Mr. Mellis revealed. Selective Service here has supplied 12 workers for this job; and another nine are now employed in the tobacco fields near Simcoe.

Citizens Favor Murray St. For City Hall

If the opinion of a cross-section of residents in Peterborough can be taken as a true indication, the majority of people are interested and well-informed on the question of finding a site or the proposed new city hall, a survey taken of the man-in-the-street revealed today.

Although a few admitted they hadn't given the idea the slightest consideration, many more of the people interviewed disclosed they had turned the thought of the proposition over in their minds, and each had their own individual favorite location. A minority expressed the desire the city hall would be built in a district that would help them in their business life. Nine out often people said the most attractive and convenient location in the city should be chosen for the building.

"The best all-round spot in the city, in my opinion, is the Charlotte-Aylmer street block," said W. R. Packenham, who lives on Aylmer street. This location seemed to be the most popular.

F. B. Sargent, Weller street, is of the opinion the block on Murray street between Water and George or the block on Murray facing Confederation Square would be a most desirable location for the new city hall. It should not be in the section with all the stores and business concerns", he said, "and I can't think of a more appropriate spot than the Murray-Water location". Mr. Sargent pointed out the expense of the property of course has much to do with a location being chosen.

Ruth Boorman, McDonnel street, also thinks the Murray street city hall site would be the most attractive.

Mrs. H. Ballard, George street north, says the Charlotte-Aylmer block is too near a railroad station to be a proper place for the city hall. "I think it would be noisy and dusty there", she said, adding that a site near Confederation Square seemed to be the favorite with her. "Besides being much prettier, it's quieter around that section during the day, and we want the nicest spot for the city hall as possible."

J. C. Harrison, 135 Park Hill road thinks either the Market Square block, or the Charlotte-Aylmer section to be the best two places in town for the new city hall.

"I think the Charlotte street location is the best", stated a man interviewed. "After all, it's near a railway station, so visitors would see the building immediately, and added to that, most of the cars coming into Peterborough come down Charlotte. Besides, it would probably help my business if it were situated around there!"

A different note in locations was struck, when a woman living in East City, was next to positive the best location for the new city hall would be across the Hunter street bridge, on Burnham street, facing the Riverside Park. "It's pretty over there ,and quiet. I think its the best place for the building," she insisted!

Parks Committee Praised For Work

"Alderman Curtis and his parks committee are doing a fine job," and I think the chairman is to be congratulated on the Saturday entertainment," said Alderman Glover on Monday night.

The discussion brought out the information that two properties will be available for skating rinks next winter, and are likely to be developed as playgrounds. One of them on Bonaccord street, has already been given to the city, and the other at Brock and Aylmer streets is a proposal that requires the consent of the beneficiaries of the Fleming estate.

Alderman Curtis said the Parks Committee was planning to use both next winter for public skating rinks. He was asked by the council to have a "suitable platform" twenty-four feet square built sectionally for use in the city's parks.

Mayor Hamilton said the council would feel grateful that no one was injured in the collapse of a temporary stand at the Kiwanis carnival last Saturday night.

Bill Blair Safe In England Wounded In Nazi Prison Camp

Reported missing July 8 and his whereabouts and fate unknown to his family for many weeks, word was received this morning direct from CSM. W. I. Blair of the 1st Canadian Parachute Battalion, the husband of the former Armene McCarthy, 211 Park street south, that he is now back safe in England. In his letters, excerpts of which follow, the soldier reveals what has happened to him since before the dawn of D-Day, when he parachuted down on French soil in the Caen area, and was picked up by a German patrol. CSM. Blair is the only son of Major W. F. Blair of Fredericton, now with the Canadian Army overseas; and his only sister, Mrs. J. R. Grant, lives in Oshawa.

"....Finally arrived back in England and needless tosay I'm darned glad to be here. Well, the night before "D" day we flew to France, landing in the Caen area. I was hurt on the jump by being caught on the aircraft by my right leg. After a couple of flaps (like wet rag) I broke eloose —the "Chute" opened and I came down only to land in water. Fortunately I was able to pull the lever on the "Mae West" so there was nothing to worry about. The water had shrunk up the harness which gave me some trouble getting rid of the 'chute but finally I cast it off and made my way to dry land. That was at about one a.m. After locating my position I headed for the battalion forming up point, arriving there at approximately five o'clock. After locating the medical station I had my leg fixed up along with a couple of holes in my arm which were acquired during my "Walking tour" of France. Candidly I was pretty well beat by then so stopped there for a few minutes before starting off to look for the Company.

Grabbed by Patrol.

It was then that Jerry walked in and picked us up. I didn't realise it then but I was (and still am) deaf in my right ear. So four days later I found myself in a Stalag at Rennes —the Germans had my leg and arm fixed up and as I was fit to move, were preparing to ship me off to Germany. Another lad (English) and myself decided that we didn't want that so planned to escape during one of the frequent air-raids. The stalag guards all went to ground during raids— howevr on July 5th, late afternoon there was a particularly heavy raid so Ronnie and I headed for the wire. About twenty yards from it I saw a flash in front of me, heard an explosion and felt a blow in the stomach. I still kept running until I fell into a trench where I proceeded to examine my stomach. There was a small hole on the right, but not very painful, but I started to get out of the trench only to discover that I couldn't. Some of the guards ran up and proceeded to patch us up. Ronnie was hit in the neck and bleeding quite badly to carting us off to the hospital. I asked who threw the grenade but they denied it claiming it was a piece of A-A shrapnel. I didnt dare push the matter as Jerry frowns on escapes. I was moved to a French hospital—x-rayed—operated on then put to bed again to heal up. The wound became infected retarding the healing process, so by the time theYank drive reached Rennes I was still in the hospital. Unfortunately Ronnie healed up within a week and was finally shipped off to Germany. The Americans picked us up— took us to one of their evacuation hospitals— filled us full of Penicillin and food—kept us until we were almost fit and then flew us back to England. Now I am walking around quite easily and healed up nicely."

From a letter dated earlier "There is no doubt about it— these Yanks know how to care for a wounded man. The Red Cross are continually coming through the wards with cigarettes, candy, books, and just about anything a man wants. I was only a prisoner of war two months— the Germans gave us what they had but unfortunately they had nothing. Poor food in small quantities, no cigarettes, no candy, very little medical equipment— it was deplorable.

3 Remanded On Theft Counts

Magistrate Langley this morning remanded for one week Leopold Gingras, Montreal, and George Houde, St. Prosper, Quebec, jointly charged with the theft of an automobile owned by W. E. Leonard, Noranda, theft of a quantity of clothing valued at more than $25, owned by Isador Black, and the additional theft of an automobile owned by Frederic Vivash. Albert Marcoux, of Chandler, Quebec, was also remanded one week on the same charges,

Gingras, who cannot speak English very well, asked the court, through Houde, for an interpreter. Houde, however, stated he thought he could go through the session without an interpreter. Magistrate Langley said if Gingras was to have one, Houde should also!

Albert Marcoux, when remanded until August 30 without plea or election, said he wished to be sentenced as soon as possible. "You must be guilty then," observed the magistrate. It is expected the trio, who were apprehended by police August 16 in the vicinity of Port Hope, after a wild chase, will be represented by F. C. Richardson, of Port Hope.

W. J. A. Fair appeared for Arthur Lee, and was granted an additional adjournment of one week for his client, who is charged with the illegal sale of liquor.

Cecil Belle was found guilty on written plea of guilty and fined $5 and $2.50 costs for a parking infringement.

Charles Curry was given suspended sentence for one year, under $100 bond, after he was convicted of failing to support his wife. Curry agreed to support his wife and provide a home for her after some advice had been given by the magistrate.

Just to show the court he was in earnest about the whole thing, Curry walked over to Mrs. Curry and handed her $10. It was the second time he has been in court on the same charge.

Caused Disturbance

Leo Emery was fined $2 and $1 costs after he withdrew his previous plea of not guilty to a plea of guilty, on a charge of creating a disturbance. Asked if there was anything he wished to say, Emery declared there had been no disturbance caused; it was only a few words with a waiter in a restaurant after he had waited an indefinite time for his meal. Magistrate Langley commented he himself had waited long stretches of time in restaurants and had often seen everyone else served first, after he had been there first! The court chuckled.

MASTER OF ALL MEN

In 1943 an inscribed strip of bronze indicating existence of a king of the world 2,500 years ago, was discovered in Palestine.

WITH ENGINEERS OVERSEAS—Spr. John A. McIntyre, R.C.E., is a member of a unit which recently had the honor of being inspected by Gen. Montgomery and a week later by the King. Overseas 2½ years, he is a transport driver. The soldier's mother, Mrs. J. McIntyre, lives at 124 Park street.

Personal Gifts Speed Aid To Robot Victims

Every individual has a personality all their own, and some more than others seem to just simply exude goodness in caring for the wants of others outside of their own immediate circle, and it would seem safe to add that perhaps there never was a time in the history of the world, where in spite of the tremendous amount of evil that has been caused in these latter years, there also never was a time when more people have displayed a kindly thought for others in trouble than that which exists right at this moment.

On July 10, this column on behalf of the sufferers from enemy attacks by air over the British Isles through the city and district's own fund operating for that purpose, made a special appeal for a more wider personal interest through the giving in an individual way to assist the latest increased need through robot bomb attacks, and it is gratifying indeed to be able this day to acknowledge the 9th list of purely personal gifts in that time.

What perhaps is still more significant in this respect, is the fact that among the seventeen personal gifts listed to-day. One comes from the city of Winnipeg, and another from Ottawa through local friends of the fund and cause, who have supported it in a personal way on a number of occasions, and another from William Chapman of Lang P. O. so that this day's list comes both from far and near.

Included also are four gifts that were made at the Gladiolus and Aquarium Show held recently, a further to which will appear tomorrow when the proceeds of the penny box accompany the report of this joint show held in the interest of the fund.

There is a story of real regard for one of the heroines of this titanic world struggle now absorbing every loyal citizen's utmost in service, connected with the gift noted as "In Memoriam, E. H. J." for it continues the devoted service that was given by a nurse on board a ship that was torpedoed by an enemy submarine, who became wounded through this action,and was subsequently rescued to become a prisoner in Germany where she died as a result of her service to humanity, King and Country.

As has been the custom during the past few weeks, another list of personal gifts will commence to be gathered at once, for there seems every reason to believe that many others would wish in a similar manner to take a personal part in the great humanitarian work that the fund seeks to carry on.

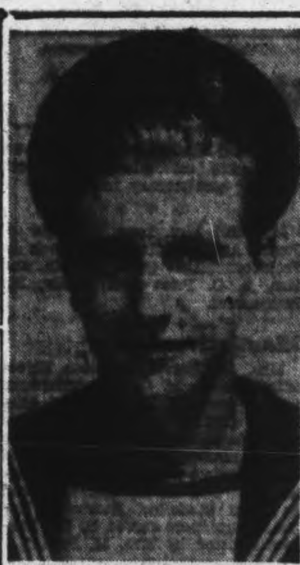
Tpr. Gordon Huggins Prisoner In Germany

Tpr. Gordon W. Huggins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Huggins, 46 Frank street, who was reported missing some weeks ago, is now a prisoner of war in Germany, according to word received here.

The young soldier was serving with the Oshawa Tank Regiment, having enlisted with that unit in September, 1939. He went overseas in June, 1941, and had been fighting with his regiment until he was reported missing in June.

A younger brother, Kenneth, is serving with the Norwegian Merchant Marine.



IN NAVY THREE YEARS—Stoker Robert R. Ferguson, son of Mrs. George J. Johnson, 650 Armour road, has been in the Navy for three years. He is serving on H.M.C.S. Stonehouse, and married a Montreal girl two months ago.

Spr. Cliff Hunt Back From Italy

Serving as an escort for prisoners of war on a vessel returning to Canada recently Spr. Clifford Hunt, 283 Wolfe street, who has been overseas for nearly three years, returned to his home and his wife and two children, aged 7 and 5, after experiences that took him through an important part of the Italian campaign with the 8th Army. The soldier, who is with the Engineers, and went to England in September, 1941, is 27.

Home on a 30-day leave and expecting to be posted back overseas when his furlough is ended, Spr. Hunt was in the front lines in Italy from March of this year up until the beginning of the last big push on Rome. He saw Ortona after that rubble-torn city had fallen to gallant Canadian soldiers, and at later periods was in Naples, Cassino and many other places along the route of the 8th Army up the Liri Valley.

A driver of lorries taking engineers' stores up to the front lines, he once narrowly escaped death or serious injury when a land mine exploded under his vehicle. Thrown clear himself, Spr. Hunt suffered only a cut over the eye, but his truck, he admitted, was pretty thoroughly demolished.

This is the soldier's first leave, and the fact that his furlough was overdue, he said, was probably responsible for this selection, on the recommendation of his commanding officer and company sergeant major for the job of escorting prisoners of war. He returned on the same ship as Sgt. Kenneth Robinson, 239 George street, after spending about four weeks in England prior to setting sail for Canada. Spr. Hunt, like most others who have come home recently, had a look at the robot bombs which have caused such great destruction in the old country; but he never found himself too near to one for personal comfort and hence had little to say about them.

LOVE BUG BIT 'EM.

When Cupid fires his arrows there's bound to be a little action and judging by a little scene on Water street, opposite the Examiner, Tuesday afternoon, he really hit the jack pot. A not-too-young couple stopped just past the corner and went into a clinch, kissing one another enthusiastically, stopped, said a few words, and gave a repeat performance. After letting off a little of their romance steam, the pair wandered off down the street.—J.S.

Serious Fire Damages Lumber Pile

LINDSAY. Aug. 23. — (ENS). — Damage estimated at several thousand dollars was caused by fire breaking out in the Highland Lumber Company, one mile north of Minden in Haliburton County, Tuesday night. Only the valiant efforts of volunteer fire fighters aided by three pumpers saved the mill and nearly one million feet of lumber.

The fire broke out in the men's sleeping quarters, and fanned by a heavy wind, ran across the dry ground to the lumber. About 150,000 feet of lumber was destroyed as well as the cook house and men's sleeping quarters.

Fire pumpers were rushed from Minden Archer's tourist home at Matabanik and from the Fire Rangers' station. The Lindsay fire truck also made the 31 mile trip. All residents of the district joined in fighting the flames and women worked heroically carrying water and preventing the fire from breaking out into the main lumber piles.

The timber district of Haliburton district is now stated to be in a very dangerous dry conditnon. Fires have been reported in the northeast section and rangers are keeping a sharp watch for other outbreaks.

Boys Wanted For Lacrosse

All boys interested in lacrosse are asked to turn out Thursday evening for practice, which will be held at four well-known centres in Peterborough. In an effort to revive the favorite game of many people, the city council granted $100, and with this money in part, four dozen lacrosse sticks were bought. The first practice was marked by a large turnout, but unfortunately, the box was in bad shape, and the weeds were high. Older players are requested to come out and give advice and assistance Thursday evening, and everyone is asked to bring their own sticks, and go to the park nearest them. The four centres for lacrosse at the present are: Park Hill Community Park, where Reg. Perks and Ned Vitarelli will direct proceedings; Inverlea Park, Ira Dundas and Harry Tudhope Lions' Club Park, Lew Le Barr, Shocky Mein; and King Edward Park, where Tiger Jewett and Vert. Reynolds will be in charge.

J. Sunday, Missing Now War Prisoner

ALDERVILLE, Aug. 23.—(ENS). —John Sunday, reported missing in action, has written home to say he is a prisoner of war in Germany. He was serving in Italy when captured. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sunday, and a grandson of John Sunday, all natives of Alderville.

Another Alderville casualty is James Smoke, wounded in France. He suffered bullet wounds in the thigh. He is a son of Levi Smoke, of Alderville.

Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. G. Harris, Princess Street entertained at a miscellaneous shower recently in honor of Miss Eileen Giffen, of Norwood whose marriage takes place the end of the month. Master Ray Harris presented the brideelect with a number of lovely gifts and an address was read by Miss Madeline Binstead. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. M. Hess.

Francis Dingwall Marries E. C. Boes

A pretty wedding of interest took place recently at the home of the bride's parents, in Castleton, when Frances Evelyn Dingwall, became the bride of Edwin Charles Boes, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Boes, of Brighton. Rev. F. Darnell officiated at the ceremony, conducted under an arch of evergreens banked with summer flowers. The wedding music was played by Miss Grace Boes of Toronto, sister of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length white sheer with lace inserts. Her shoulder-length veil of white net fell from a matching halo and she carried American Beauty roses. Miss Lenore Welton, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, in floor-length blue sheer, with matching veil. She carried Talisman roses. Mr. Russel Baker was best man.

Following the ceremony, the bride's mother received the guests at the reception. She was gowned in blue and white printed crepe, and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore navy sheer, and a corsage of yellow roses. Lunch was served by Mrs. Donald Massey, Mrs. Russel Baker, and Misses Gladys Welton, Ruth Poole, Marjorie Carr and Beatrice Bird.

For a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and other points, the bride chose a dress of blue sheer and white accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Boes will live near Brighton. Mrs. Boes was formerly employed at the Royal Bank, Peterborough.

The groom's gift to the bride was a strand of pearls. The bridesmaid received a Waterman pen, the pianist, a glamor pin, and the best man's gift was a gold-filled tie set.

Couple Observes 50th Anniversary

Former residents of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Wise, 177 Strange street, Kitchener, recently celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. They lived in Peterborough for sixteen years, and while here, Mr. Wise was employed as a baker with Stock's and with Brady's. A daughter, Mrs. S. H. Perks, lives on London street, and their three other daughters, Mrs. Harvey Gross of Toronto, and Mrs. James Grant and Mrs. Mal. Tracey of Kitchener, were born in Peterborough. They have five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Wise, who is 73, was born in Finch, Hampstead, England, and Mr. Wise, who is 76, was born in Sulhanstead, England, and, while living in Hanley-on-the-Thames, was in the dairy business. Before retiring, he was a gardener at the Dominion Tire Factory, Kitchener, for 21 years. They were married in All Saints' Anglican church, Hampstead, England, by Rev. Canon Brown, with Mrs. Wise's sister, Mrs. Frank Pontin, Peter street, Kitchener, and Mrs. Walter Judge, England, as bridesmaids.

On their anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Wise were guests of honor at a dinner, served at the Granite Club, Kitchener, with 23 guests present. Reg. Perks of Peterborough, eldest grandchild, was master of ceremonies, and Mrs. S. H. Perks, of Peterborough, eldest daughter, played the doxology.

Many friends and well-wishers visited the couple at their home during the afternoon. The tea table, centred with a three-tier wedding cake decorated with gold leaves, was also set with a basket of golden roses with mauve and white flowers as a background, a gift from their four daughters. Mrs. S. H. Perks poured tea.

Bride-to-Be Given Showers

Miss Shirley Watt, whose marriage to John Trennum takes place September 4 in St. Luke's Anglican Church, was honored at a social evening Tuesday by members of the Scout and Cub Mothers' Auxiliary of St. Luke's. Mr. W. King, Cubmaster, made the address and Mrs. J. Miller, president of the auxiliary, made the presentation to Miss Wyatt of a leather hassock and a cup and saucer.

An enjoyable evening was spent in music with Mrs. G. Bousfield in charge, and games, planned by Miss Margaret Arthur. Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Hamilton, Mrs. H. Laing and Mrs. W. King, members of the auxiliary. Mrs. D. H. Wyatt will entertain at a trousseau tea for her daughter on Saturday afternoon and evening, August 26, at her home, 554 Rogers street.

Summer Weather Affects Hair Appearance

Summer sun and dry hot winds play havoc with women's curls, and dry, brittle ends are often the result of too many duckings in the lake while on holidays. For the girl who is thinking of getting her permanent for the winter in the near future, here are a few tips to condition the hair so that it will "take" the permanent, and yet be soft and natural looking.

The dry, brittle ends can spoil a permanent because they lack life. To correct this condition, try rubbing a cream dressing or a pomade into the ends. Ordinary vaseline will also do the thick. Before retiring, rub a little vaseline or dressing on the palms of the hands, and rub the hair, section by section, between them.

Daily brushing is also of great importance for healthy glossy hair. Always use a clean brush, wiping it on a clean towel after every few strokes, and keeping it fresh with requent dippings in warm sudsy water, to which a teaspoonful of ammonia has been added. Use of a good hair tonic is also essential, since it acts as a conditioner. Part the hair every inch and anoint the scalp with fresh cotton soaked with the tonic. It is not necessary to use a great deal of the solution, and a little goes a long way. Don't soak the scalp, just rub in a little of the tonic.

Try this for two weeks, and then wash the hair with a reliable liquid soap shampoo, and dry it with a towel or sun lamp. After it is thoroughly dry, brush it for five minutes, and repeat the vaseline or pomade treatment, and then set the curls. Continue this care until lou get your new permanent, and see how much better and more natural it appears, and how well it will last.

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

PUT OFF GETTING MARRIED

Boy Should Wait Until After War When He Can Support Family

DEAR MISS DIX: I have an 18-year-old brother who is leaving for the Air Corps soon. He is talking of marrying before he goes and I do not think he should do so as our mother is a widow, dependent upon him and me. If he marries, his money will go to his wife and his insurance if he is killed, will go also to her. And this would leave me with the entire responsibility for mother's support, which I do not feel able to assume as I am, myself, only 19 and get only a beginner's salary. What do you think of this situation?

TROUBLED GIRL

Help Mother Along

ANSWER: You are quite right in thinking that your brother should put off getting married until after the war, when, let us trust, he will be in a better position to support a wife and perhaps a baby, as well as contribute to his mother's upkeep than he is now. Certainly it is the height of selfishness for him to duck his responsibility to his mother and walk off leaving you with the bag to hold.

The anly excuse that can be offered for your brother and thousands of other lads who are doing the same thing is that they are too young and know too little of life to realize the consequences of what they are doing and the sufferings they are bringing on their families. They are victims of the mass hysteria that has made them think that they must get married before they go into the army just because all the other boys are doing it and so they pick up the first little sweetie they see and rush to the altar with her, without counting the cost. They forget that wives are expensive luxuries and that by the time they get through supporting their brides there will be nothing left for Mom.

At any rate, a boy of 18 has no business getting married. He isn't mature enough to know what he wants in a wife or to be capable of a serious love. The chances are a hundred to one that before he even gets through his basic training as a soldier he will have had half a dozen other passing fancies and wish himself free.

So if you can keep your brother from making this great mistake you will have done him a favor for which he will be grateful to you as long as he lives

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife is slovenly about her person and the way she keeps the house that I have lost all affection for her. Also she bosses the life out of me. She times my every move. I am allowed 45 minutes to go and come from work and I have to show up on the dot, although I have eight miles to go. I am not permitted to stop on the way for a cup of coffee with the other fellows. I have to turn over my whole pay envelope to her and she only gives me 50 cents a week to spend. I have one night a week off and that night I am compelled to visit her family. I have no choice about anything I do.

I have two children to whom I am devoted and for their sake I have stood all of this but I feel I cannot bear it any longer. What can I do to loosen the ball and chain?

HENPECKED HUSBAND

ANSWER: Join the army. When you are surrounded by hundreds of other soldiers you will, at least, have protection from your female Hitler. And perhaps the discipline of war will strengthen your backbone enough to make you defy your tyrant when you get back home.

Certainly a man who has stood a henpecking wife for years has nothing to fear from the enemies' bullets.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl of 16, terribly in love with a married man who has four children. I know I will never love another and I will go crazy if I can't have him. Do you think a girl can get a bad name for going with a married man?

SHEILA

ANSWER: She not only can get a bad name, she invariably does. This is a censorious world and believes the worst of a girl who runs around with married men. Don't do it. The game isn't worth the candle.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

This being the season of the year when people go on picnics, I am going to give you some very tasty sandwich spreads. Be sure and have your bread at least one day old as it will cut so much better. As we all know there is nothing makes a nicer or more tasty sandwich than chicken, so that is going to be our first recipe today.

Chicken, Ham and Celery Sandwich

1 cup cooked chicken meat, ½ cup celery, 1 tablespoon, green pepper, ½ cup salad dressing, ¼ cup cooked ham. Mince the chicken, ham, celery and green peppers. Mix with salad dressing and spread between thin slices of either brown or white bread.

Chicken Liver Sandwiches

1 cup cooked chicken livers, 2 tablespoons chopped crisp bacon, salt and pepper, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons sliced truffles, 4 drops tabasco sauce, 2 stalks minced clery. Mash the chicken livers and add the chopped bacon, salt, pepper, tabasco sauce, lemon juice and sliced truffles. Use between slices of bread spread with creamed butter mixed with minced celery.

Ham and Tomato Sandwiches

1 cup minced ham, 1 teaspoon parsley, cayenne pepper, mace, few drops lemon juice, ¼ cup butter, 2 sliced tomatoes, mayonnaise. To minced ham add the parsley cayenne, mace, lemon juice and creamed butter. Rub the bowl with a little onion juice. Spread rounds of buttered bread with the mixture and between each two rounds place a thin slice of ripe tomato spread with mayonnaise.

Cucumber Sandwiches

Soak thin slices of cucumber for one hour in good white wine vinegar seasoned with salt and pepper. Add one teaspoon salt and pepper. Add one teaspoon of chopped chives, if desired. Drain the slices and use them between thin slices of either brown or white bread. Each sandwich may be made just the size of a cucumber slice if daintiness is desired.

Marshmallow Sandwiches

¾ cup diced marshallows, ¼ cup orange juice, ¼ cup chopped nuts, ¼ cup chopped pineapple (canned). Cut the marshallows into small pieces and soak for a few hours in enough orange juice to moisten them. Mix with chopped pineapple and nuts. Spread between slices of Boston brown bread. This makes a very dainty sandwich for afternoon tea.

Savory Sandwiches (Hot)

Spread slices of whole-wheat or graham toast with butter. Over these place slices of crisply cooked bacon. Sprinkle generously with chopped sweet pickle and horseradish. Serve with sliced tomatoes.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A CONSOLIDATION of the forces and faculties in a concerted effort to break up lagging or congested situations, may result in a secure and enduring harvest for sound policies and shrewd diligence and hard work. In this there is promise of those of prestige and financial security, disposed to assist worthy and concentrated endeavors in the right direction. There may be public welfare at stake, forecasting enhanced popularity, enlarged scope of influence and the increase of financial stability. shrewd and clever work should bring results.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of promotion, enhanced opportunity for putting affairs on a lasting and firm foundation, with friendly influences, both public and private aiding meritorious actvities, with rich rewards on a secure and enduring basis, largely by shrewd and sagacious manipulation. Firm endeavors should yield rich objectives, despite a minor surprise or unheaval. Keep within bounds of financial outlay to attract desired support from influential sources. Social and romantic matters flourish.

A child born on this day may have much stability of character, with shrewd judgment, attracting aid from influential elders. It should enjoy a happy and prosperous life, with prestige and social popularity.

First Wedding Held In Commons

OTTAWA, August 23 — (CP).—The first wedding ever held in the House of Commons took place a week ago when Diana Gordon-Lennox, former wife of Victor Gordon-Lennox, author and newspaperman, and daughter of the late Admiral Sir Charles Kingsmill of the Royal Navy, married James F. C. Wright, author and writer on the staff of the Glace Bay Gazette, it was annonuced to-day.

The ceremony took place in the Parliamentary Office of Clarence Gillis, C.C.F. member of Parliament for Cape Breton South. Mrs. Wright is in charge of records at Carleton College and has been associated with the Health League of Canada.

You Women Who Suffer From HOT FLASHES then CHILLY FEELINGS

If you—like so many women between the ages of 38 and 52—suffer from hot flashes, weak, nervous irritable feelings, are a bit blue at times—when due to the functional middle age period peculiar to women—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms.

Lydia Pinkham's Compound is made especially for women. For almost a century—thousands upon thousands of women—rich and poor alike—have reported benefits. Just see if you're not delighted with results! Follow label directions.

Lots Of Money

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Aug. 23 (AP)—Passersby on a downtown sidewalk stopped dead in their tracks when three youngsters began passing out $20 bills. "We've got plenty of money—have some," they said to one and all. A curious policeman stopped the spree, found the money was part of $850 E. E. Hufford reported he had lost. He got $802 back.

DON'T

dose constipation with harsh purgatives that give, at best, only temporary relief . . . if yours is the common type of constipation caused by lack of "bulk" in the diet, there is a far better way.

DO

eat delicious, nutritious ALL-BRAN—the wholesome "regulating" food that gets right at a common cause of constipation, by supplying "bulk-forming" materials needed for pleasant, natural elimination.

DISCOVER

how much better you'll feel when you eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day and drink plenty of water. You'll soon realize how enjoyable it is to maintain NATURAL, pleasant ALL-BRAN regularity.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN 3 Delicious Ways

1. AS A CEREAL with milk or cream. Especially good-tasting with fresh, canned or preserved fruits or berries.
2. SPRINKLED generously on other cereals! See if ALL-BRAN'S nut-like flavor and crispy texture doesn't make other cereals taste better.
3. IN ALL-BRAN MUFFINS. Superb taste and marvelous texture and so easy to make. (Simple recipe on every box.)

Christie Street Matron Dies At Home

BRANTFORD, Aug. 23 — (CP) — Captain Annie J. Hartley, R.R.C., who served with much distinction in the First Great War and was a former matron of Christie Street Hospital, Toronto, died at her home here today.

Miss Hartley who was born in this city and received her education here, was a graduate of Toronto General Hospital.

She held various positions before going overseas as matron of No. 4 Canadian General Hospital, University of Toronto, in May, 1915.

No Canadian nurse more worthily emulated the spirit of Florence Nightingale, than did Captain Hartley.

For her distinguished services in war she was awarded the Royal Red Cross, First Class, in 1916 and in the same year was mentioned in dispatches. The following year she was invested with the Royal Red Cross Medal by King George V at Buckingham Palace.

In 1917 she was awarded a Bar to the Royal Red Cross. On May 12, 1929, she was awarded the Florence Nightingale Medal, an award that goes beiennally to a few nurses who have "rendered conspicuous service in time of war and public calamity." Her Excellency Lady Willingdon, wife of the Governor General of Canada at the time, decorated Captain Hartley with this coveted award, at Government House, Toronto.

In Danger Spots

Captain Hartley served in hospitals in England,(in France, on hospital ship duty from Malta to Gallipoli (when ships were menaced by mines and submarine torpedoes and in Salonika.

She returned to Canada and was demobilized in July, 1919. After spending a short time at her home here, she was appointed matron of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment Hospital at Burlington, Ont., serving there until 1920, when she accepted the position of matron of Christie Street Hospital, Toronto. She was also Matron-in-Chief of hospitals, pensions and National Health, entailing inspection of Canadian Hospitals from coast to coast.

Captain Hartley was one of the most notable figures at the World Congress of Nurses in 1930 in Montreal.

The Brantford branch of the Canadian Legion honored her with a life membership some years ago, the first woman to receive such an honor.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon here.

Create Cigarette Reserve In France

OTTAWA, Aug. 22 — (CP) — A cigaret supply bank, similar to the one serving troops in the Mediterranean, will be established Monday for Canadian forces in Normandy and Britain, the Postoffice announces. Air-mailed orders will be filled by drawing on big reserves built up over the last few months by bulk shipments.

Cigaret gifts will continue to be ordered by individuals through their local tobacconist or direct from the tobacco companies, said the announcement. The tobacco companies prepare labels on receipt of orders, complete with postage and particulars, each label covering one parcel of 300 cigarets. The Postoffice then takes over. The labels are recorded and flow overseas to the reserve tobacco depots. There the labels are attached to cartons containing 300 cigarets by members of the Canadian Postal Corps.

An outstanding feature of the scheme is the protection from loss to the individual of the parcels while enroute from the tobacco companies to the supply depots overseas, as the labels, if lost, will be duplicated.

Cardinal Maglione Dies

ROME, August 23 — (AP)—Luigi Cardinal Maglione, 67, Papal Secretary of State, died last night at Casoria near Naples after an illness of several weeks. Vatican officials said death resulted from neuritis. He had been a cardinal since 1935 and Papal Secretary of State since 1939. Previously he had served as Papal Nuncio in Paris and Switzerland.

CANADIANS ARRIVE HOME ABOARD HOSPITAL SHIP LADY NELSON—These four Canadian soldiers wounded in Normandy arrive back in Canada aboard the hospital ship Lady Nelson. Left to Right: Sgmn. R. A. LaFlamme of Toronto, Rfmn. R. Buelow of Winnipeg in upper bunk, L.-Cpl. C. Labrie of Priceville, Que., and Pte. T. E. Babcock of Ottawa.

Pte. A. Miller of Oxford, N.S., and stationed at Halifax, N.S., hears a first-hand story of Maj. J. K. Mahoney, V.C., and the battle of the Melfa River as he chats with Pte. L. V. Gerrard of Merritt, B.C., and Pte. A. Falka of Vancouver shortly after they arrived back in Canada on the hospital ship Lady Nelson. Both were injured in the battle that saw their company commander, New Westminster Regiment's famed Maj. Mahoney, win the Victoria Cross.

Airforce Batman Crouching In Dug-out Gets Shell Casing With His Number On It

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN FRANCE, Aug. 23 (CP Cable). —It's happened at last—a man got a shell which actually had his number on it. The man who proved the legend true was LAC. George McMillan of Tatamogouche, N.S., batman in an R.C.A.F. Typhoon wing.

A piece of jagged shell casing the size of a silver dollar landed in a dug-out beside him recently. Lean, bespectacled McMillan picked up the ugly piece of metal, looked at it, observed it bore—"26750."

He took out his identity card to convince himself. Yes, that was his air force number—26750.

Ice Scarce

TORONTO, August 23—(CP) — Unofficial "rationing" of ice supplies has been instituted in Toronto to meet the shortage caused by the unusual warmth of the past few weeks. While no official scale has been drawn up most companies now are limiting deliveries.

Brush Burning On Road Sets Fire To Barn

MILLBROOK, Aug. 23 (ENS) —A fire alarm was rung in about 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon, the cause being a blaze in the barn belonging to Howard Murney, Bank street, apparently set alight from sparks carried by the breeze from a pile of burning brush in the nearby roadway.

Everything being tinder dry from the long drought, and the home, of frame construction, being in the almost immediate vicinity, there was danger of a serious conflagration. However, the prompt response of the fire department saved the building, the roof of which was badly burned. Only the chemical engine was used owing to the lack of an adequate water supply in the neighborhood. Contents of the barn were scarcely injured.

Forrestal Lauds Gen. Eisenhower

By JOHN COWAN, Associated Press Correspondent.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, Aug. 23 — (AP) James Forrestal, secretary of the United States Navy, came away from a conference with Gen. Eisenhower to-day "tremendously impressed" with the spirit of co-operation which he said the Allied Supreme Commander has fostered among the British and Americans and their Allies.

"What he has done in the way of resolution between us and the British—and all our Allies— is a great exxample for the rest of the world," Mr. Forrestal told a brief news conference.

The secretary said:

"The confidence of both sides in his fairness has been maintained because he pursues one idea: the winning of the war. Everything else is secondary. It is a pattern of co-operation which could well be continued after the war...."

The secretary said the pressure is on in the Pacific and that the trend in that theatre was comparable to that in Europe.

"Speaking in terms of acceleration of our own planning," he said, "We are ahead of schedule."

SERVING OVERSEAS—Sgt. Air Gunner Roger McQuade, R.C.A.F., is stationed overseas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William McQuade, 56 Third avenue, and enlisted in November, 1943.

Brig. F. M. Gregg Heads University

FREDERICTON, August 23 — (CP).—Brig. Milton F. Gregg, veteran soldier who won the Victoria Cross in the First Great War for a daring, one-man raid into the German lines, has turned from the training of men for war to the schooling of students for the peace.

His appointment by the Provincial Government as president of the University of New Brunswick was announced yesterday by Premier J. B. McNair. He succeeds Dr. N. A. M. McKenzie, who resigned to accept the presidency of the University of British Columbia.

The 52-year-old soldier-scholar will take up his appointment September 1 when he resigns his command as Camp Commandant at the Infantry Training School at Vernon, B.C. However, Brig. Gregg will be retained on the Army Reserve of Officers. It is assumed he will be succeeded in his former peacetime post as Sergeant-at-Arms at the House of Commons by J. Laundy, the Deputy-Sergeant.

IN MEMORIAM

HUBBLE—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Allen Hubble who passed away, August 23rd, 1943.

Time may heal the broken heart
Years may make the wound less sore
But it cannot fill the longing
For the loved one gone before
Who shall say the grief is lessened
Though the smile may hide the tears
Memories keep the wound still open
Despite the passing of the years.
—Sadly missd by wife and daughter Mable.

Junior Tangle In Baseball Game

What appears to be Peterborough's only two Junior Hardball teams got off to a flying start last night at Riverside but became bogged down in the third inning. The two teams: Cavanagh Wildcats and McGrath Lions, settled down to give the moderate-sized crowd of fans a good show, but it seems that the Wildcat line-up became slightly mixed up in the third inning and the game was delayed. The game was declared drawn at the end of the fourth on account of darkness, but a return bout has been arranged for Thursday night, when it is hoped Umpire Alex Kay will be well enough to give the boys a little personal supervision. The kids are really hep to this fast game and the errors are a lot less than might be expected. The high spots in the game were: "cat and mouse," "double plays" and good batting. On Friday night the Senior Lions are hoping to find some opposition for a game. Opposition from any home team will be welcomed. Age limit: Seniors 17, Juniors 14.

Lineup for the Wildcats—Northey p, Plumpton c, Duignan 1b, Cavanagh 2b, (Capt.) Coupla ss, Casey 3b, H. Driscoll rf, Wyatt cf, J. Driscoll, lf.

Mining News

TORONTO, Aug. 23 — (CP) — Stocks declined moderately this afternoon on Toronto exchange. Golds and industrials led the slip off. Trading was light.

Lake Dufault was about the only buoyant gold issue. It climbed to 2.33 for a net gain of 18 cents. San Antonio added 5 cents and Rouyn Merger was up moderately. Giant Yellowknife lost 20 cents and issues down about 5 cents included Wright-Hargreaves, Macassa, O'Brien, Bear West Malartic, Pioneer and Central Patricia.

Steep rock sold back 20 cents to 4.05 and Waite-Amulet lost 10. Most of the other base metals were steady.

Utilities and steels were soft spots in industrials. Senior oils and papers were steady and the bank issues inactive. The new $10-par value shares of the seven chartered banks that are listed on the Toronto exchange will be called for trading on Sept. 1. The conversion of each old share into 10 new shares possibly explains the recent activity and strength of the bank issues.

OBITUARIES

WILBERT HENRY HOWDEN

Word has been received in Peterborough of the sudden death, Tuesday morning, of Wilbert Henry Howden at his Vancouver home.

Well known in this district, Mr. Howden was born at Bethany in 1890, and went overseas in 1914. At the close of war, he settled in Vancouver where he has lived for the past twenty-five years.

Left to mourn are his wife; two sisters, Mrs. A. H. Monk, Bethany and Mrs. Albert Byers, Peterborough; three brothers, Edward in Radville, Saskatchewan, George and Donald in Detroit, Michigan.

Funeral will be held in Vancouver, Friday afternoon.

HENRY T. BROOKS.

A resident of the city for 36 years, Henry T. Brooks, 250 McDonnel street, passed away in hospital Monday in his 78th year. He had been ill only a short time.

Employed as a carpet weaver at the Brinton Carpet Co., Mr. Brooks was born in England, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Brooks, and lived in Toronto before moving to this city. He belonged to the Anglican Church. Surviving are one son, William of Peterborough, and a sister, Mrs. E. Durose of Toronto.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. from the late residence, 250 McDonnel street, Capt. Smith, Anglican padre at the Training Centre, officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Red Ensign Favored As National Flag

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 (CP)—Adoption of the Red Ensign as the official Canadian flag presents itself to some authorities as the simplest and easiest solution of the Canadian flag problem, but no one is exactly sure how it should be accomplished.

Canada has no binding precedent for the determination of an official flag or the official recognition of a national anthem, both of which apparently were set forth as post-war objectives in remarks made by Prime Minister Mackenzie King towards the close of the recent session of parliament.

As things stand, the Union Jack is the official Canadian flag for use in Canada, but under various orders the Red Ensign with the Union Jack in the upper left-hand corner and the Canadian coat of arms in the lower left hand corner is official for certain uses.

Marine Flag

The ensign is the Canadain marine flag by statute as the Canada Shipping Act prescribes that it shall be flown on ships of Canadian registry. It flies over Canadian government buildings outside Canada—embassies, legations and high commissioner's office—by direction of an order-in-council.

An army order directs that it shall be flown over all units of the Canadian Army outside Canada. By custom, if not by official order, it is flown in Canada and abroad wherever the flags of several naitons are displayed and it is necessary to distinguish a Canadian interest or representation from those of other nations.

When it comes to making it an official flag for all purposes, officials will be confronted with the decision as to whether to proceed by act of parliament or order-in-council. If another flag was to be selected they would have to devise some way of settling on the design. This, it is feared, would open up a fertile field for controversy.

Mr. King is believed to have been referring to the Red Ensign when he said: "I also wish to see a Canadian flag recognized in this country. I would like to see it the flag that our Canadian men are fighting under today."

Has White Field

Early in the war the army designed and adopted a flag for the First Division which was presented to Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former commander of the Canadian Army Overseas. It is a white flag with the Union Jack in the upper left-hand corner and three maple leaves in the opposite corner.

Some of the men who designed it entertained the hope that its use by the army might lead to its adoption as a national flag, but the army generally appears to be using the Red Ensign.

On the question of a national anthem there is plenty of custom, but little or now law or precedent. No one knows for sure how "God Save the King" came to be the national anthem of the British people. It is accepted as the national anthem for Canada by custom.

"O, Canada" is also widely accepted by custom and just how the custom should be given official recognition is something someone will have to decide if such action is decided upon.

To Teach Religion

TORONTO, Aug. 23.—(CP).— A course in religious education will be started in Grades 1 and 11 in Ontario public schools when the school term resumes Sept. 5, it was announced late yesterday in a statement from the office of Premier Drew, who also is Provincial Minister of Education. The course will be introduced in other grades, one by one, as guides for teachers become available.

Snakes Vs. Heron

BRANTFORD, Aug. 23 —(CP).—George Blathwayt of Brantford, holidaying at Hope Bay near Wiarton, rescued a blue heron from a water snake that had wrapped itself around the bird. The snake had wound itself about the bird's body and had twisted its tail twice about the bird's leg joint, drawing the leg up so that it was useless. The bird had the snake in its beak below the head, but did not have enough strength to kill it.

Dogs Confused

VANCEBURG, Ky., Aug. 23 —(AP).—Because the foxes wouldn't co-operate a fox-hunt in Lewis county was something less than a success. Twenty-four riders and some 50 dogs participated. G. W. Barclay, a farmer of Cabin Creek, explained that there are "just too many foxes in Lewis county. They criss-crossed each other, confusing young dogs in the pack."

Charlotte Crowe Dies Old Indian Trouper

ALDERVILLE, Aug. 23 —(ENS)— There passed away at Cobourg General Hospital after a brief illness Miss Charlotte Amelia Crowe of Alderville.

She was a daughter of the late Peter Crowe and his wife Mary Howard Crowe. Miss Crowe is the daughter of a woman who started life wailing in the open forest beside her dead mother. Following an old Indian custom of over a century ago the expectant mother went alone to the forest when her child was to be born. When the grandmother failed to return, she was found dead by searchers, with her baby beside her. This baby later became the wife of Peter Crowe.

Miss Charlotte Crowe was the second daughter in the family of five daughters and three sons of Peter and Mary Crowe. She was in her [illegible] year. Miss Crowe was one of a concert troupe organized by her father travelling through Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York States giving concerts at night and matinees on Sunday afternoons. Her father's stage name was Tecumseh and Charlotte's was Little Fawn, she played the piano, and all sang. In later years with her father and other members of the family Charlotte travelled through Ontario giving concerts under the auspices of the former Methodist Church. For many years now she has lived in Alderville.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Mary Ann Black and Mrs. Norman Marsden, and one brother Albert, all of Arden, and two half-brothers, Mrs. Earl Smoke, Cobourg Mrs Ross Beaver Alderville and Mrs. R. Perry of Arden, and two half-brothers, Peter and Borden of Alderville.

The funeral service was held Monday afternoon in Alderville Church, and conducted by Mr. H. Lander. Interment was made at Alderville Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Ross Beaver, John Loukes, Fred Simpson, Borden Crowe, Moses Smoke, Jr. and John Simpson.

Bacterial Ring Rot Danger to Farmers

[illegible] Aug. 23 (ENS)—Protection from bacterial ring rot is offered free of charge in a special service to Northumberland County farmers by the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, it is announced by Ralph C. Banbury, county agricultural representative. This blight has been very serious in the Maritime section where some growers have lost their entire potato crop.

Mr. Banbury points out that if the condition is not readily recognized by the farmer, it may become serious, his income be reduced and a reduction result in the amount of food available for the war effort.

Any growers in this county who want their potato crops looked over are asked to notify the office of Mr. Banbury at Brighton, before September 1, as the inspection will begin soon. Where the disease may be found the farmer is asked to market his potatoes and secure other seed for planting next year. It is not known if the disease is present in many cases in this county, but considerable was found in other good potato-growing sections in western Ontario, states Mr. Banbury.

Retain Rationing

LAKE COUCHICHING, Ont., Aug. 23.—(CP).—Richard Miles, a member of the economic staff of the British embassy at Washington, D.C., yesterday told the annual conference of the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs, what war's ravages would mean in bread and butter terms for the British people after the war. He predicted continuation of rationing and wartime controls.

Brosig Fails In Escape Try

COCHRANE, Aug. 23 — (CP) — Finis was marked on Eckhert Brosig's fourth attempt to escape from a prisoner-of-war camp when the escape artist was taken to the nearby Monteith camp last night after his break for freedom from a camp at Medicine Hat, Alta., sometime between 2 p.m. Sunday and 2 p.m. Monday.

Brosig's short-lived flight for freedom—No. 4 in his two years in Canada—came to an end when he was picked up at Abitibi Ferry about eight miles east of here. Brosig did not say how he had managed to reach the district so quickly, but from the story he told, police gathered that he had travelled by train and hitch-hiked part of the way.

Wearing his German air uniform trousers with civilian clothes and speaking English with only a slight trace of an accent, Brosig told police he was from Brazil and was in Canada to study airplane service. He said he had been injured in a crash on the west coast and after receiving hospital treatment at Spokane, Wash., returned to Canada and was on his way to Montreal.

He had a registration certificate, discharge papers from the Spokane hospital and other papers which appeared to confirm his story of his identity. He carried plenty of money and appeared to have a thorough knowledge of Canada.

Brosig's three previous escapes were from the Monteith camp.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

ALL WORKING TOGETHER

RESULTS obtained on some hands would be impossible except through harmonious co-operation of all four players at the table. There may be sign-posts with glaring bulletins telling the defenders just what to do to beat the declarer, but they sometimes find ways to ignore them all and, occasionally, go directly counter to the clearly marked guides. A declarer who takes advantage of such wild driving can cash in plenty.

North: ♠ A K 8 ♥ Q 10 9 4 3 ♦ 9 6 3 ♣ 10 8
West: ♠ J 10 4 2 ♥ A 7 6 ♦ A Q 10 ♣ A 6 3
East: ♠ Q 9 5 ♥ K 8 5 2 ♦ K J 8 5 ♣ Q 2
South: ♠ 7 6 3 ♥ J ♦ 7 4 2 ♣ K J 9 7 5 4

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 NT	2 ♥	2 NT	3 ♣

Much of the bidding you actually find at the rubber bridge table is about like that tabulated—something no bridge book would ever recommend. There sits North sticking his vulnerable neck out over an opening No Trump. Then East, able to make a free bid after that overcall, refrains from doubling it, though he knows his partner has a substantial hand.

On top of that, South pokes his hand into the fire of No Trump bidders at his right and left, and escapes without a double, let alone a No Trump game bid by his opponents.

But the play? Oh, yes, the play. West took the heart A and switched to his spade J. The K won and the heart Q was led. East held up his K, so a diamond was thrown by South. For some weird reason, he held up again when the heart 10 came along, and a second diamond was chucked. Then the club 10 was finessed to the A, the diamond A won and the Q fired back. That was ruffed, three clubs were run, the spade A was an entry for the heart 9 to discard the spade 7, and the last trick was a club, producing an extra trick.

West should have reckoned East was not well fixed in spades, or he would have bid them over North's 2-Hearts instead of No Trump. He could not have clubs, since South bid them and East did not double. He must have had diamonth strength of some kind. So West, after his heart A, should have switched to a diamond, preferably the A. Had he done so, the pair would have taken three tricks in diamonds, one in hearts and one in clubs, setting the contract, possibly also one in spades, depending on what developed along the way.

3 War Reporters Fail To Click

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 — (AP) — Three American war correspondents and one artist accredited to the 9th Air Force in France have been ordered out of that theatre of war "apparently because their work has not measured up to standards set by publicity minded 9th Air Force officers in the higher ranks," the New York Herald Tribune said today in a copyrighted dispatch.

The Correspondents were Stanley Frank of the New York Post, Gordon Gammack of the Des Moines Register and Lee McCardell of the Baltimore Sun, and John Groth, artist for parade.

"The order is the aftermath of a long series of threats indulged in by certain Public Relations Officers of the Air Force."

Herald Tribune correspondent Jack Tait wrote. "Correspondents have been told that they must confine the bulk of their activities to coverage of 9th Air Force news. Those who did not, it was made clear, would have to seek reassignment elsewhere."

The Order was signed by Col. Robert Parham, in charge of the Air Force's Public Relations, and contained no explanation for the action, the newspaper said.

The Baltimore Sun published the account on the correspondents without comment, but detailed in a news story some of the coverage given the Air Force by McCardell. At Des Moines, the Register said it had no comment. The New York Post said it expected to have a statement forthcoming later.

The War Department at Washington said it had received no information concerning the correspondents.

Premier Drew Says He Has Been 'Misinterprted'

TORONTO, Aug. 23 — (CP) — Premier Drew of Ontario said in a statement issued from his office today that "a well-organized attempt has been made to misinterpret" his statements about the Federal Government family allowances measure and similar legislation in his radio speech of August 9.

The statement said:

A well-organized attempt has been made to misinterpret what I said over the radio on August 9 in regard to the Baby Bonus Bill and similar legislation. This has resulted in mis-statements as to what I said being made by men whose sincerity is beyond question and I therefore wish to clarify two particular points in that speech.

The statement has been made that I am opposed to family allowances. Press reports have made that positive statement. I can answer that best by quoting the exact words I used in my speech: "We are in favor of every proper step being taken to encourage large and healthy families. We believe in sound provisions for family allowances and social security." Surely those words are not open to misunderstanding. I was objecting to the Bill passed by the Dominion Government which would result in the people of Ontario paying approximately twice as much for family alolwances as they would receive in return.

Have Extra Revenue.

In raising that objection I was equally clear about our willingness to share any advantages we possess with other provinces in Canada. This is what I said: "We have no thought that the financial resources of this province should not stand behind every legitimate measure for the asistance of any part of Canada which is in need of help. We want to take our full share in building a powerful and prosperous nation.'

It has been stated that my speech did not recognize the advantages we gain by having head offices of companies located here in Ontario. Again let me quote my own words from that speech: "We in Ontario realize how the location in this province of large head offices of many national organizations does give us added sources of revenue. We would be less than fair if we were unwilling to share the advantages we gain in this way for the common welfare of all the people of Canada.

I then went on to say that this was subject to one exeption, I said that the people of Ontario wish the friendship of the people of Quebec and that we believed there was a real basis for national unity. But I did say in the most explicit terms that in the case of Quebec the people of Ontario were unwilling to have their money go to that Province to give it special advantages, the same time that Province, as officially represented, was denying equality of obligation in the burdens of the war.

Says Ontario Pays.

An attempt is now being made to create the impression that Quebec does not gain any advantage under the baby bonus bill. Statements have been made that the people of Queebec will contribute as much or more in taxes than they will receive.

That is not so. I stand by statement I made. This bill is intended as a peacetime measure and presumably we will have returned to a peacetime basis of taxation when it is in operation.

The statement I made was based upon calculations of the statistical branch of the Treasury Department of the Ontario Government. According to the analysis prepared by the Ontario statistician, Mr. H. J. Chater, the Province of Quebec will receive not less than $15,000,000 in excess of its tax contributions under the baby bonus bill, taking the figure of $200,000,000 given by the Dominion Government as the total figure from the whole of Canada. I am prepared to accept Mr. Shater's computation. Mr. Chater's standing as a statistician has been established by the Government officials of other Provinces. He has been chosen by them as the chairman of the continuing Dominion-Provincial committee on Statistics.

Upon the basis of his computations, which have been discussed with Dominion and Provincial officials at different times, Ontario contributes nearly 50 per cent. of the total Dominion taxes and Quebec just over 25 per cent, under normal taxing arrangements. The abnormal tax collections of the past two years cannot be taken as a basis for testing tax collections in the different provinces.

This was stated as recently as last Friday by Mr. Cudmore, the Dominion Statistician in a telegram to Mr. Chater.

Wants Conference

We have our material ready for the Dominion-Provincial Conference which we have been urging for nearly a year. I wrote Mr. King again yesterday, urging upon him the necessity for a conference at the earliest possible date. The closer we come to the possibility of peace, the more urgent is the need to lay th foundation for joint action to meet our problems and no personal differences of opinion should be permitted to stand in the way of joint action by all our governments.

In spite of the statements which Mr. King has made. I hope he will reconsider his decision and call the conference in view of the urgent need to lay a foundation for the rehabilitation of our armed forces before demobilization begins.

Bulgarian Goverment Moves To Eject Germans

LONDON, Aug. 23— (CP)— The Bulgarian government of Premier Ivan Bagrianov, apparently thwarted in attempts to get out of the war on any basis short of unconditional surrender and return of annexed territories, is expected to restate its position again today through Foreign Minister Parvan Draganov.

There was some belief in London that Draganov, in a scheduled address to the Bulgarian parliament this afternoon, might even announce at least a limited break with Germany although Ankara dispatches indicated the Bagrianov government might feel the time was not ripe for such a step.

The parliament has been in almost continuous session since Premier Bagrianov declared last week that his people desired peace.

In a dispatch from Ankara, Associated Press Correspondent Richard G. Massock suggested that a forthright Bulgarian action toward throwing out the German garrisons might hinge upon a Russian offensive in Romania—an attack which Berlin has claimed already is under way but which Moscow has not confirmed.

"While the Bulgarian Army conceivably could eject the Germans in a crisis brought on by a Russian offensive in nearby Romania," Massock wrote, "the Bulgarians are expected to act in a way calculated not to offend the Germans before an Allied force is ready to move in and occupy the country."

Massock said the best available reports in Turkey indicated Britain and the United States, with the acquiescence of the Soviet Union, have refused to bargain with Bulgaria for her exit from the war. Bulgaria and Russia are not at war.

Massock said ejection of German troops from Bulgaria was said to be one of the major Allied demands. Sofia reports to Turkey indicated that about 5,000 Germans remain in Bulgaria, that the Gestapo continues active, and that the Nazis control many strategic points, such as airfields.

In a broadcast reported last night by the Federal Communications Commission, the Greek government in Cairo declared Bulgaria's professions of a desire for peace were like "the lamentations of a thief who has been caught in the act." Return of Greek Macedonia by Bulgaria is a point at issue.

Drew Seeks Greater Quota Of Liquor Across Ontario

TORONTO, Aug. 24—(CP).—Premier Drew announced today he has made another request to the Federal Government to rescind the Order-in-Council which restricts sale of spirits to 70 per cent. of the amount in the year ended October 31, 1942. "I have pointed out to the Dominion Government on more than one occasion the need of similar action, but added weight has been given to my arguments by a request just received from a member of the Dominion Government that the Ontario authorities increase the ration to one of the large headquarters messes," said a statement issued from the Premier's office. "This request from the Dominion Government explains that the ration now available is inadequate."

The statement said that conditions in Ontario have "become increasingly serious" as the result of the restrictions. He referred to seizures by police of liquor "bootlegged into this province from the province of Quebec" and deaths in other provinces from the drinking of "alcohol substitutes described by such names as 'blockbusters,' 'torpedo juice' and other similar descriptive names."

In the United States the Government acted on a recommendation of the Senate that increased supplies of liquor be made available "for the very purpose of maintaining law enforcement and avoiding further extension of the growing evils of arbitrary restriction."

Plenty In Bond.

The restrictions are no hardship to the distillers for "because of the very large production of commercial alcohol for war purposes, they are making substantial profits without selling beverage alcohol at all."

The statement said also that there is more beverage alcohol in bond in Canadian warehouses than there was at the end of the first year of war.

"On March 31 this year, there were 36,392,170 gallons of beverage alcohol in the warehouses of Canadian distillers. The total Canadian consumption for the last fiscal year was 2,620,296 gallons."

The statement concluded: "There is no valid reason of any kind for the continuance of these restrictions. They are creating bootlegging, vice and a disrespect for law. The distillers alone benefit from these restrictions. It is to be hoped that the Prime Minister of Canada will recognize the need for immediate action and accede to our request."

Germans Hold Canadian Army

NEW YORK, August 24 — (AP). —The Germans are still holding out against the 1st Canadian Army at Lisieux and snipers have turned up in force around the beautiful Basilica of St. Therese, on the eastern outskirts of the town, CBS Corespondent Bill Downs reported this morning in a broadcast from France.

The stately, white dome of the shrine overlooks the Toques River valley and the town of Lisieux itself, Downs said, and the Germans are using this high ground and possibly the Basilica itself to harbor a large group of snipers.

Downs quoted a Canadian staff officer as saying he hoped it would not be necessary to damage the Shrine of St. Therese in clearing the Germans out of the area. The officer added, however, that he would not sacriifce the lives of scores of his men for the building.

Quebec Celebrates Victory

Liberation Of Paris Brings Demonstration

(By The Canadian Press).

French Canada, with a monster demonstration in the capital of what once was called New France, led Canadians in celebration of the liberation of Paris and there were indications to-day that further ceremonies across the Dominion soon would mark the event.

First official Government comment of the freeing of the French capital came last night from Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who said upon his return to Ottwa from a trip to Quebec that he was particularly pleased that Paris had been liberated by the French people themselves.

He said he felt this fact would give the French people a great deal of satisfaction and have a "liberalizing effect all over Europe."

Also elated by the news were members of the office of the French Committee of National Liberation at Ottawa, and an official statement described the fight of the French forces of the interior as not only "a vindication of the honor of the French people but a tribute to her friends who believed in her— first among them Canadians."

The tricolor of France was run up atop Quebec's Provincial Legislature buildings, the city hall and business establishments, and Mayor Lucien Borne issued a proclamation asking all citizens to decorate their homes. A solemn mass and te deum will be sung in the cathedral Friday.

Allied Unit Reaches Swiss Border

Fast Mobile Columns Push To Annecy Nearing City Of Lyon

By GEORGE TUCKER,
Associated Press War Correspondent

ROME, Aug. 24 —(AP) —U. S. forces striking 25 miles northwest of Marseille toward the Rhone river route to interior France have captured Salon, headquarters announced to-day, and French poilus who captured their greatest port "are driving westward into the lower Rhone valley."

(A direct Associated Press dispatch from Geneva declared American forces had reached the Swiss frontier, presumably in an advance from Grenoble, 75 miles below Geneva. Earlier the Swiss radio had placed U. S. troops at Annecy, 51 miles northeast of Grenoble, and within 15 miles of Lyon. The latter town, 240 miles southwest of Paris was reported in patriot hands.

Bordeaux Captured.

At Salon, the Americans were 20 miles from Arles at the south end of the Rhone, a natural gateway into France.

Headquarters gave no details of the French drive westward from Marseille toward the lower Rhone.

Other French units, it declared, were mopping up German pockets in the naval base of Toulon to the East.

There was no official word on U. S. mobile columns that seized Grenoble 140 miles north of Marseille and with 240 miles of a junction with the armies in western France.

Collaborating with the fast-stepping Allied columns were medium bombers which attacked two bridges ahead of two German panzer divisions, headed apparently for the Riviera beachhead. Other mediums struck at rail centres in south France and found a good target at Settimo, 40 miles north of Turin, where German troops were reported massed.

There was no report yet of how much damage had been done to Marseille, normally a busy industrial city.

As long ago as Wednesday noon the French and Americans had driven into the city's outskirts after overwhelming the suburbs of Mont Du Paradis, Carquieranne and Mont Des Ciseaux.

A force which cut the Toulon-Marseille coastal road fanned out and occupied La Pradet, while another force to the north-east occupied Fort Faron on rugged terrain overlooking Toulon. The nearby village of La Valette also fell into Allied hands and the Eastern aproaches of Toulon were sealed.

Last Ditch Fight.

Fighting in Toulon centred about the arsenal, where a savage last ditch defence was put up by the Germans. Allied Headquarters announced the French had battled their way into the arsenal area, and that all the main thoroughfares to the east, including the famed Place d'Armes and Prefecture Maritime were in Allied hands.

Czech Refineries Heavily Bombed

ROME, Aug. 24 — (AP) — A force of heavy bombers, probably numbering 50, attacked Czechlovak oil refineries at Kolin, 40 miles east of Prague, and at Pardubice, 55 miles east of Prague today.

The airfield at Pardubice, the railyard at Vinkovici on the main rail line from Zagreb to Belgrade in Yugoslavia, the rail bridge at Szeged, Hungary, and the Ferrara rail bridge over the Po River in Northern Italy also were bombed.

It was the second bombing of the bridge over the Po in two days.

Enemy opposition was on a smaller scale than on the past two days when 102 Nazi planes were shot down over Austria.

In air battles yesterday, American planes slashed further into the Luftwaffe's fast-dwindling power in central Europe, destroying 45 enemy planes in the course of sweeping raids which included a heavy attack upon the Vienna area.

Allies Rapidly Enveloping Large Hun Force

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 24 —(AP)—American armored colums streaked down the Seine valley towards the sea today, capturing Elbeuf, 30 miles from the river's broad mouth, as Allied forces rapidly enveloped another huge force of Germans in northern France.

Formations of the 1st Canadian and British 2nd Armies drove deep indentations into the western fringes of this new trap for the remainder of Field Marshal Von Kluge's German 7th Army still remaining west of the Seine River.

The Canadian and British forces, however, met some determined resistance, particularly east of captured Lisieux and along the line of the Touques River.

A new lightning American advance of 25 miles from last reported positions overran Elbeuf, south of the river, and drove the Germans from positions where in the last few days they have been hurriedly ferrying out their fleeing troops. In that area Allied airmen destroyed 500 German vehicles yesterday.

9 Miles From Rouen

At Elbeuf the Allies stood within nine airline miles of Rouen, old capital of Normandy and a city of more than 100,000 which sits astride a bend in the river to the north.

Field dispatches said the Germans, now denied ferry crossings in the Rouen area, had shifted to others, still more difficult, nearer the Seine delta.

The supreme command still had no news of any Allied troops in Paris, but said they were moving on the capital, liberated by French Patriot forces. Field reports said a French armored division was given the honor of entering Paris first.

Southeast of Paris, the Americans thrust two more spearheads across the Seine in the vicinity of Fon-

Battle Rages Inside City Of Paris

Armistice Just a Ruse German Troops Still Hold Portion

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 24 —(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters disclosed today that Allied troops were fighting their way into Paris, large sections of which are held by the French forces of the interior.

Fall of the city is expected momentarily, but so far as Allied headquarters is concerned it has not yet been liberated.

Gen. De Gaulle and the commander of the French forces of the interior, Lt.-Gen. Koenig, had announced early yesterday that the capital was liberated and their statements were hailed by governmental leaders the world over.

French underground leaders, after four days of street fighting in Paris, negotiated an "armistice" with the German garrison, presumably on the terms that the Nazis were to leave the city, Supreme Headquarters of the Allied expeditionary force said. The Germans apparently repudiated the agreement and kept on fighting and the underground called on the Allies for help.

Up to a late hour today, no word had been received at Supreme Headquarters that Allied forces actually had entered Paris.

While great popular interest centred on the struggle in Paris, an operation of far greater military import was going on down the Seine where Allied armies were attempting to destroy utterly the fleeing German allies.

Not Authorized

The "armistice" negotiations by French street fighters in Paris apparently were made without previous knowledge of the supreme command. A directive provides that no field commander can negotiate an armistice with the Germans unless Gen. Eisenhower gives his consent.

The feeling was expressed at Supreme Headquarters that the underground operations in Paris and the subsequent call for help resulted in the use of Allied troops which might well have been employed in operations of great military significance.

It is expected at Supreme Headquarters, however, that German resistance before the city will be of a "rear guard" character.

Earlier, the French announced the capture of more than 1,000 prisoners the first day of the fighting in Paris and said that Nazi losses were heavy in bitter fighting street by street.

7 Million Foreign Slaves Believed Working In Reich

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 —(AP). —The United Nations information organization said to-day that Axis plans for the next war, "if they lose this one," were factors behind German and Japanese slave-labor policies in overrun countriees of Europe and the Far East.

In a 10,000-word statement on "slave labor and deportation," released in London and here, the agency said the number of enslaved foreign workers in Germany which "cannot accurately be guaged .... must reach 7,000,000."

The report also said there were indications that 5,000,000 north Chinese laborers had been turned into forced labor in Manchuria or Japan by the end of 1942.

Besides bolstering current war production, totalitarian slavee labor practices were designed to weaken "the national vitality of the countries to be ruled by a victorious Axis or tob be fought against in the next war, which the Axis powers plan if they lose this one," the report said.

The agency said the Germans balked in their efforts to recruit manpower in occupied territories through cajolery and propaganda, had resorted to conscription and mass deportations "often with extreme penalites for resistance."

An estimated 200,000 French and between 80,000 and 100,000 Netherlands men were in hiding to escape the Nazi labor call-up, it said.

"Flogging or decapitation of recalcitrants" have been used by the Japanese to spur forced labor in Java, it stated.

Other evidences of the Japanese program cited in the report included a decree ordering 8,972,000 Filipinos to do one day's work a week without pay.

Listed among the German conscripted slave labor supply on the basis of estimates from 1942 to the present were: 500,00—600,000 Belgians; more than 900,000 Czechs; 50,000—65,000 Greeks, of whom 40,000 were deported to Bulgaria; 420,000 Netherlanders of whom 40,000 were sent to Belgium and Northern France; 100,000 Norwegians; 1,700,000 Poles; 710,000 Soviet Ukraine citizens, and at least 200,000 Yugoslavs.

Bulgaria's Position Difficult Liberation Of Balkans Looms

Believe Romanians Will Fight Against Hungary

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 24 — (AP). — Romania began marching against Hungary today after her sudden exit from the war against the Allies in an about-face which directly threatened the whole German position in the Balkans.

Bucharest broadcasts said Romania in fact had turned co-belligerent and there were reports of spreading fighting in the rich oil and wheat kingdom between Romanian and German troops.

Bulgaria, already outflanked in the south of Turkey's severance of relations with Germany, now was periled from the north as well and in an entirely untenable position.

Yugoslavia and Greece, where patriot armies have waged long and bitter guerilla war against the Nazi yoke, were in positions for quick liberation.

Russian armies driving swiftly toward the heart of Romania signalled the punch which finally blew down the house of cards which deposed Premier-Marshall Antonescu had built in Romania.

Nazis Promise Action.

The Germans announced that Romania's capitulation had been foreseen. The Berlin correspondent of Aftonbladet of Stockholm cabled that "German counter measures can be expected." This Swedish report said Berlin circles blamed Romania's move on the Russian offensive, Turkey's break with Germany, Bulgaria's peace overtures and the sustained Allied bombings of the Ploesti oil installations.

In mid-afternoon, Berlin broadcast an official D.N.D. dispatch giving the Germans their first news on the Romanian armistice insisting that King Michael's new government actually was a "Communist regime." The broadcast said rioting had broken out in Romania.

The Germans were plainly in panic as the Balkan crackup seemed to be repeating the history of 1918 when the collapse of Bulgaria shocked the Kaiser's generals into a quick plea for peace.

Berlin announced the formation of a "Romanian national government" but it was not clear whether this regime or King Michael's government controlled Bucharest. Nor was it clear who controlled the Bucharest radio, which announced a curfew from 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. and ordered all civil officials to report for duty. Street cars and train traffic were announced as cut off during those hours as well.

As in 1918, however, the dominant factor was military more than political. Two Soviet Army groups driving toward Galati and Ploesti knocked out Romania's defences.

Antonescu was reported to have fled to Germany. The new Premier Konstantin Sanatescu, pledged a "democratic regime."

Moscow announced that German troops on the eastern front were killing Romanian forces seeking to pull away from the two-fisted Russian offensive driving through northeastern Romania and Bessar-

ON WAY TO PARIS? — Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, commander-in-chief of the French forces of the interior, and newly appointed military governor of Paris, has announced that his Parisian forces have liberated the French capital. He is said to be on his way to Paris.

Many Planes Hit Le Havre Prevent Escape

LONDON, Aug. 24— (AP).— A vast armada of 2,300 American planes smashed a dozen targets in Germany and on the Czech border to-day while the R.A.F. bombed and strafed a "Dunkerque" attempt from the great port of Le Havre at the mouth of the Seine, only a few miles beyond advancing Allied lines.

The attacks in Germany by 1,300 heavy bombers and 1,000 fighters constituted one of the greatest assaults ever mounted by United States air forces.

Targets included synthetic oil plants at Merseberg, Misburg and Ruhland in Germany and Brux on the Czech-Slovak border. Also bombed were an oil refinery at Freital near Dresden; two airplane plants at Brunswick; German air force stations at Kolleda near Merseberg and Langehagen near Hannover; a radio factory at Miemar and other industrial targets at Kiel.

Sink Many Ships.

As American armor slashed 25 miles down the Seine, the harried Germans put out a big fleet of light service warships and other vessels from the threatened port on the Seine estuary.

For eight solid hours, R. A. F. coastal command planes in relays bombarded the flotilla, sinking and damaging an undetermined number of ships. Many were set afire.

The air forces announced late to-day that 50 German plaes were destroyed in operations from British and French bases yesterday and that in the first 70 days of the invasion, 3,641 German planes had been destroyed in the air and on the ground. In the same period 2,959 Allied craft were lost. The figured included strategic bombing attacks on Germany itself.

Swift R.A.F. Mosquito bombers made a "concentrated" attack on Cologne last night.

The German Armada off Le Havre included many E and R boats, Corvettes and merchant ships and was bombed for eight solid hours from midnight on by relays of R. A. F. Albacores and Wellingtons and by

Germans Report New Landing

LONDON, Aug. 24 — (AP). — The German radio reported today that Allied troops had carried out a "small landing operation south of Biarritz."

The broadcast did not make clear whether this was the same landing as that at St. Jean de Luz, announced yesterday by Berlin radio after the operation was initially described in dispatches from the Spanish frontier. St. Jean de Luz is approximately 10 miles south of Biarritz on the southeastern coast of France.

"Enemy aims after their small landing south of Biarritz remain to be seen," said the broadcast. "It is possible that these forces have been landed to distract German forces from the main fighting sectors. Stronger forces would have to be landed if the Allies' aim was to break through along the Pyrenes to the Mediterranean coast."

French forces of the interior previously claimed to control most of the Spanish frontier territory mentioned as the scene of a possible break-through attempt.

Allied Supreme Headquarters still maintained silence on reports of a third amphibious operation against the French coast.

2 Russian Armies Cut Their Way Toward Ploesti Oil

MOSCOW, Aug. 24 —(AP) —Captives reported hostilities spreading between the troops of Germany and Romania to-day while two great Russian army groups swept toward the heart of the oil and wheat kingdom in drives apparently aimed at trapping any Nazis in their path.

Troops which seized Debica were declared overrunning hundreds of German war factories, 150 of them in Debaco alone. Red Star said the Lwow-Krakow railroad bristled with German war plants of all kinds. The advance moved within 17 miles of Tarnow. Farther north, Russian columns were within 35 miles of Krakow and 75 of German Silesia itself.

Northeast of Warsaw, the Red army drove within five miles of the important communications hub of Lomza, 20 miles south of the east Prussian frontier, in an offensive gradually splitting German armies defending that Reich province and Warsaw.

Fire On Romanians.

Captured Romanians said the Germans had trained their guns on them, seeking to block their retreat in some places. Many Romanian units were reported raked by machine-gun fire.

The Russian advance continued uninterrupted toward the Danube basin and Galati gap. At midnight, Soviet troops had swept within 167 miles of Bucharest, and 140 of the Ploesti oil centre, and less than 50 from the mouth of the Danube—a principal transport artery for Hitler. Tighina, Cetatea-Alba and Vaslui all fell in Bessarabia.

Morning newspapers told of the Government formed in Romania but printed nothing of King Michael's

Soldier Vote May Cause Delay

(Copyright 1944 by The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP) — Because 11 States will not count their soldier votes on Election day, Nov. 7, it is possible that the outcome of the presidential election will remain in doubt for several weeks after the polls close.

Should the election be unusually close, the winner might not be known until as late as Dec. 7, when the canvass of Nebraska's absentee vote could determine whether the State's seven electoral votes would be cast for President Roosevelt or Governor Thomas E. Dewey, respectively Democratic and Republican nominees.

These possibilities grow out of an Associated Press survey which indicates that more than 2,000,000 men and women in the armed forces have applied for absentee ballots and that, by the most conservative estimates of State election officials, approximately twice that number will vote in November.

The soldier vote is likely to be decisive in most of the 11 States which do not immediately tabulate it, and the 11—including Pennsylvania with 36, California with 22 and Missouri with 15—have a combined electoral vote of 116. President Wilson's electoral margin over Charles Evans Hughes in 1916 was only 23.

Of the States which will defer their soldier vote count, eight gave President Roosevelt a total of 99 electoral votes in 1940. The other three gave 17 to Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican candidate that year.

Finland May Act Fast Now

Romania's Break May Hurry Peace

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 24 —(AP) — The Finnish Minister to Sweden, G. A. Gripenberg, suddenly departed by air to-day for Helsinki in a journey obviously connected with efforts to get Finland out of the war.

Reliable quarters said, however, that "as far as we know, the Finnish Government has made no attempt directly to contact Moscow up to Thursday morning."

It was Gripenberg's second trip to Helsinki in two weeks.

Opinion here was that Romania's exit from the war might hasten action by Baron Mannerheim, President and Marshal of Finland.

Finnish sources said the old leaders had been "clearing the decks" for an armistice." Reactionaries, Germans and the former Finnish Minister to the United States Mjalmar Procope were reported taking advantage of inactivity by pushing a "go slow" propaganda campaign regarding peace.

A foreign office spokesman was quoted as saying that if the report were confirmed "then naturally it must influence Finland's position."

Hufvudstadsbladet, the only newspaper commenting, said "Romania changes sides in the war and the road is now open to the Danube. The Finnish people now look to the Government and Finland's first minister."

Balkan Area Untenable For The Nazis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, Associated Press War Analyst.

Romania's double back-flop —surrender to the Allies and war against the Germans—will render the Balkan peninsula untenable for Hitler although he will hang on as long as he can as a further measure to delay his own capitulation.

The Romanian turnabout represents another great military victory for the Allies, although diplomacy has played its part.

This biggest of the Balkan countries has flown the white flag because she has been beaten in battle and was about to be overrun by the Red Forces which were bearing down on her from the north. The importance of her surrender is fourfold:

1. Bulgaria, already wavering, may be expected to follow suit now that her next door neighbor has deserted the Nazi camp.

2. Hungary, which lies against Romania's border, now is vulnerable to direct attack— and Hungary is Germany's south-eastern shield. The great Danubian basin, which is a gateway into the Reich, now will be open to the Allies.

3. Hitler will lose great supplies of which he is in desperate need.

4. The moral effect the world around, especially in Germany and Japan, will be great. It's the sort of thing that's breaking the hearts of the Nazis and the Nipponese.

Romania has represented Hitler's greatest source of supplies in the Balkans. He depended heavily on the Ploesti oil to keep his war machine running. But Romania produces vast quantities of corn and other foodstuffs which have played their important part in keeping the people of Germany loyal to the Fuehrer. Much of his success in maintaining his home front has been due to the fact that he has kept the masses sufficiently well fed.

ed massed Patriots in the streets were destroyed in the first day of fighting and 10 others were knocked out in the next two days. Many civilians were killed by the Nazis, the French forces of the interior commander, Lt.-Gen. Koenig, announced in a communique.

Gen. Koenig said the German commandant in the French capital tried to stall the fate of his troops by asking for an armistice.

Wanted Safe Conduct

It was understood from other sources that he sought thus to gain temporary safe conduct for the withdrawal through Paris of German troops which still were in action against American forces in an arc west of the city.

The French said they refused and fought it out and won.

There still was no official word of the total number of Germans captured, but on the basis of the number taken on the first day—before the German stand began to break—the bag might have been considerable.

The text of Gen. Koenig's communique:

"Following orders for a general uprising on Aug. 19, strikes became general and the Germans paraded the streets with tanks and fired into crowds, killing many civilians.

Destroy 12 Tanks

"Very soon guerilla fighting was going on over the city. Particularly heavy fighting took place in the areas of the Hote de Ville (the City Hall), the Ile de la Cite, between the Place St. Michele and the Pantheon, between the Place Denfert-Rocherau and the Gobelins, between Port d' Orleans and University City, and in the area beween hte Place la Republique and the East Station.

"In the first day's fighting, a dozen heavy tanks were destroyed and more than 1,000 prisoners were taken as well as a large number of weapons including anti-tank guns.

"During the next night and day, the occupation of public buildings proceeded rapidly and during Sunday night, the enemy withdrew from certain positions.

"The German commander started negotiations for an armistice and offered to recognize the FFI as combatants.

"In one action during Sunday and Monday, 400 patriots entrenched in the Boulevard St. Michel, destroyed ten tanks, four armored vehicles, 21 lorries and 17 other cars. They inflicted heavy losses on the Germans."

decision to quit Germany and cease fighting. News of the liberation of Paris and of swift Allied advances in France was printed and broadcast prominently.

Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukrainian army group has captured 6,000 square miles of Romanian territory in a push from Odessa and thundered on toward the Galati gap. His troops were 35 miles of those of Gen. Fedor I. Tolbukhin driving southward from Iasi, and the armies appeared to be throwing a great noose around enemy forces clustered about the Bessarabian capital of Chisinau.

North of the Carpathians, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's 1st Ukrainian army group was overrunning swiftly the arsenals where thousands of Polish and Russian war prisoners were put to work in 1941 and 1942. The Red army here was actually getting into vital German industries, factories upon which Hitler depended to keep Germany in the war.

Aim at Krakow.

West of Debica, the Soviets were across the Wistoka river. Konev's objective is Krakow, the mother city of Poland, her ancient capital and a great industrial centre of a quarter million persons. The Germans offered stiff resistance, Red Star said, behind well prepared steel and concrete forts. Konev's left flank was curling along the Czech frontier, 11 to 21 miles away in the Carpathians.

In the Middle Baltic Republics, the Russians maintained their pressure on Riga from the east and the south.

No fresh reports came from the Warsaw front where other Soviet armies were besieging the city for the 25th day from immediately north and east. News also was lacking from East Prussian front, the eastern boundary of which was reached last week.

The historic Bessarabian towns of Tighina and Cetatea—Alba on the west bank of the Dnestr, 167 miles from the Romanian capital, and Vaslui, 140 miles northeast of Ploesti ,were among more than 400 towns that fell yesterday all along the eastern front, a Soviet communique said.

twin salutes to the Romanian victories, foreign radio reports were heard telling of Romania's capitulation to the Allies, but there was no information available from Russian sources.

The exit of Romania from the war has been regarded as inevitable here, however, in view of the Red Army's crushing offensive through huge sections of Moldavia and Bessarabia in the last four days. The effect of Romania's reported collapse in shortening the war could hardly be over-estimated.

Many Slain

The Russian communique declared the Romanians, attempting to retreat, were battling with Germans trying to bar them, and that large numbers of Romanian officers and men had been slain by the Nazis.

Meanwhile, in the new offensive northeast of Warsaw, aimed at East Prussia, the Russians advanced to within eight miles of the German fortress of Lomza, 20 miles south of the Prussian border, and liberated another 80 towns, the bulletin said.

Nazi counter-attacks from the suburb of Praga, just east of Warsaw, were driven off, with the Germans suffering sharp losses.

In still other successes, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's 1st Ukrainian Army, in a westward thrust along the rail route leading to Krakow and German Silesia, seized Debica, large aircraft industry centre 64 miles east of Krakow and 19 miles east of Tarnow, the netx probable objective.

German counter-attacks in Latvia, aimed at reaching Nazi Baltic troops, were beaten off and the Russians succeeded in improving their own positions, the communique declared.

Linked with the Romanian land drive, whose latest successes were announced by Stalin in two orders of the day, were a series of air attacks on Romanian Black Sea ports. The Russians sank eight ships—an auxiliary cruiser, transport and patrol cutter at Constanta; a transport, two barges, and a cutter off Salina and a motor ship at Valkov.

LONDON—A Reuter dispatch from the Swiss frontier today said French forces of the interior this morning liberated the city of Lyon on the Rhone River.

Take Advantage of the Present Reaction

THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS A SUCCESSFUL AMATEUR SPECULATOR!

The losses sustained by the unguided, uninformed and inexperienced speculator prove the accuracy of this statement. When the market is high and excitement reigns, he is a buyer. When a reaction or technical set-back occurs as a result of an overbought public position, he joins the masses and sells his stocks at random.

The position in the Yellowknife Camp may be clearly defined as follows: Until now, but one operation has carried the burden of supplying interest in a district where at least twenty properties are undergoing active development. Six or more have diamond drills working, with several scheduled to commence this month. It does not appear likely that such strategically located ground as is controlled by Frobisher, Negus, Kamlac, Tiffany, Lynx and others situated on the main North-South break, can fail to produce results of an important nature. A single telegram carrying an announcement of a significant drilling result can electrify the entire district. GIANT YELLOWKNIFE WILL NOT BE THE ONLY MINE IN THIS RICH CAMP. Instead of waiting for the event which will inspire nation-wide revival of interest, with possible new highs for most Yellowknife stocks, the time to act is now, while the best issues are still available.

There is one company in particular which owns two splendidly located properties, on one of which there is an important surface showing. The management is of the highest character. The financial sponsorship is strong. A substantial amount of cash is in the treasury. Diamond drilling is scheduled to commence immediately. While there is no real selling pressure; the market has been dull and ragged, or the issue referred to would be selling at 50% higher prices.

French Tanks Move Into City Of Paris

Entire Lyon Region Believed Held By French Patriots

LONDON, August 24 — (CP). — The French 2nd Armored Division and some United States units were reported to have entered liberated Paris to-day, while French Patriots elsewhere, inspired by the news that their beloved Capital had been freed, were said to have seized the entire Lyon region and the city of Perpignan from the hated Nazis.

Advices from Paris said a French soldier of legendary fame, Brig.-Gen. Jacques Le Clerc, headed the troops as they joined Patriots in the city on orders from Lt.-Gen. Bradley, 12th Army Group Commander.

Charles Collingwood, CBS correspondent, radioed from the front near Paris that Gen. Bradley decided to act when an armistice negotiated by the Germans with the French forces of the interior expired on Wednesday. It was disclosed here that Gen. Bradley had ordered certain U.S. units to enter the city with the French armor.

Led by Le Clerc.

Gen. Le Clerc, a dashing cavalry oficer who escaped from the Germans after the fall of France to fight in the African campaign, is known as Gen. De Gaulle's "right arm." Le Clerc is not his real name, but a nom de guerre assumed to protect his family in France.

The Germans were reported using their armistice with the F.F.I. to withdraw their forces which had been battling west and south of Paris, and the order to occupy the city as issued.

Roughly one-third of France 212,-569 square miles, has been liberated by the Allied Armies and the F.F.I. and the last vestige of the Vichy Government of Pierre Laval has disappeared as a political force.

Radio France at Algiers reported the liberation of the Lyon region and said three Allied planes already had landed at Perpignan to establish contact with the F.F.I. Lyon is 240 miles southwest of Paris, while Perpignan is at the east end of the Pyrenees that form the border between Spain and France.

An Associated Press dispatch from the French-Spanish frontier at Irun, Spain, said American and French troops, reinforced by troops landed from the sea, were reported by French authorities to be pushing steadily toward Bordeaux from both sides.

Commandos Land.

French military authorities at Hendaye, 110 miles south of Bordeaux, said 800 French Commandos were among Allied forces landed from a French destroyer south of Arcachon, southwest of the prize Atlantic port.

Edward Kennedy, Associated Press correspondent in Southern France, where American and French troops have already captured Marseille, said the French now appear "united as they never were in peacetime." He said there was little on the surface to support oft-heard predictions that liberation of France would be followed by civil war.

The German Ambassador to Switzerland was reported by the secret German-language station radio Atlantik last night to have asked the Swiss Government for asylum for Laval. There was no confirmation elsewhere of the broadcast report, heard by NBC. Laval, chief of government in the Vichy regime, was last reported to be virtually a prisoner of the Nazis in Belfort.

The battle of attrition over Central Europe thus has cost the Nazis at least 102 planes in the last two days, in addition to 100 reported destroyed recently in raids on airdromes in Hungary and Yugoslavia.

Allied air losses likewise have been heavy. Twenty-nine aircraft were lost yesterday and three during the preceding night.

Enemy fighters attacked formations of heavy bombers over Vienna with rocket and cannon fire yesterday, some diving in to within 100 yards of the big bombers.

Targets of the Allied planes included the Markersdorf airdrome west of Vienna, where grounded planes, personnel and installations were attacked; the Fanto Vosendorf Oil Refinery six miles south of Vienna and unspecified military targets in the Vienna industrial district.

A German military broadcast heard in London said the Romanian 3rd Army was fighting beside the Russians. The Swiss radio said other Romanian troops had marched into Transylvania, wrested from Romania in 1940 by Hitler and given to Hungary.

Romania's about-face, disclosed by Young King Michael in a broadcast announcing formation of a new government headed by Gen. Konstantin Sanatescu, knocked a major prop from Hitler's Balkan position.

The Germans, frantically trying to repair the damage, termed the capitulation the act of a "clique of traitors" and announced formation of a "national government" —presumably a puppet regime— around whibh Berlin broadcasts asked the Romanian people to rally.

"Obey only its orders and not those of the traitors," urged Berlin in a broadcast beamed to Romania.

(The Federal Bureau Commission said the Berlin broadcast was in the form of a communique attributed to the new "national government." The communique, re-broadcast at intervals, did not name any of those constituting the new government.

(The Romanian domestic radio announced that the military commander of Bucharest had ordered at 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew in the city. All train and trolley traffic will be halted during these hours, said this broadrast, also reported by the F.C.C.)

Antonescu Flees.

The Swiss radio, relaying Bucharest dispatches, said Marshal Ion Antonescu, deposed Romanian premier, had fled to Germany—a report indicating he may have chosen to head the pro-German government.

Apparently, one effect of the capitulation would be to bar Germany from Romania's productive Ploesti oil regions, where Hitler once obtained one-third of the supply needed to operate his war machines. Allied bombing, however, has reduced this flow drastically.

Germany also found large numbers of her forces in the midst of a hostile country with uncertain communications to the rear.

Politically, Hitler's Balkan edifice was cracking badly. Bulgaria has been edging toward peace for at least a week. After the Romanian announcement, the cabinet of puppet Slovakia reported "important decisions" were made in an "urgent" meeting.

Hungary is still tightly in the Nazi grip, but the efect there was expected to be electric—especially since King Michael declared conquest of Transylvania a major Romanian objective.

Without specific mention of Romania's shift, the Moscow radio shortly after the Bucharest announcement called upon the German people to "surrender immediately" adding:

"This is the eve of victory for the Allied nations."

In the First Great War, only 41 days elapsed between the time the first German satellite—Bulgaria—ceased fighting and the date of Germany's own signing of an armistice.

King Michael's proclamation said: "Romania has accepted armistice terms offered by the Soviet Union, Great Britain and the United States." There was no immediate official comment in any of the Allied capitals or any word as to what the armistice embraced.

Reds Started Talks.

It was widely assumed, however, that the capitulation was based on Russian terms offered early in the summer after communication with the British and United States Governments.

Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, reaffirmed on the eve of the Russian entrance into northeastern Romania last spring Moscow's claims to Bessarabia and northern Bucovina, taken from Romania in 1940, but gave assurance Russia had no other territorial claims.

The Bucharest announcements said the Allied governments had guaranteed Romania's independence, had promised non-interference with internal affairs, and had recognized "the injustice" of Germany's award of Transylvania to Hungary at a Vienna arbitration conference in 1940.

King Michael's proclamation summoned his armed forces to the side of Allied armies as a co-belligerent but by all indications Romania's main offensive intentions will be directed against Hungary to recover Transylvania.

The new premier, Konstantin Sanatescu, in abroadcast to the Romanian people immediately following the King's announcement, proclaimed the Antonescue Dictatorship" had been "cast aside"

Sanatescu pledged a "democratic regime in which public freedom and rights of the citizens will be guaranteed and respected."

In his first decrees he closed concentration camps and turned loose virtually all political prisoners.

Included in Sanatescu's government, which embraces all political parties—National Liberal, National Peasant, Communist and Social Democrat—is the famous old peasant leader, Juliu Maniu, long an opponent of Romania's position as a German Satellite.

Romania joined the Axis in November, 1940, and followed Germany into war against Russia on June 22, 1941. Six months later she declared war against Britain and the United States.

Atherton Urges Sound Policies

VANCOUVER, August 24—(CP). Ray Atherton, United States Ambassador to Canada, said to-day that Canada and the United States must play their part in the post-war world by adopting 'sound policies' based on "sound principles of expanded international trade."

Delivering a prepared address before a luncheon meeting of the Vancouver Board of Trade, Mr. Atherton said:

"....It goes without saying that we cannot participate in the great adventure of the 'Era of the Pacific' spoken of by Vice-President Wallace and we cannot play our part in the right kind of post-war world unless we adopt sound policies at home, basen on sound principles of expanded international trade."

Mr. Atherton said the "real lesson" of the joint history of Canada and the United States was not that they have never disagreed, but that they have known how to settle disagreements "with dignity, fairness and in the manner of comrades," thus giving the world an example.

Lt.-Gen. Alexander Patch's forces ground out new advances north-west of Marseille toward Avignon and along Highway 572. They had the advantage of ideal weather.

By noon yesterday it was estimated that between 6,000 and 8,000 square miles of Southern French teritory had been liberated.

Some American columns in the Durance Valley were only 15 miles from Cavaillon, north-west of Marseille, 25 miles from Avignon, the Rhone Valley town that has been bombed repeatedly and which is still defended heavily by concentrations of anti-aircraft guns.

Taken to Corsica.

The actual number of prisoners taken in Marseille and Toulon is not yet known. They are being removed to the Italian mainland and to islands in the Mediterranean, notably Corsica, as rapidly as possible.

At least 200 additional prisoners fell to a naval party which landed on the Island of Porquerolles south west of Toulon after an American heavy cruiser subjected the defenders to cannonading from eight-inch guns.

An effort to parley with the defenders under a flag of truce ended when batteries on the shore opened fire at point blank range after permitting the truce party to approach almost to the muzzle of the guns. The island now is garrisoned by French Senegalese troops.

...nebleau. There was no further news of an American armored column which last was reported 15 miles beyond Sens, 65 miles south-east of Paris, in a drive aimed toward the borders of Germany, 150 miles away.

An Algiers radio broadcast said to-day that Bordeaux, important French port on the Garonne river near the Bay of Biscay, has been captured by Allied forces and French patriots.

Bordeaux is approximately 170 miles south of the last officially reported position of American forces, 10 miles south of Nantes. Unofficial reports, however, have said this force has been striking swiftly southward.

Many Air Battles.

The German air force reacted fiercely toward the latest Allied advances in the Seine river area, both northwest and southeast of Paris. The Allied air forces shot down 37 German planes, with the R.C.A.F. squadrons led by Wing Cmdr. J. E. (Johnny) Johnson, an Englishman, downing 32 in air battles north of Paris. Four of the R.C.A.F. planes were lost.

Lifting clouds yesterday and to-day indicated the Allied air forces would throw a blockade over the stretch of the Seine river between its mouth and Elbeuf still available as an escape route for the Germans, until ground forces moved in to pin the enemy down.

British forces in the southern end of the new trap swung sharply in toward Bernay and reached Le Neubourg, 11 miles south and slightly west of Elbeuf.

Forces of the 1st Canadian Army pressed forward against heavy German resistance along a front extending southeastward from the channel coast at a point near Deauville.

Grumman Avengers of the Fleet Air Arm.

Blows at the E and R boats were followed up this afternoon by R.A.F. Lancaster heavy bombers which hammered their pens at Ijmuiden in the Netherlands with sixton "factory busters."

Simultaneously, R. A. F. heavies once more bombed shipping at the beseiged Brittany port of Brest to stop any attempted German escape there by sea.

The great American air fleet attacking Germany flew from British bases. The German radio said another force was attacking from Italy.

The reported destruction of 3,641 planes since D-day constituted a force larger than the whole Nazi air fleet based in western Europe on une 6. The Germans had been reinforced from the east and south however.

Mosquito bombers raised the 24-hour bag of German tanks, barges and vehicles destroyed or damaged to around 1,000 as the Allied air offensive knocked out two of the Germans' crossing points over the Seine near Elbeuf.

8th Army Troops On Move Resistance Lags

ROME, Aug. 24 (AP)—British and Indian troops of the 8th Army have made a considerable advance on both sides of the Upper Arno River in Italy, in the face of lessening enemy resistance, and have captured a number of important points including Monte Forets, headquarters announced today.

Minor gains were reported in the Adriatic sector, where Polish and Italian troops established themselves firmly on the banks of the Metauro River about 12 miles from the coast. Allied forces are in contact with strong enemy positions on the north bank, the bulletin said.

Considerable enemy patrol activity was noted around Florence, in which the Nazis were said to have suffered casualties.

Allied Headquarters disclosed that "indiscriminately aimed enemy shells fell in most of the central and southern portions" of Florence yesterday. The extent of damage and casualties was not announced.

German losses in a brisk battle for Metauro on the Adriatic front were high, with 80 dead found in front of a single Polish regiment. The Poles in this sector have taken nearly 800 prisoners in 10 days.

Memorial Sports Centre Planned By Cobourg Kiwanis Club

COBOURG, Aug. 24 (ENS)—Cobourg will have a sports centre to be known as the T. H. McClelland Memorial Park, it was announced at the regular meeting of Cobourg Kiwanis Club on Tuesday night. The Kiwanis Club is sponsoring the project but the location of the park is to remain a secret until final arrangements have been made for its acquisition. It was decided that it was highly appropriate to name the park after the late T. H. McClelland, who had played such a prominent part in training Cobourg athletes while he was a member of the Collegiate staff.

Mr. McClelland trained Larry O'Connor and Arthur Ravensdale, Olympic track stars and such outstanding athletes as John Lucas and Bobbie Cooper.

Fred Dutton and Ed Campbell will act as co-chairmen of the committee in charge of getting the Memorial Park established. The task of erecting a building will be the job of another committee of the Kiwanis Club. Mayor Jack Burnet has pledged the support of the town, Harold Bellamy has indicated that the Kinsmen Club will do all possible and Fred Slade has pledged the co-operation of the Rotary Club in the project.

Fred Dutton informed the meeting that this park would include playgrounds, sports field, track, tennis courts and a building to house other sports essentials. To start the funds coming to the "Cobourg Youth Community Chest Fund," Mrs. Bertha Wright Knapp is putting on a concert on September 1 in which local and out-of-town Boy Scouts and Girl Guides will participate.

The meeting was addressed by Albert McIntyre, former Cobourg boy, who expressed his hearty endorsation of the memorial park idea.

PARIS LIBERATED—BORDEAUX TAKEN — Paris, the capital of France, has risen up and freed itself of Nazi domination, and a report says Bordeaux, on the west coast, has fallen. As arrow (1) indicates, a thrust from that region could greatly affect the invasion drive on the south coast (2) from the Riviera to the Rhone Valley. French forces of the interior, extremely active in southwestern France, are reported holding Toulouse. In the north (3) the drives moving on Paris are gaining momentum toward the liberated city.

Nazi Idealogy Peril To Be Watched Declares President Roosevelt

BY FLORA LEWIS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 — (AP) — President Roosevelt declared Wednesday that the Nazi ideas implanted in Germany's youth will menace the world for many years, and hence the Allies must work "absolutely in unison" to enforce "a peace that will last."

The President's remarks, made to the Dumbarton Oaks world security conferences, indicated a belief that the Allies will have to keep a close watch on Germany, possibly for 50 years.

He received the British, Russian and American delegates at the White House shortly before John Foster Dulles, foreign affairs adviser to Thomas E. Dewey, Republican Presidential nominee, conferred with State Secretary Hull and exchanged ideas on American participation in a world security organization.

Mr. Roosevelt based his remarks on a conference he had today with War Secretary Stimson. He said Mr. Stimson told him that "unfortunately in Germany the young people, the young Nazis, favor an idea which will be dangerous to the peace of the world just as long as they have anything to say about it."

Worse Than Elders

"The prisoners of 17, 18, 20, that we are capturing now—on both the French front and the Soviet front—these German prisoners of that age are even worse in their nazism than the prisoners of 40 or 45," the President said.

"As long as these young men have anything to say about it," Mr. Roosevelt said, "the peril of nazism will always be before us."

"Thus," he went on, "we have got to make, not merely a peace, but a peace that will last, and a peace in which the larger nations will work absolutely in unison in preventing way by force But the four of us (the United States, Russia, Britain and China) have to be friends, conferring all the time."

Speaking of the unanimity with which the Allies carried on the war, Mr. Roosevelt said often it comes down to personalities.

Grew Fond of Churchill

"When, back in 1941, at the time of the Atlantic Charter, just for example, I did not know Mr. Churchill at all well," he said. "I had met him once or twice very informally during the first world war. I did not know Mr. Eden. But up there in the North Atlantic—three or four days together, with our two ships lying close together—we got awfully fond of each other. I got to know him, and he got to know me. In other words, we met, and you cannot hate a man that you know well.

"Later on Mr. Molotov came here, and we had a grand time together. Then during the following year at Teheran, the marshal and I got to know each other. We got on beautifully.

Spread Friendly Spirit

"It is something new, this close relationship between the British Empire and the United States," he said. "This great friendship between the Russian people and the American people—that is new. Let's hang on to both friendships, and by spreading that spirit around the world we may have a peaceful period for our grandchildren to grow up in."

Mr. Dulles told reporters after his talk with Mr. Hull that they had made "very considerable progress in exploring the possibilities of bi-partisan co-operation."

Mr. Dulles, who came here to work out with Mr. Hull a plan for insuring dual party support for American participation in a world security organization, said he would meet the Secretary again tomorrow afternoon.

The Hull-Dulles efforts to remove foreign policy as far as possible from the political campaign overshadowed for the moment the work of the Dumbarton Oaks conferees.

Optimistic Note

Even before the Hull-Dulles meeting there were expressions of optimism from Republicans that a bitter partisan fight over the problem of world security would be avoided.

Senator Warren Austin (Rep., Vt.) predicted that there will be "no party cleavage" over postwar security issue, and Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep., Mich.) said he thought the election campaign could encompass free discussion of foreign policy transcending partisanship.

Port Hope Airman Wins D.F.C. Award

PORT HOPE, Aug. 24.—(ENS).—Although Mr. and Mrs. James McCullough have received word that their son, Pilot Officer Borden McCullough has been awarded the D.F.C. they have not yet learned why this award was made.

Pilot Officer McCullough was mentioned recently for his work on one of the Sherkrade raiads, but it is not known if this is the reason for his distinction.

A letter received by his parents last week said that he would write later to tell the whole story.

Obituary

THOMAS E. FLETCHER

COBOURG, Aug. 24 (ENS)—The funeral of Thomas Esten Fletcher of Cobourg was held Wednesday with cremation at Toronto after a funeral service had been held at St. Peter's Anglican Church, Cobourg. Although in poor health, his death occurred suddenly from a heart attack.

Born at Barrie, he later moved to Manitoba where for many years he was manager of a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Winnipeg. After he retired he came to Cobourg and took up residence at the corner of College and James streets, in the former Thompson residence. When war broke out he joined the accounting staff of the DeHaviland Aircraft Corporation but due to ill health he had to give up his duties this year.

He is survived by his widow, who was Amy Gamble King, a son, Francis Esten Fletcher of Toronto and one daughter, Mrs. Howard Keller of Rochester. Pall-bearers were Dr. A. Richards, J. H. Hutton, Emerson and A. S. Barnes, Cobourg; Commander H. Keller of Rochester and Arthur Rogers of Cobourg.

Change Air Station

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 24.—(CP).—With only two classes of fleet air arm personnel left to complete their training at the R.C.A.F. station at Aylmer, Ont., complete turnover of the school to a training station for flight engineers will soon be affected, it was learned here yesterday. A school official said the first class of flight engineers will graduate at the end of the month.

Farmers Glad For Light Rainfall

That 63/100 of an inch of rain Wednesday evening would have been more grateful to the dairy farmers of the district if it had continued to the full inch or even more, but although their hopes and patience have been tried by more than three weeks of unbroken drought farmers are disinclined to question the dispensations of Providence.

Many of them have been forced to resort to grain and grass from the season's crop, stored for winter feeding, as pastures turned brown, lost their succulence and vitamins, and reduced the livestock's forage to remnant patches of green under the trees or in swampy patches.

An Otonabee farmer with a big herd of Holsteins said today he had to fall back on grain and hay from his barn since the forepart of last week.

Milk Reduction

J. E. Weir, manager of Silverwoods dairy, remarked to the Examiner that most of their patrons had been feeding some grain during the last week or ten days. Their milking had dropped a can or two a day in many instances, "but we are not short of milk," Mr. Weir added "It is not uncommon for the volume of milk to decline during August, especially if it is dry and hot and the cattle are bothered with flies. In those seasons September usually turns out to be the better dairy month.

"We estimate that 26 per cent of the milk that comes to Silverwoods finds its outlet in the bottle trade

Paris Has Fallen

Four years of enemy bondage have been shaken loose by the people of Paris when tens of thousands of Frenchmen, armed and unarmed, swept the Germans from the streets, while great Allied armies drew up around the city. The fall of Paris followed four days of street fighting. Thus Paris the city of light is back again in French hands, just four years and 74 days after Hitler's troops marched in.

Paris has become the first continental city of a full-fledged ally to be freed from German bondage. Rome has been taken, but Italy started the war as an ally of Germany. It is a great moral victory to the Allies and especially to those French people who through these years of German occupation have remained loyal to the Allied cause. There has been little doubt for several days that Paris could be taken whenever the order was given, but much bigger things appeared in the Allied plan. Great flanking movements were developing both north and south of the city which threatened the destruction of Nazi armies.

It is eleven weeks since the invasion of Europe commenced, and while we were uneasy at the slow progress at the beginning the last five weeks have more than made up for any delay at the start. Which shows again what "arm-chair" strategists we all are. Thousands of square miles of western France have been captured by the Allies. Important ports have been seized and another invasion from the south is advancing north, which in due time will make a junction with the armies from the west. It has been an amazing triumph against a strongly held and fortified country.

The capture of Paris by the French residents is another example of the great resistance movement that is leaping to eager life all over the country. These forces making up the attack are known as the French Forces of the Interior and they fall into two groups—the maquis actif and the maquis sedentaire. The latter do not take an active part until called. Thanks to the increased efforts of the Allies, arms and supplies have been effectively distributed, thus permitting greater efforts on part of the patriots. In June and July seven times as much arms and ammunition was received as in any previous month. These maquis in their resistance have lived the lives of hunted people. Still they carried on, wrecking communications, derailing trains, cutting power lines and generally causing as much trouble to the Germans as possible. Now their time has come, they are striking hard at the tyrants and proving themselves a powerful arm of the Allied forces fighting to liberate France.

Churches And VD Prevention

Canada's four major Protestant communions (United Church, Church of England, Baptist and Presbyterian) have allied themselves with public and voluntary agencies in a nation-wide campaign against venereal disease. Canadian churches can do much and can make a substantial contribution to this campaign. In the past we feel that much of the failure of these campaigns has been due to our leaders not being sufficiently informed; thus if the churches are to make a concrete contribution to the solution of the VD problem, their leaders must be better informed and in closer friendship with young people and the apparently mad ways of youth in this topsy-turvy world.

This is one place where our educational system has sadly fallen down. Parent organizations have urged the teaching of sex problems, and VD prevention must come with any teaching of sex, but our teachers have not been prepared or qualified to teach the subject.

We feel the Department of Education should make the teaching of sex education compulsory in every secondary school; but before doing it should prepare men and women in the teaching profession in order that they will be able to teach this subject. There are few subjects on the curriculum today as important as sex education.

But if qualified teachers are needed in the schools to teach these problems is the need not just as great among the leaders of our churches? The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada is wisely urging courses in sex and family life for theological colleges.

Striking pronouncements have been made by church leaders in the United States as to the need for parent education and youth counselling in churches. The reunited Methodist Church urges that such classes be held in all churches and that ministers should prepare themselves for personal counselling in family problems. The Presbyterian General Assembly has made a similar statement as to pastoral counselling and its program of education for family life is a vigorous one.

The Protestant Episcopal Church has enacted a rule that all its clergymen shall give premartial instruction to those whom they are about to be united in marriage. This movement is gaining much headway among other clergy and many of them are requiring or urging a session with a physician as part of the premartial education.

In Canada, establishment of congregational or parish marriage and youth guidance clinics has been urged — the personnel to consist of clergy, medical men, teachers and such others as may contribute to informing young people on sex relations and all other factors having a bearing on successful living and happy family life.

These are practical means of contributing toward the eradication of venereal disease. But there are other opportunities open to the churches. They can take a much more realistic view towards the improvement of community conditions than they have in the past. If they wish to wage a fight on venereal disease they must also be in the forefront in the fight for high cultural and moral standards in the community. If they are complacent towards social conditions they cannot be expected to wield a large influence in this fight.

The church's attack on wrong living must be directed against all immorality—not only the immoralities of sex, intemperance, and gambling. They must remember that the national standards of sex morality are not likely to rise above the national standards of morality generally.

There is a big work in Peterborough, a task that has rapidly increased in the last four years, but before we take on the job let us get our leaders, our teachers and those who are going to give guidance and direction properly prepared to handle these subjects. Then we can go ahead and go places in improving venereal disease condition in this community, and establishing many more happy homes.

Financing Memorial Centre

The City Council in its move on Monday night when it decided that the city's grant to the proposed Memorial and Community Centre will be outright with no strings attached was a very wise one in our opinion. Industries and the citizens are going to be asked to contribute $200,000 so why then should not the grant made by the City of Peterborough also be charged against the city as a whole rather than against the proposed project.

What the amount will be has not been announced but it will likely be between $50,000 and $75,000. This naturally will have to be put to the ratepayers in the form of a bylaw at the next municipal election.

The demand for the proposed health centre has been steadily increasing in recent years and we feel that this effort should succeed. Industry to date has been receiving well the plan of financing and the committee in charge has been doing a mighty fine job. But $100,000 from some 10,000 wage earners in Peterborough will require a great amount of organizing for a canvass.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An advertisement in the Calgary Herald reads: "Good board, gentleman, single lady to share front room". The breezy West!

"Santa Claus, Say Toymakers, Is Furious At A. Hitler", says a headline. What other attitude would you expect from the North Pole?

Now just where was that wall reaching from the North Sea to the Mediterranean that we heard about for three years?

Every soldier in Canada's highly mechanized army used 50 gallons of gasoline a week while in action. "Civilian motorists, please take notice", suggests the Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Credit and Debt

By D. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA: The recurring theme of the monetary critics in Parliament, as their views are recorded in the banking and commerce committee, is the claim that governmental expenses could be financed better than they are now, by issuing "debt-free money." This is the most constant note in all debates on money and banking in Parliament, and it leads to a related claim, that the debt charges of the Dominion of Canada are becoming too heavy to carry. The committee's findings on these points take care of a large part of the debate on monetary matters which accompanies political discussion.

The device of issuing Bank of Canada notes, which constitute the reserve of the chartered banks, is the method by which credit is expanded in Canada; and conversely, by the sale of securities the Bank of Canada is able to contract the basis of bank credit in Canada. Since 1936, that is, after the Bank of Canada was opened, there has been an addition of $900,000,000 to currency in Canada. Since the outbreak of war, the increase has been $620,000,000 allowing for contraction of chartered bank note circulation.

The amount of money in Canada has increased by 90 per cent since 1938, and this, as Mr. Towers pointed out, is an important factor in making necessary the controls of prices and wages which Canada has adopted. Without the controls, he said, "we would have had a substantial degree of inflation."

The Bank of Canada has, therefore, followed an expansionist policy. Mr. Towers said he would be prepared, as Governor of the Bank of Canada, to follow a policy of credit expansion after the war if necessary. But an important distinction must be made in regard to issue of national currency. The wartime policy of Canada has avoided as far as possible the financing of war expenses in this way. Mr. Towers estimated that Canada has financed six or seven per cent of its war expenses by issuing currency—nearly a billion dollars—but that this was "involuntary" It was involuntary because the funds could not be obtained by the government in any other way, i.e., by taxation or borrowing from the public or the chartered banks. To the contention that a greater share of war expenses should have been financed by issuing currency, Mr. Towers replied that such a course would have been "madness." There are limits to which controls can go in restraining inflation.

WHEN Mr. McGeer, Mr. Blackmore, and others speak of abolishing "our debt-creating system," they mean financing government costs by issuing currency. In the house on Aug. 8, Mr. Ilsley established an interesting point, new to Canadian debate on monetary policy, that the issue of national currency by obtaining funds directly from the Bank of Canada was no cheaper for the Government than the method already followed.

Accompanying a policy of taxing heavily, the Commonwealth of Australia in 1941 and since deliberately (in contrast with the "involuntary" action by the Canadian government) borrowed from its central bank. The result was that, to maintain stability, Australia required its commercial banks to deposit all cash increases in the central bank, and receive three-quarters of one per cent on them. This is the same interest rate at which Canada has borrowed from its chartered banks. So, said Mr. Ilsley, the result was the same as far as the cost of the money to the government was concerned.

Mr. Slaght developed the theme, in the banking committee, that since the banks hold (as at April, 1944), a total of $2,250,000,000 in Dominion Government securities and the Government pays interest amounting to $35,000,000 on these, if the government obtained currency directly from the Bank of Canada, this interest cost could be avoided.

The practical illustration from Australia's experince provided a convincing reply to this proposition. At another stage, Mr. Towers expressed the hope that Canada's post-war problems would not be made any more difficult than they will be in any case, by a mistaken idea that vast public works and other projects, which most people may regard as desirable, can be paid for by some magic formula which will eliminate the cost.

MR. McGEER was, perhaps, the most insistent prophet of the direful view that Canada was running itself into debt in this war on a scale that will prove unbearable later. Mr. McGeer, of course, generally avoids pedestrian prose and prefers to talk about "Niagaras of debt" and "whirlpools of bankruptcy," which make a very gloomy picture to contemplate. But Mr. Ilsley took some pleasure in placing Mr. McGeer's oratory on the laboratory table and dissecting it. The Minister of Finance showed that the federal government's debt charges were $164,000,000 in 1920; $149,000,000 in 1939; and $219,000,000 today, and that today's figure could be scaled down to a net of $183,000,000 if the C.N.R. surplus were applied to it. What alarms could one draw from these figures? This country, Mr. Ilsley said, "is nowhere near the place where there is any cause for alarm."

At one stage, Mr. McGeer said his idea of financing was to tax and to borrow to the public's limit and then use our national currency for the balance." This, it may be noted, is also Mr. Blackmore's position. But since it is precisely the policy that Canada has followed, and that Mr. Ilsley, Mr. Towers and others outlined in detail at the banking committee, one wonders what all the shouting was about in that committee's lengthy hearings?

Soo Wolves Et Al

The other day nine hound pups of the Algoma Wolf Club strain were born on the farm of Dune Fremlin at Bar River....

But perhaps by the time they are of an age to take up the chase they will be needed. For wolves are reported from Laird Township, near Lake George, while others have been getting in their licks in the Dunn's Valley section.

Like the poor, the wolves we have always with us. It is true that nowadays social security measures are being designed with an objective of banishing the poor. But it seems probable that hounds and bounties will continue to be the best method for dealing with wolves.

But hounds and wolves are not the only animals to break into the news lately. A big bear was sighted in Prince township, for example, while a large moose looked over the mining operations at the New Helen Mine with a great deal of interest.

All of which helps us city dwellers to remember that the great outdoors is just beyond the vacant lot.—Sault Star.

"CENTURY PLANT"?

Battleship's Value Unimpaired

From THE NEW YORK SUN

H.M.S. RODNEY is in the news again. The big British battleship, principal actor in the sinking of the Bismarck, anchored twenty miles off the Channel island of Alderney and sent seventy-five one-ton shells from its nine 16-inch guns into German coastal defence positions on shore. The first shot, described as from a cold gun, fell short by 300 yards, not bad marksmanship from twenty miles; the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth shots all were direct hits. Directed by spotters of the Royal Air Force, gunners on the big ship methodically hammered away for two and a half hours until the mission was completed, all the time taking care not to overshoot the target, since the town of Saint Anne lay 600 yards behind it. Not once did the enemy guns reply. They couldn't after the first few rounds.

Years ago it began to be said that the battleship was on the way out, that it presented too great a target from the air. Yet it is the history of this war that aviation has scored few notable victories over these heavy vessels. Even the German heavier ships, although bottled up to form good bombing targets and frequently damaged by aerial action, were sunk, in those cases where they have gone to the bottom, by surface action. In the Norman and Mediterranean invasions of France, battleships had major roles, as they have had in amphibious operations in the Pacific. It certainly is premature to write an obituary of such ships..

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

EXPENSIVE EXPERIENCES

Sir,—This reader concurs in the conclusion of your farm columnist ("Farming News and Views" by Hon. Duncan Marshall) that "crop failures on the Western plains have proven to be expensive experiences for the Dominion treasury"; and that "farming without livestock is at best a precarious business...."

As you know, there has been an immense increase in the livestock productivity on those "Western plains" during these war years, and the following comparative figures, showing the total "prairie farm cash income" from wheat on the one hand, and from livestock and animal products on the other, for the five-year period 1939-1943 may be considered interesting to Eastern readers and will speak for themselves:

Wheat (cash income) $899,000,000
(cash income) $883,000,000

Obviously our prairie brethren are growing more than their famous grains these days? It must be remembered, nevertheless, that it has not always been a case of "crop failure" which has ruined thousands of the growers and which, as Senator Marshall properly points out, has been "expensive" for the Dominion treasury. I would like to put forward the following example of what I would term a case of "price failure" which had a similar effect upon the Dominion treasury and cut down employment schedules in the nation's factories: In 1932, we produced practically the same wheat tonnage as moderate estimators look for from the 1944 wheatfields—i.e., just 425,000,000 bushels—but that common total looks very different in terms of its gross cash value; i.e., multiplied by 55c (at the Lakehead) in the former year ($234,000,000) as against $1.10 for the average 1944 bushel ($468,000,000). These, of course, are the gross figures; but the deductions would apply evenly in both seasons and would not alter the comparative picture, Mr. Editor. No urban industry could survive such pressure?

"ALBERTAN".

Stab in the Back

The mean attempt to stir up trouble between the United States and Britain and so make the war longer, more costly and less decisive continues. It continues not only in the Nazi press but in some sections of the American press. Thus we are being told that American casualties in northern France have been greater than British and Canadian casualties. This is true, but the deduction that we are in France to pull British and French chestnuts out of the fire is an insult to every American soldier who has fought there. In Italy the circumstances were reversed. There the British and Canadian armies had 84,462 casualties from the landings till the fall of Rome, the Americans 64,992 casualties. For the whole war to the same date the British forces had 667,169 casualties, the Americans about 178,000. To the British figures should be added 109,111 civilians hurt or killed, and to this number must be added again the wounds and deaths of the robot campaign.

Would these shameful insinuations be halted if the British and Canadian troops in France were to send contingents unarmed and unprotected into enemy fire? Is it more deaths among our allies that the critics wish? Let us be just. They probably don't want these things. What they do want, if they were able to get it would nevertheless come to the same thing. Fewer Americans will be killed and wounded if we maintain the most cordial and co-operative relationships with the British and our other allies. To stir up jealousy and controversy now is to stab our own soldiers in the back.—New York Times.

Hull's War Record

Resentment over attacks on Hull's war record, published in a recent report in a Toronto newspaper, was voiced last week at a meeting of Hull City Council.

Ald. Dr. J. E. Perras, a veteran of 1914-1918, and superintendent of Sacred Heart Hospital, protested the slur on the population, and correctly observed that indictment of the whole city for lack of courage is as untrue as it is harmful to national unity.

The fact is that Hull, with its population of 30,000, has made a contribution to the war of which no city in Canada can feel ashamed. Her young men are flying over Germany, fighting in France with the Cameron Highlanders, in Italy with the Royal 22nd Regiment, in His Majesty's Canadian ships on the high seas. For months Hull soldiers served in the loneliest spot on earth—the Aleutian Islands. Scarcely was a unit mobilized in Ottawa but had its quota of Hull men in its ranks.

Many lie in British military cemeteries in Europe and the United Kingdom. Still others are prisoners-of-war, wounded or broken in health.

At home, Hull has consistently gone over the top in every one of its Victory Loan, War Savings Stamp and Red Cross campaigns. The city raised a surprising amount and sent it for the relief of bombed-out families in its sister city of Hull, England. Its workers turn out steel for shells, food and uniforms for the forces, and many other essential war products. Its representatives in municipal, provincial and Federal fields have stood solidly behind the war effort.

It is not surprising, therefore, that men like Dr. Perras and Mayor Brunet, who have devoted much time, thought and money to furtherance of the war effort, resent disparaging attacks from the Ontario side. It would be well, also, for midsummer speaker to find out the facts before launching denunciations.—Ottawa Journal.

Unconditional Surrender

Certain groups have criticised the Allied policy of "unconditional surrender" for Germany on the grounds that it stiffens the resistance of German soldiers and hardens them against appeals to surrender.

According to the British Information Services, Mr. Anthony Eden made some interesting observations in this score in the House of Commons in Westminster. He stated that 77 per cent of all German prisoners taken in Normandy admitted that they had listened to the Allied radio and had read Allied pamphlets. What is more striking, 40 per cent carried Allied leaflets in their pockets at the time of capture. They regarded them as something in the nature of a passport for the moment of surrender.

Apparently the policy of unconditional surrender has little bearing on the individual German's conduct when the time comes to say "Kamerad."—Winnipeg Tribune.

NAZI NEST-EGGS

Nazi leaders are said to have fortunes put away in neutral countries.

According to one report, Goebbels has £1,500,000 tucked away in South America and Japan; Himler has £500,000 in South America; Ribbentrop has £1,400,000 in Geneva, The Hague and Madrid.—Kitchener Record.

GENTLE MULES

More Kansans were fatally injured by kicks by cows or steers than by mules, and horses were by far the greatest offenders in this category.

It apears we are going to have to revise our opinion about mules.

Evidently the mule always has had a poor press agent—or perhaps his publicity was such that farmers just naturally give a wider berth to that area immediately to the rear than they do to that of other critters.—Kansas City Star.

BUREAUCRATS AND POLITICIANS

In a democracy, where public understanding of measures is indispensable, it is not enough for policies to be good; they must be intelligible—understood by the people. And it is not, and never can be, the task of the bureaucrats to make them understandable. That task belongs to the politicians, belongs especially to the responsible government of the day, and when that task is shirked, when the people themselves are overlooked, then democracy is not functioning, and we are heading toward totalitarianism.—Ottawa Journal.

GERMAN SHIPPING

The British Government has learned that the Nazis are devising a plan whereby they hope to keep most of their merchant fleet at the end of the war and avoid surrendering it as part of reparations.

They are forming in neutral countries private "shipping companies" to acquire ownership of German vessels. "Agreements" with these fake companies guarantee Germany the right to repurchase within five years of hostilities ending.—London Daily Sketch.

A Bible Message

And after six days Jesus taketh with him Peter, and James, and John, and leadeth them up into an high mountain apart by themselves: and he was transfigured before them.... And there was a cloud that overshadowed them: and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him.... And as they came down from the mountain, he charged them that they should tell no man what things they had seen, till the Son of man were risen from the dead....

And when he was come to his disciples, he saw a great multitude about them, and the scribes questioning with them.... And he asked the scribes, What question ye with them? And one of the multitude answered and said, Master, I have brought unto thee my son, which hath a dumb spirit.... And ofttimes it hath cast him into the fire, and into the waters, to destroy him: but if thou canst do anything, have compassion on us, and help us....

When Jesus saw that the people came running together, he rebuked the foul spirit, saying unto him, Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I charge thee, come out of him and enter no more into him. And the spirit cried and rent him sore, and came out of him: and he was as one dead; insomuch that many said, He is dead.

But Jesus took him by the hand, and lifted him up; and he arose. (Mark 9: 2, 7, 9, 14, 16, 17, 22, 25-27.)

A certain music-hall manager made a firm rule that he would never see any one without an appointment.

A persistent applicant, who had tried all sorts of ways to get in to see the manager, thought he had found a way out of the difficulty. He sent in a note from the inquiry office, describing his turn and adding:

"I bet you a drink you don't see me."

In a few moments back came his note with these words scribbled on it:

"What'll you have?"

The drunk was crawling around on his hands and knees near a lamp-post at 2 a.m. Along came a policeman. The policeman bent over and tapped the inebriate on the shoulder.

"What are you looking for?" he inquired.

The drunk continued to crawl around.

"I'm looking for a friend of mine," he droned.

The policeman straightened up.

"Look here," he advised. "Why don't you stand up and look for your friend?"

The other shook his head.

"Afraid I'll miss him that way," he hiccoughed. "He's a bit shorter than I am!"

8 Canadians Killed In Pacific Typhoon

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 — (C P) — A Japanese radio announcement of typhoon destruction in January disclosed the presence of Canadian prisoners of war from Hong Kong in a prison camp at Niicata, a town on the north-west coast of Japan, a Wartime Information Board release said yesterday.

Official Canadian inquiries, following the broadcast, revealed that eight unidentified Canadians were killed in the typhoon and 21 were injured.

A neutral official visited the camp in May and found 13 Canadian NCO's, 112 privates, along with 215 Americans, 14 Netherlanders, and two Britons. The prisoners had arrived from Hong Kong on September 2, 1943, and from the Philippines on October 8, 1943

The camp is outside the danger zone, in a healthy district, and accomomdation, in wooden huts, was considered satisfactory, said the release.

Prisoners have only been allowed to write once since arrival, although theoretically they may send one letter and one postcard every four months. Three consignments of Red Cross parcels have bene delivered and an official source deported that clothing was adequate and the food much improved.

There is a medical oficer and a dentist, but no chaplain. A number of the prisoners were suffering from beri-beri, digestive troubles, dysentery, and respiratory diseases, although the medical officer said there had been considerable improvement in health since moving to the Niicata camp.

Only fit prisoners work, some of them in machine industries, others in factories and at the docks for which they receive a small remuneration.

Belfast Member Fined For Defrauding Army

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 24 —(CP) —The political future of William J. Stewart, 75 year old M.P. for South Belfast, is in question as a result of a £10,000 fine levied against the Conservative member following his conviction in Belfast court on a charge of conspiring to defraud the War Office in connection with army contracts.

A Northern Ireland legal authority said Mr. Stewart's right to sit in Westminsters is not affected for he was convicted only of a misdemeanor. The Speaker of the Commons will be notified and will inform the House after the recess.

Mr. Stewart is governing director of Stewart and Partners, Limited, a firm which grew from a modest beginning to a position of country-wide importance. Another of its directors, J. M. Reilly, was convicted with Mr. Stewart and fined £500.

Fleet Air Arm Not For Canada

OTTAWA, August 24 — (CP) — No steps have yet been taken to train an all-Canadian Fleet Air Arm, naval spokesman said yesterday commenting on a report from Kingston, Ont., that a flying school near there was to be used for such a purpose.

Canadians are training at Kingston, Pensacola, Fla., and other Royal Navy Fleet Arm stations, but on completion of their courses they will enter the Royal Navy and not the R.C.N., the spokesman added.

He added it was possible some might find their way to the flight decks of the two R.N. flattops whose sea-crews are all-Canadian.

"Our Fleet Air Arm development has gone no further than the blueprint," he said. "However, when we furnished sea crews for the two R.N. light carrers we were looking to the day when we would have flattops of our own."

Safe Robbed

KITCHENER, Aug. 24—(CP) — Safe crackers forced their way into the United Farmers' Co-operative creamery at Wingham sometime early this morning, pried open the safe and escaped with some $2,000 and a number of gas ration books.

Sgt. Harold Gall of Provincial Headquarters here, said sledges were used to hammer the combination dial from the safe. Crowbars were then brought into play to open the heavy safe.

Normal Graduate Killed Overseas

NAPANEE, Aug. 24 — (CP) —Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Purcell of Colebrook, Ont., have been officially advised that their son, Maj. George F. Purcell, Royal Canadian Artillery, was killed in action. He was previously reported missing on "D" Day and had seen action in North Africa and Italy before taking part in the invasion of France.

Born at Colebrook 33 years ago, Maj. Purcell later graduated from Napanee Collegiate and Peterborough Normal school. He taught school at Roblin, Ont., before enlisting in the artillery at Napanee in May, 1940. He served overseas for three years and had the rank of Lieutenant in the Frontenac Regiment prior to the outbreak of war.

His death is believed to mark the first commissioned officer from Lennox and Addington county to be killed in action while serving in the army ranks in this war. He is survived by his parents, a younger brother, John, and three sisters, Mrs. Donald Paul, Napanee, Mrs. Everett Price, Selby and Miss Mary Purcell at home.

Tea Ration Coupons Will Expire Aug. 31

OTTAWA, August 24 — (CP) — The Prices Board announced last night that tea or coffee ration coupons numbered 14 to 29 and E1 to E6 in ration book No. 3 will expire August 31 and that only those in ration book N. 4 numbered T-30 upward wil be valid beginning September 1.

It was learned the action was aimed at making ration banking easier for the trade and at eliminating old coupons which may be in the hands of consumers. Most consumers are using the coupons in book No. 4, but some have accumulated the older coupons.

Suppliers of tea and coffee are given an additional two weeks in which they may use any tea or coffee coupons numbered 14 to 29 and E1 to E6 to replace their stocks of tea or coffee and an additional week in which to deposit these to their ration coupon bank account or exchange them for a bank transfer voucher.

Nazi Murderers Are Wiped Out

By ROSS MUNRO,
Canadian Press Correspodent.

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 24 —(CP Cable) — The German S. S. Panzer division whose troops murdered 19 Canadian soldiers they had taken prisoner early in the campaign has been destroyed in the battle of the Normandy pocket.

A staff officer at Canadian Army Headquarters said "If the German 12th S. S. ever shows up again on a battlefront you can be quite sure it will be an entirely re-formed division bearing the same number and name as the one which has been eliminated."

The Canadians fought elements of the 12th S.S. in the battle leading to the capture of Falaise and then this division disappeared into the pocket along roads leading south from Trun, where the Germans suffered terrible casualties in trying to escape.

Koenig Expected To Go To Paris

LONDON, Aug. 24 —(AP) —Lt.-Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, military governor of Paris, is expected to go to the French capital to-morrow with his entire London staff and may join Gen. de Gaulle there.

At headquarters of Koenig, who also heads the French forces of the interior, it was said that no attempt would be made to move the full civilian governmental organization into the capital until the Germans are cleared from the whole Parisian area and the danger of a Germon return in force is passed.

Gen. De Gaulle is expected to bring the French Committee of National Liberation from Algiers to Paris as soon as military and economic conditions permit.

Quarter-Finals Reached In Quebec Tennis

MONTREAL, Aug. 24 (CP)—Ronald Raymond of Montreal, Yvon Gauthier of Quebec and Bob Duforo and Paul Ollivier of Ottawa survived the quarter-finals of the junior men's singles in the Province of Quebec junior boys and girls tennis championships yesterday and will be matched in the semi-finals which start today.

Raymond defeated Yves Sarra-Bournet of Ottawa yesterday 6-3, 6-1; Duford turned back Gilles Trahan of Montreal, 6-1, 4-6 and 6-1; Gauthier defeated Frank Kaszas of Ottawa 6-1, 8-6, and Ollivier defeated Redmond Quain of Ottawa 4-6 9-7 and 7-5.

In the boys' singles, Gilbert Jolicoeur of Ottawa defeated Roland Lamothe of Montreal 6-2, 6-1, to enter the semi-final and Raymond Laroche of Quebec defeated Yvon Belle Isle of Montreal 6-4, 6-0. Gerard Cadieux of Valleyfield, Que., upset Hammie Quain of Ottawa, 7-5, 6-4 while Colin Masse scored a 6-2, 6-1 victory over Henri Dessaulles of Montreal.

Janet Rutherford of Ottawa won over Dorothy O'Brien of Ottawa in the quarter finals of the junior women's singles scoring 4-6, 6-4 and 6-2, while Joscelyn Shaw of Ottawa was eliminated in the semi-final of the girls' singles by Carmel Branswell of Montreal, 6-2, 6-2.

Trenton R.C.A.F. came out on top 6-1 on the Nathanson diamond yesterday when they took Mountain View Bombers into camp in the first baseball playdown fixture leading to the championship of No. 1 Training Command. Trenton won the honors last year.

The Colonel's Lady, owned by H. G. Johnston, Charlotte, N.C., yesterday equalled her season's record of 2:06¼ in the Grand Circuit racing at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. She broke in the second heat, however, to finish last. Frascota, from Goshen, won the event.

The Los Angeles Angels walloped the Hollywood Stars 16-12 yesterday in a baseball slugging spree that produced eight home runs by eight different hitters and just one under the Pacific Coast League record. Hollywood made five of the homers, three in one inning.

With a 5-1 victory over Kitchener at Guelph last night, Guelph remained in the running for the Inter-County Bantam Baseball honors. Bob Rothmel pitched three-hit ball for the winners in a game that was finished in 65 minutes.

The 1943 pennant of the International League, won by Toronto Leafs, is to be displayed at Maple Leaf Stadium for the first time. In a ceremony before tonight's game the flag is to be raised on the official pole back of centrefield, with League President Frank Shaughnessy officiating.

3 Pro Golfers May Top Snead

CHICAGO, Aug. 24 (AP)— That all-time record take of $19,600 by Slammin' Sammy Snead, along professional golf's money circuit in 1938 may be topped in the 72-hole All-American Open starting Thursday at Tam O'Shanter.

Three favorites in George S. May's golf extravaganza — Harold (Jug) McSpaden, the defending champion and top money winner of 1944; Bryon Nelson and Sammy Byrd— are within striking distance of the long-hitting Snead's financial success of six years ago.

McSpadden, the smooth-swinging Philadelphia pro. has collected $21,600 in war bonds this season—with a cash value of $16,200.

Nelson, a hot choice for the 1944 Tam O'Shanter crown which carries $10,000 ((cash value) in first prize money—highest purse in golf history— is only $600 behind his rival, McSpaden, for their links income this year.

Byrd, the tremendous hitter who deserted professional baseball for golf and has picked up bonds with a cash value of $10,500 this season, must win the open here to pass Slammin' Sammy, now in the Navy, but those "Gold Dust Twins"—McSpaden and Nelson — could pass Snead by taking the $2.750 cash third prize.

Ferenc Puncec, a sturdy Yugoslav, pulled the Davis Cup upset of the year by handing a four-set walloping to Autsralia's top-ranking Jack Bromwich five years ago today. Displaying brilliant tennis, Puncec ran up a 6-2, 8-6, 0-6 6-2 victory before 200 spectators at Philadelphia in the interzone finals, won by Australia.

Third Playoff Promises Action

Interesting softball action is on the sports menu for tonight in the Girls' Softball loop, with those two rival contenders for the Senior Ladies' Championship — Westclox and Aircraft, meeting for the third game of the play-off series at Ashburnham Bowl. Tuesday, the game was called on account of darkness in the seventh inning, when the tilt had been thrown into a 4-all deadlock. The fact that Aircraft, which lost the first two games of the series, managed to hold the Clockmakers to a tie, indicates some mighty hot softball goings-on at the Bowl tonight.

Another game Friday evening is scheduled; If Westclox takes the next two games, that is, tonight and Friday night, the series will be over. But an Aircraft win on either night, will make necessary a Saturday afternoon tilt. If Aircraft should take the next 2 games, an extra game Saturday evening will have to be played to decide the winner.

Both teams are anxious to cop tonight's game; Aircraft would dearly love to upset the Westclox dream-boat, and on the other hand, Westclox is supremely confident the series will be all over Friday evening.

World-Famous Police Dog Here Labor Day

Duke, the world-famous Royal Canadian Mounted Police dog, will be one of the headliner attractions at the mammoth Labor Day celebration being planned by various Peterborough service clubs and the businessmen's organizations at Riverside Park on September 4. The committee in charge of the program is still negotiating for a helicopter, a type of aircraft that many people predict will be a main transportation vehicle after the war.

A full schedule of sports, contests, draws, amusements and entertainment is being planned, and planes from Malton, Toronto, Camp Borden, Trenton ill fly over during the afternoon, if the weather permits. During the evening a radio show will be broadcast from a stage.

Labor Day has always been a big day in Canadian life, and this year Peterborough people will have the privilege of atending what should be the biggest celebration yet. A double-header ball game, featuring Peterborough players and visitors, a beauty contest to pick out the coming pin-up girls, swimming exhibitions, and draws for valuable electrical appliances will be featured, and of course there will be races for all ages, including novelty races.

The folloing is the program arranged to date:

Draw for $10.00 gate prize (winner must be on grounds).

Races, girls and boys, 14 years of age and under.

Swimming exhibition, Y.W.C.A. girls.

Best red head boy or girl, 15 and under.

Prize largest family (since September 4, 1934) on the grounds.

Toronto Simpsons vs. Peterborough, softball game.

Toronto Bowsers vs. Peterborough softball game.

Swimming exhibition, Y.W.C.A. girls.

Program on platform in Bowl — Beauty contest (Peterborough's future pin-up girl), two sections—9, 10, 11, 12 years; 13, 14, 15 years.

Sing-song.

Broadcast from platform.

Bingo and games.

Maybe they're telling him the Browns are a cinch to win the American League pennant race which they lead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP)—Coach Howie Odell of Yale says he likes all the football rules changes adopted by the eastern group except allowing the boys to run with recovered fumbles....Howe thinks that leaves too much to chance and the better team might lose....Isn't that what started most of the recent rules trouble? The coaches didn't want to take chances on losing through a fumble or a runback of a kickoff and eliminated a lot of the thrills the cash customers want....

Rugby Styles Change Again

DETROIT, Aug. 24 — (AP) — Football's veteran coach Charles E. (Gus) Dorais, starting his second season at the helm of the National Pro League Detroit Lions after 27 years as a collegiate mentor, came up today with an observation that styles of play in football return in cycles like feminine fashions.

Dorias, who as Notre Dame quarterback more than 30 years ago paired with end Knute Rockne to form the game's first successful forward passing combination, was referring specifically to the "T" formation, which pre-season press notices indicate will be employed almost universally this fall.

The "T" formation, without its modern versatility, was a standard offence in 1910 and 1911, Dorais' first seasons at Notre Dame, he recalled.

Later offensive departures, specifically the Warner wing-back system behind an unbalanced line, followed by the Notre Dame system with its balanced line, each was widely copied for a time.

"Now we're back to the 'T' again, this time with the increased potency of men-in-motion, flankers and wide ends," Dorais points out. "Its popularity will continue until constant scrimmage against it develops defensive measures to limit its effectiveness."

Plazas Journey To Trenton

Last night's rain caused the Trenton-Plazas game to be called off and the contest will be played Saturday night. The Trenton team arrived for the game, having left while the weather was clear.

Plazas will go to Trenton tomorrow night for the first game of the series. Although the O.A.S.A. rules call for a postponed game to be played within 24 hours Trenton could not make the trip for a game here tonight and Convener Dave Leether set Saturday for the game here.

Saturday night's contest has been called for 6:00 o'clock and will be played at Riverside Park.

New York — Harold Green 149, New York, won by technical knock-out from Al Evans, 152½, Newport, R.I. (4).

St. Louis Cards Jinx Chicago Cubs

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

It's no disgrace to lose to St. Louis Cardinals this year but Chicago Cubs threaten to make a life's work out of the habit.

After bowing 11 times in a row when they were lowly cellarites, the Bruins tangled ith the Red Birds last night for the first time since they attained their lofty but unsteady perch in the first division.

The result was the same. Twelve straight defeats have been inflicted upon the Chicago team by their St. Louis sparring partners who have showed no signs of stopping.

Never in the history of the major leagues has one team swept an entire season series from a rival. New York Yankees of 1927 came the closest when they slaughtered St. Louis Browns 21 times before bowing 6-2 on Sept. 11 in their last meeting of the year.

Charley Grimm's Cubs have 10 more chances to keep their names out of the record books as the only club to go through an entire season without beating all of their rivals at least once.

The Cooper Boys teamed up on Chicago last night, Morton coasting to his 18th win 11-1, and Walker driving in three runs with three singles and his ninth home run. It was the fifth straight for Mort but oddly enough his first over the Cubs.

St. Louis hit a new season high with a winning percentage of .750 by their latest success.

League Leaders Reach Crisis

By The Associated Press

The hottest International League pennant race in years comes to a head to-night when the league-leading Newark Bears clash with the second place Baltimore Orioles at Baltimore.

Either team is in a position to deal a fatal blow to the other, with the Orioles half a game and only three percentage points from the top. Both managers, Billy Meyer of Newark and Tommy Thomas of Baltimore, will throw their ace pitchers in an attempt to effect a clean sweep of the series.

Frank Hiller, a 13 game winner, Floyd Bevins with 11, and Ken Holcombe with 14 are sure to see action. The Birds can counter with big Red Embree, 16 game winner and league strikeout king, Bobo Palica with 12 wins, no-hit Stan West with 12 and Sam Lowry with 11.

If either team makes a sweep of the four games, it may well prove to be the clincher for the flag.

There was no action last night as Baltimore at Syracuse and Montreal at Buffalo were rained out, the other clubs were unscheduled.

Match Play May Be Dropped

SPOKANE, Wash. Aug. 24 (AP)—Has the annual Professional Golfers' Association championship been held on a match-play basis for the last time? Will the pros switch their private links party — only members in good standing play in this big one—over to a 72-hole medal play tournament, like the United States and Canadian Open?

The answers to these questions haven't been framed yet, but the answer may be 'yes" when members of the P.G.A. executive committee get into their yearly huddle. There is one player in particular who would like to see match-play competition dumped out of the tournament.

His name is Byron Nelson. He's the man from Toledo, Ohio, who was beaten one up here a few days ago by Bob Hamilton, Evansville, Ind., in the 36-hole finals of the 1944 championship. Nelson didn't air his opinion on the respective merits of match play and medal play publicly or loudly or bitterly. He merely confided: "Match play is not a true test of golf. I'm in favor of changing the championship to a medal-play event.

He's not alone, either. You can write down the same sentiments for Craig Wood, United States Open champion, and Ed Dudley, president of the P.G.A. and other top ranking golfers.

TORONTO, August 24 — (CP).— One thing the country needs almost as much as the traditional good five-cent cigar is more of the same program handed out at a special course at University of Western Ontario in London. Aside from the benefit the teachers themselves get out of the course that schools them in the fundamentals of various major sports, their pupils also stand to benefit when they go back to their classes this fall.

Too often teachers are turned out of the Normal Colleges and the schools, and expected to carry on physical instruction classes, knowing a bit about "physical jerks," but all too little about actual games to help out their students.

The plan could be broadened still more, after the war possibly, when returned athletes not only could be used as instructors for these special courses, but also given jobs as travelling coaches circulating about the various schools and giving the youngsters needed pointers. That would be about as valuable a bit of physical rehabilitation as could be thought of.

Incidentally:

Two members of former Winnipeg Blue Bombers crack football squads became proud fathers recently. Lieut. Bud Marquardt of the U S. Army drew a son, while it was a girl for Capt Bill Boivins ....Regina's Al Ritchie is doubtful of footbal prospects in the Saskatchewan capital this fall. He told Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning he had some good material lined up, but most of it was in the armed services, and he couldn't touch it under the new Ottawa services sports order. Manning didn't give him much sympathy, however, opining that was Regina's usual trick —pretending pre-season weakness to lull the 'Peggers into false security.

Boes Captures Manitoba Cup

WINNIPEG, Aug. 24 (CP)—Allan Boes yesterday added the Manitoba Open Golf championship to the Provincial Amateur crown he captured a few weeks ago making a grand slam of Manitoba golf for the second successive year.

The Winnipeg golfer made the morning round in two-under-par 70 and took a 73 on the way home to lead one of the smallest but toughest fields over the 36-hole route. The medal play tournament was played at Southwood Country Club here.

Lieut. Howard Bennett of Winnipeg carded a 144 and Harold Eidsvig of Pine Ridge finished third with 146.

Golfing Galaxy Starts Firing For Big Money

CHICAGO, Aug. 24 (AP)—Golfdom's giddiest whirl, with some of the confusion eliminated by three days of qualifying rounds, gets under way over the 72-hole medal-play route Thursday as George S. May presents his three-ply woman-amateur-pro all-American race for $42,500 over Tam O'Shanter's rolling terrain.

Twenty-six Simon Pures, survivors of a starting field of 384, along with 28 women from an original 49, and 100 of 240 professional entrants, were still in there ready to pitch and putt for the lucre.

Most of the "good ones" did not appear in the qualifying tests, being exempt along witih an unknown number of servicemen under the rules set up for the seven-day merry-go-round which permits the stars to go directly into competition. All the hot-shots will be in the field, with Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, and Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Philadelphia favored in the professional race, which will net the winner some $13,462.50—a sum which no golfer has ever taken from a single tournament up to now.

McSpaden and Nelson in a practice warm-up Wednesday beat Bob Hamilton, new P.G.A. champion, and Sam Byrd by three strokes in a 72-hole match, each of the favorites being one under par, as was Byrd.

Pair of 68's Best

The best the pro's could do was a pair of 68's, turned in by Henry E. Williams of Royersford, Penn., and Claude Harmon of Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., each of whom ripped two strokes off par on each half of the course.

Their scores, however, were still one over the brilliant 67 with which Ed Furgol, Detroit public linkster, paced the amateur field Monday. While the amateur needed scores of 75 or better to get into the title play, 77 was good enough to get into the professional fold.

Darkness halted the qualifier with a half-dozen players still on the course, but only Ray Mangrum of Los Angeles and Eddie Held of St Louis had much chance to break into the select fold when they finish today.

Only five players of the big field were able to break par, Bud Williamson of Lincoln, Neb., getting a 70, and Chick Rutan of Birmingham, Mich., and Steve Kovach of Tarentum, Pa., making his first start as a professional, getting 71 each Six others matched the card.

Lieut. Patty Berg of Minneapolis, Minn., and the marines is the No 1 choice in the women's field, being picked to retain her crown, although Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Texas, led the feminine qualifiers with 79. Patty was exempted from the qualifier.

Defending the amateur laurels is Dale Morey of Indianapolis, Ind., but he has a classy field opposing him, with Furgol tagged as the top-drawer threat.

Wednesday's professional field was drawn from 29 States and Hawaii. Paul Sparks of Indianapolis and Jim Frisina of Taylorville, Ill., were the only amateurs to crash the ranks of the professionals in the qualifying round, Sparks' 74 landing him comfortably in the title round, while Frisina squeezed in with a 77.

Bob Gray, Bob Burns, Bill Kerr and Dick Borthwick, Toronto's four delegates to the big Chicago money event, were among those privileged to waive on Wednesday's qualifying test.

So makers of the cowboy sagas are arranging their own awards and instead of an "Oscar"—which is what Hollywood calls the gold statuette—they'll award a miniature bucking broncho.

Jimmy Durante got a kick out of a letter from some airmen. It seemed they painted Jimmy's famed nose on the side of their plane and flew into action. Every inch of the machine was riddled with bullets and flak but Jimmy's nose. . . Ward Bond, who played John L. Sullivan in "Gentleman Jim," was struck by an auto. He wants $100,000 damages, claiming he is crippled for life. . . . Sound saying: "If you must drink, one is all right, two's too many, three's not enough". . . . The brother of Rise Stevens was killed in the Normandy invasion . . . Another of those old-time films will be "A Night at Tony Pastor's" to star Ann Sheridan . . . In "Tall in the Saddle" John Wayne says "Reckon I'm kinda word thrifty." He filled in a studio questionnaire recently which asked him to state the habit he'd like to cure. "Talk too much," he wrote . . . Don't Hollywood he-men ever win an off-screen fight? First it was Errol Flynn who took a licking and now it's Jon Hall . . . Teresa Wright will be back in films in "Home Front."

Signals Group Dominates Meet

CORNWALL, Aug. 24—(CP).—A team representing Canadian Signals Training Centre of Kingston, Ont., ran up a 100-point total yesterday to win top honors at the second annual track and field meet for army personnel of Military District No. 3, Kingston.

Second place went to A36 Radar Training Centre, Kingston, with 50½ points, while the Officers' Training Centre of Brockville, Ont., captured third position with 45. In fourth place with 43½ points was A21 Ordnance Corps and Electrical and Mechanical Engineering Training Centre of Kingston, while No. 36 Basic Training Centre of Cornwall was fifth with 29.

Nearly 2,000 persons saw the meet, in which more than 200 service athletes took part. After the contests, individual winners were called to a dais and received prizes from Brig. Logie F. Armstrong, district officer commanding.

Plebiscite Wins Handicap At Belmont Park

BELMONT PARK, N.Y., August 24 — (AP). — Plebiscite, a sturdy, fleet chestnut son of Questionnaire which races for G. D. Widener, carried top weight of 125 pounds to a driving one-length triumph in the 42nd Albany Handicap before 22,723 admiring fans here Thursday afternoon.

A $3.70 favorite in the field of seven smart juveniles, the good-looking colt earned $7,850 by covering six furlongs of the straightaway in the impressive time of 1:11 1-5, giving Jockey Longden a double. Henry Lustigs lightly backed Bill Hardey outlasted Pentagon Staple's The Doge by a head for the place, with Esteem fourth in front of Stage Fire, Guam and Antelope.

W. M. Jefford's Eastern champion, Pavot, sat this out, but even as an absentee he gained more prestige, for he had led Plebiscite home by plenty of daylight in the recent Saratoga Special.. But for that setback the Widener youngster would have been recording his fourth straight triumph yesterday, he having scored two in a row prior to hooking up with Pavot. Plebiscite now has started seven times, winning four.

There were two withdrawals from the Albany— Bill Corum, a stablemate of Bill Hardey, and Fighting Don, a fast fellow which recently recovered from a case of sore shins.

Breaking alertly, Plebiscite forged ahead, but never could get comfortably clear. The Doge stayed right alongside, while Stage Fire and then Bill Hardey also figured in the close battle for command. In the Special, Plebiscite had raced in such manner with Pavot before the latter pulled away in the late stages. But there was no Pavot around yesterday, and the Widenerite finally drew off as Bill Hardey barely gained a photo verdict over The Doge. Esteem finished more than a length further behind.

Fires Shotgun At Burglars Kills Soldier

LOST RIVER, QUE., Aug. 24 — According to his alleged sworn declaration, Ernest Edwin Brunelle, 60, owner of the small hotel in this little community, thought he was dealing with burglars when he fired the shot from his shotgun that resulted in the death of L. Cpl. Hugh Miller, 31, Dieppe veteran, last Friday night on the road in front of the Brunelle hotel.

The declaration was produced at the inquest here Wednesray afternoon by Louis Jargaille, deputy commissioner of Provincial Police, shortly before Brunelle was held criminally responsible by the coroner's jury for the death of Miller.

Brunelle will be arraigned this morning at St. Jerome, Que., but the nature of the charge has not yet been decided. Herman Barette, crown prosecutor of St. Jerome, stated that he intended to contact the Attorney-General's Department in Quebec for advice.

Heard Noise

In the declarations read by Chief Jargaille in French, and translated into English by Sgt.-Det. Lucien Durocher for the benefit of the English-speaking jury, Brunelle allegedly stated that he was in bed Friday night when he heard a racket in front of his hotel and he heard somebody knocking on the gasoline pumps in front of the store operated by his daughter across the road. He said he thought somebody was trying to break in.

Somebody on the road below in the dark, he said, started shouting at him and throwing rocks and gravel at the hotel while calling him various vile names.

Intended to Frighten

Brunelle said, according to the declaration, that he got his single shotgun for which he has a permit, went into the basement of the hotel, proceeded to the front and fired a single shot through the basement window and the lattice-work which covers the space underneath the veranda. He said, according to the declaration, that he fired upward intending to frighten whoever was causing the commotion in front of the hotel.

All was quiet for a few moments after he fired the shot, the alleged declaration stated, and he thought the disturbers had gone. So he went back to bed. A few minutes later he said he heard a man out front saying, "Come on, get up," and shortly after that he said he heard a child crying on the roadway outside, but a car had gone into the ditch a short time before and he believed the child had been in that car.

The child in question was the 10-year-old blond, blue-eyed daughter of Hugh Miller, who told at the inquest how she watched her father die on the roadway while her mother washed the blood away from his face with water she and her mother had secured from a near-by house.

Chief Jargaille declared that the declaration was given voluntarily by Brunelle on Tuesday at 11.55 p.m. He said that Sergt.-Detective Lucien Durocher and Maurice Valiquette were present as Brunelle made the alleged sworn statement and it was taken down word for word. He said Brunelle was given the usual legal warning before he made his statement. The two detectives corroborated.

Gromyko, and U.S. Under Secretary of State Edward Stattinius, head of the American delegation.

New Gold Rush Near Kirkland

TORONTO, Aug. 24—Canada's newest gold rush is occurring within 50 miles of one of the country's oldest and richest camps according to information brought to the attention of the Ontario Department of Mines yesterday.

The new find was made 10 days ago by Felix Roche in Midlothian Township, some 50 miles southwest of the Kirkland Lake gold camp, and surface samples are reported to carry coarse gold.

Although no official word of the find had been made public until yesterday afternoon, the snowshow telegraph, that very efficient means of communication which operates among prospectors, has resulted in a rush to the area and it is believed new staking records will be chalked up.

Although little is known of the geology at the moment, the theory has been advanced by some prospectors and geologists that the rocks in Midlothian Township have all the characteristics of those found in the Larder Lake area. They assume, therefore, that this could be a continuation of the Kirkland-Larder break.

Requests for blueprints of the township of Midlothian as well as maps covering the area have poured into the Ontario Department of Mines and a greater influx of prospectors into the new territory is anticipated.

PENDLEBURY, England — (CP) — About 100 persons were injured slightly when a British plane crashed on a river bank beside this Manchester-district town. Casualties would have been greater had the crew, all of whom were killed, not remained with the plane and guided it beyond the town itself.

Railways Face Anti-Trust Suit

WASHINGTON, August 24—(AP) —The United States Justice Department announced yesterday it has filed an anti-trust suit in Lincoln, Neb., against the Association of American Railroads, the Western Association of Railway Executives, J. P. Morgan & Company, Kuhn, Loeb & Company, and 47 individual railroads.

Also named as defendants are the officers and directors of the Association of American Railroads, top executives of the 47 railroads named, and 31 other individuals.

Attorney-General Francis Biddle announced through his Washington office that the complaint "charges that a combination of private financial, industrial and railroad interests have acted collusively to maintain non-competitive rates for transportation and to prevent and retard improvements in the services and facilities of railroads for the western part of the United States."

The complaint asks the court to dissolve the Association of American roalroads—representing 85 per cent of the country principal steam rail lines—and of the Western Association of Railway Executives, an organization of Western systems.

Libel, Slander To Be Discussed

TORONTO, Aug. 24 —(CP) —The Canadian Bar Association on uniformity of law will discuss a proposal at a meeting opening tomorrow in Niagara Falls for elimination of the distinction between libel and slander in criminal law. It was learned to-day. Attorney-General Blackwell and other officials will represent Ontario at the meeting which will also be attended by Attorneys-General from several other Provinces.

The proposal was said here to have arisen through the use of radio and a contention by some Provinces that statements made on the radio were libel rathen than slander.

Chest Clinic Reports T.B. Low In Havelock

HAVELOCK, Aug. 24 — (ENS) — Dr. G. G. Brearley of Belleville, who is in charge of the Government Free Chest Clinic sponsored by the Ontario Division Tuberculosis Prevention Department of Health, held in the town hall here this week, stated that Havelock has a good record being very free of this type of disease.

Dr. Brearley has been conducting clinics of this nature since 1935 and at that time one person out of twenty were sent to the sanitorium. Now, through the activities and educational programs of these travelling clinics the ratio has been reduced to one in eighty to a hundred persons. About fifty people were on the list for examination from Norwood, Havelock and district.

Japanese Minister Steals Nazi Theme

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 —(AP) — Japan's foreign minister, Mamoru Shigemitsu, falling back on a familiar Nazi propaganda stratagem, has called on East Asia's subjugated peoples to support a "war of life or death" against Allied forces pressing in from every direction.

With crushing defeats in the Marianas and New Guinea, plus hard blows from submarines and superfortresses, to prompt him, Shigemitsu broadcast yesterday that "For East Asia this is a war of life or death which we are compelled to fight for our own existence and independence."

Brig. Leslie Booth Killed In Action

PENETANGUISHENE, Aug. 24 — (CP).—Brig. Eric Leslie Booth, D.S.O. and bar, has been officially reported killed in France, his widow has been advised. He had previously been reported wounded and missing in action.

Brig. Booth won the D.S.O. in the Sicilian campaign and received the bar while commanding a Canadian armored unit at Ortona. He captured the only Italian divisional general taken during the Sicilian campaign.

A member of the Mississauga Horse Regiment before the war, he enlisted in the Hamilton Dragoons at the outbreak of the war and went overseas with the 1st Hussars of London, Ont. He served with the 17th Lancers in North Africa before taking part with Canadian forces in the Sicilian and Italian campaigns.

Leo Emery who appeared in police court recently was not connected in anyway with a liquor case as the heading on the police court article may have inferred. Emery was charged with creating a disturbance and liquor had nothing whatever to do with the case.

BLOOD DONORS.

The Blood Donors Clinic was visited by 68 contributors on Wednesday, 27 of them from the C.G.E.-Genelco, and other employees representing Quaker Oats, De Laval, Peterborough Lock, Outboard Marine, J. J. Turner, and the Brinton Carpet Co. Donors were in from Buckhorn, Indian River, Lily Lake, Havelock, and Lakefield. Robert Porter and George Burns both made their tenth donations.

FIRE REPORT.

An alarm caused by overheated pipes took firemen to 281 Perry Street, the residence of B. Livingstone, at 6:45 this morning, and damage of between $5 and $10 was caused when a pipe went through the ceiling. Wednesday at noon a grass fire as reported burning in the vicinity of Mount St. Joseph, but when the fire truck went out in answer to the call, it was found that the fire was well outside the city limits and the truck was recalled. Fire thought to have got its start from children playing with matches caused slight damage to a shed in back of the residence of S. Sullivan, 419 Downie Street, at 12.55 p.m. yesterday.

PRIZE CATCH

A 30 lb. maskinonge was the thrilling reward of an evening's fishing expedition on the water of Buckhorn Lake for James Herron, 575 Stewart Street, Wednesday night. His mammoth catch, which required only 20 minutes to bring in, measured 48 inches and was 21 inches around in girth. Mr. Herron hooked the muskie with a Lucky Strike submarine minnow. Frank Hughes was with him when he made the catch.

BANK CLEARINGS

Clearings through the Peterborough Clearing House during the past week ending today amounted to $1,079,967.

NATURE'S ODDITIES.

So the Examiner's front window is taking on the appearance of a vegetable store, what with tomatoes and cucumbers arranged in varying degrees of sizes and shapes. One man, somewhat on the witty side, as heard to comment on Tuesday: "All they need now is a cucumber shaped like a pear, and a bean-pod as big as that cucumber."

GAS STOVE EXPLODES

When a gas-burning stove exploded in her home, Mrs. J. Bell, Cambridge street, Lindsay, received severe burns to the arms, face and throat. Picking up the flaming stove Mrs. Bell rushed to the door to throw it out, but in attempting to do so, fell on the steps, causing a bad cut on the leg, and more serious burns.

NO SPACE

The shortage of rooming and boarding houses is just as acute in Lindsay as elsewhere, and Principal G. W. Keith, of Lindsay Collegiate, has pointed out to students in that district that if they intend to remain in Lindsay during the term, they had better make arrangements for living accommodation immediately. As far as is known, all schools in Lindsay will re-open Sept. 15.

PROMOTED

The son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Brenton, Omemee, Kenneth S. Brenton, R.C.A.F., was recently promoted to the rank of Flying OOfficer, while serving overseas, word reaching his parents reveals. He enlisted in November 1942, and graduated as a navigator at Malton one year later. He went overseas in March of this year, and has since been taking an advanced course in navigation. The young flyer completed his high school education at Peterborough Collegiate, and at the time of his enlistment in the air force, was attending Victoria College, in Toronto.

EXPECT LARGE CROWD

Up to the present time, approximately 250 people are expected to attend the dinner at the Genelco cafeteria at 6:30 this evening, being held to discuss plans for the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre.

Gladiolus Show Nets Fund $140 30th Donation Cabled London

Riding in the van of achievement towards the approaching day of total victory for the Allied cause, the citizens of Peterborough and District today added another notch in their roll of deeds actually consummated for the war effort, when the secretary of the city and district's own British War Victims' Fund for the 30th time, cabled the usual donation of £500 to the Lord Mayor of London, to stretch out a further helping hand to assist in healing their wounds and material losses in the most practical way possible.

Following the usual custom, this money was cabled through the Canadian Bank of Commerce, accompanied by a cable message under the name of His Worship Mayor Hamilton, and it should reach Sir Frank Newson-Smith this Friday morning, to make a total of $17,700 that has now gone forward from this city and district since the fund commenced operations on Dec. 5, 1940.

In the years that lie ahead, this particular part of the city and district's war effort, will ever stand as a memorial to what the people on the home front contributed towards sustaining those who had suffered in the front line of air raid and robot bomb attacks in the British Isles.

Show Proceeds Complete Amount

The final amount needed to complete this latest gift, came as a result of the returns from the Show held jointly by the Eastern Ontario Gladiolus Society and the Peterborough Aquarium Society on August 16 and 17, which in all netted the fund the nice sum of $140.46, to which may be added the sum of $2.90 deposited in a penny box by some of those in attendance.

The gross returns were $154.85, of which $133.75 came from the sale of draw tickets which also gave admission to the show, in addition to which the sum of $20.10 was realized from the sale of flowers at the close of the show, and a $1 donation to be included in the returns from the show was given by a neighbor of the secretary of the fund.

Incidental expenses amounted to $15.39, making a net return as noted above, largely made possible through both of the societies concerned paying all their own expenses, coupled with donations of draw prizes donated by W. E. Franks Furniture store, the ladies of the Eastern Ontario Gladiolus Society, the W. M. German Nurseries, Canada Packers Ltd., Fred A. Cripps, R. C. Braund, Grocer, Howard Hall, H. S. Routley China Shop, Nesbitt Funeral Co. and N. T. Routly Grocery Store.

Splendid co-operation was evidenced by Harold Ball and Clarence Bacon, presidents of the E.O.G.S. and the P.A.S. respectively and the members of both societies, and versatile Andy Rutter and Jim Wharry gave their services in the sale of gladiolus, in which connection the initiative of the former found expression in having a display of these beautiful flowers taken to the corner of George and Charlotte streets in order to attract more buyers to the scene.

Alderman Floyd Curtis was in attendance on the evening of the first day of the show to make the draw for the prizes of that day, winners of which have already been announced, and further accentuation of the civic interest was afforded through His Worship the Mayor's presence on the second evening for the same purpose, which gave the 1st prize to R. Mock, R.R. No. 6, Peterborough, 2nd prize to Fred Storey of 130 Maria street, 3rd prize to Ron McCarthy of 116 Maria street, 4th prize to Edith Benton, 534 Harvey street, and 5th prize to Mrs. M. S. Jones of R.R. No. 6, Peterborough.

The draw for the aquarium fully planted and inhabited by tropical fish so kindly donated by the Peterborough Aquarium Society as a door prize, was also made by His Worship Mayor Hamilton, and this was won by Mrs. J. Marsh, who held ticket No. 889, the one drawn from the hat at that time.

Had more people fully realized how beautiful this show was, it would be very safe to assume that a much larger attendance would have been present to support the efforts of the two societies, and reports received from some of those present would indicate that when the time rolls around for the third annual show to appear, this present effort will much further stimulate the interest in their work.

VOL. XC No. 202 THURSDAY, AUGUST 24, 1944 PAGE NINE

FOUR BROTHERS IN CANADIAN NAVY—Mr. and Mrs. George Richmond, St. Mary's street, have four sons serving in the Canadian Navy. AB. Harry George Richmond (Outer Left) has been serving for three years and has moved around serving on destroyers and corvettes. He is now with H.M.C.S. Shawinigan. His wife lives in Halifax. Stoker 2 William Allan Richmond (Left) enlisted in June of this year and is now at H.M.C.S. Cornwallis. Stoker 1 Harold A. Richmond (Right) enlisted the same time as his brother William, and is now at Quebec. His wife lives on Auburn street. The fourth brother, AB. Donald Richmond (Outer Right) enlisted four years ago and is a Commando. He is stationed in Western Canada and his wife lives at Sherbrooke place. All four were formerly employed at the C.G.E.

Price Controls Advocated After War Ends

William C. Grant, barrister, expressed to the Examiner this morning the opinion and the hope that the system of price controls would be continued into the post-war period until conditions of supply had become re-established.

"I expect that there will be a growing demand from various quarters that the policy of control be abandoned," Mr. Grant said. "Some irritations have been caused by the application of this system under the abnormal circumstances of prosecuting the war to victory, but it seems to me that this feeling has arisen more from administration of control rather than by the system itself.

Personally, I consider that wartime price controls have been a good thing for the people and if they would only think seriously about what they have gained from this system I feel convinced that the public generally would be the last to assent to lifting control and returning business to the conditions of supply and demand."

To Aid Soldiers.

Mr. Grant said he was thinking especially of the interests of the men who had won the war, airmen, soldiers and sailors, and who would be returning to their homes and to civilian life. They would receive war service gratuities and would naturally have various things to buy; some of them, no doubt, desiring to establish themselves and their families in new homes.

Canada had been so long at war through all its means of production that a vast pool of needs of civilian goods had accumulated, and demand would far outstrip supply for a considerable time into the post-war period. Lift controls, Mr. Grant said, and obviously prices would quickly soar with the rush of buying, and among the victims of that condition, Mr. Grant said, would be the returned men and women.

"No one wants to see that happen," Mr. Grant said. "We are hoping for an extended period of stability that will give everybody a chance to get settled down again, and especially the men and women who are coming back to us and to whom we owe so much.

The people at home must realize what the system of price control has accomplished, and they are the ones who should take a stand for the continuation of this system if any proposals are heard to abandon it, at least until we have got settled down again in an atmostphere of peace."

SERVING OVERSEAS — Gnr. Cyril Thompson, son of Cpl. William Thompson and Mrs. Thompson, St. Mary's street, is serving overseas. He worked at the C.G.E. before enlisting in April, 1943. His father is with the Veterans' Guard at Petawawa and a brother, William, is with the R.C.A.F. at Ottawa.

CASUALTY IN FRANCE—Pte. Claude B. McArthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McArthur, Belmont township, is reported to have been dangerously wounded. He is serving with the South Saskatchewan Regiment.

Bible School Operates Reduce Delinquency

A Daily Vacation Bible School for Children, inaugurated this week at the Pentecostal Church, 370 Water street, has attracted a great many youngsters to attend its classes of singing, scripture memorizing, art and craft work. The school, which will continue for a period of two weeks, was opened Monday.

Started in the belief that such a program was a vital need in helping to combat juvenile delinquency, the Vacation Bible School is under the direction of John McAllister, assisted by a group of local youth workers. The school opens each morning with a devotional period, followed by memorizing of scripture passages, which are portrayed in picture form part by part to fix them firmly in the children's minds.

A variety of lively choruses are sung, and then a work period follows, varying from crayon work in the primer and junior departments to useful crafts, including woodwork, for the senior boys. Work books are provided, scores kept, and exams will be held before the close of the school.

Robert Douglas Kent Severely Wounded

Mr. and Mrs. George Kent, 386 Murray street, have been informed tha their son, Pte. Robert Douglas Kent, was severely wounded in action August 15, and the telegram described his injuries as bullet wounds in the left arm.

Pte. Kent is believed to have been serving with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders at the time he was wounded. Formerly employed at the Raybestos, he went overseas about a year ago, and his letters in the last three weeks have indicated that the fighting was extremely heavy.

Brockville Police Send $1,869 For Plane

As treasurer of the Canadian Police Spitfire Fund, Inspector James Reid has received a cheque for $1,568.41 from Chief Constable F. W. Young of Brockville. This substantial amount was the proceeds from a dance at Brockville arranged by city and county police together with representatives of Provincial and railway police.

Another cheque for $25 is a contribution from Peterborough Workers and Unemployed who have been supporting the fund for three years.

"Our total now is $22,350," Inspector Reid reported this morning. "We are on our third Spitfire and need $25,000 to pay for our third fighting plane."

1944 Tourists Increase By 50 Per Cent

A bumper year for the number of American tourists visiting Peterborough and surrounding districts is indicated by the recent announcement by James J. Dorris, secretary of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, that over 50 per cent more Americans have come here this year than last year. This is a fact well-known by Peterborough, and scarcely a day has gone by during the summer that many cars bearing American license plates have not been seen parked along the streets.

The local Ration Board, that looks after Americans wishing temporary Canadian ration booklets, reports that in the Peterborough territory, 11,031 tourists have applied for the books from the beginning of June 1944, up until the present time. It is interesting to note that many of the regional ration boards has not been heard from, with regard to the number listed, indicating a larger number than 11,031 will be recorded in the near future. Also, this number only applies to those tourists who will use ration book; it does not apply to countless others who stay at hotels and lodges.

Peterborough banks have also noticed the effect of the larger number of tourists on the amount of American currency turned in this year from May 1, to date. The Royal Bank, which last year handled $32,000 in American money, reported the sum has jumped to $37,500, an increase of $5,500. The Bank of Montreal reported the amount of American curency turned in this year is "double" the amount of last year.

Camera Enthusiasts Ready For Exhibit

Gadget night was the form of entertainment of the Peterborough Camera Club on Tuesday night at the Y.M.C.A. The gadgets were from the small lens shade to the printing box, which different members made themselves to help better their photography. With about a week left to send in prints for the first annual exhibit, which has a closing date of August 31, amateur photographers eligible for the exhibit may send their prints to F. Jennings, P.O. Box 1060, Peterborough, or deliver to the secretary, Mrs. Jennings, No. 2 Greene Building, Peterborough.

The exhibit, which is to be held in Roy's Studio on September 15, 16 and 17, will be open to the public from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. for the three days.

The next meeting of the club will be on September 12 at Y.M.C.A. and entertainment for the evening will be a movie short on "Flash Photography."

Aldermen Investigate Monaghan Creek Area

Alderman James Dutton did not lose any time in taking up the assignment of the council Monday night to investigate the course and area of what for brevity may be called the Western avenue creek.

The chairman of the Board of Works with Mayor Hamilton, Aldermen Mark, Glover and Swanston and City Egineer Parsons motored Wednesday afternoon over that entire section of North Monaghan from the corner of Park and Lansdowne streets to the river, then westerly past Crawford's Grove to the C.N.R. and northerly to No. 28 Highway. Diversion of this creek, which flows south and east, with outlet in the Park street drain at the De Laval-Ovaltine corner, has been proposed as a project for the council's consideration, and Wednesday's survey was a preliminary step in the gathering of information.

EIRE SIGNPOSTS AGAIN

DUBLIN — (CP) — Display of road signs and names on railway stations prohibited in Eire for defence reasons since 1940 is permissable again.

HOME AFTER THREE YEARS—Spr. Clifford Hunt, 253 Wolfe street, has returned home from overseas after serving three years. His wife and sons live at 253 Wolfe street, and his mother is Mrs. Herb McArdle, 558 Rogers street. Spr. Hunt was attached to the 8th Army in Italy for many months.

4th Battery Wants Additional Recruits

A recruiting drive to augment the strength of Peterborough's 4th (R) Heavy Anti-Aircraft Battery, recently returned from its first summer camp at Point Petre, near Picton, is now underway in the city, and illustrated pamphlets of Reserve Army activities together with an appeal for recruits from Major R. A. Phillips, officer commanding, have been distributed around town.

The Battery will be starting its fall training program on Monday, September 11 and the schedule of training promises to be both interesting and eductaional. Re-organized and converted to a heavy anti-aircraft unit late last year, the 4th Battery has a number of vacancies at present in its establishment.

An excellent showing was made by the Battery personnel at their summer camp less than a month ago; and the camp commandant there reported that the Peterborough unit surpassed other reserve formations at Point Petre in many points of their training.

War—4 Years Ago

(By The Canadian Press).

AUG. 24, 1940— Artillery duel across English Channel resumed and Nazi airmen bombed Dover area. The first R. C. A. F. fighter squadron to reach England downed two German bombers in its first action as a unit. Hungary took defensive measures as conference with Romanial over Transylvania collapsed.

DONE CONVOY WORK—Sto. 1-C. M. V. McAuliffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. McAuliffe, 134 Albertus street, has been in the Navy for 2½ years, and has done a lot of convoy duty. Prior to enlisting he worked at the C.G.E., and he recently spent a furlough with his parents.

Hotel Losses From Thieves Is Huge Amount

A surprising total of losses sustained by Peterborough hotels through carelessness, petty thievery, and thoughtlessness was revealed recently during a survey of some of the city hotels to see if wartime has cut down losses that have in the past risen to sky-high amounts. Souvenir-hunters, mostly prevalent in the larger hotels, are still at work, and anything with the hotel's name stamped on it is liable to vanish into thin air at any time.

"What articles are taken from my hotel?" echoed L. S. Emerson, proprietor of the Grand Hotel, and president of the Peterborough Hotel Association. "Everything that isn't nailed down with every nail in the house, that's my opinion of the affair." Mr. Emerson said the commercial traveller and regular guest at the Grand does not filch articles from the rooms, but that most of the damage and losses are due to transient guests. Le Roy Crocker, manager of the same hotel, had some interesting details to add.

"Just petty thievery," Mr. Crocker said. "Towels, ice-water pitchers, ash-trays, lamps, electric light bulbs and blankets are just a few of the things missing from the hotel in quantity yearly". He said a large amount of glasses from the beverage room disappear annually, something around 25 to 30 gross to be exact, but much of this, it was true was lost by breakage. He recalls the time in another hotel, when a party of people came in, and took rooms. The guests had much luggage with them. Several days later, they left. As they went out of their rooms they saw a sign on the door reading "Stop—Have you forgotten anything? Well, had they? "Why yes they had; the furniture and mattresses, for instance, but otherwise, they had made a fairly good job of cleaning out the room. All the luggage they brought in, it appeared was filled with waste paper which they deposited in the rooms.

Stole Everything

The room, according to the hotel man, looked as if a cyclone had went through it blowing away everything of value; the old papers they had carried in were the only things that remained. Mr. Crocker recalls another time, when a team of baseball players took rooms; it wasn't long before a full-fledged pillow fight developed, with a consequent sum of damages being rolled up before an armistice was signed. However he pointed out, these are the headaches to be found in any hotel, and there's not much you can do about it, in any way.

Generally, hotel men take an unworried viewpoint upon the situation; most of them know it is pure souvenir-hunting. "The guests take things with the name of the hotel on it for the same reason the Indians used to take scalps," one man stated. "It's something to show friends at parties, and indicates you didn't stay at any old tourist camp," he added.

Most hotel men agree the people who take things on a moment's impulse, do not have consciences that make them send them back! A great deal of silverware is lost by some hotels, and it is believed tourists going north might have something to do with this; salt shakers, bottle openers, table-napkins, (in which they often wrap up the silver goods), are also items that go like lightning.

"We couldn't begin to replace the ash-trays that find their way out of the house," said L. J. McCarthy, manager of the Queens Hotel. "Although our loss of beer glasses is much lower now the glasses have been standardized pictures and other articles still are taken. It's a problem that goes on and on, and so we aren't terribly worried about it"!

Not long ago, his hotel thought its guests would appreciate new linen, blankets on the beds. They did! Four were missing the day they were put on the beds. Once, a woman not content with taking an ordinary table ash-tray, calmly started out of the hotel lobby with one of the large floor ash-trays clenched firmly in her hands. A surprised employee persuaded her to put it back.

"Yes, they still use towels to wipe their shoes, and clean razors, but show me a hotel where they don't?

One veteran hotel man related the story of a visit he had made to an acquaintances home, and every ashtray, every drinking-glass, and many pieces of silverware, were stamped with the name of his and other hotels. The friend easily explained it all, saying a visit to many hotels had made her cutlery set complete. It was a joke to her.

But, that's the way it is, hotel men agree. A joke. Spying a picture on the wall that will fit perfectly in the living room, a sudden impulse seizes a person to swipe it. Into the bag it goes. But how many people pilfer pictures and other articles form hotels yearly? When it's counted up, it makes quite an imposing figure.

EYES INJURED — Pte. Joseph McIntosh, Ford avenue, who has become a casualty for the third time, has had an operation on his eyes, following an accident which blinded him in one eye and partially destroyed the sight in the other.

Pte. J. McIntosh Hurt Overseas For Third Time

A casualty for the third time, since going overseas, Pte. Joseph McIntosh, has undergone an operation on his eyes, which it is hoped will restore his sight.

The young soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McIntosh, Ford avenue, was driving a jeep in Italy when he struck a mine and he was blinded in one eye and partially blinded in the other. He also received bad facial lacerations. The operation took place August 13, his parents have been informed, and they are waiting for further word.

Pte. McIntosh, who has been serving with the R.C.O.C. Vehicle Company, enlisted when he was 16 and was in the army nine months before his age was discovered and he was discharged. On his 18th birthday he re-enlisted and has been overseas more than 1½ years.

To be as fine a soldier as his Dad, has been one of the wounded boy's ambitions. His father, who served with the 93rd Battalion, was badly shot in the last war, and suffered somewhat similar injuries, for he too was nearly blinded.

The first time Pte. McIntosh became a casualty in Italy he injured his hand working with a big gun when a carrier ran over it, crushing several of the fingers. The second time he was hurt he received leg, side and jaw injuries.

Before enlisting, he was an employee of the Canada Packers.

Farmers Establish Egg Grading Station

Farmers in the district centering around Hastings village have organized a co-operative egg grading station in the Front street property known for years as the Hess garage. H. C. Oliver is in charge of the station with more than fifty farmers signed up as shareholders.

The board of management is as follows: President, J. L. Doherty; secretary-treasurer, R. Williamson; directors, Frank Coveney, James Healey, Fred O'Grady, Alf Forde.

The Hess building has been thoroughly overhauled and equipped as one of the best egg grading stations in this area. It will be open every day and evening in the week and the directors are hoping that it will be expanded for the handling of poultry.

Girls Applaud Fall Fashions Have Real Style

There aren't any Plain Janes anymore, judging by the exciting young fashions now being created for the grammar school set and ready for youthful shoppers now in stores throughout the land. Young-minded and often youthful designers have gone all-out to dress up the pigtail crowd, and today's achievements prove that it's a far cry from the tubby figures and grimy hands of yesteryear's "tomboys" to the attractively outfitted and sweetly poised young miss of 1944-45. Designers have taken a leaf from the psychologist's book, and followed the premise that every little girl loves to dress up, and especially to look like Mommy while she's doing it. So there's an endless array of charming fashions, all up and down the line from coats and suits to sportswear and dresses that fairly sings with style and fashion-interest.

Hat and coat sets with real personality, done in fine wools, often velvet-trimmed, are among the leading stars. The belted tunic coat emerges in miniature as charmingly as it did for campus-bound sisters and can be seen in any number of smart versions. Tunic suits, too, with the same dashing lies as grown-ups wear are making their appearance along with the pleated-skirt and cardigan of revers jacket styles that look so appealing with broad-streamer hats. Coats and suits have a new importance this year and the topper or little boy coat and companion suit is another big influence in the 'ashion picture for the young in years. Coat and legging sets with crisp details, warmly interlined for the blowy days to come are in the news again too. No more bulk and too-heavy look . . . the new styles are deftly streamlined in warm bright wools.

School-Going Sportswear

Campus casuals for the grammar school set are definitely in the limelight this Fall, too. There's a whole range of adorable jerkin and weskit toppers with matching plain or pleated skirts that team pertly with gay blouses, or sweaters, and can be matched or "scrambled" at will. These are full cut for the most part, with deep hems, and so should guarantee more than one season of active happy wear. Middy-type dresses in surges and ribbed rayons are again on the scene with their usual piquant charm . . . there's always something about a sailor dress that brings out the sweetness in its wearer.

Dresses . . . They're Wonderful

Any little girl with her mama can walk into the nearest children's department and choose a whole year's wardrobe almost blindfolded, at least when it comes to dresses. From crisp lace-trimmed pinafores to candy-striped washable cottons, there are "just-like-Mummy's" styles galore to delight Sister's heart, as well as Dad's finances. There are prettv-prettty wools and sunny spun rayons, too, with peasanty and embroidered detail that fairly hparkle with wit and charm.

Very-Victorian, and very pretty-lady velvets for dressup are the excitement for parties and Sunday best, and come in a series of enchanting princess and tie-in-back styles that are heart-melting in deep jewel tones or even portarait black. Starchy, lingerie or "family-album" laces make them still more conversation-provoking.

Accessories That Twinkle

Delightful to shop for, such fun to wear, are the all-important accessories that even little girls know make the wardrobe. Pert hat and bag sets in felts and wools; gay suspender and bandeau tins that really set up a school outfit; and perfectly super jewelry in wood, plastics and even paper are decking the counters of stores everywhere. Pins-clips, bangle bracelets and lapel ornaments are just a few of the favorites.

WESKIT SEASON—Fall is always the weskit season and here a beautiful checked weskit is shown atop skirt and blouse of rayon gabardine.

Teen Fashions Portraying 'Junior' Look

There's a brand new look in teen fashions this Fall—it's the "junior" look! Taking a new lease on life, they're just as refreshingly young as ever, but they have that "sophisticated" touch all smart teens love. Best of all, the smooth junior touch is evident in school cothes as well as party fashions so teens can look slick 'round the clock.

Sports clothes rate a big hand—teens simply adore mix-matching separates to double their wardrobes! Real fashion news and slated for soid success, is the beau-brummel weskit teamed with matching or contrasting skirt—definitely a junior dish! Smart teens will wear their weskits with long sleeved white shirts for first Fall days—team them with suits later—and naturally they're super-slick with slacks.

Incidentally skirts and shirts are scheduled for solid success with teens this Fall. Newest and smoothest of all is the skirt with high-rise waist-band—wonderful way to show off a ring-size waist as hep teens know very well- For school, crisp shirts in white, stripes and vivid plaids are big favorites for wear with the new skirts.

For coke dates and jam sessions, feminine blouses with ruffled or draw-string necklines are super-smooth! Incidentaly, the newest way to wear your sweater is tucked in your skirt as a refreshing change.

Speaking of sweaters, the sleeveless pullover sweater with deep ribbed waistband and V-neckline is new and news! And it's really a very practical fashion too because it's perfect over all blouses, wonderful for added warmth in chilly classrooms too. Noted in vivid as well as dark colors, watch the sleeveless pulover take top honors this Fall! Classic pullovers, cardigans are still big favorites with the jacquard sweater an up coming fashion.

Blazer jackets to mix-match with all skirts, slacks and dresses are high school stars too. New and news is the loose loafer jacket, borrowed from the boys. Casual and easy, it is noted in striking two color combinations such as pastel front and back with vivid sleeves . . . or in the very popular checked and plain combinations. These serve double duty because they are equally smart atop separate skirts or dresses.

Color in Coats

Color is the big news in coats for teens! Color in their beloved chesterfields, color in their dress coats, color in their casual coats. Underscored for solid success is moss green as well as fuchsia, the newest of the purple tones. Grey, so young and versatile is another smart favorite.

Smooth fleece fabrics win hands down and are super in dress coats in such soft pastels as ice blue, gold beige. Short belted trench coats are also noted for teens and the short trench raincoat is strongly favored this year. Newest of the new chesterfields boast rounded revers, raglan shoulders, deeper armholes.

JERKINS FOR SCHOOL—It is back to school for jerkins this fall. They are to be very popular and every young miss would love this one of Raylaine flannel with smart thong lacing.

Sleeveless Sweaters Are Slated For Big Success This Fall

The art of fashion juggling via separates has long been the Canadian woman's favorite way of doubling her wardrobe. And this Fall, there are scores of new additions to the separates family to make it more fun, more fashionable. Color plays an important part in vivid solids, pastels such as creamy beige, melon and grey as well as tiny checks, plaids. Bottle green, rich purple and medium to dark browns are three colors singing out as Fall laders in skirts. Bottle green is well represented in all types of plaids.

Making real fashion news is the overblouse. Long torso length, smartly shirred or draped centre front, it is marvelously figure-flattering and achives the new "dress" look when worn atop the new slim skirts.

Stemming from the lowered waist-line silhouette in dresses, it is slated for success and featured in a variety of fine fabrics for every occasion including metallis, printed crepes, novelty striped wool weaves. Smooth shoudered with long fitted or push-up sleeves, underscore the overblouse for daytime and dress-up wear. A fashion dependable, it will take you places looking smooth.

Of course, classics, bow tie and ruffled blouses are big suit favorites. Weskit-cardigan and glitter blouses rate for Fall too. The sleeveless pullover sweater makes headline news! Sophisticated version of the sweater and skirt costume, it will be super with all your blouses. College and career girls rate it high. Cardigans, boxy pullovers and novelties continue. Glowing colors as well as fresh white are noted in sweaters, all blended beautifully with the new Fall skirt tones.

Look to weskits for the newest, smartest accent for Fall! Superbly tailored weskits in vivid checks, in plaiads, in smooth pastels—weskits to match exactly or to contrast sharply with your skirts. Incidentally, the slim trouser pleat skirt takes the fashion lead and is a "must" with your weskit. Needless to say, they serve smartly atop slacks as well as with your skirt give you that beau-brummel lo every time.

Classic or cardigan jackets are naturals and team up smoothly with your skirts, weskits and slacks. Blazer jackets with vivid contrasting bindings are back for Fall and are wonderful additions to busy wardrobes.

The versatile young jumper is another favorite back again for Fall. Broad shoudered, slim-skirted, many are noted wih bright blazer binding. Good taste, long wearability and fashion rightness characterize all the new Fall separtaes, all of which dovetaail perfectly with each other. So be smart, be thrifty, plan to build your casual daytime wardrobe around them for long-range smartness.

Dear Parents

You are trying to give me an education, for my future success. But how can I learn if I don't see clearly?

Of every five children one needs glasses. Some parents say, "Nonsense!"—and their child stays behind in school, suffers headaches, squints, or is moody, cross.

Give me my chance. Have my eyes examined. If I need better eyesight, will you refuse to give it?

SCHOOLBOY TOGS—A schoolboy favorite is this cotton gabardine rain or shine coat lined with gay red plaid.

Boys' Togs Are Long On Wear

When your own special Henry Aldrich comes home from his volunteer farming vacation he'll probably have grown several inches in length or girth. Probably if you can manage to salvage a sweater or two from last year, you'll be doing well. But all is not lost for the prep department in your favorite store is ready and more than able to take on your favorite son, as well as your hard-working, bondbuying budget.

He may or may not have some pocket money to add to the outlay his pre-school shopping will entail . . . but both you and he will be gratified at the moderate prices prevailing for the "musts" as well as the accessories his bare cupboard is crying out for.

Basics Come First

Of course, come Fall, a fellow's first thought is a top-coat, and you'll find a wide choice of rain or shine models that will get his eye and eye for wear now through the merry month of May. Cravenetted and Zelan-processed fabrics make it possible for cotton fabrics to resist rain; and the Aridex treatment helps them to resist spots, stains and prespiration. In short, whether he chooses a gabardine or a tweed reversible topper his coat is pretty certain to have a good lease on life ahead of it.

Suits? But definitely,—and his one Sunday best outfit will probably be a good tweed or a simple worsted that he can wear to Church on Sunday, locking as though it hadn't been the star of the coke bar or junior canteen the very night before. For school and "just around" wear, he'll want a couple of pairs of sturdy slacks with contrasting jackets he can switch about at will. Cordroys are back in the swing again, and make likely prospects or teen-age wear.

Accessories All-Important

The military influence is as strong as ever in his life, of course, but aside from his officer's trench coat, probably the most nearly related item to the soldierly in his wardrobe would be his khaki pullover sweater. Sleeveless, it goes with his slacks and sports shirts, and will be his boon companion from early Fall right through next Spring when he doffs his coat again. And speaking of shirts, he'll be able to choose from sturdy cottons and rub weaves to hardy spun rayons in new deep tones and patterns that stamp him a man of good taste. The bow tie is "in" again, too, in a bewildering (but not for him) array of dots, stripes and plaids.

Hats off to his heroes and stuff . . . but even they wear headgear, and so will he. Water-proofed pork-pies and slouch styles, including his pride-an-joy campus brim hat, in lightweight fabrics that can take plenty of punishment and usually do . . . are available in neutral tones that somehow miraculously never show what they've been through. And his one specal dark felt can be chosen in any number of becoming shapes that will really give him a lift.

He's all set and ready to go for Fall, and you'll find that his on-your-mark shopping will be a speedy and economical affair at his favorite youth department.

Demobilization To Await Japan's Defeat

BY JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 — (CP) — There will be no relaxation of Canada's draft regulations until Germany collapses at which time monthly call-up quotas likely will be revised to meet the lessened need for men in the Pacific, service officials, charged with the big job of planning demobilization of 756,900 service personnel, said today. The officials, who asked that their names not be used, repeated what Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Defence Minister Ralston recently told the Commons—that while the matter is under consideration, no definite plan has yet been evolved.

As a matter of fact, the recent return to Canada of Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, Chief of Staff at Canadian Military Headquarters, London, was chiefly for the purpose of discussing the knotty problem.

Any plan probably will hinge on the size and nature of Canada's part in the war against Japan and this hasn't yet been decided. She has already promised an all-out effort and army and air force missions are in the southwest Pacific ostensibly preparing for active participation of larger formations.

Study Diseases

Meanwhile, navy doctors in Ottawa are studying tropical disease in preparation for the day when elements of the senior service move to that theatre.

One high official said it was his personal opinion—he made it clear no definite Pacific plans had yet been blueprinted—that at least part of Canada's overseas personnel might come back home "by way of Japan.

However, he added that he thought it highly unlikely Canada's five overseas divisions, ancillary troops and army headquarters personnel would all see service in Asia.

"When we've beaten Germany," he said, "there will be such a concentration of forces to shift against Japan that it would be impossible to use them all and I doubt if Canada contributes more than a Corps of two or three divisions—if that many

He said his opinion was borne out in some measure by a statement from Maj.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, United States National Director of Selective Service, who forecast Mon-2,000,000 men would be released from the American armed forces when Germany falls.

Col. Ralston told the Commons Aug. 10 that while the reported British suggestion of a "first in, first out" plan might contain a good principle there was the important factor of preventing the breakup of units to be considered.

Keep Units Intact

He said most units had a tradition and they would want to return home as unit and would want to be received as such by their fellow townsmen.

The plan for demobilization, when adopted, would be "as satisfactory as possible but it could not be wholly satisfactory to all.

An officer, enlarging on this statement put it this way:—

"Say you introduced a first in, first out system. This would result in, for instance, chaps who went over with the Royal 22nd Regiment in 1939, leaving the unit one month and straggling home while chaps who joined it in 1940 would come home another month and so.

"This staggered system would result in a dangerous lowering of discipline and certainly would be unpalatable to the men who have a pride in their unit and want to march up their main streets with it when it gets home."

Air Minister Power, once introduced the idea of a point system fo demobilizaiton by which points were given for length of service, marital status and other factors, with the man with the highest point total going home first and so on.

No Definite Plan.

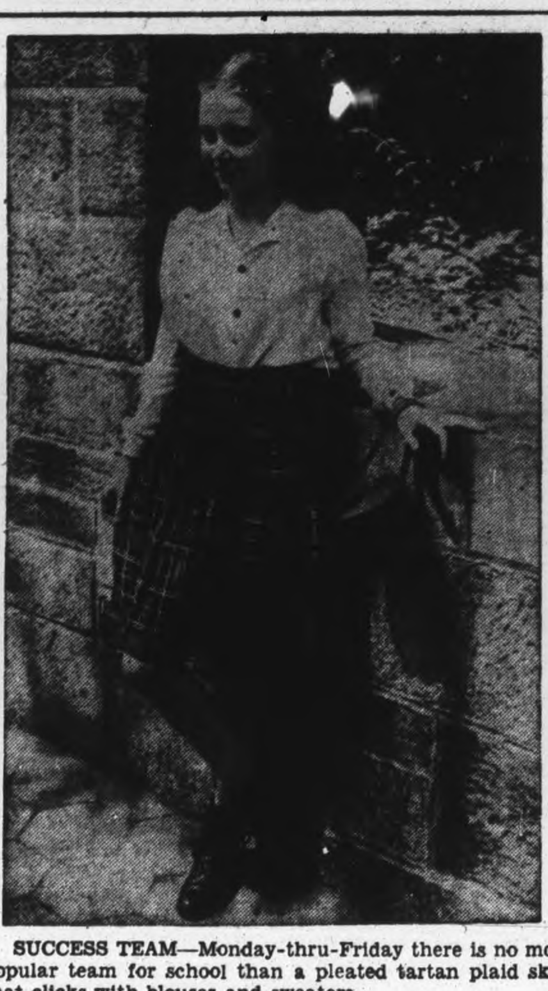
But, he added, this plan had been strongly criticized in Britain and elsewhere and white it had merit he could not give it unreserved commendation.

The breakup of units does not matter so much in the Air Force, but there were problems of distance with squadrons as widely separated as Ceylon and the Aleutians.

Meanwhile, the Air Force has suspended recruiting until October 1. And its intake after that date may be on a reduced scale.

The navy, too, has a unit problem with each ship having a tradition, but with crewmen all having entered the service at different dates.

"Frankly the thing is a big headache," said one officer. "But you can say this that what our plan may eventually lack in technical perfection it certainly will make up in sincerity of purpose and sympathy for the needs of the veteran."



SUCCESS TEAM—Monday-thru-Friday there is no more popular team for school than a pleated tartan plaid skirt that clicks with blouses and sweaters.

STYLES CHANGE

The well-dressed gentleman of the 18th century wore lace collars, cuffs, garters and shoe rosettes.

Fall Sportswear Starring Versatile Appeal

Canadian women who have stayed at home, so to speak, have adapted thier own type of "uniform," and as often as not, it's a slim, trimly tailored spectator frock or a smartly streamlined suit. For sportswear, with its wonderful adaptability and versatile good looks covers a multitude of occasions that Fall, ranging from that all-important furlough honeymoon to the nine-to-five clock-punching schedule or the freshman-to-senior wardrobe whirl.

Simplicity Keynote.

The beauty of Canadian sportswear has always been in tasteful simplicity, its precision of line and careful detail. And this Fall, the rules apply again, with just enough imagination, color and freedom of cut to make for interest and dash.

That happy Canadian institution, the spectator dress, is back again with new eclat, in a series of wonderful wools and gabardines guaranteed to put new sparkle into every eye and purse. Fly-front charmers that look equally well at the office reception desk or at the officers' club on the army post are news this year in lush jewel tones or favorite neutrals . . beige, brown, grey, which team so successfully with those packable little hats you can pick up at almost any hat bar these days.

The jumper and pinafore are very much in the centre of the sportswear stage for 1944-45, too, in charmingly feminine versions that team gracefully with sweaters and blouses. Yours for warmth and endless wear in ribbed novelty weaves, wools and mixtures, these dresses are exlent basic buys around which to build a furlough trousseau or a back-to-town wardrobe.

Active Styles Star

Slack suits are back wtih a hang again, and this year they're even more universally flattering in weskit and cuff-top styles that give new figure slimness and go smartly under topper, trench or chesterfield coats that are stealing fashion honors everywhere. These slacks sets comes in a welter of smart, long-wearing fabrics, and can be purchased as ensembles so as separates, with skirts, in many departments.

Jackets and skirts have new brilliance in plain, plaid and checked woolens that promise long-lasting wear and classic durability. Blazer, cardigan and vestee type jackets are in the news for now and later, teamed with matching or contrasting skirts with new high-rise waistlines.

"Tops" in Sportswear

Sweaters are going to come into their own for round-the-clock wear, not just for college, but for schedules in town or in army or navy communities throughout the country. The twin set is still a winner, of course, as is the classic cardigan and slipon in fine wool. But the sleeveless slipon with new lean line is stealing the show when worn with classic long-sleeved skirts, belted or pulled smartly down over the hips.

Blouses, ranging from the casual shirt to the elegantly simple "jewelry neckline" blouse are making a place for themselves too this year. Smartly tailored versions in wool and rayon crepes, jerseys and cottons are taking the spotlight for go-everywhere good looks. Colors are legion, from black to gay stripes and deep-toned pastels, and often can be purchased with matching skirts to form a casually smart team that packs, plays or prettily goes to work.

All in all, sportswear is very much in the American picture this Fall, and the newest fashions are on view now in shops throughout the country.

Cobourg In Playoffs

COBOURG, Aug. 24 —(ENS) — Cobourg Primeau's clinched a berth in the playoff finals by defeating Port Hope File at Port Hope Wednesday night. Corky Kewin was touched for only four hits and the Primeau's took the game by the score of 2-1. The locals will open the finals in Port Hope on Friday with the second game to be played in Cobourg.

CAPTURED GENERAL — Lt.-Gen. Carl Spang, 58-year-old commander of the 26th German Division, who was captured near the French port of Brest by the advancing American forces, leaves the scene of battle in an American tank. He is wearing a borrowed American helmet.

Peterboro Soldiers In Trun Push Hold Against Savage Hun Attack

Major Jack Peterson, former staff photographer of the Peterborough Examiner, commanded a company of an Ontario unit in France, which held out against a savage German attack at Trun and they were the first infantry across the Laizon in the Canadian assault on the last Nazi positions before Falaise. The story of the heavy fighting done by this unit, including many Peterborough men, is told by Frederick Griffin, writing in a despatch to the Toronto Star.

Here in Trun, I found this Ontario battalion not merely holding the town, but running it. The colonel paid high tribute to Pte. Elmer John Albert of Blind River, Ont., a French-speaking soldier who, given the job of setting up some sort of refugee control, had set up a rest centre in one of the wards of the town's hospice and had played the good Samaritan to all sorts and conditions of French people in distress.

I met the dark quiet Elmer who did not seem to think that he had done anything n particular. Said his colonel, "why, he put old ladies to bed. He cared for the tired and the sick all on his own. He scrounged food for them and he gave them water to drink. I marked a map for him, showed him the roads safe for the refugees to travel and Elmer sent scores of them happily on their way. All without sleep for 48 hours. A good lad Elmer."

First man I ever met in Trun was L.-Cpl. William Kerr of Peterborough, the colonel's dispatch rider, Bill told me how he and Pte. Howard Bradley of Cornwall each on a motor bicycle had taken over one packet of 1,800 German prisoners and with a truck in front and a truck at the rear carrying wounded had marched them back 14 miles to find a prisoner-of-war cage that wasn't full.

Nazis Sought Doctor

"Last night," said Bill, "one Jerry drove right in here with a U.S. jeep carrying three wounded pals, looking for a Canadian medical officer to attend to them. He wanted to go back for more but we asked him to be good enough to stay with us. He stayed." A captured German doctor and two German medical orderlies were set to work by the colonel attending to their own wounded. He gave them a ward in the town hospital and let them go to it. They did a very good job, he said. He had just sent them back to a prisoner cage by truck before I arrived.

Altogether, he said, more than 3,000 German prisoners had passed through Trun alone, taken from the gap. They included the German corps commander Lieut.-Gen. Menni.

Trun lies southeast of Falaise, about halfway across the Falaise-Argentan gap through which the Germans being squeezed to death in the Montgomery pocket, sought to escape from the merciless rockets of the R.A.F.'s Typhoons, the lashing of our guns, British, U.S. and Canadian and the incoming of our infantry.

Tried To Blast Out.

Two nights ago at 2 a.m. this Ontario battalion took over Trun after our armor had pushed through it. In the dark of a very dark night lighted only by some fires in Trun, they took over the town and spread out along 2,500 yards of front southeast along the road and the river Dives towards Chambois. Their job was to help to close the gap and hold it against the gray hordes pressing to get out like fish from a seine net

Of Interest to Women

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, August 25.

THE LUNAR aspects dominant on this day seem to indicate some sort of crisis in both business and private interests. There may be public, community and fraternal involvements, in which the domestic, social or emotional tensions are importnat. And while the latter should be of prime consequence, with opportunities and desires for improving the home, social prestige or romantic affiliations, a measure of prudence is recommended, lest impetuosity or ill-temper menace.

Those whose birthday it is may be called upon to reach some critical decision, whether in home or romantic affairs, or in association with public welfare groups of activities. The social element is strong but should be managed with discretion and prudence lest impulsive or turbulent conduct proved damaging. The affections are likewise highly stimulated and the urge toward domestic or charitable affiliations may be greatly activated. The ediscret in dubious romantic attachments.

A child born on this day may be romantically and socially inclined but is likely to suffer disillusion, unless its fine talents and spiritual urges be influential.

MOTHER TREATS HER LIKE BABY

20-Year-Old Daughter Resents Supervision of Her Life

A girl said to me the other day: "I am 20 years old. I am a college graduate. I have a good job and am self-supporting. I am not a case of arrested development, yet my mother treats me exactly as if I were a feeble-minded infant. She tells me what I shall wear, what I shall eat, where I shall go and to be sure to be home by ten o'clock at night. And she feels that she has a perfect right to read my letters and listen in on my telephone calls.

Must Be Watched

"This endless supervision over my every act isn't because she suspects me of having any wild impulses or any yearning for the primrose path. It is simply because she has never seen me as an intelligent adult. To her I am still a little baby girl who will make herself sick on lollipops if she isn't watched and who mustn't be permitted to play with the naughty little boy next door.

"One of the major grievances of mothers nowadays is that their daughters don't want to live at home. As soon as they finish school, they get a job. They insist on going off and setting up a little two-by-four apartment with some other girl, where they have to sleep on a bumpy couch and eat the messes they cook themselves after they come home from a hardday's work. Mother can't understand it and she fears the worst.

"But her Sally hasn't left home to become a wild woman. She has left home to get away from Mother's babying and because she can't stand any longer being told what to do and what not to do, and because she is tired of having an argument with Mother every time she goes out of the house about where she is going, whom she is going with and when is she coming home. Funny, isn't it, that mothers never realize that their daughters grow up and that they want to be treated as grownups?"

"The whole relationship between mothers and daughters is a queer one," I repled. "Because they are both women, they are supposed to be particularly close to each other but sex can be a bar as well as a bond and no mother ever understands her daughter unless the daughter is a rubber stamp of herself. The woman who was a belle in her day has no sympathy with a high-browed Sally who wants a career instead of going to parties.

"Also, every woman is jealous of any other woman interfering in the way she runs her house, even if it is her own daughter, and that is why Mother is always relieved and pleased when daughter gets married and sets up her own home. Nothing in family life is more curious than the fact that as long as a daughter remains unmarried, her mother treats her as if she were still a little child and not a very bright one at that. But the minute she acquires a husband she becomes an oracle whom Mother quotes. Mothers and daughters never have any real companionship until daughter enters the lodge of married women.

"Women are queer creatures, but perhaps there is always a reason for their queerness."

Canadian Girl Claims Tommies

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 24 (CP)—A shy, young red-haired CWAC lieutenant from Montreal has become the pin-up girl of troops in Normandy.

She is Charmian Sansom, daughter of Lt.-Gen. E. W. Sansom. Charmian blinks wide blue eyes through her horn-rimmed glasses and looks very bewildered by it all. For this pretty officer, who looks as if it weer her 17th and not 23rd birthday she will be celebrating soon, is something quite new in the way of pin-up girls.

The boys in the fo'c's'le of a naval ship that plies between England and Normandy have voted her the girl they would most like to have say good morning to them.

A corps of the Royal Engineers who said they were writing "from a mud hole in the corner of a field in France," pleaded for her picture, because "we want you to be our very own pin-up girl."

It's all because Charmian has become the voice of the girls they left behind them for the Allied Expeditionary Forces in France. A couple of mornings a week she announces recordings played on the program "Rise and Shine" and murmurs sweet nothings and bright stories in a soft, pleasant voice on a radio program beamed to Normandy.

"Our whole unit ask 'when is Charmian announcing?' another query is 'does your face and figure match your voice?'"

The Radio Times made her its cover girl one week-end, but the boys on the other side of the Channel weren't satisfied and every mail bag is crammed with requests for autographed pictures.

Voice Gets Them

"It's her fresh girlish voice that gets them," sighed a lieutenant who listens to her on this side of the Channel.

The strangest thing of all is that Charmian has talked herself into the leathery heart of the British Tommy. So far all her fan mail has come from British soldiers, not Canadians or Americans.

In spite of being a general's daughter, Charmian served as a buck private up until a few months ago she was commissioned in England and took her officer's training at an A.T.S. school.

She was attached to Army Public Relations before radio discovered the allure of her voice and drafted her for spot announcements. She also announces dance bands, broadcasting to the troops but it's "Rise and Shine" that sets the boys' hearts fluttering in tanks, pillboxes and ships at sea.

"It's sheer delight to find the AEF had your voice to brighten the start of the day," a British captain of the transport corps wrote.

The boys in their letters tell Charmian, whose friends all her Sammy, what sort of music they want to hear on her program. "No jive," write her British buddies and they beg for Mazaart, Chopin, Schubert and light opera.

Charmian attended school in Regina, Otatwa and Montreal, and when the C.W.A.C. was founded and she was too young to enlist she worked in a bank in Kingston until the age limit was dropped.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

A salad is enjoyable this season of the year when the weather is hot and the fresh fruits and vegetables are so plentiful.

Luncheon Salad

2 cups cooked potato balls, 2 cups coked carrot balls, 1 cup sliced cooked frankfurters, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, ¼ cup mayonnaise, chicory. Combine potato, carrot, frankfurters and parsley. Add mayonnaise and chill. Serve in chicory.

Celebraiton Salad.

Two cups cooked chicken, 2 cups cubed cooked ham, 2 cups diced celery, 1 cup salted nuts, ½ cup mayonnaise, lettuce, 2 hard-cooked eggs, pimientos. Combine chicken ham, celery, nuts and mayonnaise. Arrange on beds of head lettuce. Cut the eggs lengthwise. Cut pimientos in strips. Garnish salad with egg and pimiento. This recipe will serve 8 people.

Sea Salad Supreme.

2 cups tuna fish, 1 cup lobster, 2 cups shrimps, 2 cups diced celery, ¾ cup salad dressing, watercress, lemon wedges. Drain tuna, lobster and shrimp. Flake tuna and lobster, removing bits of membrane from lobster. Reserve 12 whole shrimps for garnish. Combine remaining shrimps, tuna, lobster, celery and salad dressing. Serve on crisp lettuce or watercress. Garnish with whole shrimps.

Autumn Salad.

1 package lemon gelatin, 1 cup water, ½ cup grape juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup diced celery, 1 cup cubed, unpeeled red apples, ½ cup seedless raisins, ½ cup cubed Canadian cheese, watercress, mayonnaise. Dissolve gelatin in 1 cup of water according to directions on package and add grape juice, lemon juice and salt. Chill until syrupy. Fold in celery, apple, raisins and cheese. Pour into individual moulds which have been rinsed in cold water and chill until firm. Unmold on watercress and serve with salad dressing or mayonnaise.

Through the Garden Salad.

Half teaspoon grated onion, ½ tablespoon vinegar, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup mayonnaise, 2 cups cubed cooked potatoes, ½ cup diced celery, ¼ cup diced cucumber, ¼ cup sliced radish, ¼ cup chopped green pepper, lettuce, watercress. Mix onion, vinegar, paprika, salt, mayonnaise. Combine with potato, celery, cucumber, radish and green pepper. Chill and serve on lettuce and watercress.

PADRE WINS D.S.O.

MANCHESTER — (CP) — Hon. Capt. Ronald Edwards, 28-year-old curate of St. John's Church here until two years ago, has been awarded the D.S.O. for great gallantry during the Gustav Line battle in Italy last May. First padre to win this high award in the Italian campaign, Capt. Edwards swam the Rapido river three times under heavy fire carrying medical supplies to wounded men.

Give Best Comfort for Fast Growing Feet

Growing feet must be carefully fitted . . . Given plenty of toe room to allow feet to grow straight. Gently supported to keep them strong. Sizes to fit all ages—Babies, infants and children.

Nowadays it is the smart thing to polish one's own shoes. It makes them not only look better, but last longer. Shoes should be worn only one day and then given a holiday. Two pair of shoes will last more than twice as long as one pair. If shoes are wet stuff them with newspaper and place in moderate temperature—never in a strong heat. When fairly dry insert shoe trees.

Take Care Of Your Footwear

When you buy your shoes buy rubbers for them too—then you are ready for stormy days.

Bride Has Showers

Prior to her marriage today, Mrs. Albert A. Masters, nee Marcelle Doogan, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower, given by Mrs. Fergus Meagher at her home, 9 Park street. Decorations were carried out in pink and white, and the rooms were set with bouquets of gladioli. During an evening of music and games, the bride was presented with a decorated basket filled with gifts, which was brought in by little Audrey Doogan and Joyce Meagher. The tea table, centred with a large cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, flanked by blue tapers, was decorated with pink and white streamers, falling from a cluster of silver wedding bells.

McLean—Davidson

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 24 (ENS)—A wedding of interest took place quietly in Campbellford recently, when Irene Davidson, daughter of Mrs. Davidson and the late Mr. Charles Davidson, of Campbellford, became the bride of George Edwards McLean, of Manotick, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McLean, Ormond. The ceremony was conducted at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. C. Howard Davidson, of Campbellford, with Rev. G. N. Maxwell, of St John's United church officiating.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr C. Howard Davidson, the bride wore a street-length frock of turquoise crepe with fuschia hat, and carried a Colonial bouquet of American Beauty roses and gladioli petals. She was attended by her sister, Miss Nell Davidson, of Toronto, wearing a fuschia dress, contrasting accessories, and carrying a bouquet of Briarcliffe roses and cornflowers. Mr. Allen McLean of Arnprior, attended his brother as best man.

Following a reception, the couple left for a wedding trip through Western Ontario. On their return they will live in Manotick.

Marcelle Doogan Wed On Birthday

A floor-length gown of white brocaded organza over satin was chosen by Colleen Marcelle Doogan this morning, when she became the bride of LAC. Albert Arthur Masters, R.C.A.F., at a ceremony conducted in the rectory of Sacred Heart church, with Rev. J. J. O'Brien officiating. The bride, who was married on her birthday, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Doogan, Water street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ora Masters, Braidwood avenue.

With her bridal gown, which was made with a fitted bodice, Sweetheart neckline, long sleeves coming to points over the wrists, and full skirt, the bride wore white accessories. Her floor-length veil of embroidered white net was gathered to a tiny matching halo, and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. Mrs. Andree Feeley, sister of the groom, was matron of honor, in floor-length white sheer, with pink accessories. She wore a pink and white flower hat, and carried a nosegay of pink and white roses. Mr. George Masters, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Mayfair Cafe, where the bride's mother received the guests in a blue silk gown with matching hat, brown accessories, and a corsage of roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore turquoise, and black accessories, and a corsage of roses. About 40 guests were present, and the bride's table was centred with her wedding cake, and the decorations were carried out in pink and white, with pink and white asters centring the tables.

FAST WASHING

MELBOURNE — (CP) — Australian ingenuity in devising new equipment to meet problems peculiar to the Pacific War is exemplified in a mobile laundry that can wash and dry the tropical kits of 24 men in 25 minutes.

Flier Takes Bride On Same Day Parents Wed

On the firty-fifth wedding anniversary of his parents, Flight Lieut. Norman Charles Lindsay, R. C. A. F., took Norene Elizabeth Ellen Croxall as his bride, in Trinity United Church, Uxbridge, Wednesday afternoon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Croxall of Uxbridge, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindsay, of Lindsay. Rev. Leo Atkinson officiated, and Mrs. J. W. Deyell of Lindsay was at the organ. During the signing of the register, Oswald and Wilmott Croxall, brothers of the bride, sang "Still As The Night."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in petal white lace over satin, patterned with a fine flower motif, with softly gathered skirt, fitted basque with long sleeves, and a deep heart-shaped neckline. Her finger-tip veil fell from a spray of orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephantois and swansouia with pastel petals.

Misses Muriel Suggett of Uxbridge and Gwendolyn Hall of Toronto attended the bride, frocked alike in cloud violet crepe, on similar lines to the bride's, with deep sheer yokes accented with appliqued crepe motifs. They wore matching violet chaplets and carried miniature cascades of pastel roses and gladioli petals.

Rufus Ellison of Toronto attended the groom as best man, and the ushers were Newton Brown, of Toronto, Donald Bigson of Bowmanville, and Oswald and Wilmot Croxall, brothers of the bride.

At the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother received the guests in a frock of fuschia crepe, black accessories, and a corsage of ivory roses and fuschia petals. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore a frock of navy blue sheer, matching hat and accessories, and a corsage of Sweetheart roses and pink petals. For travelling, the bride donned a grey tailored ensemble, tan accessories, and an orchid corsage.

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON
(Society Editor of The Examiner)

With the end of summer looming many women are getting that listless "let down" feeling that is so often the result of continued pressure in hot weather. Business girls lose the ability to relax and get the full value from their rest, because they're too keyed up from nervous strain, and it soon tells on tempers, and eventually in health.

To get rid of that "dragged out" feeling after a hectic day, learn to "relax" and ease every muscle. First, lie across the bed, head down, with hands resting on the floor, and feel the muscles loosen, and that aching tiredness disappear. If feet ache after long hours of standing behind a counter, try soaking them in cold water, and then hot, alternately and then prop them high, while lying flat and completely relaxed for a good half hour. Take it easy, and feel the tenseness gradually leave and be replaced by a soothing, restful feeling.

Voices can get tired too, and one of the best ways to cure that trouble is to practise a few big wide yawns. As soon as you get started, it's really easy to stretch your mouth muscles with some prodigious ones which go a long way towards relieving tension. Breathe in, slow and deep, holding the breath as long as possible before releasing it suddenly. Do it half a dozen times—it's really good exercise, and healthful too.

General tiredness is reflected in lackadaisical movements, but is most frequently mirrored in the face. Muscles have a tendency to slacken, and eyes become dark-circled and red-rimmed. Little wrinkles, those complexion gremlins, often get their hold when a woman is tired out, and are very stubborn and difficult to eradicate.

Face Care

Try these few tips for general face care, and to aid in the prevention of permanent lines. Here are the "don'ts". Don't wrinkle up your forehead when concentrating, it causes deep furrows that just won't go away. If bothered with the annoying habit of pulling at ear or mouth when embarrassed or thinking, concentrate and overcome it, since it destroys poise, and distorts the natural expression of the face, causing slackening of certain muscles. Don't rub sore, aching eyes; it only increases the irritation and makes them swollen and red. Don't pull at your hair when reading or thinking. This is a common ailing and can wreck a carefully arranged coiffure as well as causing a strained expression around the eyes.

Now for the credit side of the ledger, here are the "do's" Learn to relax, and practise taking it easy or a few minutes after a trying day. When tired, massage the forehead in a rotary motion with the second and third fingers. For aching eyes, blink them open and shut several times, or cover with pads soaked in witch hazel and lie back and rest while restoring their natural beauty. Remember, when applying makeup always keep the face completely relaxed, and be surprised and the ease with which makeup goes on, and how natural it appears.

Beauty masks are an invaluable aid to restoring natural complexion beauty. Here are a few ideas which can be tried at home, and produce excellent results. First of all cleanse the face thoroughly with a rich cold cream, followed by a good washing with a rich soapy lather. To soften blackheads, make a mixture of uncooked oatmeal and almond meal and a few drops of milk, mixed to form a paste, and apply. To make the paste bleach, add a few drops of lemon juice or peroxide.

Beauty Masks Good

Another popular beauty mask, often used in beauty parlors, is the simple honey mask, made by generously patting liquid honey into the skin, like a cold cream. With honey rationed, this may not be just the thing, but it really doesn't use much. Buttermilk is also good toner, since it bleaches the skin slightly. Whatever method is chosen leave the mask on from 12 to 15 minutes, and remove with cold water. After the treatment has been completed, a look in the mirror will show that it was definitely worth the effort.

Leather Luggage

Practically everybody has been away on holidays, and is packing away the old suitcase for another ear. Leather goods are scarce, so it might be wise to "re-condition" that faithful old club-bag or grip before consigning it to the attic for a long winter's nap.

First of all, wipe the leather clean with a damp cloth, and rub dry with a soft cloth. Apply a mixture of linseed oil and vinegar, made by boiling about a half pint of the oil in an old saucepan, and, when nearly cold, stirring in an equal quantity of vinegar. Pour into a bottle, and rub a little on the leather with a flannel, polishing with a soft cloth. The mixture will last indefinitely, and will be useful for brightening up other leather articles around the house. Shake the bottle well before using.

PYJAMAS FOR DINNER—The peekaboo shirt fashion is very much at home in this pyjama ensemble dedicated to the well-dressed hostess. It is an item that rates space in summer trousseaux, as this department doesn't hesitate to suggest wearing a long skirt with the lovely blouse to turn the model into a diner-outer on occasion.

VELVET TIME—Velvet is the beautiful and effective advance guard of winter fashions, but the velvet frocks we have seen are so soft, so light, that women will hardly wait for autumn to get started wearing them. Done in the New York manner is this enchanting and young dinner dress of very light-weight black velvet with soft yoke and frill and simply voluminous sleeves of soft white marquisette. Here, certainly, is something different in the jumper dress!

QUESTION — Would you please remember to print your own recipe for Tomato Catsup a little before tomatoes are at their best. I plan to make some this year and think my recipe contains too much vinegar and too strong spices. Thanks for help with my canning this Spring.

MONA HANS.

ANSWER—This is a favorite with me.

Tomato Catsup

Eight quarts ripe tomatoes, 1 quart mild vinegar (or 1 pint strong vinegar and 1 pint water), 1 cup brown sugar, 1 onion sliced, 3 tablespoons salt, ¾ tablespoon cayenne, 1-3 cup mixed pickle spice. Wash and cut the tomatoes in quarters, add the onion and vinegar, and cook, boiling as hard as you can without splashing, until soft. Strain through strong medium fine sieve. Add the sugar and spices (all of which except the cayenne should be tied in bag to keep color bright), and cook rapidly uncovered until thick. Cooking rapidly gives the finished catsup a better color. Do not burn the catsup. Remove the spice bag, pour boiling hot into sterilized bottles through sterilized funnel, sealing by putting corks in tightly by driving them in, and cutting them off even with tops of bottles, dip in melted paraffin or wax, letting wax or paraffin come well down on necks.

QUESTION — Last winter you printed a recipe for a pineapple ice box dessert, that was quite rich, but you said one of its good points was that it could be made the day ahead of a party and needed no other work on it than cutting when serving. I tried it and thought it was good. Now I want something like it made with orange—I suppose you'd call it Orange Ice Box cake— because of course we can't get pineapple now.

MURIEL BELL.

ANSWER—The following is a good dessert for the purpose and can be made any time of the year.

Orange Icebox Cake

One tablespoon gelatine, 3 tablespoons cold water, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, ¾ cup orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 2 dozen lady fingers or 1 small size sponge cake. Soak the gelatine in the cold water. Scald the milk in double boiler, mix the cornstarch and sugar together and add to the hot milk. Cook a few minutes longer in order to cook the eggs, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in the softened gelatine. Add the orange juice and rind. Line a mould with lady fingers, then fill with alternate layers of the cooked mixture and lady fingers on top. Chill for 4 hours or preferably overnight. Serve with or without whipped cream—but garnish with orange wedges freed from membrane and sliced cherries.

◆ ◆ ◆

QUESTION—I plan to serve a cantaloupe salad as the only course for a bridge luncheon. Would you tell me what fruits to combine with it—I though I would serve various fruits in half a melon to each lady. Tell me what dressing to use.

MRS. HALL SMITH.

ANSWER—Cut your melons in halves with sawtooth edges. Gently mix together wedges of orange (no membrane), crescent-shaped pieces of peach, slices of red and green maraschino cherries. Let stand in sieve to drain. Place in melon halves when ready. Serve sour cream dressing in cups made from halves of lemon skins.

Sour Cream Dressing: One-quarter to ½ cup thick sour cream, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon powdered sugar, 1-3 teaspoon custard, 3 tablesons vinegar or lemon juice, ½ to ¾ cup salad oil. Beat cream stiff with dry ingredients, add oil 1 teaspoon at a time beating. Add vinegar last slowly while beating. Good on vegetable or fruit salads.

AUGUST TROUSSEAU—Being a bride these times isn't just a June, August or November state of mind, as it once was, fashionably speaking. But August is still a favorite month, even if it's a furlough and not a Summer holiday which the groom (and often the bride, too) are using for the honeymoon. The white chiffon negligee shown here is fine trousseau fare, really beguiling and gently priced.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

Dear Mary Moore: One of the reminders from the Department of Agriculture said that if we were undecided what kind of pickles, to make, make them with tomatoes, such as catsup, chili sauce, tomato butter, tomato and celery relish, etc., so as I think my chili sauce is very good —it does not call for the fruit that is so popular with many cooks, —I am giving it to you.

Mrs. Perry's Chili Sauce.

Eighteen large ripe tomatoes, 2 green peppers, chopped, 1 cup vinegar, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 onion, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon allspice. Boil slowly for 3 hours, then seal in steril jars, with screw tops, at once.

I make the following uncooked relish, because I think there are more vitamins in it, and it is pretty nice to mix with your chopped salads in the middle of winter.

Mrs. Perry's Uncooked Tomato Relish.

One peck ripe tomatoes, peeled and chopped and drained. The juice makes the relish too thin if left on. Chop finely 3 onions, 3 cups celery, 3 green peppers either hot or mild, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup salt, 1 oz. musard seed, 1½ pints scalding hot good quality vinegar. Mix well, put in sterile jars, and seal without cooking. Mary P.

I made a batch of the uncooked relish this morning and expect great things of it— that mention of adding it to winter salads made it sound most attractive to me. Thanks.

BABY'S CRY IS NOT ALWAYS TEMPER

DISTINGUISH between your baby's cry of pain and cry of temper. When it's the "pain cry" give Baby's Own Tablets at once. Mrs. May Mundy, of Toronto, finds they work every time.

"I am the mother of nine children, three of them prize babies, and Baby's Own Tablets have been my only medicine in raising them to the healthy children they now are. As soon as my children became a little feverish I at once gave them Baby's Own Tablets and in a very short time the fever disappeared and the children were normal again."

Equally effective for diarrhoea, upset stomach, simple croup, teething troubles and other minor ailments of babies.

Quickly effective. Sweet-tasting — easily crushed to a powder, if desired. Contain no opiates or stupefying drugs. Each package gives an analyst's report. Get a package today. Sickness often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

Make Your Own Chocolate Syrup with FRY'S COCOA

Take ½ cup of FRY'S COCOA and ¾ cup of sugar. Mix well together dry. Slowly add ¾ cup of boiling water, stirring meanwhile. Boil for one minute. Then pour into a clean dry glass jar. Cover and let cool. Keep this tasty chocolate syrup handy in the ice box, ready for instant use.

MARRIAGE

GRANT — SUCCEE — The United Church, Baptiste was the setting of a pretty wedding recently; when Rose Grant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Grant became the bride of Cecil W. Succee, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Succee, Peterborough. Rev. Terrill officiated and Mrs. Story played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her brother Dalton Grant, the bride looked charming in street length white silk jersy on long torso lines, with shirred bodice and three quarter length sleeves. She wore a shoulder-length veil and carried a bouquet of fushia and gladioli. She was attended by Miss Jane Succee, sister of the groom, in white sheer, and carried a bouquet similar to the bride. The best man was Pte. Alex Grant home on furlough, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was held at the home of the bride's mother for about 25 guests. The happy couple will reside in Baptiste.

DIED

WALKER—Hazel Shannon Walker, formerly of Peterborough, killed accidently in Cleveland, Ohio, dear mother of Ethel, and beloved sister of Bertha, Rene, Gertrude, Mable and brother Darral.

ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. E. G. Kelly, Chamberlain St., wishes to announce the engagement of her youngest daughter, Irene, to Vernon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Donoghue, Roger street. Wedding to take place quietly the latter part of September.

The engagement is announced of Annie Isabella, daughter of Mrs. Yeo and the late Mr. S. D. Yeo, Orono, to Stanley Heaslip Sharpe son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sharpe Ida. The marriage will take place early in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Darling of Warsaw wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter Iris Irene to Arnold C. Ferguson of 261 Hunter Street and the late John M. Ferguson. The wedding to take place early in September.

Had Quebec Liquor Pays $100 Fine

TORONTO, Aug. 24.—(CP). — Robert Abernathy yesterday was fined $100 and costs or three months on a charge of illegal purchase of a bottle of whiskey.

"Here's a man who bought liquor legally in Quebec and brought it to Ontario. What's wrong with that," asked defence counsel, Austin Ross.

Police Inspector P. McMahon said: "It's wrong, because regulations stipulate that liquor consumed in Ontario must be purchased through the Liquor Control Board of Ontario. Two cases last week in this court serve as a precedent."

Magistrate Hanrahan said he felt the minimum penalty provided by law was too severe and suggested Abernathy make application to the Liquor Board urging that it be reduced.

Dutton Declines Presidency Of Hockey Loop

MONTREAL, Aug. 24 (CP)—Mervyn (Red) Dutton decided yesterday that trying to run a business in Western Canada and heading the National Hockey League just wouldn't mix and annouced that he had declined the offer of the presidency of the hockey loop, at the same time resigning as managing director of the league.

Dutton took over the job of managing director of the N.H.L. in 1942 and was offered the presidency as successor to Frank Calder at a league meeting last spring. He took the offer under advisement for the summer but yesterday he came out with the news that sent the league looking for a new president.

"I'm resigning with much regret. I'd like to stay, but it would leave me too much out of touch with my business out West. It was a mighty tough decision for me to make after 24 years in the game, but that's the way it will have to be."

Several names are being mentioned to fill the post with three newspapermen considered as possibilities: Elmer Ferguson of the Montreal Herald; Baz O'Meara of the Montreal Star, and Bobby Hewitson of the Toronto Telegram. Other names which have been suggested are: George Dudley of Midland, Ont., former president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association; Billy Hewitt of Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens; Leo Dandurand, Montreal sportsman, and Frank Patrick, brother of Lester Patrick of the New York Rangers.

However, the matter of the new president for the league probably will remain unsettled until league officials meet in Montreal, Sept. 8.

Peterboro Soldiers

closing in. But this net was made of steel and the Canadians determined that none should get out.

Unknown to these Ontario men when they took over that key stretch of road and river Lieut.-Gen. Menni and his staff were planning a breakout. Unknown to them this Wehrmacht brass hat had ordered four Tiger tanks and one Mark five filled with gasoline from other tanks that were to be left to their fate. With these and 100 SS men in armored half tracks and backed by ordinary infantry on foot he meant to blast a way through the thin Canadian line.

The Ontario lads had scarcely dug in...they were not in position two hours...when out of the dark a savage attack was launched at them in the line below Trun. The company commanded by Maj. Jack Peterson of Peterborough bore the brunt of it, beat it off and captured the general.

Real Donnybrook.

The attack began with a blasting by the guns of the five tanks. Then followed a Donnybrook, according to the colonel as the German infantry rushed the river followed by the five tanks with their precision general snuggled inside one of them.

They over-ran the company, cutting off its headquarters and disorganizing its signals. But in the dark the company second-in-command, Capt. Jack Watt, gathered the rest on high ground 500 yards back and reorganized. They waited until the German infantry was just 40 yards away, holding their fire, and then cut loose with their machine-guns. They killed 75.

In the meantime from below, Maj. Peterson was plugging away at the tanks with his Piat gun. And also, from the high ground, two officers of an Ontario support battalion, Lieuts. Leatherdale and Howard Jackson, both of Ottawa, let the Germans have their fire. To cap it all Capt. Watts counter-attacked on the hamlet of Magney and retook it.

This company of Eastern Ontario men did one grand job here two nights ago for the loss of one officer and six men dead and seven men wounded. When dawn came they found the German remnants, those that were alive huddled in the sunken road to which they had been driven back. To our men's surprise the group included General Menni who was "just another Jerry" to them.

Altogether, inclusive of the general they rounded up 400 prisoners plus, according to the colonel, the general's diary and othes important papers, three fancy uniforms, a box of very good cigars and some very "fruity" soap—all in his escape tank.

In addition to more than 100 German dead they "killed" three of the German tanks.

Glad To Be Rid Of Him

The general, a big fellow who spoke little French, wore the iron cross of 1914 and of 1939. He was brought to the colonel's headquarters just after first light. The colonel sent him back to a higher headquarters.

"Did you give him breakfast," I asked. "Heavens no," he replied. "I haven't had breakfast myself and besdies I had no time at the moment to waste on generals. No, I just sent him on his way and glad to get rid of him."

Shortly after midnight last night the Germans staged another attempt to get through this unit's positions. But they were hammered fearfully by their machine-guns and Canadian artillery cut them to pieces. According to the colonel, not one German succeeded in penetrating to their positions.

Such is a sample fo the fighting which the Canadians have been doing in the month of the gap since they took Falaise. I asked the colonel, an Ottawa man, to tell me something of his regiment's job on the road to Falaise and beyond it to Trun. Things have been moving so fast and he was so tired, that he had difficulty giving me events in sequence.

On Objective in Hour.

His regiment was part of the infantry borne in armored carriers which, with tanks, attacked the valley of the Laizon in the Canadian assault on the last German positions before Falaise which broke the Germans finally and led to the plugging of the Falaise gap and the cutting off and cutting up of the German 7th Army.

His battalion advanced 6,000 yards that day across the Laizon and was on its objective within 55 minutes. They fought through a smoke barrage, laid down by our guns to cover them, so thick that they could scarcely see.

The woods in the valley of the Laizon, with the tanks using the roads, proved too thick to let the carriers through so the men jumped out of their vehicles and went through them on foot. On the way they knocked out one German tank with their six pounder gun.

It as their first tank "killed" for sure and they did it surely—an anti-tank gunner's dream, according to the colonel. They only fired three shots at it. One plugged the turret, a second holed the driver's compartment, and the third the engine.

There was a stiff fight for the chateau some distance beyond the Laizon on high ground. With a Tiger tank, dug in on one side and the river on the other it had to be carried by frontal assault.

One man did a great job there with his flame thrower. He was L.-Sergt. G. T Gurnock of Carp, Ont., and his crew, L.-Cpl. Poitras and Gnr. E. T Blair, Fergus, Dickenson of Listowel, and George Pigeau. Advancing under fire, they destroyed four enemy machine-gun nests and roasted out the infantry.

Foe Fled, Screaming

"The enemy ran out screaming," said the colonel. "It was the first time I have heard Germans scream and it was not without satisfaction. That was the end of their position. After Gurnock got through there just wasn't any more."

It was at the chateau that Cpl. Donald Richard N. Nicholas of Campbellford, did a job of initiative, devotion and courage which, according to his colonel, really led to its capture.

"As his platoon was advancing," the colonel related, "it was pinned down b;y murderous fire from the direction of the chateau and its officer was mortally wounded. Without orders, Cpl. Nicholas picked up his Bren gun, stood up and shooting from the hip, advanced alone. He killed four Germans and his boldness caused 30 others to surrender."

Companies commanded by Maj. Jack Shothard of Ottawa, in the van, and by Maj. J. F. Peterson of Peterborough, were the first infantry across the Laizon.

From this point, the regiment swung over to the Caen-Falaise road and captured and held the bridge on this main highway crossing the Laizon. That night they were relieved but they marched through the dark to Epany, crossed the river Dives without fighting and took up positions some 15 miles south of Beaumars, which they held until relieved again when they went to their present positions at Trun, where they closed and held the gap against all comers.

Such has been one Ontario battalion's job in this recent epic fighting which has smashed the German army and won the deisive victory heralded by Gen. Montgomery. These men of ours surely have their tails up and are raring to go onward and forward right to Berlin.

Gets Promotion

OTTAWA, Aug. 24.—(CP).—Maj. William Davidson Busk, 56, of London, Ont., has been promoted to the rank of Acting Lieutenant-Colonel and appointed paymaster for Military District No. 3 at Kingston, Ont., Defence Headquarters announced last night.

War's End Will Cut Aluminum

WASHINGHTON, Aug. 24.—(AP).—A government expert cautioned to-day that post-war utilization of the United States' mushroomed aluminum producing capacity "may be far more difficult and take longer to solve than did the expansion of production from 327,000,000 pounds to 2,100,000,000 pounds in three short years."

Writing in the current issue of "Domestic Commerce," published by the United States Commerce Department, Walter A. Janssen, chief of the Department's metals and minerals unit, said:

"Obviously the industry cannot immediately utilize in peacetime this mushroomed wartime plant.

"Airplanes will doubtless yield to other products of the transportation industry, which has been the largest single consumer of the metal."

However, Janssen said civilian suppliers, "denied the opportunity of obtaining aluminum at 15 cents per pound because of wartime restrictions, may already have developed plans for utilising surprisingly large tonnages."

If the supply decreases any time we have that 74 per cent to fall back on and we simply divert from the manufactured products the milk we need to make up the requirement for the bottle trade."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WEAKNESS A VIRTUE

THERE IS a time when weakness in high cards is a virtue. That is when you are making an overcall of the opponent's suit bid with a different suit which can be shown at the range of one, if you have a satisfactory amount of total trick-taking ability in the one suit you called. You know, holding length like that, with little high card strength, that you cannot take much on the defense against your opponents. As near as you can tell, a game for them is likely unless you interrupt the free course of their bidding.

North: ♠ Q J 10 6 4 ♥ 10 5 ♦ A 6 5 ♣ J 9 4

West: ♠ A 8 7 ♥ A 9 6 ♦ K Q J 10 8 4 ♣ K

East: ♠ K 5 ♥ K J 8 3 ♦ 9 7 ♣ Q 8 7 5 3

South: ♠ 9 3 2 ♥ Q 7 4 2 ♦ 3 2 ♣ A 10 6 3

(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1. 1 ♦	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT
2. 1 ♦	1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♠
3 ♦

Many things happened on this deal in a national tournament. The bidding at two tables is recorded above.

It was easy for East and West to reach a game contract at the first table, and play for the contract proved easy after a heart lead presented the declarer with a gift trick. In fact, five-odd were made. At other tables, with a spade lead, three got made because diamonds were played before clubs.

North prevented the game contract at the second table by injecting an overcall which was thoroughly sound. He had three playing tricks in spades and one in diamonds, a total of four. If he took no more and was doubled that would mean getting set only three tricks, a worthwhile sacrifice against such power.

The vulnerable opponents refused to be shut out by his overcall, but both of them were afraid to bid No Trump, because neither had a possible double stopper. With just a single stopper in each hand, they were both afraid to try it. Making an extra trick at 3-Diamonds was poor consolation for the game they were scared from.

What is the great risk taken by North on a deal like this if he doubles both heart and club bids by West for business?

Polish Women Claim Reds Ignore Plight

LONDON, Aug. 24 (CP)—Declaring that the world is ignoring their plight, Polish women of Warsaw have appealed to Pope Pius XII to bless Patriot forces battling in the city "for church and liberty," according to the Polish Telegraphic Agency.

The appeal, broadcast by radio, deplored the fact that "Russian armies which have been standing at the gates of Warsaw for three weeks do not move a step forward," the agency said. Help sent by Britain in the form of supplies dropped by plane was described as insufficient.

Eden Church Has 44th Anniversary

APSLEY, August 24 — (ENS) — Eden United Church, Haultain, held its 44th aniversary on Sunday. Rev. H. J. Mahoney of Knox Church, Peterborough, was speaker, and gave inspiring messages at both services. The organist, Miss Isobelle Reid, presided at the organ, and at the morning service the full choir gave an anthem and the Junior choir sang. Mrs. Walker, Toronto, sang a solo, Mrs. Robinson, Toronto, sang a solo and Mr. and Mrs. Rbinsn sang a duet.

Immeditely following the morning service the new gateway with inscription "Eden United Church" was dedicated to the memory of the pioneers who labored sa untiringly to erect the church which they left as a place to worship God.

At the evening service Rev. Mr. Mahoney took as his text Revelations 3, 20, the theme "The Stranger at the Door." Mrs. Walker sang "The Stranger of Galilee," the full choir sang "My Song," and Mrs. W. Church and Miss G. Langton of Peterborough sang a duet, "Waiting on Jesus." The Junior Choir sang again. At the conclusion of the sermon Mrs. W. Church, Mrs. Stanley Northey, and Miss G. Langton sang a trio.

Among those who attended were Mr and Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Sneath of Toronto, Mrs. Robb, Mrs. W. N. Hales of Peterborough, Rev. Stirling Navy Doctor Helping Civilians

BONARLAW, Aug. 24 (ENS) — A peacetime psychiatrist for the Ontario government and at present attached to an Atlantic Naval base, Surgeon Lt. Cmdr. Marvin Wellman, R.C.N.V.R., of Stirling and Whitby, has been granted permission to treat civilian patients on a spare-time basis due to the illness of the only regular civilian psychiatrist in Newfoundland. Medical officers in the Armed Forces ordinarily never treat civilian patients.

Permission was granted after an appeal for help was issued by local health authorities; and the R.C.N.'s senior medical officer in Newfoundland said the Navy was delighted to reciprocate for some of the generous and excellent cooperation received by it since the base was first established. Dr. Wellman, in addition to his regular work, visits the Newfoundland Mental Hospital, a 650-bed institution, two or three times a week.

Paris Suffers Four Years Under German Yoke

By DWIGHT L. PITKIN,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

The Germans entered Paris on June 14, 1940, in a lightning conquest of France that stunned a world which thought the French army and the Maginot line invincible.

They goose-stepped up the broad Champs Elysees and under the Arc De Triomphe built by Napoleon. Hitler came and gloated atop the Eiffel Tower.

The German occupation forces sougth to win the French to their side, needling them with propaganda that the Democracy of the Third Republic was decadent and that France had a place in the German new totalitarian order. A small minority which always had been Fascist-minded collaborated, but the mass of people in Paris and the rest of France silently and hopefully awaited the day of liberation. A vast underground army was organized throughout France.

Nazis Took The Best.

Paris had experienced four years of queueing up for food, cycling or walking to work, curfew hours, firing squads, black markets and the strutting of Nazi officers who monopolized the best hotels, the best shows and all the comforts that pre-war Paris had enjoyed.

Paris had suffered from Allied air raids against German targets within the area of the capital—such as the Renault Works and Le Bourget airfield. German broadcasts perhaps had exaggerated civilian casualties, which were estimated in the thousands.

But Paris had suffered more than in the First Great War when the Germans besieged the ctiy from a distance of 20 miles and fired shells from long range guns that left scars still visible on some of the mellowgray buildings.

Since the German occupation Paris, whose pre-war population was 2,829,746, has been virtually a ghost city, the young men prisoners of war in Germany, its children evacuated to the countryside. Lack of fuel shut down the Metro (subway) system. There was no gasoline to operate the big green buses or taxicabs.

The Germans carried on their customary anti-semitic campaaign, rounding up thousands of Jews who were sent away to concentration camps. A puppet press followed the Nazi line.

One feature of Paris which the Germans never dared change was the flame burning over the tomb, under the Arc de Triomphe of France's unknown soldier of the First Great War. But the custodians of the shrine were fined 6,000 francs for exceeding the gas quota allotted for the flame.

Had Indigestion, Backache, Headaches; Praises Syntona

Says She No Longer Suffers With Gastritis, Heartburn, Dizzy Spells, Cramps and Constipation. Nerves Are Calmed; She Sleeps Better and Has More Energy.

MRS. MAUDE SPEARING

Almost every day you can read in the papers about how local folks have been relieved of common ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and their long train of painful symptoms, by taking a treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound. Syntona helped them. Don't you think it will help you, too? Here, for example, is the splendid experience of Mrs. Maude Spearing, 159 Locke Street, North, Hamilton, as reported recently:

"During the early part of this year I felt nervous, weakened, and run-down. My appetite was poor and the little food I did eat just seemed to sour in my stomach and cause gas, cramps and heartburn. There were gas pains all through my chest, spots floated before my eyes, and I was subject to throbbing headaches and pains in my back.

"I have only taken a short treatment of Syntona, but already it has done wonders for me. My appetite has improved and my food digests well, without all that gas and indigestion. I am free of headaches and dizzy spells and I got relief from the pains in my back. I sleep soundly and I arise mornings feeling rested and ready for the day's work."

If you, who read this, suffer like Mrs. Spearing did, make up your mind to begin taking Syntona to-day. See how much better you, too, can be feeling in just a short time.

Go to Elliott's Drug Store, Peterborough, and find out how Syntona can help you, too.

Reds Nearing Galati Gap In Romania

Romanian Troops Surrender By The Thousands

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MOSCOW, August 25 — (AP). — Two Red Armies, slashing deeper into Romania against an apparently tottering enemy from whom 47,000 men have been taken as prisoners in five days, to-day were within 35 miles of the Galati Gap defences guarding the Danube gateway to Bucharest and the Ploesti oil fields.

The armies of Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky and Gen. Feodor Tokbukhin, obviously taking no chances on the outcome of Romania's peace bid through King Michael, swept up more than 550 cities, towns and villages yesterday, including the Bessarabian capital of Chisinau (Kishinev).

In a lightning attempt to get a firm grasp on Romania before her Nazi overlords can complete plans for counter measures, the Soviet armies took 25,000 German and Romanian prisoners in a single day, and sent spearheads to less than 100 miles from Ploesti and slightly more than that from Bucharest.

Come as Liberators.

Front dispatches said Red Army tankmen, as liberators and not as conquerors, cruised through hundreds of Northern Romanian towns and villages, followed by sweaty, dusty columns of singing infantry.

Red Army political officers, carrying out the official Russian position, explained to Romanian soldiers and civilians that liquidation of German forces in the country must be achieved before military operations cease and an armistice can be concluded.

Civilian populations literally cried for joy on hearing of a second promise by the Soviet Government not to annex Romanian territory, or change its existing social regime, or harm its independence, the dispatches said.

There were no indications still whether the Germans hoped to draw up a new defence line. They are vastly outnumbered by the 2nd and 3rd Ukrainian armies

The Germans have been fleeing in such haste during the last 24 hours they failed to demolish the bridges and left some fortifications unmanned.

Seizure of Barlad on the Iasi-Galati railway, 58 miles north of Galati, put the Russians within 35 miles of previously prepared Nazi defences along the Lower Siret and Putna Rivers in the 45-mile-wide gap between Galati and Focsani at the edge of the Carpathians.

Other major strongholds to fall yesterday were Roman and Bacau, north-west of Barlad.

Japan Claims Landing Blocked

LONDON, Aug. 25 (AP) — The Tokyo radio asserted today Allied troops had attempted a landing on the Mapia (St. David) Islands off the northwest coast of New Guinea but had been repulsed. There was no immediate report from Allied sources on any activity in the Mapias.

The Mapias are about 150 miles northwest of the Schouten group, which lie immediately off the New Guinea coast and are about 300 miles east of Halmahera, which has been a repeated target of Allied bombing attacks recently.

Halmahera is only 300 miles from the Philippines.

The Federal Communications Commission in Washington quoted the Tokyo radio as saying Allied troops actually had effected a landing in Mapia Thursday morning but had been driven off by noon. This version said the attackers had suffered "heavy losses."

Scarcity Of Landing Barges Slows Eastern Operations

By WILLIAM F. BONI—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 25 — (AP). — Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten has returned to his post as head of the Allied command in southeast Asia after a series of conferences in London with British and American leaders during which plans were made to step up the war against Japan, it was disclosed today.

Lord Louis Mountbatten's visit here coincided in part with that of James V. Forrestal, United States Navy Secretary.

Lord Louis said his men were fighting an often fanatical foe over some of the world's worst terrain and that the Allied hardships in this theatre largely were unnoticed by the "folks back home."

He declined to forecast future operations. Instead he reviewed to a press conference the campaign which has been hampered by lack of landing craft, withdrawn for use at Anzio and in France. He said the loss of their vehicles meant a revision of his plans "on a less ambitious scale," aimed at clearing the Japanese from northeast Burma and thus improving the supply situation for China and the U.S. 14th Air Force operating there.

The clearing of northeast Burma was accomplished by bitter fighting along 700 miles of jungle and mountain front by British, American, Indian and West African troops, often wtih invaluable aid from Wachin and other Burma tribesmen.

"The Japanese fortunately played into our hands," the southeast Asia commander said by sending three divisions on an ill-fated march into Manipur State in India last March.

Fighting in Burma in 1944 cost the Japanese a minimum of 42,000 killed and the Allies 10,000 killed, 3,000 missing and 27,000 wounded, he said. Lord Louis said a quarter million casualties had been suffered from sickness, chiefly malaria and dysentry.

The southeast Asia commander said he believed Japanese troops morale was lower but that the Japanese soldier retains his stupidity which enables him to fight to the death. He said Japanese equipment was not improving, but that Allied material is improving constantly. Allied air superiority has been established.

5,000 Bombers Hit Oil Targets

LONDON, Aug. 25 — (CP) — R. A. F. Mosquito bombers blasted objectives in France and Belgium last night, continuing an Allied air offensive in which 5,000 planes from Britain and Italy struck yesterday at vital oil and industrial targets from the Baltic to the Balkans.

(The German home radio warned this morning that Allied bomber formations from the south were over German Silesia and that other formations from the west were sweeping over Schleswig-Holstein and the Baltic area.)

R. A. F., Canadian and other Allied aircraft were credited with destroying at least 65 enemy vehicles last night in the Gournay area 50 miles northwest of Paris on the railroad to Dieppe. Two trains also were bombed in the Gournay station, touching off large fires and explosions.

Fifty railway cars and a German staff car were reported destroyed in other sweeps over France and Bel-

Bombing Cuts Oil Poducts

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 25 — (AP) — Production of finished oil products for Germany was reduced an estimated 49 per cent by Allied air bombardments during May, June and July.

A joint statement of the R. A. F. and United States Air Force told of sharp curtailment of production capacity in Germany of both gasoline and lubricants.

Attacks were made day and night from bases in Britain, Italy and Russia on oil installations in Germany and in her Satellite countries.

"The enemy is finding the resulting situation extremely troublesome as is indicated by the overriding priority he has given to the repair and rebuilding of synthetic and natural oil plants seriously damaged in May, June and July," the statement said.

"A number of these installations have been repaired and put back into production. As a result of this emergency work, it is possible that some improvement in the overall oil situation may take place by the end of August, but in view of our continuing attacks, it is too early to say what the exact situation will be then."

Japs Get First Instalment

Stilwell Satisfied With Burma Progress

DANDY, Ceylon, Aug. 25 — (AP) —Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell totalled his account with the Japanese today and marked the first installment paid for the "hell of a beating" he admitted the Allies took in Burma in 1942.

An offical recapitulation of the 1944 North Burma campaign disclosed that more than 10,000 square miles of territory were recaptured.

"Similarities to the first Burma campaign but in the exact reverse are now appearing," said a southeast Asia command headquarters statement.

"Equipment taken by the Japanese in the 1942 retreat was retaken and used by the Allies. British and American automobiles abandoned to the Japanese have been captured, repaired, and are now ready for our use gain. British blankets and Australian anti-tank guns have been recovered.

"Even officers supplies, among the items once ours and then used by the Japanese were finally taken."

Moves In Balkans Panic Huns Hungary Uneasy

By WADE WERNER

LONDON, Aug. 25—(AP). — Germany announced officially today that "some" Romanian troops had stopped fighting and Moscow dispatches told of widespread local engagements between Nazi rearguards and King Michael's army, thrown to the Allied side by the Balkan kingdom's abrupt capitulation and reversal.

While Russian armies drove swiftly through the oil and wheat empire to within 35 miles of the strategic Galati gap between the Carpathians and the Danube delta, the Soviet Union informed Romania she could earn an armistice only by ordering her troops to fight "hand-in-hand with the Red Army," a move ordered in King Michael's startling proclamation Wednesday night.

Repercussions were sift.

Outflanked Bulgaria intensified its search for peace and London speculated that a capitulation from the Bulgarians would come shortly. Hungary's boundaries were bared to the advancing Russians and, according to Bucharest broadcasts, to the Romanians too. The liberation of adjoining Yugoslavia and nearby Greece were brought infinitely closer. Even Finland, far to the north, was reported planning new peace overtures.

Staggering Blow.

The German communique told of the staggering military and political blow which was Romania's about-face in these words:

"In the southeast sector of the eastern front, our troops are disengaging themselves toward the Prut and Siret Rivers. After parts of Romanian troops had ceased to fight, many enemy tanks were destroyed."

Robots Damage 17,000 Homes Every 24 Hours

LONDON, Aug. 25 —(CP)—Nazi robot bombs sent against England at the rate of 100 a day have caused "heavy casualties" and "shocking damage to property," the government asserted today in a fresh appeal to Londoners to keep their children away from the capital. (Last officially announced figures showed the death toll was nearly 5,000. It likely has surpassed that total now.)

The appeal came from Minister of Health Henry U. Willink in the midst of a several-hour lull in the bombardment and shortly after it had been disclosed that historic Lincoln's Inn in Chancery Lane was among the famous buildings smashed by the buzz bombs.

The minister of health, accompanied by Lord Woolton, minister of reconstruction, toured London's bomb-damaged areas. He said parents "must not let the glorious victories of the Allied armies blind them to the risks to which children who are kept in London still are exposed. We have to expect that these dangers will continue for some time —cornered beasts are dangerous.

Windows and woodwork of Lincoln's Inn gatehouse, which bears the date of 1518, as well as lawyers' offices and residential quarters adjoining, were badly damaged but no one was hurt.

Houses in the robot bomb area are being destroyed or damaged at the rate of some 17,000 every 24 hours, the British information services in New York announced yesterday.

Reason For Paris Confusion Explained By War Reporter

BY MERRILL MUELLER—NBC Correspondent

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, Aug. 25—(AP).—With the liberation of Paris by Franco-American troops now finally a fact, the destruction of the 16 German divisions remaining west of the Seine continued at an increased tempo today. The American push over the Seine at Melun, south of Paris, continues to make excellent progress. Mopping up operations are going on along the western outskirts and in the city.

Undoubtedly the world is asking what went wrong with the liberation of Paris following General Koenig's broadcast on Wednesday. Today I can supply some of the answers which I was prevented from releasing Wednesday evening.

I was with Lt.-Gen. Bradley for the final meeting with the group that came out of Paris under cover of a white flag to announce the surrender of the city. This group consisted of a Swedish diplomat, acting as a neutral protecting authority for the German units; a Belgian counsel; two members of the F.F.I. from Paris and a British officer. They had come through to our lines in Lt.-Gen. Patton's area, reported to him and were sent back to Lt.-Gen. Bradley for a decision. None of their stories agreed. In fact, the one British officer had to act as moderator of the meeting to keep their reports to strict fact.

The Swedish diplomat told Lt.-Gen. Bradley the German high command felt itself unable to confer in Paris; and would henceforth not take the responsibility of policing it. Then he itemized the German properties reportedly in danger. This was a bold-faced German effort to produce a clean record to the world while actually it was used as a carte blanche to carry out reprisals against the Partisans wherever and whenever the opportunity presented itself.

Stories Differed.

One Frenchman said the Paris Maquis controlled all the city. The other claimed the underground forces could only control those parts of the city that the Germans would not use for their withdrawal. The Belgian reported on the civil distress within Paris and the British officer gave the real sound warning that German defence positions in Paris were still intact, and a clear approach to the city would be costly.

Lt.-Gen. Bradley himself told me that beyond British officer he did not know who to believe, but that he was in a position to spare the French 2nd Armored Division and would order it to Paris. It was estimated the French 2nd Armored Division could not be within the city within 48 hours—and that is exactly what it took.

Later on Wednesday afternoon I flew to Paris in a reconnaissance aircraft. Other planes ahead of us over the city were dodging balloons and heavy ack-ack barrages, indicating that the French control of the city was not complete.

Paris certainly helped liberate itself but it remained for the gallant French armored forces together with large numbers of attached American units to drive the hated enemy from the city of glamor and strife.

Allied Armor Fights Inside Paris Dominates Capital

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(AP).—Paris appeared to be in Allied hands tonight with the French 2nd Armored Division operating in the city. Fighting, however, still was going on in and around the French capital.

(The liberation of Paris by French and American forces "is a fact," declared an NBC broadcast from Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters.)

Gen. Eisenhower's Supreme Command declared that Brig.-Gen. Jacques le Clerc's armor was operating in the capital and a broadcast from Gen. Eisenhower's Headquarters spoke of the liberation of Paris as "a fact."

As fighting continued, the French forces of the interior appealed by radio for Parisians to come to the barricades.

Broadcasts from the city of light said the joyous citizenry already were celebrating their freedom. Other radio dispatches said American troops had entered the city in support of the French.

Lt.-Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, Commander of the French Forces of the Interior, announced at 6:02 p.m. that Le Clerc's tanks were operating in the very heart of Paris and that the patroits were holding all the main official buildings and most of the highways.

Fighting Heavy.

Gen. Koenig said the Germans had barricaded themselves for a stand-off fight in several places. He declared that First French armored patrols reached F. F. I. headquarters in the Hotel De Ville (City Hall) just off the Rue De Rioli at 10 p.m. last night and that the bulk of the French armored division entered Paris this morning.

Both F. F. I. and German broadcasts said heavy fighting was raging inside the city and that an American tank column had riven into the Paris outskirts from Versailles in the west and along the Paris-Etamps raod leading south.

The Germans said the heaviest clashes with tanks and patriots were near the Arc De Triomphe and the Palais Luxembourg.

Brig.-Gen. Jacques LeClerc entered the Orleans Gate at 9.43 a.m. broadcasts from Paris said.

The bulk of the French General's Secon Armored Divisions — 30,000 strong—was massed in the Pont de Savres sector in southwest Paris and already had begun

Declares C.C.F. Greatest Menace

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 25 — (CP) — "The C.C.F. is the greatest menace that exists in Canada today," D. King Hazen, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Saint John-Albert, told a political rally here last night.

He said the C. C. F. party comprised "some Socialists, some Idealists, some practical politicians and some shifty politicians" who, if they ever gained power in Canada, would "completely upset the country's business."

"They are a Socialist party and would set up a big government monopoly. There would be one big boss. I don't want to be bossed in that manner and I don't think that you, the electors, want to."

Capt. William T. Cooper, Saint John, one of 41 C.C.F. candidates opposing 48 Liberals and 48 Progressive Conservatives in the New Brunswick election next Monday, said in a radio address that C. C. F. interpretation of labor embraced "every man and woman employed or capable of being employed in any capacity."

Men in the C. C. F., with more knowledge of the problems of white collar workers than men in any other movement, proposed to have these workers take their place beside other labor and march to a "fuller, safer and happier existence."

Agriculture Minister A. C. Taylor said in a radio address that everything possible to encourage farming always had been and always would be a Liberal policy.

Reviewing Government agricultural measures and contrasting conditions with those under Conservative administrations, he claimed Conservatives had done little for farming in the Province and now proposed to "introduce" measures which already had been made effective by the Liberal Government.

American Troops 20 Miles From Italian Border

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, Aug. 25 (AP)—American troops of the southern invasion arm seized the French Riviera resort of Cannes and thrust on today within less than 20 miles of the Italian frontier.

(Berlin radio declared German troops began withdrawing from southwestern France several days ago, and the German communique indicated the retreat extended over most of southern France.

(French headquarters said Patriot troops had entered Lyon, 170 miles north of Marseille.)

On the western beachhead flank, the Allies opened great assaults to crush German pockets still holding out in Marseille.

The Americans who took Cannes also seized the nearby inland town of Grasse.

Another U.S. column, pushing westward from Salon, northwest of Marseille, was reported within eight miles of Arles and the Lower Rhone River Valley, in the drive on that vital natural highway for juncture with Allied armies in Northern France.

Lt.-Gen. Alexander M. Patch's headquarters said nothing of gains by American troops striking north of Grenoble. Geneva dispatches said the troops had reached the Swiss frontier, about 70 airline miles north of Grenoble.

"The force which captured Grenoble after a spectacular advance northward from Draguignan was a flying column, including some armor operating in advance of the main body of the American troops, which subsequently has firmly occupied the area with the co-operation of the French Forces of the Interior," was the only official comment today on the activities of that swiftly striking force.

In Toulon French troops drew a ring of steel tighter around the desperate Germans entrenched in the naval port and the nearby coastal area. The French troops occupied the land arsenal within the city as well as the suburban town of Illioules to the northwest. The enemy's stiffest resistance was around the naval arsenal in the harbor and on the two peninsulas which almost landlock the harbor to the southwest and southeast.

Some 20,000 prisoners already have passed through the lines established on the beachheads, and hundreds more continued to march back from the rapidly expanding front.

Capture of Cannes in a five-mile advance at the eastern end of the beachhead was the first offensive movement toward the Italian frontier reported in recent days. It came after bombardment of enemy coastal batteries in that vicinity by Allied warships.

The Germans reported several days ago they had destroyed the harbor installations at Cannes.

Nazi fears that a full-scale attack might be launched eastward along the Riviera were reflected in air force reports of two Panzer divisions north of Turin apparently

Squeeze Seine Pocket On Four Sides Slaughter Wholesale

By WES GALLAGHER,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Aug. 25—(AP)— FField Marshal Gen Guenther Von Kluge was reported swinging his beaten German armies back to the line of the Somme and the Marne to-day in a headlong retreat which would abandon much of the channel coast and the vicinity of Paris.

The battle in the pocket south of the Seine, swiftly whittled to an area of only 20 miles long and 15 miles deep, appeared likely to be ended in another 24 hours as British, Americans, Canadians and other Allied troops pressed in from all sides. The Canadians, advancing along the coast, captured Honfleur, five miles across the Seine Bay from Le Tavre.

The Germans said they were engaged in a "detaching movement" below the Seine, and R. A. F. intelligence reported the pattern of the retreat indicated Von Kluge's armor was in a mad dash across the Seine toward the Somme and the Marne.

"The wholesale slaughter of the cream of Von Kluge's armor may never be repeated again in this war," a senior R. A. F. officer said in France.

Thousands Die.

"We just can't hit armor the enemy hasn't got," he explained.

Dispatches said side roads in the Seine pocket were lined for miles with the litter of wrecked German tanks and military vehicles, enemy dead piled in the ditches and under trees or draped over burned and smouldering equipment.

Evan if an attempted stand is made on the Somme-Marne line, the R. A. F. officer said, it was doubtful if the enemy has enough armor to make the sand he did in Normandy, and he spoke of the possibility the Germans would retire to the German border.

Dispatches from elsewhere on the front said great lines of Allied armor and infantry were swinging down toward the Seine, determined to keep the enemy on the run.

The swing of Von Kluge's line to the Somme and Marne would bring the battle to the hard-fought fields of the First Great War, the scene of the German break-through to the Channel at Abbeville in 1940 and the short-lived battle for France the same year when General Maxime Weygand vainly sought to save Paris by a stand along the Somme.

Nazis Complain Ally Deserted

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP). — The Cairo radio said to-day that Romania had declared war on Germany and that German planes "heavily bombed" Bucharest. The Federal Communications Commission recorded the broadcast, which was without confirmation elsewhere.

Earlier, the German radio commented bitterly:

"Russian troops have scored easy victories because of the attitude of Romanian troops. Those same Romanian divisions which a few days ago fought side by side with their German comrades defending Romanian soil against the Bolsheviks now have turned against their former comrades. The King's party won military headquarters for their plan even before the Russian offensive started."

Another Berlin broadcast said there was no resistance from parts of the Romanian army which had opposed the start of the Russian offensive last Sunday.

Churchill Visits Pope Pius

Has 48-Minute Private Audience

ROME, Aug. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill left Rome Wednesday after a 48-minute private audience that day with Pope Pius XII, it was announced today.

A Vatican announcement said "many essential questions were touched upon relating to important problems of the present hour." Mr. Churchill's visit was observed with all the splendor of the Papal court.

"It was a pleasant conversation," Mr. Churchill was reported to have told the Chamberlain of the Cape and Sword. As his car drove away from the Vatican, a group of Allied soldiers recognized the British prime minister and cheered him.

Mr. Churchill was accompanied by Sir Francis Osborne, British Minister to the Holy See.

In one of the formalities upon the prime minister's arrival, Swiss guards in 15th century uniforms presented their halberds as Mr. Churchill passed through the Clementine room.

"That's a sight far away from daily reality," Mr. Churchill said.

Hotels, Resorts Enjoying Boom Season

By DOUGLAS GREEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, August 25— (CP). — Americans and Canadians, buoyed by progress of the war and their pockets lined with more spending money than usual, have the wanderlust this year and hotelmen and resort proprietors, despite wartime difficulties, are enjoying a boom tourist season.

That's the word of D. Leo Dolan, chief of the Canadian Travel Bureau. Although the tourist traffic has not reached the proportions of 1941 and 1942, it is more brisk than in 1943.

"More people are on the move this year," he said. "They have more money. Take practically any resort area—they are all filled."

Many large resorts, such as those operated by hotel systems have been closed because of the shortage of help, "not because they can't get the business," he said.

Americans have been cheerfully putting up with all sorts of difficulties to spend a few days or a week or two in Canada, fishing, camping or just resting. There also is a heavier movement of Canadian travellers.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has estimated that travellers visiting Canada last year spent $89,500,000, and Mr. Dolan predicted this season's returns will exceed that figure.

Action of the United States Office of Price Administration in lifting the ban on pleasure travel in lower gasoline categories has contributed to the boom, particularly in the East.

"People who couldn't afford to travel before now are on the road or aboard trains," said Mr. Dolan. "Canadian hotels faced a big job in giving patrons service at the level which they had established before the war, but they have done a swell job."

many under-strength. This force of perhaps 400,000 men represents Nazi survivors of their Ukrainian armies, chased from that rich Russian republic in the winter campaign. Practically all are believed massed on the active front. Apparently it was to annihilate these Germans that the twin Russian offensives were aimed.

1 Million Casualties.

Romania has perhaps 25 to 30 divisions, many under-strength from losses suffered in the ill-fated Russian campaign which were estimated to have cost Romania up to 1,000,000 casualties. Part of these were at the front, perhaps half were in the centre of the country and near the border of Transylvania. Hitler awarded Hungary half of Transylvania in the 1940 Vienna dictate.

A Rome dispatch said a huge German motor convoy stretching 20 miles was strafed on the road northward through Yugoslavia toward Belgrade yesterday. There was no immediate indication whether this was the start of a German withdrawal from the Balkans following upon Romania's capitulation.

Lt.-Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commander of Mediterranean Air Forces, declared that when Romania capitulated, the country had become "more of a liability than an asset to the German army."

Beaten From Air.

"In the struggle for Romania's wealth, the Germans were defeated by long range air power," the American General said, "Germany's greatest prize in Romania turned to ashes. Ploesti's oil capacity was reduced 79 per cent from 709,000 tons per month to 77,000 tons. The production of gasoline was a most critical item to the Wehrmacht and this was cut 95 per cent. to 15,400 tons a month."

An AP dispatch from Cairo said the Romanian army of King Michael was understood to control the important Black Sea port of Constanta. Considerable German shipping and the Nazis' small but effective Black Sea naval force, consisting chiefly of E and U-boats, are based there. The expectation in Cairo was that the Germans would scuttle their ships.

Russia's offer of co-belligerent status to all Romanians willing to fight the Germans and Hungarians hastened a complete collapse of Nazi rule in the Balkans and implied recognition of Romania's right to Transylvania, said a Moscow dispatch.

Such assistance "is the only means for speedy cessation of military operations on Romanian territory and for the signing of an armistice," said a statement issued by the Soviet Commissariat for Foreign Affairs.

The broadcast Moscow statement, first official reply from an Allied government to Romania's announced decision to accept Allied peace terms, came simultaneously with reports that London and Washington were considering a Bulgarian armistice move.

Dealings with Bulgaria, it was reported in authoritative circles here, were initiated by a petition delivered to Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugesson, British Ambassador to Turkey, by an accredited representative of the Sofia government. It was believed any terms would be based on unconditional surrender.

From various quarters came reports that Romanians already were beginning to fight the Germans. Moscow said Romanian soldiers were surrendering in droves as the two-pronged Russian offensive drove more deeply into Northeastern Romania and Bessarabia.

The Soviet foreign commissariat made in clear that Romanian troops would be welcome Allies either in helping drive the Germans from Romania or in attacking the Hungarians through Transylvania, half of which was stripped from Romania in the 1940 Vienna dictate and given to Hungary.

Russia thus gave backing to Romania's announced intention of regaining this lost territory which the Balkan kingdom acquired after the First Great War.

Wants No Land.

The Soviet government has disavowed entirely any desire to acquire Romanian lands, to infringe upon the kingdom's independence, or interfere with its internal affairs.

There have been some reports, still unconfirmed, that Romanian forces have begun moving into Transylvania, although the Hungarian radio asserted all was quiet there.

London foreign office quarters hailed the Moscow statement as "very good news." Other London sources thought it highly possible that with Romania pointing the way Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland would all quickly desert Hitler. Capitulation of the Balkan countries would make the German position in Yugoslavia and Greece untenable.

Bulgaria's hope of hanging on to territory she grabbed in Hitler's division of the Balkans has been one of the chief obstacles to a surrender agreement with Britain and the United States.

Greece vociferously opposes any such condition, demanding return of both Thrace and Macedonia. A Cairo dispatch said the Greek government there demands that Allied forces occupy Bulgaria as punishment for "crimes" against Greeks.

to march in, said one Allied transmitter broadcasting from Paris.

Gen. De Gaulle was said to be at Bagneux, a south-western suburb six miles from the centre of Paris waiting to be conducted into the city where the carillons of Notre Dame and church bells throughout the city already heralded the entry of one spearhead.

Told to Hang On.

In the courtyard of the Seine police prefecture the Marseillaise was sung and soon the anthem was taken up throughout the neighboring streets. Streets of the capital were draped with Allied flags.

The F.F.I. was ordered to hold positions "at any price" until relief arrived in strength.

"A great part of the capital has been liberated," a Col. Rolle, identified as an F. F. I. commander, broadcast.

The patriots were in control of several bridges and all barricades were declared manned.

American forces stationed at Bourg la Reine and Bagneux started moving into the city at 8.15 a.m.

Other tanks and vehicles of Leclerc's command entered by the Chatillon Gate at 7.15 and travelled the Boulevard Brune.

The arrival of a detachment in the centre of the city was reported by an American correspondent in a broadcast.

A brief official bulletin at 11.15 a.m. (5:15 a.m. E.D.T.) announced the entry of the French forces in these words:

"Elements of the 2nd French armored division under Brig.-Gen. Jacques Leclerc have entered the outskirts of Paris."

It was noted here the Supreme Command did not yet describe Paris as "liberated."

It did not elaborate on the situation in the capital.

Orders for the French armored troops to march in were issued by the Supreme Command after the Germans had repudiated an "agreement" with the F. F. I. to get out of Paris and continued to fight underground forces which had seized the city's principal buildings. Finding themselves in a dangerous position, the patriots appealed to the Allied military leaders for help.

Previously it was decided to let the French 2nd Armored Division have the honor of entering the city, so Lt.-Gen. Badley pulled it out of the line and sent it in to attack along with the hurriedly scraped together American elements.

The French had to fight their way into the capital in a two-day battle after Brig.-Gen. Pierre Koenig, leader of the F.F.I., had announced the city in Patriot hands.

The German radio asserted that fighting is raging in Paris and that "terrorists" have barricade themselves in the Louvre, famous museum on the Rue de Rivoli in the heart of the capital.

The situation in and around the city itself still remained obscure.

Heavy Gunfire

Edward D. Ball, Associated Press war correspondent, said last night in a dispatch headed "Outside Paris" that German artillery had been offering heavy resistance to two columns of Gen. Leclerc's troops advancing from the west and the south. He said the Allies rushed up artillery to engage enemy batteries.

The western column drove a wedge of "unspecified extent" into German-held territory, while the other advanced to within nine miles of Paris, Ball reported.

The French radio "diffusion de la nation Francaise," in a broadcast last night, said a vanguard of Gen. Leclerc's forces had "advanced to the heart of Paris" and quoted an officer as saying he was leaving to bring Gen. De Gaulle, president of the French Committee of National Liberation, for a formal entry into the city.

The broadcast said there was still firing from the rooftops, and that "German tanks in retreat clashed with the defenders of the Ile de la Cite" in the Seine.

(Herbert Clark, Blue Network correspondent broadcasting from "outside Paris," said the Germans were reported moving strong new forces into the city, throughout which they had entrenched themselves. He said French Patriots controlled most of the suburbs.)

gium. One plane was listed as missing.

The Mediterranean Allied Air Force meanwhile rounded out yesterday's operations with about 1,500 sorties, keeping up the combined large scale air operations against btoh the north and south flanks of Hitler's wobbling armies.

The Mediterranean bombers blasted the Bologna railyards, other northern Italy communicaions along the Po valley, and oil refineries and airdromes in raids in northern Italy, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

Destruction of 53 enemy planes yesterday raised the three-day score to 155 in Mediterranean area operations. The Allies lost 19 yesterday

The raids followed night attacks on objectives in France and Belgium by R. A. F. Mosquitos. Last night also British and Canadian pilots seriously damaged two 1,800-ton German destroyers fleeing Bordeaux.

Targets of to-day's American raiders included four aircraft factories, three air force stations, a research center, a synthetic oil plant and the robot bomb station.

Simultaneously, nine waves of light and medium bombers attacked the fortifications of the besieged Brittany port of Brest for almost a solid hour starting at 3 p.m About 300 planes participated, Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters said. Elements of three German divisions have been locked in the Brest forts for several weeks.

Peenemunde lies on the Baltic, 110 miles from Berlin, and has been a frequent Allied target. Recent advices have said the Germans were developing their "V-2" weapon there, variously described as a 60 to 90-ton rocket carrying about a ten-ton explosive warhead.

Heavy bombers took advantage of their second successive day of good weather to disperse over Germany and bomb such targets as these:

Wismar, a bomber assembly plant and a bomber parts plant.

Lubeck, a bombers components plant.

Rostock, a bomber assembly plant.

Politz, a synthetic oil plant.

Labor Relations Board Reserves Judgment

TORONTO, Aug. 25 —(CP) —The Ontario Labor Relations Board reserved judgment yesterday in hearing involving the Employees Association of the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co., of Canada, Ltd., at Peterborough, and the company. The Employees Association sought intervention of the board with view to completing an agreement between itself and the company.

Appearing on behalf of the assocation, T. J. Carley ,told the board the association had an agreement with the company, which had been in operation for a year and provided for voluntary contribution of dues. He said the agreement was expiring and the association desired a closed shop, the company refusing to grant the request.

Duplessis Wins Charlevoix Seat

LA MALBAIE, Que., Aug. 25. —(CP).—Strength of the Union Nationale in the new Quebec Legislature rose to 48 last night as Dr. Arthur Leclerc swept to a one-sided victory over Independent Donat Lacroix in the deferred Provincial election in Charlevoix-Saguenay. With 124 of 125 polls reporting, Dr. Leclerc led 11,264 to 2,931.

The result left Premier-elect Maurice Duplessis with an overall margin of five supporters in the new Legislature. He had taken 47 seats in the general elections of Aug. 8. Liberals took 37 seats, the Bloc Populaire four, C.C.F. one and Nationalist one.

Dr. Leclerc moved into a commanding lead from the start, and his election was conceded by Returning Officer L. P. Dufour an hour after the polls closed. His margin was increased as further returns came in from the 300,000 square-mile riding which stretches from the banks of the Lower St. Lawrence to the borders of Labrador. Most of the riding's 25,000 votes are concentrated in this Lower St. Lawrence district.

The Liberals, who took Charlevoix-Saguenay by acclamation when they swept into power in 1939, did not contest the riding this time. Voting in yesterday's deferred election was described as light.

With Charlevoix-Saguenay definitely in the Union Nationale camp, only two Montreal ridings remained in dispute last night following the general elections of Aug. 8. In Maisonneuve and Mercier, judicial recounts were underway after a Liberal had been declared elected in Mercier and a Union Nationale supporter in Maisonneuve.

GIRL IN LOVE WITH TWO MEN
She Wants to Know Which to Marry; Advised to Marry Neither One

Dear Miss Dix: We are three girls who would like you to answer these questions. First Girl: I am in love with two men and cannot decide which one I love the better. Which one should I marry?

The answer is: Neither. You don't care enough for either one to take him on for keeps. Both boys have qualities that attract, but they only hit your fancy. They haven't that indefinable something that reaches down into your heart and makes you feel that life would be cinders, ashes and dust without them.

When you really fall in love, there won't be any doubt as to your feelings or your preference. You will know which man is it.

Loves Married Man

Second Girl:: I am 18 years old and I am in love with a married man who has a child of three. He doesn't care for his wife, but I think he has deep feelings towards me. What should I do?

The answer is: Don't start out your life by breaking up another woman's home and half-orphaning a little child. That is bad business that brings its own curse with it. A young girl's first love should have no regrets to darken its background.

An affair with a married man pays no dividends in happiness to the girl. In the first place, she smudges her reputation by having to carry on a hole-and-corner romance and she has to be ashamed of her love, instead of proud of it. In the second place, she will always have the stigma on her of having taken another woman's husband away from her even if the man eventually marries her. In the third place, if he doesn't marry her, she throws away her youth and her good looks in wishful waiting for the wedding that never comes.

Don't do it. You are young enough and pretty enough not to have to take second-hand goods in a husband.

Third Girl: I am pretty and attractive, yet I have no boy friends. How can I get them I like them about 19 or 20 years of age.

The answer is; Just now, when boys of that age are being inducted into the army, steadies are almost as scarce as hens' teeth and as hard to get. But, anyway, there is no infallible rule for snaring them in. All that a girl can do is to make herself pretty and attractive, be easy to talk to and get along with and make the boy feel, without telling him, how handsome and wonderful he is.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband has two children born out of wedlock. I knew about them before we were married. Their own mother is unfit to rear them and he wants me to take them and bring them up with our own child. He desires to legitimatize the youngsters.

My husband has been very good to me and he leaves the matter to me and I am anxious to take the children. What do you advise me to do? PUZZLED.

Answer: I think it would be a fine and noble thing for you to do and that you must be a big-hearted and broad-minded woman to meet the situation with such a good spirit. You are giving two forlorn and helpless little children a chance in the world and God will bless you for it.

Dear Miss Dix: Don't you think a child should be taught to obey when it is young? MRS. J. S.

Answer: If you don't teach a child to obey when it is practically in the cradle, you never do.

Obedience is merely respect for law and order. It is what makes people good citizens, decent men and women, and it is because modern parents do not teach their children obedience that we have this wave of juvenile delinquency that is flooding the country and that nobody seems to know how to stop.

Squeeze Seine

It would not surrender the rocket coast around Pas-de-Calais, but front line dispatches said an end might be put to the buzz-bomb terror for England soon.

Still a Mystery

There was a blackout of news on operations of the American 3rd Army southeast of Paris. No official report had been made on the progress of this spearhead nearest Germany since yesterday's announcement of an advance 15 miles east of Sens.

The Germans said the Americans were driving into the elbow of the Seine between Troyes and Romilly, and dispatches from that sector said a drive of miles could be made without seeing a single German soldier who was not a prisoner, and spoke of the complete disorganization of the German defence.

Almost forgotten, except by military men, was the siege of the great naval base of Brest in Brittany. But it was brought back into the news with disclosure that a nine-wave attack by Allied bombers sent 300 planes over its fortifications this afternoon.

A field dispatch said forces of the 1st Canadian Army broke out into the open along their front extending inland from the Channel coast to the area of Orbec, driving forward to within 15 miles of the Seine.

In one swift thrust, Canadian forces dashed 12 miles from Thiberville, 10 miles east of Lisieux, to Brionne on the Risle iver, the last important river barrier west of the Seine. Other Canadian troops smashed through Broglie, 17 miles south-east of Lisieux, and Bernay, eight miles north-east of Broglie, to cross a tributary of the Risle.

Canadians Gain Steadily.

At Brionne, 13 miles east and slightly north of Thiberville, the Canadians were closest to the Seine.

In the drive along the coast, Allied elements of the Canadian Army pushed beyond Trouville to take Villerville.

American forces were reported encountering heavy enemy resistance at Elbeuf on the Seine, 14 miles north-east of Brionne, whose capture was prematurely announced at Allied Headquarters yesterday.

The Germans shoved the bulk of their forces against the Americans at Elbeuf, who threatened to cut off their escape across the Seine entirely by driving 25 airline miles farther westward to the mouth of the river. Heavy fighting was going on on both sides of the town which the Germans still held.

At the present speed of the Allied advance the Lower Seine pocket, which extends from the vicinity of Elbeuf to Bernay, and then roughly toward the coast at a point four miles west of Honfleur, will be wiped out in another 24 hours.

Across the Seine and along the rocket coast of Northern France R. A.F. pilots last night reported German trucks were fleeing with their lights on from the coast toward Amiens, indicating a withdrawal in that area. At least 15 trucks blew up when they were attacked, indicating they were carrying munitions.

An Algiers radio report said the Germans were evacuating the big port of Le Havre on the Cape to the north of the Seine estuary in a hurry in an attempt to shorten their lines.

It was announced at Headquarters that the American bridgehead across the Seine River west of Paris at Mantes has been firmly held, despite a heavy German attack.

Mining News

TORONTO, Aug. 25 — (CP) — Losses were boarded by all four index groups in the early session while trading moved at a dull tempo. Turnover for the first three hours was only 266,000 shares.

Keep Huns Guessing.

The reticence of the Allied command regarding the swift task forces operating out of Grenoble and others thrusting northwest of Marseille toward Avignon and the vital Rhone valley roads north to Lyon, apparently was intended to keep the enemy guessing about the availability of escape routes from Southern France.

As isolated enemy units were attempting to flee toward Germany through the dwindling gap between Gen. Eisenhower's and Gen. Patch's armies, advanced Allied forces were expected to maintain radio silence concerning their precise whereabouts.

From the activities of Allied air forces in recent days it is evident that Nazi troops from Southeastern France still are trying to run the gauntlet north through the Rhone valley before the armies effect a junction. Fighter bombers have been hammering every piece of rolling stock spotted on the rail networks of Southern France.

Once Allied forces reach Avignon—and at last reports twin columns driving along the Durance valley were making rapid progress in its direction—the Rhone valley highways and railroads definitely would be cut.

For Saturday, August 26

UNUSUALLY lively and probably exciting situations may be expected on this day, when affairs in general may move in high tempo. In the event of such commotion or disruption it might be well to pause and give dubious matters serious reflection and elaborate plans and policies that may carry even minor defeats or disturbances and swing into more secure channels through sturdy and concentrated work. Be wary of strange persons and propositions and forge ahead. Shun litigation and be careful of the health.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a lively and tumultuous year, with many matters working under high tension. There are dangers of legal entanglements, with dubious propositions or investment, coming from irresponsible or erratic persons. Be alert to schemes and glamorous offers. Safeguard the health and that of the family. Those in important positions may prove uncooperative.

Goebbels Cuts Entertainment

LONDON, Aug. 25 — (CP) — A new "austerity" by Propaganda Minister Goebbels, Reich representative for total mobilization will close all German theatres, shows, cabarets and theatrical and music school effective Sept. 1.

Film and radio entertainment will be available only to soldiers and war workers.

Actors, circus performers and others will be drafted into the army.

Goebbels also ordered closing of all art exhibitions, art competitions and art colleges and the suspension of publication of fine art literature, fiction and most illustrated publications. The number of daily newspapers will be curtailed.

Two hundred travelling theatrical companies of the "strength through joy" movement who have been entertaining troops will be dissolved.

Professional schools, household schools and commercial colleges without direct bearing on the war effort will be closed and universities will be subjected to far-reaching restrictions.

People released by the new austerity order will be employed in armament production or taken into the Wehrmacht, Berlin asserted.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . .

My readers will no doubt welcome some pickle recipes for they are so nice in the winter to add tang to the dinner. As I have several recipes I want to give you, I will not take up any more space with remarks about them. Do try each one. Even if you only make a little of each, you will have a good variety for the winter.

Piccalilli.

Two quarts of green tomatoes, 2 cups gherkins, 2 green peppers, ½ cup chopped onion, ¼ cup salt, 2 cups vinegar, ¼ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon peppercorn, 1 tablespoon of mustard seed, 12 whole cloves. Wash tomatoes, gherkins, peppers and tomatoes, gherkins, and green peppers. Core tomatoes, remove any imperfect parts and chop. Chop the gherkins, half peppers, remove the stems and seeds and chop Mix tomatoes, gherkins, peppers and onion with salt and let stand overnight Drain, pressing out all superfluous liquid. Combine vinegar, sugar, peppercorns, mustard seed and cloves. Heat Add vegetables and bring to boiling point Pack in hot sterilized jars, filling to the top and seat once.

Bread and Butter Pickles.

Six onions, 6 quarts sliced cucumbers, 1 cup salt, 1⅓ quarts vinegar, 6 cups sugar, 1-3 cup mustard seed, 1½ tablespoons celery seed, ¼ teaspoon cayenne. Slice onions, combine with cucumbers and salt and let stand 3 hours. Drain. Combine vinegar, sugar, mustard, celery seed and cayenne. Bring to a boil and boil 5 minutes. Add cucumbers and onions. Heat to simmering point. Pack in hot jars and seal at once. This makes a delightful filling for sandwiches, either alone, or combined with chopped ham.

Concord Conserve.

2½ quarts ripe concord grapes, 1 cup hot water, 4 cups sugar, cup orange pulp, 2 cups drained crushed pineapple, 2 cups seedless raisins, 1½ cups nut meats. Wash grapes and separate pulp from skins. Place pulp in saucepan and simmer 10 minutes. Press through a seive. Add water to skins and bring to the boiling point. Simmer 15 minutes. Combine pulp, skins, sugar, orange pulp, pineapple and raisins and bring to a boil. Boil slowly, stirring occasionally for minutes or until thick. Add nut meats and bottle at once.

Security Talks Reveal Two Lines Of Thought

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 —(AP)— Limitations expected to be imposed on the projected world security organization now being outlined at Dumbarton Oaks probably will eliminate a plan advocated by some well-placed American officials to hand over peace conference problems to that agency, it was understood today.

British representatives are reported to have brought a strong conviction from the London government that the "liquidation of the war" must be separated from the organization of the peace.

The Russians have taken the line that all work not connected directly with the settlement of international disputes and the preservation of peace should be handled by international groups other than the security agency, although they almost certainly would have to be co-ordinated with it.

The conferees came to the end of their first work-week today and enough progress was made for State Secretary Cordell Hull to call in a bi-partisan group of senate foreign relations committeemen for a report. Also he arranged to hold his third session in three days with John Foster Dulles, Governor Thomas E. Dewey's foreign policy advisor.

The alternative plan for peace settlements—as contrasted with the idea of having the organization handle the job—is to hold a peace conference separate from the organization but, inevitably, composed of substantially the same member countries. This common membership would provide the links between the conference and the permanent agency which would have the task of administering the settlements worked out.

The basis United States position as enunciated by Secretary Hull is that, whatever conference system is used, no general settlement of war-created territorial and similar problems should be undertaken until a security agency has been set up.

Sniper J. Poole Killed In France

WARKWORTH, Aug. 25—(ENS) —Sniper Johnny Poole, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Poole of Percy township has been killed in action in France, August 14, according to word received Thursday night.

Enlisting in the Army at 17, he served for some time at Trenton on guard duty until he was discharged because of his age. When he was old enough to enlist, he signed up again and when he went to France he was with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders. Sniper Poole went overseas in May 1942.

Born June 30, 1922, the young soldier received his education at Warkworth Public School and remained at home until joining the Army.

Surviving besides his parents are five sisters: Mrs. James Runciman, Percy township; Mrs. Norman Laing, Cambourne; Mrs. Donald Yule, Dartford; Mrs. Aubrey Lockhart, Warkworth; and Mrs. William McComb, Campbellford. There are also three brothers, Charles and Harold at home and William of Norham.

Vagrancy Charges Withdrawn By Police

COBOURG, Aug. 25 — (ENS). — Charges of vagrancy against George Houde, Leopold Gingaris and Albert Marcoux, who were arrested by Provincial Police following a manhunt which started in Port Hope last week, were withdrawn in police court Thursday as the men had been removed to Peterborough where they face more serious charges. The trio are charged with theft of a car and various auto accessories, including tires.

Arrested in Belleville in connection with the same matter, Lionel Simard and Rosaire Dubois appeared in police court Thursday along with Georges McMitchell and were remanded in custody without plea until next Thursday. The three are residents of Montreal. At present they are only charged with vagrancy.

Two Lindsay Soldiers Reported Casualties

LINDSAY, Aug. 25 (ENS)—Two more casualties, one killed and the other wounded, have been reported in Lindsay. Mrs. J. J. Chalmers has received word of the death of her husband, Gnr. J. J. Chalmers, who was wounded and died in France August 8. He enlisted in hte army four days after war was declared, going overseas in 1941.

With the Provost Corps in France, L.Cpl. Colin Cresswell, only son of Mrs. Ursula Cresswell and the late William B. Cresswell, of Lindsay, has been officially reported injured while on active service in France. He received his injuries by blast, although the date and nature are not known. The young soldier has been overseas for two years, and enlisted in June 1941.

Veterans To Pay Visit

COBOURG, Aug. 25 — (ENS). — War veterans from Rochester will visit Cobourg on Saturday, coming over on the car ferry and will be met at the ferry dock by members of Cobourg Legion. They will parade to the park, where the U.S. veterans will lay a wreath on the cenotaph.

Campbell's Win Title Defeat C.Y.O. 19-5

COBOURG, Aug. 25 — (ENS). — Playing air-tight ball, Campbell's defeated C.Y.O. Thursday evening by the score of 19-5 to win the Girls' Softball League title. Hitting their stride early in the game, Campbell's outclassed the C.Y.O., the latter team blowing up under the pressure of Campbell's hitting. Campbell's played one of their best games of the year and C.Y.O. was unable to cope with the superior competition. Batteries for Campbell's were Jean Allen and Mary Campbell, and for C.Y.O., Vi Clement and Jean Keating.

Hitler Armies Will Fight To Last Ditch

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Hitler's shattered forces cannot long delay complete reclamation of Paris, but their sudden fierce resurgence, after ostensible withdrawal from the capital, provides us with fresh evidence that there's still fight in the cornered Nazis.

It's fair warning against the rather prevalent super-optimism which already has written the European war off as finished.

It's true, however, that the situation is so critical that anything can happen at any time. On that basis he might indeed collapse today, but he's not likely to.

Barring unforeseen developments, we have a lot of hard work ahead of us. Even if the Hitlerites should start to retreat toward their frontiers immediately, both in France and in the Russian theatre, many weeks likely would elapse before they were brought to bay, unless their retreat was an utter rout without any attempt at rear-guard defence.

In sizing up the situation we must not overlook this: There's every indication that so far as Hitler himself is concerned he intends to fight to the bloody end. Dr. Eduard Benes, Czechoslovak President who is himself a war veteran, predicts that Hitler probably never will surrender but that his army will disintegrate into small units which will fight singly to the end. Dr. Benes thinks "fighting for every place will be necessary even after the Allies invade Germany."

Grim evidence of the determination is seen in his latest regimentation abolishing all social and welfare activities in Germany, apart from motion pictures and radio. That's hitting rock-bottom.

The length of time Hitler can hang out depends on two things:

1. How long the German public and fighting men stick with him;
2. How hard the Allies hit him now when he's rocking on his heels.

So far as western Europe is concerned it's highly unlikely that Hitler will be able to make any protacted stand short of his own frontier. He's in the final throes of the disaster which has overtaken him in northwest France. But there are many natural defensive positions along his probably line of retreat, and it will be strange if there are no battles.

Meantime, the Germans are clinging for dear life to their own line in the east, and it will take time to shift them.

Coincidence

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 25 — (CP). — Two years ago, a golfing trio journeyed to the Bay of Quinte Country Club and had a game of golf. One of the members, Jack McKeown, lost his valuable pearl tie-pin. This week the trio were again playing golf at the same club, and Mr. McKeown noticed an object shining in the sun—it was the pin.

Victory Loan Objective May Be Raised

OTTAWA, August 25 — (CP).— Posibility the Government may raise the objective for the forthcoming Victory Loan above the figure of $1,200,000,000 at which it has stood for the last two loans, is seen here.

The Sixth Victory Loan in May yielded close to $1,400,000,000, and in his budget speech Finance Minister Ilsley placed the Government's borrowing requirements for the present fiscal year at $3,200,000,000, which leaves $1,800,000,000 still to be raised.

The sale of War Savings Certificates yielded about $47,000,000 last year, and will probably bring in about the same amount this year. The sale of Victory bonds is the Government's other chosen method of raising funds.

It can also borrow by the sale of short-term securities to banks and other financial institutions which have available funds, but it prefers to borrow from the public through the sale of bonds.

Plans now are being made for the Seventh Victory Loan, which will probably be offered in October, and were discussed at a meeting of the National War Finance Committee this week.

In view o the fact that the last loan went $200,000,000 over the objective and that the previous objective is well below the amount the Government needs the quota for the new loan may be set a few hundred million higher.

Soldier Breaks Ankle

COBOURG, Aug. 25 — (ENS). — Mrs. Jack MacLeod of Cobourg has received word that her husband, Gnr. Jack MacLeod, now in Italy, is in hospital there with a broken ankle. No particulars as to how it occurred have been received as yet. Gunner MacLeod went overseas last year.

Fred Storey Wins A. J. Madill Cup For Total Points At Flower Show

With a score of sixty-four points to his credit, most of them awarded to his gladioli, Fred Storey won the Dr. A. J. Madill silver cup in the revival of the Peterborough Horticultural Society's annual flower and vegetable show in the market hall, last night. This exhibition, suspended for four years of the war continues this evening.

Mr. Storey is a veteran member of the Society, and one of its past presidents. Outstanding in his display was a basket of gladioli in a striking harmony of white and red. The two varieties were "Margaret Beaton," a white with red blotch, and "Beacon," a scarlet with white blotch.

Another conspicuous feature of the exhibition was George W. Downer's dahlias, dominating one section of the hall with their rich colors and majestic proportions.

Public school children prepared for this year's show, and contributed an interesting section, including flowers and vegetables. Boys, girls of Queen Alevandra School, in the north end of the city, dominated their department, accumulating 191 points to win the Kiwanis Club trophy. This is the largest aggregate score ever piled up by a school in the Society's records, according to the information of William C. Wilks, secretary of the Society.

With a largely increased membership under the energetic presidency of Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser, the members were a little doutbful about the response of exhibitors after the four years' suspension in the preoccupation of the war, but they have succeeded in presenting a representative showing of flowers in spite of the long weeks of dry weather which undoubtedly took a heavy toll of local flowers, specially in quality for the show ring.

To All Car and Truck Owners

GENERAL MOTORS DEALERS SAY:

Thanks for Your CO-OPERATION

WE feel that full and well-merited tribute should be paid to you, the car and truck owners in this community. During the war years—and in spite of the absence of new car replacements—you have helped maintain vital transportation in an amazing way.

YOU have realized the need to preserve your transportation. You have sought to prevent minor troubles from developing into major ones—by dutifully and quickly attending to small repairs before large repairs became necessary.

YOUR part in keeping individual transportation in service has not been easy . . . For service shops have frequently been filled to capacity and on occasions, some delay and inconvenience has proven unavoidable.

FOR us, too, the task of car and truck maintenance has not been without difficulties. Skilled help has been scarce as also have been replacement parts. However, in spite of these trying circumstances, service has been maintained—today we stand pledged to continue keeping the wheels of transportation rolling—and to provide the highest quality of workmanship.

YOUR car or truck may have to last a long time yet. You are anxious to take good care of it and we want to help you to the utmost of our ability. Bring it in for inspection or repairs assured that we, the General Motors Dealers, value your business and can be depended upon to serve you efficiently and well.

Be No Different In Canada

Australian electors have turned thumbs down on the federal government's request for sweeping powers to carry out its post-war planning. In all but two of the six sta. :s of the Commonwealth a strong opp.sition was expressed to the government's proposals. The 14 points, which the Australian voters were asked, centred largely upon post-war proposals, to establish central control over employment, prices, profiteering and other related subjects.

Rejection of the program does not necessarily mean that the Australian people refuse to recognize the possibility of continuing certain wartime controls, for Australian commentators readily admit that certain of the Government's proposals would have been approved by the electors, had they been submitted separately. But the people would have nothing to do with a continuance of the present powers of the government after the hostilities cease.

The issue was really federal versus state rights, an issue Canada must deal with before very long. We in Canada at present have several schools of thought on the question of continuing wartime controls. Some people believe that with the end of the war all these special controls will be immediately abandoned. A thing which hardly seems possible if we want to avoid inflation. Goods are not going to become plentiful just overnight simply because the war has ended. At the other extreme there are those who gloomily maintain there will be no noticeable change for years to come. In between, is a group who maintain that certain controls must be continued for varying periods and that others may be dropped. The latter group is probably nearer the mark than either of the others.

But if such a vote were taken in Canada we believe the result would be no different. First we are a democratic people who value individual freedom as our greatest possession. While we will continue to demand greater social security and in the granting of this security our federal government cannot help but use the services of thousands of people to administer these social security plans, we do object to anything which might infringe on what we call our individual rights.

In the second place, except during a period of war, we are not by any means a federal minded people; the great bulk of our thought is along provincial lines. Possibly our provincial leaders in the past have been much to blame for us not being greatly interested in welfare of those in the other provinces. The policies in our schools, our health departments, our farm activities have been largely dictated by our Provincial departments. Many of our social security schemes and social services have come from our provinces and our relief from municipal taxation has also come from the province. Canada is a vast country, spread out thinly, in many parts across 4,000 miles with intermingling of the people of one province with those of another extremely limited.

As a people we stand united should there come that which we think is dictation from outside the country as was evidenced in the King-Byng episode in 1926 but among ourselves we are all for our own province. To overcome this a common history book in all our schools across Canada would do much.

These problems must be solved if we are to have a united Canada.

They Advertised For Rain

During the past month the Peterborough district has been one of the most drought-stricken areas in Ontario. The whole countryside burned up, root crops have been blighted, pasture is scarce and farmers' wells were going dry. The rain Wednesday night gave a little relief but much more is badly needed. Other sections of the province suffered a long dry spell but for the most part their relief came a week ago.

In this spell of dry weather we have a bond of sympathy with the merchants of Lincoln, Illinois, who recently advertised for rain.

An interesting feature of the advertisement was that the publishers of The Lincoln Evening Courier apparently had agreed that the 42 business men who under-wrote the "ad" would not have to pay for it if rain did not fall within a specified time limit. The advertisement which covered a page and a half of space was as follows:

We want rain! We want rain! We're cracking up! We're going wacky!

We're almost nuts. The gardens are burning up, and that ain't good 'cause the army's gotta have food! We want R-A-I-N!

If rain is to be had by advertising what a field has been opened up. However the advertising in Lincoln the Sarnia Canadian Observer says is a deep and unexpected tribute to the power of advertising. Merchants in Lincoln have seen such good results from their advertising that it easily occurs to them to advertise for rain. The publishers on the other hand also have seen such good results from advertising that they are willing to cancel the bill if rain does not fall. Rain, in certain circumstances, is "a consummation devoutly to be wished". If in that spirit there is a sincere wish for something, and something is done about it results will follow. The efficacy of prayer in great emergencies has been proven quite definitely in recent years and perhaps the approach used by the merchants is something in the formula of a prayer; but we are still old-fashioned enough to believe that it is an unethical kind of prayer.

Peterborough needs more rain but we are not suggesting that our merchants buy space in the Examiner.

They Scuttle The Ship

With Allied armies driving into France from the north and the south the men who have collaborated with Nazi Germany during the past four years are reported to have fled the country. What else was to be expected, their lives were not safe anywhere in France, and the rats that they were, they would be expected to scuttle the ship.

French patriots have been coming out of their secret places with their hidden weapons, weapons which have been flown into them by Great Britain during the past year, and are giving battle to Laval and his crowd.

Marshal Petain stuck longer than the rest, and apparently intended to wait his fate as the Allies approached, but the Gestapo had other plans, and early Sunday morning he was arrested and is thought to have been taken to Germany.

For Petain, we believe all decent Frenchmen will have a feeling of pity and contempt and they will probably let him spend his few remaining years in exile, an inglorious end to a man who in his earlier years did so much for France. But it is a different feeling the Frenchmen have for Laval and his gang of Nazi agents; their's also will be an inglorious end with their Fascist blood flowing from beneath the guillotine.

However hard their fate, it will be richly deserved, for when Frenchmen outside of France kept up the fight against Germany under De Gaulle and patriot men and women within France formed their secret societies to hamper and to hinder the enemy and prepare for the day of liberation, Vichy took the easy way and sought to make France a vassal state of Germany. They treated the loyal Frenchmen and women cruely and their deeds were on a par with Hitler and his Gestapo agents. In their collapse we cannot waste sympathy.

French troops are today fighting on French soil, outfitted by United States, and they are being hailed in town after town by the civilian population with great enthusiasm. They are fighting as never men did fight for they have much at stake and much to be regained in the name of France.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Commercial fishermen are complaining of a poor season. Low net profits, we presume?

The day of German defeat is referred to officially as X-Day. Meaning the day when X will mark the spot.

Rat skins are now being tanned in Germany. Well, they have an inexhaustible supply of raw material.

Marshal Kesselring, the Nazi commander in Italy, is reported to have been seriously injured by his own officers. You can stand too close to that Hitler salute.

It is probably a good idea for people in an office to be "just like one big family"—except that the quarreling and arguing sometimes interferes with work.

Patient Pirates

By J. H. GRAY

WHATEVER else may be said a t the Germans and their mad dreams of world conquest, this must be said to the credit of their intellect: They know a good idea when they see it.

They have indeed a genius for recognizing ideas of great value, just as they have a genius for turning good ideas to evil account. They quickly recognized the potentialities of the submarine, an American invention, as a war weapon. They took a British invention, the tank, and turned it into a blitzkrieg spearhead. They took the ariplane and made it into war's most horrible instrument.

The international cartel as an instrument of national policy seems to be a German invention. Yet the basis upon which the whole German cartel system is founded springs from a brilliant idea of a British chemist, Sir William Perkins.

Wherever the United States department of justice has probed into the German cartel underground it has hit the Interessen Gemeinschaft Farbenindustrie Aktiengesellschaft — the jaw-breaking formal name of I. G. Farben which means Community of Interest of Dye Industries, Incorporated. In the old days this could have been accurately shortened to "the German Dye Trust." Such is no longer the case, for I. G. Farben has expanded in all directions in Germany, its tentacles have spread into every country of the world and have sought to strangle and destroy competitive enterprise wherever they have spread. That they failed was not for lack of trying. The goal of I. G. Farben was not profit as such. It was power, not for Farben but for Germany

WHAT started as a bright idea in the head of a British scientist has expanded into an international conspiracy so great that no one save a few German chemists know its full ramifications. The United States department of justice has laid bare its American operations, has provided mere glimpses of its operations in Canada, Britain, France and South America. But I. G. Farben had engulfed all Europe, and Hitler's quick conquests in 1940 can be directly traced to the structure built upon Sir William Perkins' idea.

As an 18-year-old student at the Royal College of London, William Henry Perkins was experimenting wtih coal tar in an effort to get a synthetic quinine. He came up, instead, with an aniline dye, a delicate purple solution called mauveine. His brilliant mind quickly discerned the profound and revolutionary nature of his discovery. He sought to found a coal-tar industry, but neither the British government nor British capital showed the slightest interest. But the Germans did. They quickly saw the chemical vista opened by a coal-tar industry. They seized upon Perkins' invention and made it the foundation of the greatest dye and chemical trust the world had ever known. It was the dye trust which gave Germany synthetic nitrogen in 1913 and enabled Germany to go to war in 1914. It was the Dye Trust which gave German synthetic rubber and synthetic oil and gasoline and enabled it to go to war in 1930.

THE tactics used to force the greatest of American industries to obey Farben orders—deceit and fraud and patent racketeering—were the tactics used in the 1860s to wrest the fruits of Perkins' genius from England. Perkins was a student under the famous Professor Hoffman in London. Hoffman, who had watched Perkins' experiments, who had the "know how," quickly returned to Germany after Perkins' discovery to help found new laboratories.

When Perkins' next great discovery, natural red dye, was announced and patented, he discovered that a German chemist had beaten him to the patent in Germany by a single day. How? Here is Perkins' own description of the German patent pirating methods, quoted from the book, "Germany's Master Plan," by Joseph Borkin and Charles A. Welsh:

"He found from sad experience that whenever he sent over an application for a patent on a new dye-stuff, or new chemical compound of importance, the German Patent Office would at once call in, for consultation, the leading German chemists who were interested in that line of work. He would get request after request for more detailed information of every part of the process; and then when they had got from him every bit of information they could, they would grant a patent to some one of his German competitors."

THE Germans, on the other hand, flooded the patent offices of the world with their own patents. Many of these were faulty, many were plainly fraudulent, but the immediate objective was clear beyond question: to throttle competition. By the turn of the century, German patent manipulation had become a great public issue in Britain. Joseph Chamberlain, in 1883, made a stirring appeal for making compulsory license a condition for the issuing of patents. The German system was well summed up by Mr. Lloyd George in the debate on the patent law of 1907 when he said:

"Big foreign syndicates have one very effective way of destroying British industry. They first apply for patents on a very considerable scale. They suggest every combination, for instance, in chemicals which human ingenuity can possibly think of. These combinations the syndicates have not tried themselves. They are not in operation, say, in Germany or elsewhere, but the syndicates put them in their patents in vague terms so as to cover any possible invention that may be discovered afterward in this country."

That was in 1907. The German Dye Trust has come a long way since then. How far will be sketched in another article.

Presidential Guard

Col. Edmund Starling, who died in New York the other day, was bodyguard to five Presidents—Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt—and during three decades of service kept them all from even the suggestion of harm.

Kentucky born, he was a Presbyterian elder—and an incredible shot. He could keep a tin can rolling 30 to 40 feet ahead of him while he fired from the hip.

"I never knew a President," he once said, "who wasn't subject to human error like any other man, but neither did I ever know one who was not a gentleman."

When King George VI and Queen Elizabeth visited Canada and the U.S. in 1939, Starling collaborated with Chief Constable Albert Canning of Scotland Yard on their protection. The King said to him one day: "Colonel Starling, I understand you knew my father."

Nodding gravely, the tall Kentuckian drawled: "I did, suh, and if you make one-half as good a King as yo' daddy, you'll be all right."—Windsor Star.

HE'LL SOON GET BOTH — By Goldberg

A Quebec Lesson

From OTTAWA EVENING CITIZEN

TO the English-speaking democracies, elections, except by the relative majority system, are practically unknown. This is the original electoral system designed in the days when lack of education of the masses made it necessary to instruct them to mark their ballots with an "X". It would have been quite impossible to instruct the illiterate electors to mark their preferences with the numerals 1, 2, 3, etc. Few would have known how to comply. In those days there were, as a rule, only two candidates, as political education also was at a very low ebb. Though education is now general and adult suffrage universal, the out-dated relative majority system with the illiterate "X" and its distorted results is still, unthinkingly, retained.

Over the years the Hare system of proportional representation, with the single transferable vote in multi-member constituencies, has steadily advanced in public favor. It is the only system of P.R. in operation in English-speaking democracies and is the only one recommended by the non-partisan British or American P.R. societies.

Experience shows that the sitting member, because already well known in his constituency, has a slight advantage over the new candidate. Apart from that point, it is the fairest known electoral system to individual candidates, political parties, to constituencies, and to the country adopting it in that it correctly and scientifically mirrors the political thinkng of any substantial section of the electorate.

The most important example of this P.R. system in operation is in Eire. It is not as yet in operation throughout any province in Canada or for federal elections. In Alberta and in Manitoba it is in operation in the cities for provincial elections. To that extent these two provinces lead electorally in Canada.

Canadian leaders of political factions and of public opinion have so far given little noticeable consideration to the electoral system by which provincial legislatures and the federal House of Commons are elected, though recent provincial elections have demonstrated that the present relative majority system gives very distorted and unfair results.

In Quebec, fifty of the ninety candidates elected were elected by minority votes — thus wasting the majority of votes in these constituencies. The Union Nationale with 33,189 fewer votes than the Liberals elected 10 more members. Neither of these results tend to strengthen democracy in legislative action. The Union Nationale gained by both of these unfair results, and cannot be expected, human nature being as it is, to favor, at present, the absolutely fair electoral system of P.R.

Under the present electoral system, no political party can say in advance whether it will be helped or harmed by an election. Judged by their apathy, all have a child-like belief that it may help them. It is a gamble which does not need to be taken by any political party if the electoral system is the modern, equitable, proportional representation system with the single transferable vote in multi-member constituencies—and with no votes wasted. All the provinical legislatures, and particularly the federal House of Commons, would be immensely strengthened in prestige and morale for the post-war years if they knew that they correctly and fairly represented the political thinking of the electorate.

Organs of public opinion are as much to blame for the continuance of this electoral muddle as are our political leaders. It is surely time to modernize our electoral system. In this, the present provincial and federal governments should act before the next elections are called.

In Defence Of The Kitchen

From KINGSTON WHIG STANDARD

GLANCING over the current issue of The New Yorker, we were shocked to note that magazine's considered opinion that the "brave new world" will have no kitchens. The New Yorker has been studying the matter carefully and quotes much of the source material which led to its appalling conclusion, and we hasten to offer a plea to all men and women of good will and good taste to join us in a crusade to save the kitchen from these puny planners without bowels who would make of it a piecemeal affair scattered all over the house.

According to The New Yorker, one designer is so hell-bent on getting rid of the kitchen that he has perfected a desk drawer fitted with oven and broiler, along with a sixteenth-century commode rigged up with an electric mixer and materials for baking—"all except butter, milk and eggs, which in post-war days will be found in the cold chest in the radio cabinet." As if this wasn't bad enough, the authority quoted goes on to say that "Nonchalance will have reached its peak when, during a tea party, the hostess casually reahes into the desk drawer to baste a chicken!"

"We don't know whether that's the peak of nonchalance or not, but we do know that it is a height which we sincerely hope is never scaled. In fact, if we were present when such an incident occurred, we might be sorely tempted to baste the hostess. We haven't the slightest objection to all the duties of the kitchen being made easier by the inventiveness of man; in fact, we're all for it. But we don't want to see those duties transferred to the living room or wherever else these brave new gadgeteers might choose to locate them. Butter in the radio and chicken in the desk, forsooth! Blinis in the bookcase, caviar in the chesterfield, salami in the smoker, eggs under the end-table — what these grave new numskulls are trying to do is take a perfectly good kitchen apart and use the pieces to spoil the rest of the house.

They'll find out. They have forgotten, apparently, that there are certain odors attendant upon cooking. Show us the housewife who will cook steak and onions in a drawer in the living room. Or the one who will assemble spaghetti with sauce l'Italienne in the same place—to say nothing of the fearless soul who would tackle Henri Charpentier's famed onion soup recipe, or chili con carne or corned beef hash under such circumstances. Of course, the idea has its antisocial possibilities. Pots of cabbage, tripe and parsnips bubbling away merrily in the living-room would perhaps reduce one's social life to a desired minimum, but the same efect could be achieved with far less smell by having a vicious dog loose in the yard.

We're against it. If this be reactionary, let those who will make the most of it. But we are unalterably opposed to any plan to do away with the kitchen, or even to minimize its importance. The kitchen is the place where the fuel for our human machines is prepared, and as such it deserves its privacy for the performance of its mysteries.

Unity of Tongues

Languages are not isolationists. They like to rub shoulders with their fellows. "In effect," you can hear them say, "though so many of our words are different, all of us languages really speak the same language." And that is true. They speak of needs, loyalties, affections, hopes, common to all men, to all languages.

Now in doing so they often exchange and adapt words from one another. This is not surprising. But is disturbing to some academicians. A report from Mexico for example, tells of efforts of the Mexican Language Academy to weed out from Spanish as spoken in that country words which are adaptations—or corruptions, if you are a purist—of English words. "Troca," meaning truck, is one of these. "Bordo" is another, for boarding house.

Citizens of the United States, where words from all parts of the world are readily assimilated into sectional dialects, will note that purists are busy not only south of the border but north of it too. In Canada one runs across people who deplore the adaptations of English words, but more notably of American slang, into the otherwise ancient French tongue spoken there as when a motor breaks down and is "buste."

When one thinks how many French words have crept into English and then back into French in further corruptions of their Anglicized forms, and how that good old English word beefsteak gets into French at bifteck and into Spanish as biftek, one is inclined to comment on the academicians in all countries with one's own variant of the universal shrug.—Christian Science Monitor.

VENGEANCE

In a well-known drawing room, a Viennese remarked:

—Although it may seem like it, we Austrians have never forgiven Germany for the crushing defeat which she inflicted upon us in 1866.

—Oh! said a sceptical lady, in any case, you can hardly be said to have avenged yourselves!

—Avenged ourselves! replied the other. Have patience.... We gave them Hitler!

GIN VS. BUTTER

Simultaneous announcement by OPA of a cut in the price of gin and an advance in the point requirements for butter might interest Reichsmarshal Goering if he wasn't so busy right now trying to save his voluminous hide. He told the Krauts when they were arming for this war that they couldn't have guns and butter. OPA's version seems to be more gin and less butter.

OPA has also cut the price of "domestic vodka." If designed for propaganda, this alias was thought up by someone who failed to realize that a hangover can be a boomerang.—Chicago Daily News.

AIR-CONDITIONING

An engineer of the Navy Department building got a call the other day to come to a room on the second floor, raise the temperature in an overchilled, air-conditioned suite. Arriving at the room, the engineer was surprised to learn the man who had complained was Polar Explorer Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

Washington doctors say their summer business has never been better since air-conditioning hit the capital. Donald Nelson recently got midsummer pneumonia. Lt. Earle Mayfield, son of Texas' ex-Senator, came to Washington's air-cooled hotels from Houston, was taken to the hospital on a pneumonia stretcher.—By Drew Pearson.

A Bible Message

Behold, my servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high. ....He is despised and rejected of men: a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief; and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not.

Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. ((Isa. 52: 13; 53: 3-5.)

Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples. As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love....

If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you.... If I had not done among them the works which none other man did, they had not had sin: but now have they both seen and hated both me and my Father.

But this cometh to pass, that the word might be fulfilled that is written in their law. They hated me without a cause. (John 15: 8, 9, 18, 24, 25.)

Hilda Correll Weds E. James

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the bride's home today when Hilda Gladys Correll, daughter of Mr. E. B. Correll, Water street, was united in marriage to Ernest W. A. James. Rev. F. C. Poole officiated.

The bride wore a two-piece, street-length, navy blue crepe ensemble, with navy hat and navy and gold accessories. She carried a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. David Forsyth accompanied the bride as matron of honor in a two-piece navy blue crepe suit, with black accessories. She carried a bouquet of Briarcliffe roses. Mr. Ernest B. Correll, brother of the bride, was best man.

After a trip to New York city, and through the Adirondacks, the couple will make their home on Water street.

Tickets Ready For Event On Labor Day

Final arrangements for the activities of the Active Navy Auxiliary at the proposed Labor Day Field Day, were completed at the regular meeting of the Auxiliary, Thursday at the Y. W. C. A. Tickets were distributed to members present ,and arrangements were made to forward others by mail to members not present. Additional books of tickets can be secured from Mrs. R. S. Allin.

Decorations for the Auxiliary's booth will be in charge of Mrs. L. Tomkins and Miss Tomkins. Volunteers to make sandwiches at the Y. M. C. A. on September 3 were asked to register, and those wishing to help in the booth on Labor Day were also asked to leave their names with Mrs. Allin.

In her report, Mrs. J. Duncan said that she was continuing to send airgraphs and cigarettes to casualties, and spoke of the many appreciative letters she had received from soldiers who had received their gifts from the Auxiliary. Over $90 has already been spent on this work since May of this year. Mrs. J. A. Dewart presided.

Peterboro People At Greek Picnic

Several members of the Greek community in Peterborough attended the recent annual Greek picnic and banquet in Guelph, at the Haggis estate. Peterborough representatives were Louis Yeotes, chairman of the Greek war relief committee and vice-president of the Greek community in Toronto, and Mrs. Yeotes, Theodore Demos and family, and Miss Helen Zakos.

Civic officials from many municipalities in Ontario, Greek-Canadians and others interested in the Greek communities of Canada were in Guelph for the occasion. Guest speakers were Professor Harold Orr of Toronto, head of the Latin and Greek department, Upper Canada College, and B. C. Salamis, secretary of the Greek War Relief Fund for Canada, and Greek Red Cross representatives for Canada. The picnic was in connection with a four-day conference, with representatives from all sections of Ontario taking part.

Sports events were a feature of the afternoon of the picnic, with beauty contests for men and women as main attractions, while races for children, and shoe kicking contests for adults, also drew interested crowds. Laurels were brought to Peterborough by Miss Helen Zakos, who won the prize for child dancers, and also a race. Miss Georgina Demos won the door prize, a hand-painted picture, with Miss Zakos making the draw.

Red-Cross Group Has Anniversary

NORWOOD, Aug. 25 —(ENS)—An impressive candle-lighting ceremony high-lighted the fourth anniversary of the Norwood Red Cross group, celebrated recently at a birthday tea at the home of Mrs. A. B. Greenbank. The tea table, set with a lace cloth, was centred with the birthday cake, with a candle for each member flanked by two white tapers and two blue tapers and one red taper set behind. After the red candle had been lighted for the Red Cross, Mrs. Ford lighted a blue candle in honor of the former group leader, Mrs. Gordon Girven, and Miss Florence Nevins lighted the other blue candle for the present group leader, Mrs. Ford.

The white candles, representing the spirit of the Red Cross group, were lighted by Mrs. H. B. Peters and Mrs. Roy Nevins, and each member lighted her candle on the cake. During the ceremony, Mrs. Ward sang "When the Lights of London Shine Again" and "Sweet Hour of Prayer," and Mrs. R. Nevins read Psalms 21 and 23. Following a duet by Mrs. Talley and Mrs. Ward, "God Understands," Mrs. John Nevins cut the birthday cake, and Mrs. R. Nevins offered the closing prayer. Others taking part in the ceremony were Mesdames H. Brown, Kane, P. Fitzpatrick, Hagerman, E. Buck, Greenbank Baldock and D. Baker.

During this program, Mrs. Ford reviewed the work accomplished by the group, which had a membership of six until 1944, when it was increased to 13. To date, 84 quilts have been completed, 80 for the Red Cross and four for various funds. Ninety-six knitted articles, including sweaters, sox, scarves, baby articles were completed, with 67 going to the Red Cross, 10 being used as gifts, and 19 for the I.O.D.E.

In the regular work period, which followed the ceremony, three large quilts and two cut quilts were completed. One large quilt and cut quilt, to be quilted, were handed in by one member, and Mrs. Greenbank donated a cut quilt top, lining and batt, Mrs. C. McNeely sent in a parcel of pieces for two large quilt tops, and one baby jacket and one pair of bootees were also received.

The hostess served refreshments after the meeting had been adjourned, and a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Edgar Buck will be hostess for the next meeting and Mrs. Roy Nevins has also offered her home for a future meeting.

Lodge Honors Returned Soldier

Members of the Loyal Orange Lodge No. 385 met in the Orange Hall, Garden Hill, recently, with visiting members from Port Hope and Elizabethville, to welcome back to the lodge Gunner Dalton Nelson, who was wounded in the Italian campaign. Past District Master Eric Flood read the address of welcome and Earl Howe on behalf of the lodge presented Gnr. Nelson with a pen and pencil set.

In thanking the group for the warm welcome Gnr. Nelson paid high tribute to the Canadian hospital units, the Canadian Red Cross. Referring to the Port Hope Active Service Fund, he said: "I cannot find words strong enough to express to the people of Port Hope and Hope township the heartfelt appreciation of myself and all the boys I contacted in Italy for the many shiments of cigarettes and chocolate bars that we received. Wherever I went and met boys from our district, the first salutation generally was, 'Did you get your box from Port Hope?'

"If the citizens of Port Hope and Hope township could stand behind the boys as they open up the boxes and hear the words of deep thanks they would feel an hundred-fold paiad for their contribution to the splendid fund."

Speaking of the Canadian Legion War Services, Gnr. Nelson said "that the group of veterans of the last war, with their experience and splendid organization, were aware of what young soldiers need, and have established in practically every large centre and camp hostels and canteens second to none. Their educational plan is a mighty effort and many boys who left school to join the forces will be able to come back and go direct to college, thanks to the Canadian Legion."

Gnr. Nelson is the son of Mrs. A. Nelson, 735 Water street, Peterborough, enlisting early in the war with the 1st Medium Battery at Kingston. He was wounded in the left arm at Ortona, Italy, in December 13 and spent some time in a Canadian hospital at Naples. His four brothers are all in the armed forces, Keith and Milton are in Italy, Leslie in the R.C.A.F., England and Leonard at Camp Borden

E. P. Saunders, Past County Master, Port Hope, addressed the meeting on the re-establishment of Canadian service personnel in civil life.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—(AP). — Bill Brandt, an expert on September hurricanes, has figured out four National League records that the Cardinals can break if they win the pennant in a gale instead of just a breeze....Billy Southworth's boys are shooting for the 116-victory record set by the 1906 Cubs, the 27½-game margin that the Pirates of 1902 held over the second-place Dodgers and they'd like to clinch the flag on the earliest date of any 154-game season, beating the Sept. 16 record of the 1931 Cards ....But those are nothing compared to the one record the Browns are shooting at— their first American League pennant.

PROGRESS REPORT No. 7

To:
SHAREHOLDERS,
NORSEMAN MINES LIMITED:

We quote the following wire just received from our Mine Manager in charge of development work on the Norseman Claims in the Area of

YELLOWKNIFE

"SHIPPED SAMPLES AND REPORT ON LAST MAIL FOUND SIXTEEN VEINS AND QUARTZ OCCURRENCES ON STAN (NORSEMAN) GROUP TWO VEINS SHOW GOOD MINERALIZATION WITH GOOD WIDTH AND LENGTHS STOP SUGGEST YOU HAVE SCHNEIDER MAKE REPORT ON ALL NORSEMAN GROUPS STOP DIAMOND DRILL FOR COLEMAN INTERESTS WAS SHIPPED TO GORDON LAKE TODAY."

We consider this an outstanding report considering the small amount of work performed on these claims to date and it is just possible that this will develop into a race between Yellowknife and Bourlamaque as to which is the first to prove up a mine.

BOURLAMAQUE

The writer has just returned from the Norseman property in Bourlamaque and will endeavour to give you a brief summary of progress in that area up to the present time:

The diamond drill is now at work on Hole No. 8, with a total of slightly over 5,000 feet to date. We have many substantial widths of excellent mineralization; a very large number of low-grade gold assays, and, of course, the ever present expectation of cutting a high-grade ore body at any moment as drilling proceeds. We watched them pull the core from this No. 8 Hole shortly after the drill reached rock after passing through 52 feet of overburden. It was a granodiorite porphyry formation that may well carry good gold values at greater depth. This Hole is in the Southern section of our property which adjoins the East Sullivan Mines, who are now drilling the Eastern section of their property almost opposite Norseman's present operations. East Sullivan is reported to be planning 50,000 feet of drilling, using three diamond drills for this work.

After further drilling in this Southern section of the Norseman claims where the Magnetic Survey showed promising indications, the drill will be moved to the North-Western area adjoining Aumaque. In our opinion there can be no doubt in anyone's mind about Aumaque developing into a substantial and successful producer of gold ore considering the grade of ore, widths and lengths of present operations.

In addition to these findings, Aumaque previously disclosed an important mineralized zone just 400 feet West of the Norseman border and striking in a direction that the extension crosses the Norseman property for at least 1500 feet. Aumaque did not continue with further exploration of this "break" as all drills were rushed for "intensive development" of the important find further West. Norseman's drill will cover the extension of Aumaque as mentioned above. Remember that the drilling now being performed is not only for the purpose of locating high-grade gold values but also to outline in so far as possible the entire geological structure to depths from 600 to 700 feet. When this has been accomplished, your Geologist and Directors will be in a position to much more intelligently decide the proper location for further development work in the making of a mine.

Remember, too, that Norseman's property is in the heart of perhaps the most intensified gold development area in Canada. Every adjoining property—Aumaque, East Sullivan, Annamaque and Lavalie—are using 1, 2 or 3 drills each. At least a dozen other companies adjoining or close to them are doing the same. The recent drill hole showings on Louvicourt to the East will fully convince you, we think, that it will be an outstanding producer in the future. No. 10 Hole, for example, ran $25.41; $6.74 and $31.57 across widths of 2', 4' and 3'. We understand that the showings from Hole No. 12 are really sensational. The news will, no doubt, be released in a few days.

News of high-grade showings on the Norseman claims either in Yellowknife or Bourlamaque will, in our opinion, make Norseman shareholders who hold shares at even double their present market value, highly gratified with their holdings. We expect news of that sort almost any time and everything possible is being done to speed the time when it may be received.

Yours faithfully,
F. A. WALPOLE
President.

Westclox Needs One Win To Take Title

Behind 3-hit pitching by Isobel Bullock, Westclox moved another step closer to the Senior Girls' championship at Ashburnham Bowl Thursday evening, when they won a decision against Aircraft, 5 to 1, in a game that kept a large crowd on the edge of their seats from start to finish. This win for the Westclox team leaves them only one game away from the championship, and the two rivals will meet again tonight in what Westclox hopes will be the final game, culminating in a championship win.

Isobel Bullock Fans 13

Isobel Bullock pitched steady ball throughout, and struck out no fewer than 13 of the Aircrafters. Miss Bullock walked 3, but held the opposition to 3 hits.

The Aircraft hurling chore was handled by Margaret Selkirk, until the fifth inning, when Norma Strickland was sent in against Westclox in an attempt to stem the number of runs turned in. Selkirk fanned 4, and walked 2. Strickland struck out 5, walking 1. They held Westclox to 6 blows.

Westclox Starts Scoring

Westclox began the scoring in the third inning; Nona Whetung came down the home stretch when Annette De Carlo made a wild pitch to Eleanor Craig that was missed, rolling down the right field line, and allowing Miss Whetung to score. In the fifth frame, a total of 4 runs were chased in by the Clockmakers, and several bad errors on the Aircrafters' part aided in bringing home the runs.

Aggie Anderson singled to left field, and went to second base when Irma Perdue caught up with the ball and fumbled it. Viola McLean was safe on an error by Helen Hunt, and Nona Whetung drove one into left field to score Aggie Anderson. Viola McLean scored when Marjorie Hawthorne was safe on an error. Nona Whetung came home when Annette De Carlo dropped the ball at the plate, and it rolled behind the backstop. Barbara Rome singled over second base to score Marjorie Hawthorne.

One Run for Aircraft

Aircraft's first and only scoring came in the sixth inning. Audrey Patterson was safe on an error by Isobel Bullock, and stole second base, Norma Strickland singled near short, and Audrey Patterson came home on the play that put Eleanor Craig out at first base.

From the sixth on, there was no scoring on either side, and the final score registered 5 to 1 for the Westclockers. During the nine-inning tilt, Aircraft left 7 players on bases; Westclox stranded 10.

Some wild passing and errors by Aircraft helped more than anything else to lose the game. Added to this, several Aircraft players struck out twice out of four times to bat. Two players were fanned 3 times out of four trips to the plate.

Big Game Tonight

Tonight's game, however, will be the deciding one for Aircraft outfit. If they can win tonight, they still have a chance for the championship. The swing-skirted players, coached by Dave Wilson, have pulled some mighty fast surprise wins in the past, and there is still time for anything to happen.

The Westclox team, coached by Ab. Delahaye, has taken the first three games in the four-out-of-seven schedule and as far as they are concerned, will again be the champs after tonight's tussle.

The teams—

Westclox — Aggie Anderson cf, Viola McLean ss, Nona Whetung 1b, Marjorie Hawthorne 3b, Isobel Bullock p, Beryl Dobbin c, Verna Patterson 2b, Barbara Rome lf, Joyce Withers rf.

Aircraft—Marg. Batley cf, Audrey Patterson 2b, Norma Strickland ss, Eleanor Craig 1b, Margaret Selkirk p, Annette De Carlo c, Helen Hunt 3b, Irma Perdue lf, Marg. Barrie rf, Marg. Selkirk lf, Norma Strickland p, Irma Perdue ss.

Umpires—Payne at the plate; Barrett on the bases.

Good Turnout For Lacrosse

A good turnout was noted at the four lacrosse ecentre in Peterborough, Thursday evening, with about 15 boys coming out to each park. This is considered a good number in view of the shortage of equipment.

Vert Reynolds group at King Edward Park are asked to come out again to-night for another lacrosse practice. Mr. Reynolds pointed out if boys do not have lacrosse sticks, they may be borrowed, but it is better to bring one along so that everyone may be equipped.

Lou LeBarr's group at East City are also asked to come out ot practice to-night; it is expected the practices will also be held at the Park Hill Community Centre Park, and Inverlea.

Capt. Bennett Killed

SACKVILLE, N.B., Aug. 25—Capt. and Mrs. R. V. Bennett have received word of the death in France of their son, Lieut. H. Harrison Bennett.

He was a nephew of Viscount Bennett, former prime minister of Canada. A brother, Maj. E. Ronald Bennett, was killed earlier this month in France. They were the only children of Capt. and Mrs. Bennett.

Hall Wins Protest

DR. LEN HALL

So long and loud did Dr. Len Hall yell that he was given "the fix" here in his last bout with Early McCready, that Promoter Frank Tunney has re-matched the pair. This will also give McCready a chance to square accounts for the Doc's tactics of last week. The bout will headline next Tuesday night's card at the Brock St. Arena.

Fred Storey Wins

The Society has included a section arranged by th Peterborough Aquarium Society, an organization of comparatively recent development showing many varities of tropical fish, with convenient methods of care, altogether an interesting departure.

Another novelty was a large cage of rather unusual birds, budgies and a pair of cockitees, shown by Carl Mattucci, 590 Chamberlain street, caught the attention of last night's visitors. Then there was a display of potted plant "sedmum spectabile" by John Jessen, 445 Park street, that was also worthy of special mention.

The special trophies were distributed by Mrs. Fraser at the close of the show last night. Mrs. Fraser warmly congratulated the winners of these special prizes, and heartily commended the interest shown by the children of the co-operating schools, particularly the boys and girls of Queen Alexandra Public School.

Joan Stuart Wins Quebec Singles

MONTREAL, Aug. 25.—(CP). — Joan Stuart of Montreal, yesterday defeated Carmel Branswell, 9-7, 6-3, to win the girls' final in the province of Quebec junior boys' and girls' tennis championship.

Gilbert Jolicoeur of Ottawa, today will meet Colin Maass of Montreal in the boys' final. Yesterday Jolicoeur defeated Raymond Laroche of Quebec, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2; and Maass beat Gerad Cadieux of Valleyfield, Que., 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, in the semi-fianls.

The junior women's final will be between Janeth Rutherford of Ottawa, Pat Macken of Montreal after they won their semi-finals yesterday as follows:

Miss Rutherford scored a 0-6, 12-10, 6-4 victory over Elaine Fildes of Montreal; Miss Macken outclassed Lorna Murray of Brooklyn Park 6-2, 6-2.

The third final to-day will be between Bob Duford of Ottawa, and Ronald Raymond of Montreal. Duford yesterday won his semi-final by defeating Yvon Gauthier of Quebec, 6-2, 6-2; and Raymond beat Paul Ollivier of Ottawa, 9-7, 8-6.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

To-night, the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club is holding its annual mixed tourament, with all proceeds going to the British War Victims Fund. It is not necessary for us to elaborate on this tournament. All of our bowlers know why it is being held and it is now up to them to support it. George Gimblett and his committee will do all they can to put this big event across. All they are asking is for players to be out on time— 7 o'clock.

Monday, August 28th has been set aside as the date for the final stage of the Men's Club singles. All players who are yet in this contest are requested to be on hand Monday evening 7 o'clock. It is the intention of the committee to push this event just as far as time will permit. So to all players be out on time and be prepared to play two or three games. This notice applies to all groups.

The annual open tourament for "The Stratton Trophy" is cheduled for Wednesday, August 30th at 1.30 p.m. This is for men's rinks and let us make this a real tournament. Get up a rink and hand your entry to Harold Freeman. The notices call for 3-15 end games—and the fee is set at $6.00 per rink. Good prizes.

The draw for the ladies' club singles has been made and its is now posted up in the club house. Players are asked to look up their opponent and also time of play.

Our club will be represented in the Globe Doubles (Ladies Section) by Mrs. R. Dyer and Mrs. R. Hendry; and Mrs. N. Killingbeck and Mrs. W. Hepburn. These games are called for the later part of next week in Toronto. The draw to be announced in the Toronto papers on Wednesday next.

"There's PRE-WAR MILEAGE in these tires"

The construction of the new B. F. Goodrich Synthetic Rubber Tires for passenger cars makes pre-war mileage available. These tires built with Hi-Flex Cord are strong and cool running. The plies are welded together into a sturdy tire body by the B. F. Goodrich Ply-Weld process. The famous Life-Saver Tread, with its road-gripping, "windshield-wiper" spiral bar design, gives you skid-resistance and extra long wear, proved by over a billion miles of driving on all kinds of roads.

If you are eligible for new tires, insist on getting the new B. F. Goodrich Synthetic Rubber Tires—the tires that make pre-war mileage available.

Today, extra tire mileage is as important to your country as it is to you. Help to conserve Canada's vital rubber supply. Drive within legal speed limits, keep your tires properly inflated, and have them inspected regularly by a capable tire service man—your B. F. Goodrich dealer.

B. F. GOODRICH BATTERIES

As famous for quality as the name it bears, there is a B. F. Goodrich Long-Life Battery for every make of car, truck or tractor, for radio too. Ask your dealer for a B. F. Goodrich Battery and put extra pep in the electrical system of your car, truck or tractor.

Basil O'Meara Candidate For N.H.L. Job

MONTREAL, Aug. 25 — (CP) — Baz O'Meara, sports editor of the Montreal Star, announced in his column Thursday that he was a candidate for the job of president of the National Hockey League.

"When we were assured Red Dutton was through... we tossed our hat into the ring," he wrote. "Good newspaper friends like Elmer Ferguson (Montreal Herald), most of the French press, and others have supported us.....

"It is gratifying to find we stand so high among our French and English confreres. Whether we stand as high with the hockey governors is something else again. Don't forget, though that being sports editor of the Montreal Star is a good position too.....Naturally there are many seeking the office. If there is anybody more qualified and the governors name him, then good luck to him...."

In discussing possible candidates for the position made vacant by yesterday's resignation of Dutton, O'Meara said "one report has it that a high official now in Ottawa who may be in another sphere when the war is over has been sounded out by at least one governor."

"He is not a hockey man but he is intimate with hockey problems," O'Meara added. "He has been a very good friend of the game in his executive capacity. No matter who is chosen you can depend that the governors will make a suitable selection."

OTTAWA, Aug. 25 — (CP) — Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service, asked whether he was considering the vacant presidency of the National Hockey League, said today that "I haven't had any suggestions made to me that I would be able to consider."

MacNamara, who declined to say anything further, was approached after Baz O'Meara, sports editor of the Montreal Star, announcing himself as a candidate, said one report was to the effect that a high official in Ottawa had been sounded out about the post.

The sports editor did not identify the Ottawa official other than saying he was not a hockey man but was intimate with hockey problems. MacNamara, as Director of Selective Service, has regularly met with N.H.L. Governors on the problem of player-drafts and player-movements.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, August 25 — (CP). — Well, anyway, it was something to get rid of the suspense when Red Dutton finally confessed he was abandoning the N.H.L. to its own many and devious devices. Now all we have to chew our fingernails about is wondering who will be the lucky successor.

Names have been mentioned, and more names will be suggested until the new league president is chosen. But hardly one has been given such an appreciative build-up as Montreal Star sportster Baz O'Meara received at the hands of Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson.

Fergie suggests Baz for his wide and far-reaching knowledge of hockey, and his ability to bring some much-needed publicity to the league. Dutton, had he stayed, could have been relied upon to inspire some good color stories in his inimitable ex-Brooklyn way, but O'Meara has the writing ability to turn out the reams of copy needed to keep the league's viewpoint in the public eye. That, of course, goes also for the other sports writers who have been mentioned for the job.

And, continues the irrepressible Fergie, his candidate has a ready and effervescent wit that might remove some of the austerity from the N.H.L. councils, and create a bit of merriment and a laugh or two about the solemn halls.

Incidentally:

Winnipeg's 18-year-old Sandy Gibb took the eye of the Olympic sprinter Jesse Owens when the speedy American athlete visited the 'Peg with a pair of travelling negro baseball clubs. Sandy ran against Owens in a few exhibition matches and Jesse dubs him a "potential champion," with no reservations.. ..Messenger Maid, dowager princess of the Western race tracks, will be retired from the turf this fall. She has been racing, and winning, for 10 years and has just about done her duty to her owner....Football planning is getting under way in Winnipeg. Bert Warwick, assistant coach of R.C.A.F. Bombers when they won the Western Canada senior football title last fall, has been appointed football coach at St. Pauls Colege. He succeeds Ches Paul's College. He succeeds Ches McCance, presently of the R.C. A.F.

Wartime Soccer Season Opens Again

BY ALLAN NIRKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 25 — (CP Cable) — The sixth wartime soccer season opens tomorrow and, with the war news cheerful, there is a feeling new attendance records are in sight even though the calibre of play will be far below peacetime.

The Ministry of Home Security, which has as many football-minded people working for it as any other organization, has given the "green light" to football with the announcement no new restrictions are to be placed on the size of the crowds. However, football league matches in southern England will be interrupted if "imminent danger" signals of approaching flying bombs are given.

And after keeping football going under all the attendant difficulties of the war, the aim is to make this season the most successful of the war and pave the way for full-bloom peacetime play.

The ball league consisting of three major circuits the League South, League North and League West—has many gaps in the ranks of seasoned performers and most club managements will have to face again the task of using what players they can get away from the fighting services and essential work.

Some clubs would like more football than the season's plans call for and there have been complaints from some club directors that the decision to postpone restoration of full league competition until next year, even if the war ends before Christmas, was taken without consulting the Clubs and with little appreciation of public reaction.

14 Rinks Compete In Havelock Tourney

HAVELOCK, August 25—(ENS). —Fourteen rinks from Brighton, Campbellford, Warkworth, Norwood, Stirling, Deloro, and Havelock participated this week in the men's Irish trebles bowling tournament sponsored by the C.P.R. Recreation Club of Havelock. Play began early in the afternoon in ideal weather, but towards evening rain set in and held up the play for two hours. It resumed after the rain and continued until 2 a.m. on Thursday morning. The winners:

High three wins—1, H. J. Taylor, Campbellford; 2, A. J. Myers. Campbellford.

High two wins—Sam Netley, of Brighton.

High one win—W. W. Hill, Havelock.

Second Game Here Saturday

The local Men's City League winners, Plazas, left this afternoon for Trenton where they will play the first game of the Intermediate "A" playoffs. The team will be at full strength for the battle.

Return game in the series will be played at Riverside Park Saturday night, commencing at 6:00 o'clock. Trenton made the trip to Peterborough on Wednesday, only to have the game rained out. Their coach was of the opinion that this year's Trenton outfit is the strongest to ever represent that city. Mike O'Leary of this city, who was stationed at Trenton with the R.C.A.F. until about two weeks ago, was a member of the Trenton squad.

Plazas are all set for the series with three starting pitchers, Dave Wilson, Terry Woods and Frank Stokoe. The team is well balanced and strong in every department.

A record crowd should be on hand Saturday night at Riverside Park. The game time has been moved up fifteen minutes, starting at 6:00 o'clock.

Toronto Golfers Get Going In Tam-o-Shanter

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—(AP). — A year ago, in the Tam O'Shanter All-American Open Golf Tournament, Johnny Bulla of Atlanta, Ga., fired a 296, finished in a tie for 43rd place, and didn't win a dime.

But yesterday the husky 30-year-old club swinger who quit professional golf to become an airlines pilot had a strangle hold on a hefty share of the $42,500 prize money at the three-ring circus, and a three-stroke edge toward the $13,462.50 top award.

Ties Course Record.

Bulla yesterday carved out a 35-30—65, 7 under par, to tie the course record and hand a field of 122 professionals and seven amateurs —includng eight former United States Open winners and seven P.G.A. champions—a licking.

Bulla played 11 holes at par 72 and birdied the other seven, getting six birds on the back nine, where four of them came in a row as he drove, pitched and putted like a composite of all the greats.

Close on his heels, however, was the most dangerous of the modern clubswingers, Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, who holed a 35-foot birdie putt on the final hole to post a 68 — three strokes off the pace.

Canadians Trail.

Dale Morey of Indianapolis, the winner a year ago, blew himself to a gaudy 78 yesterday, practically knocking himself out of a chance to repeat, as 15 of the field were ahead of him.

Canadians lined up this way:

Four Hit 69

Bracketed at 69 were four stalwarts, including Pete Cooper of Gainesville, Ga.; Bud Lewis, Philadelphia Open Champion; Melvin (Chick) Harbert, the long hitter from Battle Creek, Mich., and Gene Sarazen, twice winner of the National Open, from Brookfield Farms, Conn.

Topping the amateurs in the Open test was Jim Frisina of Taylorville, Ill., who had a sub-par 70 to tie Pro George Smith of Lake Forest, Ill.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, the year's big money winner and co-favorite with Nelson to take down the high prizes, was in the fight with a 71, were he was 'n tied with eight others, including such luminaries as Vic Ghezzi, former P. G. A. King, and Ed Dudley, president of the P. G. A.

Betty Hicks Leads

Betty Hicks of Long Beach, Conn. duration National women's champ and one of three professionals in the field of 27 women, led the way through the first round of the Pulchritude Division with a 40-38-78, two over feminine par. She was over par at the end of 14, but birdied three of the last four with a 4-3-3-3 finish.

A stroke behind her with 41-38—79 was Phyllis Otto, from Omaha, Neb., while Lieut. Patty Berg, of the Marines, defending champion, was deadlocked at 81 with Dorothy Germain at Philadelphia. Miss Berg is a professional, the other pro being Hope Seignious of Greensboro, N.C., who finished with 83.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

In an exhibition mile at the Wisconsin State Fair yesterday, King's Counsel, world champion pacer owned by E. J. Baker of St. Chatles, Ill., lowered his own record from 2:03 to 1:59½, but failed by half a second to beat the record for pacers for the track in Milwaukee.

The softball nine of Brantford Basic Training Centre last night on their home diamond turned back Simcoe B.T.C. No. 25 6-2 in the first tilt of the second round in O.A.S.A. intermediate playdowns.

Wee Laird, owned by W. H. Robson of Albion, N.Y., last night swept both heats to win the $2,000 Troy Stake on the Grand Circuit card at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., nosing out Chuck Signal both times.

Fort Erie swamped St. Catharines 10-0 last night at St. Catharines to capture the first round of the O.A.S.A. intermediate "A" playdowns in two straight games, having won the first encounter at Fort Erie 8-1.

Stratford Nationals edged Waterloo 4-2 on the losers' grounds last night to take the first clash of the inter-county intermediate baseball finals. Nats scored two in the eighth to win the verdict when Bauer and Young collided in the outfied in chasing Campbell's long fly.

The Niagara District bantam baseball tilt went to Welland Combines last night in a 12-7 victory over St. Catharines Westerns on the latter's diamond.

Detroit Tigers' Two Ace Pitchers Ready For Series With St. Louis

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

Detroit's two-man pitching pitching staff prepared to make its bold challenge for an American League pennant today as St. Louis Browns dropped into the motor city for a four-game set showing signs of wear and tear after a rough eastern trip.

If the Brownies are going to "blow," the crystal ball gazers have selected this series as the time for it although Luke Sewell's leaders downed the Tigers 11 times in 14 early-season meetings.

Partially balancing the Brownies big series edge was the fact the teams met seven times in Paril and hadn't seen one another since June 25. Since then the Tigers were strengthened by the return of Dick Wakefield who is hitting .303 to lead the club

St. Louis still was sitting pretty with a 4½-game lead and could dispose of Detroit's challenge by an even split. New York and Boston needed clean sweeps to do any extensive gaining.

Chicago's Cubs gave St. Louis a close scrap but succumbed for the 13th straight time last night in the only major league game played. A Philadelphia at Boston day game was rained out and no other clubs were scheduled.

Teddy Wilks, beaten only by the Giants, stretched his win streak to 10 and notched his 13th triumph by beating the Cubs, 2-1. Heh allowed only three hits in topping Claude Passeau.

Newark Bears Defeat Orioles 11-6

By The Associated Press

Newark Bears and Baltimore Orioles staged a first-class thriller last night as their battle for the International League lead got under way, with the Bears going 11 innings to win 11-6.

The game was up and down all the way. The Baltimore heavy artillery found the range within the regulation nine innings as Blas Monaco, Howie Moss and Stan Benjamin all poled home runs. It remained for Bill Reynolds to break up the game in the 11th as he unloaded a grand slam home run.

Floyd Bevens pitched all the way for the victors, racking up his 11th victory in 12 tries.

Montreal and Buffalo split a twin bill, Wayne Collins winning the first for the Royals, 4-1, and Joe Orrell coming back for the Bisons in the second, 7-5. Red Durrett with a home run and Walt Chipple with a triple sparked the Royal offensive in the opener.

Jersey City swapped decisions with Syracuse in their double-header at Syracuse. The Chiefs squeezed out a 7-6 decision in the eight-inning first game while the Little Giants came back with a 5-1 victory in the finale.

Toronto played an exhibition game with the Amateur All Stars, defeating them 11-2.

Romania's Fall To Hasten Peace Plans

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25— (AP) —Evidence from Romania that Hitler's Europe is beginning to collapse on political as well as military fronts gave new emphasis today to British insistence at the Dumbarton Oaks conferences for early decisions on post-war world security organization.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, chief of the British delegation, has taken the lead in urging that at least a part of the security organization should be set up soon to span the rap between the end of the European war—which he says may come sooner than expected—and the formal creation of a new international body to preserve peace.

The British view, it was learned, is in line with the feeling in some quarters of the American delegation that the British-Russian-American-Chinese pledge made at Moscow to co-operate in the enforcement of peace after the war now should be given some specific and organized form.

This has raised speculation in diplomatic circles here that the spadework of the Dumbarton Oaks talks might be followed relatively quickly by a meeting of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin to confirm and set in action three-power co-operation in the European area in the immediate post-war period.

The present plan is to delay forming permanent peace agency until all smaller countries have had an opportunity to make suggestions and offer criticisms of the proposals to be evolved here.

Despite recent assertions that the work might be rushed through to a full dress United Nations conference this fall, the opinion in informed quarters here still is that it will be the end of the year or the first part of 1945 before such a meeting can be arranged.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25—(AP).—Algernon K. Barbee, 51, bottling company owner, was divorced yesterday by Actress Bonnie Edwards, 24, the fifth wife of asbestos heir Tommy Manville. She testified that Barbee "never seemed to go to bed," had knocked her down and once became angry because she declined to drink champagne for breakfast.

Urges Italians To Join French

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP) —The United Nations radio at Algiers said today that Gen. Alexander, Allied commander in Italy, had called upon Patriot forces operating in northern Italy to halt or destroy the "considerable number" of German troops attempting to flee from southern France.

The broadcast, reported by United States government monitors, quoted Sir Harold as saying air reconnaissance had disclosed a general movement of German troops from southern French fighting zones toward the Italian border.

"Your orders are—they must not pass," the general declared. "Attack the enemy whenever and wherever you can. Get hold of him. Pursue him and act in whatever area the Germans are fleeing."

The Allied commander urged that Italians "join hands with the French Patriots."

Typhoons Wipe Out Infantry Company

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN FRANCE Aug. 25 —(CP)— The R.C.A.F. reported today that the "Nomad" squadron of an R.C.A.F. typhoon fighter-bomber wing wiped out one company of German Infantry and destroyed 30 tanks in an attack southeast of Villers Bocage.

The attack was led by Flt. Lt. Kenneth Fiset of Outremont, Que., who later reported: "We think we clobbered it all right, but it was too dark to see the results."

The wreckage of 30 tanks was found in the woods by the army and the airmen claimed two-thirds.

Typhoons carry two 1,000-pound bombs each and the pilots have developed high skill in dive-bombing targets indicated by forward troops.

Union Members Resent Vote Pressure

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—(CP).—Republicans and Administration foes who fear and dislike the C.I.O.'s political action committee and its avowed determination to elect President Roosevelt hailed with delight this week's resignation of two Utah locals in protest against voting instructions.

For months the P.A.C. has been working openly for Mr. Roosevelt and Democrats of their choice—the most active political organization so far in the campaign.

But when the committee sought to force its members to vote as instructed or resign it went too far for some of its adherents.

Two Utah locals of the C.I.O. unanimously advised Sidney Hillman, P.A.C. head, that they chose to resign and charged him with trying to get control of the Democratic party.

They took this action, they said, "rather than give up our constitutional rights and be forced to sponsor an instructed vote."

These instructions were issued July 25, they said, "when we were told that all members must vote Democratic or resign," and they added: "We wish to remain free Americans with the right to cast our votes as our forefathers intended—free from pressure of any one man or group of men."

One swallow doesn't make a summer and two dissenting C. I. O. locals will not wreck the P. A. C. plans but the committee's opponents are hoping thees incidents are but start of a general protest against regimentation at the polls.

Congress on the air; radio soap operas which wring the hearts of housewives during most of every week-day afternoon will have new competition if the resolution of Senator Claude Pepper (Dem.-Fla.) gain senough support. He wants the broadcast as a step toward "pure debates of both houses of Congress democracy" but blase gallery reporters comment that the soap operas needn't worry.

Telling FDR: About the most unnecessary job in the country is that assigned to 40 men and women by the Democratic National Convention officially to inform President Roosevelt that he was nominated last July 20. Postmaster General Frank Walker heads the delegation and he waited for weeks seeking an opportunity to go with his group of informers to the White House to tell F. D. R. what he and the whole world knew almost the moment it happened.

A former editor of the Kenora Mines and News. Sqdn. Ldr. Sherritt enlisted in 1940 and served as liaison officer in New Zealand. He returned to Canada several months ago.

Noisy Barn Owls Annoy Tenants

PHILADELHIA, Aug. 25— (AP) —Now the case of the snoring birds is solved—they turned out to be barn owls on the loose—sleepy tenants of a downtown apartment house want to know what they can expect in the way of quiet.

For five weeks weird noises have kept them awake. Dr. Robert W. Stabler, University of Pennsylvania zoology professor, identifned the noise makers as common barn owls.

The tenants are unimpressed. "Shoo them away or shoot them," they chorused.

District Game Protector George Freas says owls are protected —"you can't shoot them."

An amateur ornithologist commented "if they are barn owls, they'll be flying south in another month."

Meanwhile the birds snored and the tenants didn't.

Essex Scottish In Battle Again Paying Debts Incurred At Dieppe

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY, France, August 25— (CP).—The Essex Scottish from Windsor, Ont., were in the vanguard of the 1st Canadian Army offensive, which broke through the German defence zone down the Falaise highway.

Before this advance, the Essex saw heavy action around Verrieres, four miles south of Caen, where they were attacked by German radio-controled robot tanks, then used for the first time in France.

With other infantry regiments and tanks in the Canadian spearhead of the big attack, the Essex punched through the first line of German defences in the darkness before dawn August 8 and advanced five miles to the Bretteville-Sur-Laize area.

There they firmly held the Canadian right flank. The night attack through German lines was one of the most audacious and sensational exploits carried out on this Allied front. The infantry went forward in converted "priests"—self-propelled guns with the guns taken out of them to make room for 15 soldiers—and armored half tracks. Long columns of these novel assault vehicles with tanks in the columns with them, rolled south in the wake of the 1,000-bomber raid by heavy bombers on flank targets and a big artillery barrage.

With the Essex were the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, the Royal Regiment of Canada, a Toronto unit, and tanks of the Sherbrooke Fusiliers Regiment, of Sherbrooke, Que., as well as a squadron of Western tanks.

Each infantry battalion had its own objectives on the shoulder of land west of the Falaise highway, south of Fontenay Le Marmion and Roquancourt. And all three achieved their objectives.

Casualties were light and it gave the regiment a great boost to carry out this attack so well after the fierce actions it had seen around Verrieres, which were principally defensive.

Landed July 6.

The Essex landed in France with the 2nd Division July 6-7.

Folowing the capture of Vaucelles, the battalion moved east of the Orne River on July 20 and shared in the advance south of Vaucelles towards the German defence line stretching from My-Sur-Orne on the west to Tilly-La-Campagne on the east. The Germans hit out at this attack with tanks and infantry and on a barren slope between Ifs and Verrieres the regiment had a terrible fight.

It was dug in on the slopes and another battalion was forced to withdraw into Essex positions. The enemy threatened to pour right through but the situation was stabilized and the ground was held.

The battle was fought in pouring rain and this bad weather lasted three days with whole area bogged with mud. Essex slit trenches were inches deep in water and slime and it was miserable as well as a dangerous spot to hold.

The Essex finally came out to reorganize and then they went into line again at Etavaux between Fleury-Sur-Orne and St. Andre-Sur-Orne, south of Vaucelles on the bank of the Orne river. At the time the Germans held a bulge in the river line just across from the regiment and at times it was a hot spot to be in.

Relieved Royals.

In the meantime the R.H.L.I. and the Royals had succeeded in capturing Verrieres and a slope to the east of the village, and on July 28 the Essex relieved the Royals holding the slope. Their first action there was a successful attack by a company led by Major Steele of Chatham, Ont., his C.S.M. was Les Dixon of Windsor, Ont., who won the Military Medal at Dieppe with the Essex.

The company's objective was a group of buildings on a high point on the Falaaise highway about a half mile from the regiment's positions.

The Essex tossed grenades at the enemy and fired with Brens, Stens and grenades while the section worked their way forward to the German trenches and the houses German S.S. troops, their opposition, fought with typical S.S. fury.

Two machine-guns were particularly troublesome and C. S. M. Dixon went around behind a hill and attacked this post with grenades. The company praised the work of Dixon. Cpl. Harry Coyle of Windsor said "that Dixon was going around there like a madman, racing through the Jerry trenches shouting and yelling and firing his weapons. When he ran out of 'ammo' he just picked up one of the rifles or brens lying around and used it."

The hill was captured after a real scrap and among the buildings they found a huge water reservoir which supplied Tilly, held by the Germans. The Essex cut off the supply.

Stopped Robot Tanks.

The Essex held the hill and remained in the line along this Verrieres front for several more days until they went out to prepare for the assault early on August 8.

But before they went out of the Verriers line the Essex were subjected to the robot tank attack on July 30.

Most of the ones which attacked the Essex blew up with the charge. About six came right up to the Essex lines and exploded with a terrific roar and blast and there also were some on the R. H. L. I. sector in Verrieres.

The Essex went into action with their "pait' 'guns and hit several of the robots. One tank ran among the trenches and blew up, caving in several foxholes. When the robots exploded smoke and flames shot 50 feet into the air and large chunks of metal flew in every direction. The R. H. L. I. on the right blew up two with 17-pounder anti-tank guns.

The Essex withstood this new method of attack without budging from their positions and they put this German attempt on them down as a failure.

Johnson Bags 37th Plane To Hold Lead

LONDON, Aug. 25 —(CP Cable.) —Wing Cmdr. J. E. (Johnny) Johnson's score of enemy planes downed in air combat stood at 37 to-day after his double kill over Northern France yesterday, but it was all a mistake that he was identified as a group captain.

A check to-day revealed that the English-born leader of an R.C.A.F. fighter wing was identified as a group captain through an error in transmission of a story from the Normandy front. He is still a wing commander.

Canadian fighter squadrons under Johnson ran into 80 enemy fighters yesterday sorth of Paris—FW190's and Me-109's— and downed 32 of them. The wing leader from Nottingham knocked down two himself.

Johnson's tally of 37 places him well in front of all Allied airmen in this war, with the exception of the Russians.

Russian Has 59.

Maj. Alexander Pokryshkin, a Russian flier, is the leading ace, with a score of 59.

Flt. Lt. Brendan (Paddy) Finucane of the R.A.F., 33. A. G. (Sailor) Malan, South African, whose score now is 32, and Flt. Lt. George (Buzz) Beurlin of Verdun, Que., with a total of 31.

Malan now is not on operations and Beurling has retired from the R.C.A.F. at his own request. Prior to Beurling's retirement he had been for some months an instructor in Canada.

The late Flt. Lt. Brendan (Paddy) Finucane of the R.A.F., had an unofficial total of 33 at the time he was killed in action.

An R.C.A.F. press relations officer regretted the mistake whereby Johnson had been promoted erroneously to group captain.

"It is too bad," he saaid, "The error won't help us with Johnson, who is a little sour on the press since somebody wrote a story about him gunning particularly for Mantoni."

Mantoni was the name of the celebrated German ace supposed to be flying opposite Johnson's sector of the Normandy front and while Johnson and his Canadians would like Mantoni for a victim, nobody is so rash as to go around boasting that they are out to get the Luftwaffe ace.

It was that point which nettled Johnson.

Fear Death Toll To Be Higher

FRECKLETON, England, Aug. 25 (CP)—With 54 bodies removed already, fear was expressed today that 30 more persons might be buried in the wreckage of a school and nearby snack bar destroyed yesterday when an American four-engined bomber crashed in this Lancashire gardening village.

Known dead included 35 children —all but six of the village's 41 youngsters between four and six years of age. The other victims included nine American servicemen. two R.A.F. men and eight civilians.

The tragedy occurred when the aircraft was caught in a sudden storm on a local flight.

American troops stationed nearby rushed to the scene and helped move women and children out of danger from a 100-foot wall of flame which enveloped the school and nearby houses.

Saved By A Book

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., Aug. 25—(AP).—A slightly battered housewife got on the bus after a city-wide bargain day, turned to her neighbor, and said: "Well, I saved a lot of money today."

"Really? What did you get?"

"Nothing—I couldn't get waited on."

War Bulletins Do Not Agree

LINDSAY, Aug. 25 — Mrs. Irene Paquette, Pottinger street, has received a letter from the commanding officer of the regiment of her husband, Sgt. Menzies Paquette, saying he has been killed in action. She has also received a telegram from Ottawa to say that Sgt. Paquette has been wounded.

Sgt. Paquette, 32, enlisted in April, 1943, with the Royal Hamilton Light Infanrty, and went overseas last September.

British Catch Fleeing Japs

KANDY, Ceylon, Aug. 25 (CP) — British 14th Army troops pursuing Japanese forces retreating from India along the Tiddum Road have regained contact with the enemy 10 miles inside Buma, Allied hearquarters announced today.

Last contact with the Japanese was reported Saturday, when the enemy began a precipitate withdrawal.

Headquarters said R.A.F. planes had destroyed 10 enemy rivercraft and damaged six near Kalew in the Chindwin Valley, from which the Japanese launched their ill-fated invasion of India.

JUDGE OF SHOW.

The judge of the flower show of the Peterborough Horticultural Society in the market hall was Frank Biddle. The exhibition closes tonight.

WON DOOR PRIZES

Winners of the door prizes at the flower show Thursday night in the market hall were: H. A. Gadd, 320 Frederick avenue; Fred Dainton; Mrs. H. J. Macky, 473 Alymer street; Wm. Bull, Downie street; Major Cunningham, St. Catharines; and the name of the winner of the second prize was not legible, but the address is 134 Lock street. The holder of that stub should telephone Mr. Wilks. Special attendance prize went to George Benton, Sr. The show concludes this evening.

IT GOT AWAY

Angling peacefully for bass out on Lake Chemong Thursday evening, Woody Roberts, Frederick avenue, who was accompanied by Fred Barton, Elcome Crescent, hooked on to a whopper of a maskinonge and battled the brute for 45 minutes before bringing it up to the side of their boat. But not being equipped for muskie fishing, using light tackle and having no gaff or net with which to help the fighting fish over the side, they lost it after a vain struggle that saw the big one hauled half-way out of the water before it shook loose of the hook.

MINOR ACCIDENT ... .

A damaged bumper and other minor damages were received by a car owned by H. C. Agnew, R.R. 2, Peterborough, when it was struck by a car driven by Mrs. J. E. Smith, 614 Gilmour street, Tuesday. The Agnew car was parked when the mishap occurred.

TIRES STOLEN

While parked near a row of cottages at Kawartha Park Wednesday evening, three tires and tubes were stolen from a car owned by W. R. Pierdon. Provincial Police investigated.

FIRST IN DIVING.

A nine-year-old visitor from Willoughby, Ohio., Scott Reed, came first in the Junior Diving Contest at the Inverlea Regatta, but his name was omitted from the prize list. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reed, and the guests of Mr. T. Fredenburg, of Park street, the young diver won a sweater.

MAIL SERVICE EXTENDED

The Post Office announces that mail service in Italy has now been extended to include these additional provinces: Rome, Campobasso, Chieti, Littoria, Foggia, Frosinone, Pescara, Aquila and Toramo. To these and provinces previously named letters and postcards of a purely personal nature may be sent from Canada at rates which were in effect before the service was suspended, 5 cents for the first ounce, 3 cents for each additional ounce, and 3 cents each for postcards. No registration, air mail or parcel post service is available yet; and separate instructions will be issued in regard to money order remittances.

Rambling Reporter

HE WAS DUCKED

If you notice a certain well-known member of the Peterborough Fire Department going about town with a very red face these days, it isn't sunburn, and it isn't because of a fire anywhere. Seems the fireman was boating on Stoney Lake recently and had a canoe out into the water for the express purpose of demonstrating his somewhat doubtful ability to do fancy tricks with the craft. After a terrific campaign of self-advertising, the man doesn't stay in the canoe five minutes before it overturns, and he finds himself wallowing in the water. As the story goes, it took all the strength and patience his sister-in-law could muster to finally pull him out of the lake. A rumour has started to the effect the "expert" will never look at another canoe!

CURE FOR ALL ILLS.

Love is a wonderful thing and can overcome nearly all obstacles. At the Thursday evening clinic for blood donors, one soldier was a little afraid he might faint. His nurse suggested he just concentrate on something when the operation started. The young man's brow furrowed as he put the mental pressure on, and after he had finished his nurse said: "Well son, did you feel anything?" The soldier smiled and said firmly, "No, mam, I was thinking about my girl."—J.S.

Sgt. Reg. Quirt Wounded In Fight

Word was receiied today by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Quirt, 425 Sheridan street, that their son, Sgt. Reginald Quirt, has been wounded, not seriously while serving with an anti-tank unit in France.

Enlisting four years ago in July, Sgt. Quirt went overseas a year later. Shortly before the invasion he married a nurse in Scotland, and since his arrival in France, he has written home that the fighting was terrible. He received his injuries on August 13.

He is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Quirt to become a casualty overseas. F.O. Douglas Quirt, R.C.A.F. was hurt in a crash more than a year ago overseas, and only recently returned to Canada, where he is at Christie St. Hospital for further treatment. One brother, Jack, is in England and another, Robert, is at sea.

Car Driver Blames Bus For Accident

The driver of an automobile that bumped into the side of a Nicholls Oval bus in front of the Bank of Toronto Thursday probably spoiled Bill Hunt's day, as he thought of the scratch in the silver paint and a disfiguring dent. The bus was apparently making a slow turn from George into Hunter street, going east, when the automobile began to move northerly without a precautionary look down George street.

In spite of the evidence on the side of the bus, the driver of the automobile tried to tell Hunt and an audience of thirty people that the bus was obviously at fault. He was even hostile about it, and finally said the police would settle it. At that moment Constable Bud Clarke arrived, and formed just as swift a conclusion as that of the curb group; that was—the bus was not to blame. "But, I'm not the magistrate," Clarke said. "I am here to investigate, but if you want any action to be taken against the bus people, you'll have to do that yourself," he told the car driver.

But, in spite of all the evidence being on his side, and a unanimous jury, with the one exception, it was likely that Bill Hunt worried a lot as he thought of the scrape marks on the side of his bus. As for the car its left fender was bashed against the tire.

Remand Is Granted In Lakefield Case

Activity was negligible in morning police court today, with the business for the most part over in 30 minutes.

Joseph H. Redmond, who previously pleaded not guilty to a charge of vagrancy, was released when the Crown offered no evidence, and the charge was dismissed.

Lavern Killingbeck was remanded by joint request of the Crown and himself until August 31, on a charge of breaking and entering the office of Dr. J. C. Smith, Lakefield. Killingbeck previously pleaded not guilty.

Charged with being in an intoxicated condition in or near a public place, Frank Grisdale was adjourned until September 1.

General Increase Noted In Assessment

W. J. Henry, head of the city's assessment department, told the Examiner today that there has been this year a "fairly general" increase in assessments, ranging from $50 to $100 and $200, on properties comprising house and lot. The information was given in response to a question relating to a comment at a recent meeting of the council to the effect that assessments on a group of homes in Ashburnham has been raised $200 a property.

Members of the council said they knew that municipal valuations were entirely a responsibility of the assessment department with which they had no intention of trying to interfere. However, it was suggested that perhaps Mr. Henry might attend an early meeting of the council and tell the members the course of assessments and discuss with them, simply for purposes of information, changes which have been made in taxable values.

"If the council wants me to talk things over with them, I will be glad to do so," Mr. Henry said.

A general increase in assessments has not been made in Peterborough since the period around 1926, and the present advances do not apply to all properties, depending on circumstances of values which represent probably the burden of the problem of any assessment department.

Higher Level

Mr. Henry said that in his long administration of the assessment department he had not been influenced by temporary fluctations of property values. Briefly harking back to the period of 1910-12 he mentioned spans of years when local properties slumped with depressions, recovered with improvements and moved into higher sales figures with the times and their economic surges above median and normal conditions. Any graph tracing the realty values during the last thirty years or more was a succession of advances and recedence, high peaks and low peaks, but at the same time the entire estate of Peterborough, as elsewhere, had gradually, if slowly, moved up to a higher level as compared with that of 1912.

This course Mr. Henry said, was indicated by actual sales values, and if the council wished him to make a review of that kind he said he was quite willing to do so.

"Quite a few years ago the Examiner published the entire assessment roll, and after the people had read it, as I expect most of them did. I had only five or six persons who spoke to me about it."

The inference from that recollection was that the property owners were quite satisfied with the assessments as made public in an extended series of articles.

Not Worrying

"Some remarks have been made in council that it would be a good thing if the assessment structure of this city was overhauled," Mr. Henry said.

Presumably that means the council would engage some outside and independent municipal expert to make a revaluation of the city's ratable property.

Mr. Henry remarked that he was quite in accord with whatever the council decided, and from that spirit of agreement it might be inferred that the city's Assessor is not worrying about the general equity of the assessment structure that has been established under his administration.

Baby Black Squirrels Adopted By Family

BUCKHORN, August 25 (ENS) — A family of baby black squirrels found a new temporary home here recently, when Jack Ireland and other members of the Ireland family of Buckhorn, rescued the little squirrels, and placed them in a basket near a stove. He first discovered the plight of two baby squirrels, stranded on the end of a branch, high up in a tree. They had been squealing, and attracted his attention. When they finally dropped to the ground, a search was made for the nest, and when it was found, three other baby squirrels were discovered in it. One died soon after, but the remaining members of the group are doing very well. Mrs. Ireland patiently feeds the animals milk from a spoon every two hours, but it is expected that the squirrels soon will be able to get out and forge for themselves.

BANCROFT CASUALTY — Pte. William Bowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Bowers, Bancroft, has been wounded in the mouth by shell fire. He was fighting in France.

BROTHERS SERVING IN FRANCE — Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Newton of Belmont township are serving in France. Pte. Fred Newton (Left) is with the R.C.A.M.C. and hopes to meet his brother soon. Gnr. Garfield Newton (Right) is fighting with the R.C.A. and has been undergoing heavy shelling.

Peterborough Industry Has Agreed To Contribute Large Amounts To Building Of Community Centre

The larger manufacturing concerns with offices in Peterborough have agreed to contribute large amounts to the building of a memorial community centre here and the sum forthcoming from them will in itself be sufficient to pay actual construction costs of an arena, J. A. Jebson, president of the Centre's Foundation Committee, said at the first public meeting held in the interests of erecting a community centre at the Genelco Cafeteria on Thursday evening.

He stated he was not able to make public as yet the precise amounts which have been offered, and added that final determination of the site for the project should be arrived at by next Monday. Mr. Jebson, in making the statement regarding financial assistance from Peterborough industries, stressed, however, that the monies forthcoming would provide for the erection of the building alone, and that this was only the first step in acquiring the full facilitiees which the Foundation Committee has supported in its broad plans. The gifts of citizens would make it possible, he declared, to have "not just a place where you can go to see a game of hockey, but where we will have everything which it is possible to get into a recreation building."

Between 200 and 300 persons attended the dinner and listened to an address by Major Lancaster, chairman of the enthusiastic Parks Commission in St. Catharine's, who has been intimately connected with the development of the park system in that city and the operation of its arena, opened in 1938. Introduced by Alderman Herb. Bradburn, who cited the growth of St. Catharine'cs recreational areas from a single park 21 years ago to a municipality with eight parks, four playgrounds and a modern arena as tangible evidence of the results that can be obtained Major Lancaster informed his audience of St. Catharine's experience in the operation of a non-profit arena.

Parks Commission.

He advocated for the consideration of this city establishment of a Parks Commission under provisions of the Ontario Public Parks Act, to supersede the system of a simple parks committee of the city council. Development schemes under the latter setup, were likely, the speaker declared, to fall by the roadside since councils have a great deal of work to attend to and are faced with "bigger problems than the supervision of playgrounds."

St. Catharines arena, he stated, erected at a cost of $105,000, was operated by the Parks Commission under direction of the city council and employed a young man— not high-salaried— as its manager. It had never operated anywhere near in the red, and annually produced revenue of from $7,000 to $10,000 after all expenses were paid, though open only five months in the year.

"Your project here embraces much more than we have in St. Catharines," Major Lancaster told his listeners, "and it is certainly the right attitude to take to see that your children have a proper chance to grow and play in proper surroundings and under capable supervision." He refered to the emphasis placed by Mr. Jebson on the feeling of all committee members, who were united in their belief that first consideration in every aspect of the community centre project was due the interests of the young folk of the city.

Sponsored Hockey.

"It might sound from what I have said regarding finances that we of the Parks Commission in St. Catharines drive a hard bargain," Major Lancaster remarked, "but as a matter of fact we play Santa Claus frequently when in position to do so. We assisted the Junior A team which met Oshawa in the playoffs last season; and were it not for that our receipts might easily have been $4,000 higher than the actual figure."

Peterborough Group Back From Overseas

Three Peterborough people and others from Port Hope and Campbellford have arrived in Kingston from overseas, according to an announcement from M.D. 3 this morning. No information is available as to whether they are casualties or returning for further training.

The Peterborough group includes Lieut. Phyllis Thirwell, formerly Phyllis Lawrence, daughter of Mrs. E. Lawrence and the late Mr. Lawrence, 422 Park street. She has been overseas with the C.W.A.C. Others are Lieut. Cameron A. Craig, son of Mrs. C. Craig, 585 Sherbrooke street, Sgt. F. A. Spencely, 164 Gordon avenue, Capt. H. K. Long of Port Hope and Capt. Clifford MacNeill of Campbellford.

Tpr. Robert Hanlon Wounded In France

HAVELOCK, August 25—(ENS). —Official word has been received here by Mrs. Hanlon that her husband, Tpr. Robert Joseph Hanlon, Canadian Army Tank Corps, has been wounded in France on August 14, the nature of the wounds not disclosed.

Prior to enlisting in March, 1943, Tpr. Hanlon was employed by the John Inglis Munition Works, Toronto. He trained at Camp Borden and Orillia, going overseas last November. He has been in France since D-Day. Tpr. Hanlon's father was killed in the war of 1914-1918 and his mother resides in England. He has a sister serving as a nurse and also a brother in the British Army.

Peaches Supply Slow In Reaching Peterboro

The supply of peaches reaching Peterborough this week has been rather disappointing to the trade, George Clark of National Grocers commented this morning.

"Deliveries did not come up to our expectations, and the circumstances are not quite clear to me," Mr. Clark said. "Demand is active, but the quantity coming to the trade has not been up to the desired volume. There may be some improvement next week."

Plums are also moving through the trade channel, and should continue into the first part of September.

FLIER BACK HOME — FO. Bruce E. Morgan, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Morgan, 599 Bolivar street, arrived home this week after a year and a half overseas. Suffering an arm injury in a take-off accident in England before his training was completed, FO. Morgan was unable to take part in invasion operations, but did manage to get over France by hitch-hiking rides from fellow-airmen.

Industrial Men Raise $206 In Eight Months

With never a falter in its daily appeal, keeping one objective over to the forefront, the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, through the generosity of all classes and creeds, groups and individuals has been doing a really worthwhile job in giving aid to thousands of people in the British Isles, who have been afflicted through air raid attacks over that country, and latterly from the huge amount of damage and loss of life occasioned by the robot bombs.

In a city and district of its size, this steady work could never have continued for a period of over three and a half years as this has done without the same steady work on the part of those particularly interested in its humanitarian work, a splendid example of which is to be found in the recital of to-day's story of the continued efforts to aid those who are still suffering from the same type of indiscriminate warfare.

The Industrial Control Dept. of the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., of which P. Killingbeck is the foreman have by their work become a shining example of the goodness that all people are capable of doing if they can catch the real vision of their own potential power in this field of endeavour on behalf of the war effort.

Every month of this year has seen this group send in a contribution to the fund averaging a little better than $25 each time, until with to-day's gift of $25.26 they have rolled up a fine total of $206.00 given this year alone, which added to the sum the yhad previously donated, gives them a splendid total credit of $360.-87 to-date.

As may be surmised, there is a definite leadership and support for a very worthy cause in evidence here which can be attributed to Philip Weir in paritcular, and all of the members of the group in general, which stands as a tribute to them all in the great work they are doing in a voluntary way to help this along.

That this continued work is very essential at the moment may be gathered from the fact that latest reports tell of an average of 17,000 homes, being destroyed or damaged every 24 hours by the robot bomb attacks now being made, which can be better visualized if one compares this to a daily total destruction of a city far larger than this fair city of Peterborough itself.

The returns from a small sale held by Jean and Jessie Forsythe and Joan Parnell are also included in to-day's recepits, as well as a penny box collection made on Thursday from a box located at the Bank of Toronto.

Personals Next Wednesday.

As stated in this column last Wednesday, another list of purely personal gifts would be commenced at that time and it is gratifying to report that already some are on hand for that purpose, and these with all others received up to the close of the Examiner office on Tuesday evening next, will form the report for the fund on the following day.

This Saturday, Lona Martin, Louann Kempt and Betty Whitmore will hold a bazaar at the residence of the former 462 Sherbrooke street to give the fund a helping hand.

Shell Fire Wounds Pte. William Bowers

BANCROFT, August 25—(ENS). —Pte. William Bowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Bowers, Hastings Street, Bancroft, has been wounded while in action in France, according to word received recently by the parents. As far as can be learned by the family, he received wounds to the mouth by shell fire. Pte. Bowers enlisted in 1941 with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and went overseas in March, 1944.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowers have one other son Stanley, a member of the R.C.A.F. in Western Canada.

REPORTED WOUNDED — Sgt. Reginald Quirt was reported wounded, not seriously, today. He is serving with an anti-tank unit overseas, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Quirt, 425 Sheridan street.

Newton Brothers Serve In France

HAVELOCK, August 25—(ENS). —Leter writing for Gnr. Garfield Newton, R.C.A., is a prolonged task since he arrived in France on D-Day, as described in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Newton of Belmont Township. He said he was writing in a fox hole which took a long time to dig the previous night as he would only throw out two shovelsful between the times he had to kiss the ground under the truck on account of the heavy shelling, and as he was writing he had to pop in and out like a groundhog. Gnr. Newton went overseas in 1943.

His brother, Pte. Fred Newton, R.C.A..MC., also took part in the invasion. He stated that he was happy to get started and had been afraid he was to be left in England. Pte. Newton declared he was very anxious to see Paris and then Germany. The brothers met once in England, and both expressed the hope that they would be fortunate enough to meet in France. Pte. Newton has been overseas since July, 1941.

Millbrook Soldier Helps Capture Nazis

MILLBROOK, Aug. 25.—(ENS). —According to a staff correspondent's dispatch, written "With the First Canadian Army in France," describing an Ontario Regiment in its capture of Trun, an item of local interest is the mention of the fact that Lance-Corporal William Kerr, despatch rider to the Colonel, and elder son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Kerr, of Millbrook, together with Pte. Howard Bradley of Cornwall, took over a packet of 160 German prisoners, and marched them back 14 miles until they could find a prisoner-of-war cage that was not too full. They were on their motorcycles, and were in charge of two truck loads of wounded, which they placed, one at the front and the other at the rear, of the line of prisoners for the jorney back to the army base.

Technician Donald Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Kerr's other son, is with the forces invading Southern France, and from word received this week, is now near the Swiss border. He speaks of the incessant firing as "like a continuous thunder-storm, but without any rain."

More Workers Leave Genelco War Plant

Six employees of Genelco Limited accepted Thursday transfer to an airplane factory in Orillia, and five or seven others had not then decided whether they too would go, W. H. L. Mellis, head of Selective Service here, informed the Examiner today.

These changes of employment were a reflection of the termination of the main Genelco contract for the assembly of guns, it was stated. Men have been gradually laid off at the big plant. Some of them have been re-engaged with the Canadian General Company; others have moved out of the city to work elsewhere, and this trend is continuing.

Soldier Lauds Surgery Of Army Doctors

Hospitalized since last December in a Canadian plastic surgery hospital in England after sustaining severe injuries to his face and head in a motorcycle accident, Pte. Russell Killingbeck, the son of Mrs. Annie Hubble, 157 Rutherford avenue, has returned home after four years of service overseas. The 24-year-old solier arrived back on the Lady Nelson Sunday.

It was while driving escort for Col. Ralston during his visit to Canadian troops overseas that the young Peterborough serviceman met with his mishap. His motorcycle skidded and the bike behind collided with him. Hospitalized for seven months, he has had bone grafted for his jaw, and his experience has left him with nothing but praise for the marvellous work performed by surgeons in that particular hospital, an all-Canadian institution where men of all three of the Dominion's services are admitted for treatment.

Pte. Killingbeck, a son of the late Perce Killingbeck, who enlisted with the 93rd Battalion in the last war and served for four years, being wounded in France, joined the army in February, 1940, as a member of the Royal Canadian Regiment. Following his arrival overseas in July, 1940, he transferred to the Provost Corps. He was educated at Prince of Wales School, and worked for a time in the mill at the Peterborough Canoe Co. before enlisting. A younger brother, Jack, is also in the Army, stationed at Farnham, P.Q.

The present siege of buzz bombs does not bear comparison with the old Battle of Britain which Pte. Killingbeck lived through his first year overseas, he says. Among his experiences of those now happily concluded months of England's trial was having a 500 lb. bomb alight in the backyard of the house where he was billeted, but the infernal machine proved a dud and failed to explode. He said that reconstruction of London from the effects of the blitz is as yet only in the stage of clearing away rubble and that rebuilding has not been started yet. Home on a 30-day furlough, after which he will report to Toronto for a reboard, Pte. Killingbeck took part in a large share of the maneuvers staged by Canadian units in England prior to his accident. He also went on several leaves, becoming well acquainted with many parts of England and Scotland, and says he found the people also very nice.

Among the men from Peterborough he has met overseas in recent months, Pte. Killingbeck included the names of George Bowen, Stan. McCormick and Jack Rogers, the latter formerly of the city police force. He also saw Bud Saunders, a short while before that Peterborough soldier was killed in action.

War—4 Years Ago

(By The Canadian Press).

AUG. 25, 1940 — London suffered its fifth air raid in 48 hours as German airmen made widespread bombing raids on United Kingdom; 55 Nazi planes downed. Romania reported to have sent reinforcements to Transylvania and Hungary called up reservists.

SEVERELY WOUNDED—Pte. Robert Douglas Kent, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kent, 388 Murray street, has been severely wounded in the left arm, according to word received by his parents. He is believed to have been fighting with the S.D. and G. Highlanders.

Sign Agreement

LONDON, Aug. 25 —(CP) — A British-French agreement covering the civil administration of liberated areas in France was signed to-day by Foreign Secretary Eden and Rene Massigli, Fighting French Minister of Foreign Affairs.

A similar French-American agreement, on a military level, was expected to be signed by Gen. Eisenhower and Lt.-Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, commander of the French Forces of the Interior, somewhere in France this afternoon.

Death Toll Grows From Plane Crash

FRECKLETON, England, Aug. 25 (CP)—The death toll resulting from the crash of an American heavy bomber in this Lancashire village mounted to 57 today as the townsfolk considered restricting admission to the mass funeral tomorrow by issuing tickets.

A six-year-old child died during the night, bringing to 36 the number of children killed in the accident.

The ticket proposal was advanced to assure families of the victims places in the village church, which has a seating capacity of only 250.

Obituary

MRS. GEORGE HOWARTH

The sudden death occurred this morning at her residence, 187 Lock street, of Mrs. George Howarth, a resident of the city since 1906. She was 74.

Born Annie Schofield, the daughter of the late Fred. Schofield and Sarah Farnall, at Yorkshire, England, Mrs. Howarth came to Peterborough directly from the land of her birth. She was a member of St. George's Anglican church. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, George Howarth; one daughter, Irene at home; a son, Ronald, of Milton, Ont. a grandson, John Howarth; and one brother, Harry in Yorkshire.

The funeral will be held on Monday at 2 p.m. from the Nisbett Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, Rev. E. C. Moore officiating, and interment will take place at Little Lake cemetery.

AT COBOURG ROTARY

Harry Gadd, superintendent of the plastics and porcelain department of the Canadian General Electric Company, is the guest speaker of Cobourg Rotary at its luncheon today.

LOSES THREE SONS

The three sons of Mrs. Alex Colville, Bowmanville, have been listed as war casualties by the R.C.A.F., of which they were Flying Officers. The oldest son, Freeborn, was killed in an operational flight over Newfoundland more than a year ago. Alex was reported missing over Germany five months ago, and a few days ago Mrs. Colville was notified that her youngest son, John S. (Sandy) Colville was shot down in a reconnaissance flight over France and was presumed dead.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

McTague Would Enforce Codes Favors Councils

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Aug. 25 (CP)—A national economic council for Canada to make "a continuing study of the national economy, thus anticipating depressions, and to make the necessary recommendations to stimulate falling purchasing power," was suggested today by C. P. McTague, national chairman of the Progressive Conservative party.

In an address to the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs on "the post-war problems of Canadian labor," the former chairman of the National Labor Board suggested that this over-all economic council should include representatives of industry, labor and agriculture "and a good economist or two."

He suggested also joint employer-employee councils in individual industries to fix wages, conditions of work, prices and production plans. In this Canada "can still learn a great deal from Britain and the Scandinavian countries" although the plan is used in Canada. "It is used in the construction industry in a fairly thorough-going way. It prevails to a more limited extent in the pulp and paper industry." The task of government would be mainly to bring the various industries together and to act as umpire in working out agreement.

Free Enterprise

"It might be necessary on rare occasions where certain industries or plants prove recalcitrant to have the power to make and enforce codes," said Mr. McTague who suggested that any constiutional difficulties in this connection would be solved through Dominion-Provincial conferences. "There should be more of them."

Function of the over-all economic council should include settlement of industrial codes where the particular industrial council involved is unable to do so, he continued. It could act as coordinating advisory body to the Department of Mines, Labor, Finance, Trade and Commerce and Agriculture. Its powers would not extend beyond recommendation.

Mr. McTague said that his remarks on post-war problems of labor were based on the assumption that "we shall be functioning in an economic system of free enterprise and under a political system of real democracy."

The trade union movement has gained strength in wartime and "by far the greater percentage of business has come to recognize the business and social value of the trade union movement and would welcome its further stabilization."

Labor's concern about consolidating its wartime gains have been manifested in strikes to obtain closed shop and maintenance of membership clauses in collective agreements. "What really concerns labor is the fear of a glutted labor market with resulting lowered wages and the distintegration of trade unions" but this is really only one phase of the problem of what to do to avoid economic depressions and unemployment.

Must Co-operate

Mr. McTague doubted there would be a depression immediately after the end of the war. The catching up of restricted civilian production will provide much employment but "the real test will come some time later."

"How we approach it will be a largely determining factor. No one should approach the question with the viewpoint that depressions are inevitable."

The function of bushiess and labor is primarily co-operation to achieve the common welfare of all the people in the nation.

"The days are gone when freedom of enterprise is the same as license to exploit. The profit motive can no longer be the one unrestricted primary objective. It must become secondary to the national welfare. Such an objective requires a strong trade union movement. The national interest demands that the trade union movement must not be allowed to be sabotaged. On the contrary, it must be fostered.

Wants Discharge

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 26 — (AP) — Lt.-Col. Robert Tyre (Bobby) Jones United States 9th Air Force Intelligence Officer, has applied for a discharge from the Army under the over-38 regulation and is on his way back to the United States or already there, the 9th Air Force disclosed yesterday. The noted Atlanta golfer who joined the Air Forces as a Captain in June, 1942, was 42 last March 17.

Remember When—

(By The Canadian Press)

Captain Matthew Webb of England completed the first recorded English Channel swim 69 years ago today. He did it in 22 hours 45 minutes. Webb is credited officially with having made the first swim, but some American authorities claim that Captain Paul Boynton, American, made the swim in April of the same year.

Brintons Beat Nashua Team

The fast-stepping Brintons continued their winning streak by defeating the Nashua Combines, on Thursday evening on the Brinton diamond. The score was 13 to 6. Plenty of hitting by the Brintons decided the game. Phillips for the Brintons struck out five, walked six, and allowed 11 hits Atchison for Nashua struck out two, walked three, and was nicked for 16 hits

Tommy Loughran Becomes Salesman

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25 — (AP) — Tommy Loughran, former light-heavy-weight champion and one of boxing's internationally known figures, who was honorably discharged from the Marines several weeks ago because of overage, on Monday will become associated with Lowry and Company, a sugar brokerage concern..

Joe McGuigan, district sales manager of the firm, announced that the 41-year-old Loughran first will learn the business in the Philadelphia office, then be sent on the road as a salesman.

One by one the St. Catharines official took up various points with regard to construction and operation of an arena, discussed possible problems and refered to errors and oversights that had occurred in the building of the St. Catharines arena and might profitably be avoided when construction was undertaken here. He stated that the commission should refrain from sponsoring anything, and should require teams to organize themselves before ever approaching the commission. Only in this manner could the commission hope to maintain its independence.

"Be generous to school children and the school teams," Major Lancaster advised as an everyday slogan in dealing wtih the city's youth and their requests, "but never break away from the rule of charging all on a fair and even basis. I particularly draw your attention to our invariable rule of charging everybody admission, and making no exceptions, whether it be for the chairman of the committee or the mayor himself."

Both Gordon K. Fraser, M. P., and Senator Iva Fallis, expressed gratification in brief remarks that plans for the projected health and community centre had reached their present advanced stage. "It is a thing that is long overdue," Mr. Fraser declared, "and should go a long ways in remedying in the future generation the physical defects which rejections for Active Army Service have made so apparent since the war started. Thanking the speaker, Senator Fallis remarked: "I think there is no more fitting way to honor those who have made the supreme sacrifice than to see to it that those who comprise the growing generation reach adulthood 100 per cent. physically fit."

SALVAGE FOR WAR

An average of 1,095 pounds of salvage per 1,000 of population were collected in May from voluntary committees in Canada.

Germans Must Evacuate France

WASHINGTON, August 24—(CP)—War Secretary Stimson said today Allied military victories coupled with the rising of French forces have shattered German hopes of making a prolonged stand even in Northern France.

The Secretary of War told a news conference:

"This has been an historic week—the climax of the Battle of Northern France, the forward surge of the Allies in Southern France, and now Romania's abandonment of the Axis.

"On every side Germany weakens. Now is the time for us to muster all our strength and unity for the final blows...."

In the midst of success, he reminded, it still is necessary to remember that a substantial number of divisions of the German 15th Army in the Calais area were not yet in combat. Standing north of the Seine River he said, they undoubtedly will seek to reorganize such 7th Army units as manage to escape from Normandy and increase their strength.

"Allied air and ground forces, with team-work and power," Mr. Stimson said, "are in the midst of effective action to undermine and crush the ability of the Germans to make a prolonged stand in Northern France."

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 25— (AP)—Carmen Armenti's bread and butter have been restored after a little monkey business. Julia, 15 year old brown monkey belonging to Armenti, hurdy-gurdy man, was impounded on a charge that she bit a woman. Safety Director Frank D. Celebreeze said it couldn't be, and released her. Julia, Celebreeze discovered, has no teeth.

LET THE DOUBLE HELP

DON'T GET upset just because a combative opponent sees fit to double you. Possibly he is doing you a favor and telling you how to make your contract, through locating certain cards for you. Playing him for the indicated strength may be worth something to you as the hand progresses, and when you reach the final stages you may be able to throw him into the lead and make him give you a trick which is worth its weight in gold.

Pass	Dbl

Things began early to go pretty well for West. When the spade Q was put on the J lead, South refused to cover with his K. The diamond 3 was led to the A, and North returned the spade 2, the 8 bringing the 9 and A. The heart 3 was underplayed by the 2, and the 7 finessed successfully. Next came the club K, club A and the club 3 ruffed by the heart 5. A diamond was trumped by the heart 4, a club by the heart J, making three tricks for the dummy's three trumps, and then the spade 10 was led.

There was the key play. West already had eight tricks in and needed only one more. The defenders had only two, counting this, which was the tenth trick. On the spade West parked his final club, the J. North had nothing left but four hearts, the A, Q, 10 and 6. He couldn't help winning this, and a moment later he had to lead a heart, assuring West a trick with his K, the trick which gave him his contract.

Clear Up Points About Site For City Hall

Just for the record, and to keep straight the information and opinion respecting proposed sites for the city hall provided for financially in the will of the late W. G. Morrow, the location at Aylmer and Charlotte Streets was recommended to the city council by the Town Planning Committee.

Citizens should know by this time, from reports of discussions by the council, that the Federal Department of Public Works has had nothing to do or say about the proposed city hall and any prospective location. The Department of Public Works has had no way of knowing up to the present that Peterborough is contemplating the erection of a new city hall anywhere. And, in the light of sentiment expressed at the council meeting, Monday night, estimating the Aylmer-Charlotte property cost at roughly $200,000, it seems unlikely that the idea will ever be conveyed to the Federal Department.

The Town Planning Committee is a group of citizens, several of them engineers with a local manufacturing plant, who voluntarily undertook to assist the council in a municipal survey, and incidentally to consider the question of sites for the proposed city hall building.

Another fact which apparently must be repeated once more is this, that there is no fund for the purchase of a city hall site. In accepting the splendid gift of the late Mr. Morrow, the city obligates itself to provide the property on which the municipal building is to be erected. The city must provide the land and pay for the equipping of the building.

As a further reminder to the citizens as to the Aylmer-Charlotte recommendation, the members of the City Planning Committee are: Mayor Hamilton, Alderman Dutton, Alderman Curtis, chairman of the parks committee, John W. Pierce, A. C. Northover, Ross L. Dobbin, Donald J. McGrath, A. J. Girdwood, Mrs. J. K. Hughes, Gordon Monkman; Hubert Eastwood, W. R. L. Blackwell. These members appointed Alderman Dutton chairman.

CCF Anticipates More Gains

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 25 (CP)—"The prospects are exceeding our most optimistic expectations," C.C.F. campaign leader J. A. Mugridge, said last night in his final radio address before New Brunswick electors go to the polls next Monday.

Premier J. B. McNair, leading the Liberal government's appeal for re-election, and Hugh Mackay, Progressive Conservative leader, will complete the radio phase of their campaigns tomorrow night.

If the C.C.F. achieved power in the province, Mr. Mugridge said, "precise steps" to be taken would be decided "by the party as a whole" and would be based on the advice of experts in every field. An economic council would prepare a plan for the full utilization of human and material resources.

The final standing in constituencies with a close civilian vote may not be known for some days after election night, until results of voting by members of th armed services have been received. Returns of personnel stationed in New Brunswick are expected to be known Monday night.

Those from other provinces, Newfoundland, and Labrador, are not expected until at least two days later, while results of overseas voting probably will not be cabled until five days or more after the election.

Fuel Dealers Discuss Need For Fall Workers

Fuel dealers discussed this morning with W. H. L. Mellis of Selective Service the possibility of obtaining additional employees for the approaching season foreboded by to-day's cooler weather.

The Toronto regional office of Selective Service inquired of the local fuel men what they were expecting to need in extra help as demand for coal and wood became more active.

Certain suggestions were made to Mr. Mellis to be forwarded to the regional office, and other details of the seasonal change were discussed.

Prince Bernhard Visits France

By ROSS MUNRO,
Canadian Press War Correspondent.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE, Aug. 25 —(CP Cable)—Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands Thursday visited his country's troops fighting as part of the 1st Canadian army in France.

Wearing a Netherland uniform with rank insignia of a Lieutenant General and his R. A. F. wigns, Prince Bernhrad first went to army headquarters where he met Lt.-Gen. Crear, Canadian commander. There he took the salute from a guard of honor of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, commanded by Capt. W. Gager of Winnipeg.

From there the Prince went along the line where the Netherlanders have shared in the fighting this week.

Th slim Prince, whose princess lives in Ottawa with their family, told the Netherlands troops:

" I have heard many words of praise from Canadians for your actions. The Canadians are very pleased with the work the Netherlands troops have done. It is an honour for you to take part in this move to overthrow the Germans in western Europe.

"Your first actions have been very good indeed. I have been promised this morning that Netherland troops would be taking part in other actions on the French front. Then, I suppose, it will be a matter of a race behind the fleeing enemy until you reach Holland. I give you warm greetings from Queen Wilhelmina. It has been a great satisfaction for her to know that Netherland troops are now in the struggle. She is proud of the fact you are sharing in it."

British Brides Arrive In Large Numbers

By The Canadian Press.

British war brides, thrilled and a little timid at their first sight of Canada, have arrived in the Dominion after crossing the Atlantic on a former luxury liner. Hundreds of Canadian servicemen—Army, Navy and Air Force—were aboard the ship, too, as well as nursing sisters, women of the R.C.A.F. and men of the merchant navy.

Most of the young English brides had been preceded home by their servicemen husbands, back from the fighting fronts; others will wait until their men come back from overseas "after the duration."

A few lucky couples were together on the voyage, envy of the rest, and the husbands of some will never return from the battlefields of Europe. None of them had ever seen Canada before, and they were a little awed at the immensity of their new home.

They were all delighted with the voyage, with the fine and varied food on board, and with the prospect of seeing cities aglow with lights at night, after the five-year black-out of wartime England.

There were many other new Canadians aboard too, most of them between 14 and 20 months old. They added a touch of domesticity to the gray austerity of the troopship.

A happy family group were Wing Cmdr. H. C. Godfrey, his wife and 13-months-old Isabel, ready to leave for Toronto. Wing Cmdr. Godfrey holds the D.S.O., the D.F.C. and bar for his work with Canada's famous Wolf squadron. He met his blonde Scottish wife when they were both stationed in southern England; he with the R.C.A.F. and she an officer of the British Women's Auxiliary Air Force.

Unusual Romance.

Among the war couples were Major and Mrs. R. R. Laird, whose story reads like a novel. Major Laird, youthful R.C.A.M.C. officer of Victoria, B.C., met his wife during a blitz on January 14, 1941. Born Francesca Bahrle, she was a British film star who appeared in pictures made by Sir Alexander Korda, Fox-British, and other English movie companies. She was also a pioneer star in the war-halted British television industry. "She was the first girl I met in England," Major Laird said.

A few days before the day set for their marriage, Laird went to Dieppe where he lost his right leg. Captured, he spent 16 months in German prison camps.

Finally Major Laird was repatriated in the first group of men to return to England. There he married Francesca. There, too, he learned of the modern miracles being performed by Allied surgeons with artificial limbs.

"As a doctor," he stated, "I can say the outlook for amputees will be brighter and brighter with the developments which will take place in the next few years in that work."

4TH CANADIAN DIVISION IN FRANCE

2nd Armored Division Enters Paris

Nazi Commander Signs Order Of Capitulation

LONDON, Aug. 26 (CP)—French broadcasts from Paris today declared the capital, symbol of liberty, gain was free of the German yoke, although the Nazis declared fighting still was going on.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle proclaimed the liberation of the capital to cheering crowds last night, and Paris radio declared the German commander had surrendered.

Supreme headquarters said only that "more Allied armor and infantry are in Paris following entrance of the 2nd French Armored Division Friday morning, and all resistance in the southern and southwestern outskirts has been overcome."

Radio France at Algiers asserted early this afternoon that all Nazi resistance in Paris had ceased.

Berlin broadcasts denied that General Werden, commanding the Paris garrison, had capitulated, and said troops in the capital area still were fighting Allied columns and the Partisans.

The German accounts said fighting continued near the Ecole Militaire, Montparnasse, at several boulevard crossings, with particularly bitter struggles at the Place de la Concorde, the Place de l'Etoile, and around the Ace de Triomphe.

De Gaulle himself announced the liberation three days after the premature report from his London headquarters.

Crowds Singing.

Back in the capital after four years of fighting from abroad, the President of the French Committee of National Liberation addressed cheering crowds last night in front of the Prefecture in Paris. In his broadcast speech the shouting and singing of the crowd could be heard clearly.

"Paris is free now—freed by the hands of Frenchmen—the capital of fighting France, of France the great eternal," Gen. De Gaulle declared.

Earlier the radio said Colonel Rouel, commander of the Paris region for the Forces of the Interior, had issued this proclamation to his forces:

Reds Within 100 Miles Of Bucharest

Expect To Reach Capital By Sunday Night

BY DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug 26 — (AP) — Romanian troops were reported turning on the Germans, killing and taking them prisoners, as the Red Army sped through the Galati gap today towards Bucharest at a pace which, if maintained, would carry Soviet spearheads to the Romanian capital by tomorrow night.

The charging Russian troops last were reported little more than 100 miles from Bucharest and barely 75 miles from the Ploesti oil fields. The Siret River was crossed 20 miles south of captured Tecuci.

A Red Star dispatch said a pitched battle between the Romanians and Germans was witnessed by Soviet forces.

In this fight, the first reported episode here of the Romanians carrying out their announced intention to fight with the United Nations, the Romanians captured 360 Germans.

Red Star said the fight occurred beyond Tirguniam where the enemy had gathered on a line of 200 pillboxes.

The Germans and Romanians both had been fighting the Russians. They were both on the Soviet right flank—A German Division and a Romanian Regiment.

A Furious Battle

The dispatch made clear the Romanians attacked their former comrades in arms after the Division was badly mauled by the Russians. The Dispatch said the Romanians were merciless as they slashed into the Nazi ranks and that as a result the Germans lost "many soldiers."

In a continuation of the lightning-like drive through Romania that has cost the enemy nearly 205,000 killed or captured in six days, Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukraine army established a bridgehead across the Siret in the vicinity of Nanesti.

Huge Bombers Batter Reich For Third Day

LONDON, Aug. 26 — (CP) — Allied air forces for the third day running hammered Germany and battered German forces in France following day and night operations Friday that saw 6,450 sorties flown from British and French bases alone.

From Brest to the Baltic powerful air fleets fought thorugh increased fighter opposition to give the Germans incessant punishment on land and sea.

R. A. F. bomber command last night sent out more than 1,000 heavyweights to smash the huge Opel Motor Works at Russelsheim and hit the German rail centre at Darmstadt. R.C.A.F. Lancasters took part in the blow at Russelsheim.

R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Halifaxes and Lancasters simultaneously struck a series of blows at light and heavy gun emplacements at beseiged Brest, key Brittany port and R.A.F. Mosquitos hammered Berlin.

The Allied forces lost 78 planes in their extensive operations yesterday and throughout the night. These included 27 R.A.F. planes, two of which were Canadian heavy bombers. The U.S. 8th Air Force lost seven fighters and the U S. 9th Air Force 19 aircraft.

Against their losses the Allies tallied 14 German aircraft destroyed in the air and on the ground.

The British Air Ministry disclosed that before dark last night R. A.F. Lancasters and Halifaxes attacked "a irage concrete structure believed t be connected with the enemy's threatened use of long-range rockets," at Wattem in Pas de Calais.

The amount of fighter opposition encountered was regarded here as a posible sign the Germans now may be beaten to a point where they have decided to risk their remaining planes in a desperate defence of Germany itself.

Heavy Opposition.

Nazi fighters swarmed up from their new bases around Cambrai, Soissons, Reims and San Juentin—and the U.S. 9th Air Force bagged yesterday 51 ME 109s and FW 190s

Grand Allied Advance Gains Speed On 200-Mile Front

BY WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 26 — (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower's forces were driving northward and eastward on a 200-mile-wide front toward Germany and Belgium today on the heels of fleeing Germans who apparently were trying to get out of France.

The Seine had been crossed at half a dozen places.

Allied planes relentlessly hammered the enemy, destroying 93 Nazi planes, 549 vehicles and 58 tanks in the past 24 hours.

Forces of the 1st Canadian Army in a whirlwind advance reached the Seine River today and were closing in on Rouen where the Germans were making a frantic effort to get back across the River and were suffering terrible losses under a storm of bombs and shells said a field dispatch.

British formations of the Canadian Army were approaching Pont Audener, 13 miles east and slightly south of Honfleur, fishing port which was taken yesterday by airborne units operating as infantry. Field dispatches said these forces operating along the coast had advanced several miles east of Honfleur, which is across the Seine Estuary from Le Havre.

American troops have seized Elbeuf, 25 miles from the south of the Seine.

Hit Brest Hard

United Nations troop teams were rapidly liquidating the German pocket south of the Seine, now turned to a graveyard.

Approximately 300 miles behind the main fighting front running northwest and southeast of Paris, an all-out land, air and sea attack was launched on the beseiged German garrison at Brest on the tip of the Breton peninsula. This attack by U S. troops was supported by hundreds of Allied bombers and the guns of the famous British battleship Warspite.

The Allied drive north toward the Pas-De-Calais coast coincided with a lull in the flying bombs attacks on London and southern England, but it was not known whether the Germans already were moving their robot launching platforms out of range of the advancing armies Allied pilots reported the Germans had pulled out at least part of their forces from the rocket coast fortifications

Antonescu Killed?

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 26.— (AP).— A dispatch from the Swiss-Italian border to-day said Marshal Ion Antonescu, deposed Romanian premier, had been assassinated during the coup d'etat that placed Romania in the Allied camp.

The dispatch came from the Swiss Telegraph Agency which quoted the Italian News Agency Stefani. There was no confirmation.

Berlin broadcasts have said Antonescu fled to Germany after King Michael of Romania accepted Allied surrender terms.

American Units 100 Miles North Of Cannes

By GEORGE TUCKER,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

ROME, Aug. 26 —(AP)—American columns have occupied the Alpine town of Briancon, near the Italian frontier more than 100 miles north of the captured seaport of Cannes, and other 7th Army forces have driven into Avignon, key communciations centre in the Delta of the Rhone Valle, Allied Headquarters announced to-day.

The triumphant advance of the Allied troops freed nearly all of southern France east of the Rhone river and south of Avignon and Briancon. At the eastern coastal end of the invasion front Allied forces were fighting less than 20 miles from the Italian frontier, pushing forward on Nice from Antibes, which fell yesterday.

Capture of Avignon, with a populaiton of 60,000 placed the Allies firmly astride Rhone Valley communication lines which are the last feasible enemy escape route, and extended the front in the west to a depth of 24 miles.

Just before Avignon fell to the Americans, French troops reported they had occupied Arles and Sarascon, Rhone Valley cities south of Avignon.

Briancon is five miles from the Italian-French border on the French side and 70 miles from the junction of the French, Italian and Swiss Frontiers.

Canuck Tank Men Helped Close Normandy Trap

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 26 (CP-Cable)—The 4th Canadian Armored Division has been fighting in France and it took a leading part in the 1st Canadian Army's large-scale attack down the Caen-Falaise highway and in the advance on Trun southwest of Falaise, which closed the Normandy trap on Field Marshal Von Kluge's 7th German Army.

Permission was given today to mention that this Division was in the fighting in Normandy up to Aug. 18 and also it was permitted to mention that the Canadian 2nd and 3rd Infantry Divisions were in action until that date.

It was disclosed 15 days ago that Canadian 2nd Division, from which was drawn the units which raided Dieppe in August, 1942, was fighting in France. Shortly after the Allied invasion of western France June 6 it was announced that the Canadian 3rd Division was in the fighting.

Another recent disclosure was that Lt.-Gen. G. G. Simonds, who led the Canadian 1st Division in a brilliant campaign through Sicily and into Italy, is commanding a Canadian corps in Normandy in the 1st Canadian Army.

Canada's entire overseas military establishment, the 1st Army Headquarters organization, two corps headquarters, five divisions and two army tank brigades now are in action against the enemy in Italy and France.

The overseas military organization grew out of the 1st Division which was organized on the outbreak of war and went overseas in December, 1939.

As the 1st Canadian Army under Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar drives forward towards the battlegrounds of the First Great War where Canadians fought and died. The actual Canadian representation on the soil of France is smaller in number now than in the last war but vastly greater in power by reason of its armor and weapons.

4 In Last War.

In the last war the old Canadian Corps grew from one division to four and the four fought through the turning stages of the war in 1918. This time there are three Canadian divisions in France and two in Italy, along with the 1st Army Tank Brigade in Italy and the second, at a point not yet disclosed, but probably in France.

Romanians Desert To Reds Declare War On Germany

LONDON, Aug. 26—(CP).—"Quarters of the German command" in Bucharest, the Romanian capital, are engaged in fierce fighting against Romanian Army formations, the German radio announced today. The German High Command said repeated attacks "made by traitors" were repulsed and that German troops were engaged in a general retreat in Romania while defending themselves against numerous Soviet attacks.

Bucharest reported Romanian soldiers in increasing numbers were joining the onrushing Red Army, and under heightening pressure from the front and rear Germany's whole position in Romania appeared headed toward disintegration.

"German strong points in the country are giving in and whole groups are surrendering," declared a Bucharest broadcast. "Allied troops and our own soldiers from the front are headed toward Bucharest."

Meanwhile Bulgaria was said to be awaiting an early delivery of Allied terms to take her out of the war, Greek Insurgents were reported fighting with German occupation forces, and the Nazis tightened their grip on a shaking Hungary.

All of these troubles faced Hitler as he was reported in conference at Berchtesgaden with his military and political advisers.

(The Moscow radio broadcast an "appeal to the Bulgarian people saying Bulgaria would face defeat and punishment if she remained in Hitler's camp," said a BBC broadcast recorded by CBS.)

The Romanian government announced its declaration of war on Germany in a dramatic broadcast that charged the Germans broke their promise not to war on the capitulating Romanians by bombing Bucharest and other towns and turning guns on civilians.

The German Legation in Bucharest has been cordoned off by Romanian troops and police forces, said a Berlin broadcast.

It added that "under these circumstances there exists no possibility of direct communiction with the German Envoy or his staff."

Donald Nelson Faces Barrage

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—(AP).—China-bound Donald M. Nelson was the target of a biting new blast today as evidence multiplied that when he returns he may not remain long in his chairmanship of the War Production Board.

The new attack, close on the heels of Charles E. Wilson's sharp criticisms when he resigned as executive vice-chairman, was made by Rubber Director Bradley Dewey, saying that remarks Mr. Nelson made about the rubber program constituted "typical Washington sniping."

Mr. Dewey was alluding to the W.P.B. chief's testimony before the Senate War Investigating Committee in which Mr. Nelson, commenting upon Mr. Dewey's decision to retire September 1 because the rubber program was completed, remarked that the tire program "was completed—all but getting the tires." Mr. Dewey said he never stated the tire producing job was done, merely that synthetic rubber plants were producing.

The new storm broke as Lt.-Cmdr. J. A. Krug, assigned by President Roosevelt to take Mr. Wilson's place while Nelson is in China, gave pointed indications that his authority is much broader than originally believed.

Lt.-Cmdr. Krug told reporters his authority included hiring and firing, that he was "starting a new deal from here on out," that he would "kill any sniping."

Coupled with President Roosevelt's statement at a news conference yesterday that he did not know whether Mr. Nelson would return to the same job, the 37-year-old Krug's remarks were interpreted by some board sources as indicating that the President may be planning to give him the war agency's top title eventually, replacing Mr. Nelson.

French Girls Spit On Nazis

By MAURICE DESJARDINS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 26 (CP Cable)—For the last six hours we have been watching a tumultuous demonstration of gratitude by the liberated people of Paris.

After four years of odious occupation Parisians are putting on a show of sincere and unbridled joy.

Thousands of deliriously happy people are massed along the boulevards and have been yelling hour after hour: "Merci, merci!"

Yesterday afternoon we saw Gen. De Gaulle drive past in a limousine and the cheers reached a new crescendo. Twenty-year-old Patriots who were seeing him for the first time cried like babies.

One wonders when the fierceness of the demonstrations will abate. It shows no signs of doing so yet.

As we approached Paris he saw two tired Germans in an American jeep. There was a crowd around them and as we passed we saw French girls spitting in one German's face. He just grinned sheepishly.

Von Kluge May Make Stand To Protect Robomb Coast

By DEWITT MACKENZIE,
Associated Press War Analyst.

For the second time within a few days Allied air observes report that Field Marshal Von Kluge, German Commander in Chief in France, is carrying out movements northeast of the Seine indicating he's preparing to make his next stand along a line based on those historic battle-barriers, the Somme and the Marne rivers.

The corollary to this, of course, is that an heavy Nazi withdrawal is in the making from the Seine and from the channel coast immediately northeast of the mouth of that river. The Hitlerite position along the Seine no longer is tenable.

This report makes sense because Von Kluge may be expected to give battle at least along the Somme unless his forces are in utter rout. He naturally would hold on the Marne too, if possible, but his ability to make much of a showing there is questionable in view of the threat presented by American armored forces southeast of Paris.

The Somme stretches right across the great natural highway which long has played an important part in the fate of many countries by providing an invasion route (and an avenue of escape) between northern France and Germany by way of Belgium. So long as Von Kluge can hold the line of the Somme he will be rendering a triple service to his desperate Fuehrer in this way.

Three Reasons.

(1) He will have established a barrier across the northern tip of France; (2) He will be guarding the Pas de Calais coast which lies on the narrowest part of the English channel —an easy mark for invasion from Britain unless strongly defended; (3) He will be protecting the launching fields of the robot-bombs which are doing such terrible damage in London and in other parts of southeastern England.

Ultimately— the Nazi Marshal will have to continue his flight from the Somme to his own frontiers. This will mean complete abandonment of the entire coastline, throwing open to the Allies such ports as Calais, Boulogne and Dunkerque.

European observers still believe that one of Von Kluge's chief missions in holding on the Somme is to protect those launching fields for the flying bombs.

40,000 Germans Caught In Trap

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 26.—(CP Cable.)—Troops of the 1st Canadian Army were right on the Seine, south of Rouen to-day, after a sweeping advance, and it was estimated that between 35,000 and 40,000 Germans were caught in the Seine pocket with masses of transport and guns making frantic attempts to reach the east side of the river coming under a storm of Allied bombs and shells.

Canadian, British and American artillery regiments were shelling the Seine crossing and German convoys on the roads as Allied aircraft swept up and down the river and concentrated on the enemy bottleneck at Rouen where most of the roads leading from the pocket converge.

Gen. Crerar flung his armor a distance of 20 miles to reach the Seine bank beyond Louviers. Leading Canadian elements reached the river late last night at St. Pierre du Vauvray, 15 miles south of Rouen, on the second wide bend in the river above this city.

After linking with the Americans at La Haye Malherbe the Canadians pushed on through Louviers and got to the Seine. The St. Pierre area was held by the Americans and it was simply a matter of the Canadians driving through their lines to the river.

Gain 20 Miles.

Strong forces of Canadians following up the forward elements in a 20-mile advance from the Risle River reached districts between Louviers and Elbeuf, while another arm drove to three miles southwest of Bourgtheroulde on the main highway to Rouen.

Finnish Police Stage Raids

NEW YORK, August 26 — (AP). —Finnish police blocked all roads leading out of Helsinki at dawn yesterday and staged mass raids through the capital until early this morning, the Finnish radio said to-day in a broadcast that failed to offer any explanation of the action.

The broadcast, recorded by Federal Communications Commission monitors, said "results have been very satisfactory" and that "about 500 people were interrogated as their identity papers were not in order."

"Since the raid continued into the early hours of this morning, further details will be made known later," the broadcast said, adding that Minister of the Interior Kaarlo Henrik Hillilae "expressed his satisfaction at the manner in which the raids were carried out."

All ships entering harbors and trains reaching stations were inspected, the broadcast said.

Lieut Templeton, who had been overseas four years with the Toronto Scottish, was a University of Toronto student at the outbreak of the war.

ROME—German withdrawal toward the Gothic Line fortifications in the central portions of the Italian front were reported today by Gen. Alexander's Headquarters.

Look For Retreat In Italy

Escape Door Through Alps Closed

LONDON, Aug. 26—(CP Cable)—A general withdrawal of German forces in Italy to the Austrian Alps is a likely development as a result of the giant pincers movement now threatening to envelop the harrassed Germans fighting their way back to the Gothic line.

The immediate danger to the German forces, estimated at 25 mauled divisions, is not great but if Field Marshal Kesselring or his superiors have not seen the writing on the wall it is only because they are as blind or as mulish as the German commanders who tried to stand at Stalingrad and in the Normandy pocket.

In Southern France, American and French divisions have closed for all practical purposes the escape door through the Maritime Alps. The Germans instead are reported to be moving into Northern Italy from France and Gen. Alexander has called upon Italian Patriots to block this movement.

Rumania's desertion from the German cause and the anticipated withdrawal of Bulgaria from the war provide a setting for the right arm of a claw which can squeeze Kesselring's troops unless he hastens back to the Italo-frontier and the mountain passes leading into Central Europe.

Canadian Plane Gets U-Boat

Patrol In Bay Of Biscay Sure Of Kill

OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—(CP).—The crew of "L for London," Wellington bomber attached to the R.C.A.F. Demon Squadron of Coastal Command, attacked a German submarine in the Bay of Biscay recently and circled the area long after it had submerged but saw no trace of it, the R.C.A.F. announced to-day.

WO. J. E. France of Markham, Ont., wireless air gunner, jumped to the rear turret and scored repeated hits as the plane passed over the sub's conning tower. He fired 400 rounds.

France saw depth charges enter the water and straddle the U-boat, which stopped, remained surfaced for 10 minutes and opened fire in an attempt to shoot the Wellington out of the sky.

The pilot, FO. Fred Foster of Vancouver, took evasive action and kept his plane from being hit.

Others aboard the plane with Foster and France were WO. J. K. Andrews, Blenheim, Ont., and WO. H. D. Godin, Pembroke, Ont., wireless operational air gunners.

Maj.-Gen. Page Dies At 60 Had Fine Record

Born in England, Gen. Page's army service began in 1907 when he was a trooper in the 35th Horse, a non-permanent militia organization. In 1911 he was granted a provisional commission in the same unit, and his rank of lieutenant was confirmed early in 1913. He received his captaincy in 1915.

By this time he was in France with a Canadian infantry battalion. His record in the First Great War was distinguished. He was wounded in action, mentioned five times in dispatches, awarded the Distinguished Service Order, and later two clasps to the D.S.O. By the end of the war he was a lieutenant colonel, in command of an infantry battalion in the 10th Canadian infantry brigade.

In 1935, he was appointed to Saint John, N.B., as district officer commanding Military District No. 7, and he remained there until the outbreak of the Second World War.

He was soon appointed to command the Canadian troops sent to Iceland and played a prominent part in organizing the defences there. When these troops were replaced in 1940 by British units, Gen. Page was appointed commander of the Canadian base untis in England. In June, 1941, he was given command of the 4th Division, then organizing in Canada, with the rank of major-general.

Later in the year, General Page was sent to Newfoundland as general officer commanding the combined Canadian and Newfoundland forces there. On July 16, 1943, he succeeded Maj.-Gen. W. H. P. Elkins, as general officer comanding-in-chief, Atlantic command.

In the last year's New Year's honors list, Gen. Page was awarded the C.B.E. for distinguished service.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a daughter and a son, now serving as an officer in the Royal Canadian Navy.

Deadline Aug. 31 For Income Tax

OTTAWA, Aug. 25 — (CP) — That delayed day of reckoning — Aug. 31 — is just around the corner and Canadians from coast to coast feeling vacation-depleted pocketbooks, are getting ready to meet the Income Tax deadline.

Revenue Minister Gibson gave everybody a breather this year by extending the deadlin from April 30 to Aug. 31, and an official said today that thousands took advantage of the move by scaling down their instalments and spreading them over the longer period.

However, a great many will have the whole 1943 tax to pay by a week from today.

For backsliders who don't get their final payment away for Aug. 31, there is a five-per-cent penalty.

Fight in Marseille

In Marseille the French continued to wipe out hot spots held by the Nazi defenders. They were attacking the Notre Dame de la Garde area, which the enemy still held.

The navy reported that enemy guns in Cannes were bombarded heavily before the city surrendered and that cannon from Allied warships had also fired on inland targets.

Two enemy ships were attacked by torpedoes, and one was sunk and the other damaged, a naval spokesman said.

The Allied air arm attacked communications north of Avignon and knocked out an important road bridge between Nimes and Montpellier, southwest of Avignon. The rail bridge across the Rhone River at Avignon was bombed.

Medium bombers piloted by Frenchmen attacked gun positions on the island of Rattoneau, outside Marseille, reporting direct hits on the target.

man border at the Saar, there was almost a complete blackout of official information at headquarters on how far Allied troops have pushed in the direction of Belgium and Germany.

If the Germans make another stand in France it is believed they probably will do so along the Somme-Marne line amid the battlefields of the First Great War.

In their present confused state it was unlikely that the Germans have an exact idea where the British, Canadian and American advanced columns have reached. One of the new American crossings of the Seine was made at Corbeil, 18 miles southeast of Paris.

The state of Nazi disintegration in France was self-evident in the report of an Associated Press correspondent, Thomas F. Hawkins, from Nancy, 80 miles northeast of Troyes and 70 miles from the German border of Strasbourg, of conditions in the heart of the defence belt being attacked by American forces.

Confusion, disorganization and panic ruled, as German soldiers sought to escape in civilian clothes, Hawkins said.

To the east the German border was 163 miles away where the Rhine winds northward near Strasbourg. Troyes is 85 miles southeast of Paris and 37 miles south of the Marne River, scene of bloody battles during the First Great War.

(The London News Chronicle carried an unofficial and unconfirmed report that the Americans were at the cathedral city of Reims, 85 miles northeast of Paris. The London Herald said a German DNB Agency broadcast had reported the Americans were in Reims. Major listening posts in London, including the Associated Press, did not record such a statement from DNB.)

The speed of the American advance, coupled with word of a general German withdrawal north of Sens, suggested that Field Marshal Gen. Guenther Von Pluge had no forces to risk against the U.S. spearhead short of the Marne River—if there.

At their bridgeheads at Mantes 30 miles northwest of Paris, and the others southeast of Paris the Americans were barely 100 miles from the Belgian border and Alsace-Lorraine.

"The German commander gives orders to the forces under his command to cease fire immediately. Arms are stacked.

"Personnel assembles without arms at places to be indicated, and will wait for orders there. Arms have to be delivered intact."

In his broadcast speech, Gen. De Gaulle declared that even though Paris has been liberated and the Germans chased from much of France "we will not rest or be satisfied until we enter—as is only right—upon the enemy's own soil as conquerors."

He said France "will take her place among the great nations which will organize the peace."

"The only flaw in the proceedings here at London (Ont.) was that no one was present from Peterborough. This is a beautiful skin and much lighter to wear than the one the Pipe Band has.

Our visit to Peterborough was most pleasant and our memories of your kindness will remain with us for a long time. Our leopard skin will remind others of your kindness to us also."

Rural Schools Amalgamate; Plan Popular

TORONTO, Aug. 26 —(CP) — A statement issued to-day from the office of Premier Drew in his capacity as Minister of Education, said there has been a great increase this year in the number of rural public school sections amalgamating under the township school area plan of administration. In 1938 2.67 per cent. of rural school sections had amalgamated under the area plan and by the end of this year the percentage will reach 24.15.

The statement said that in the first six months of this year 380 public school sections formerly administrede by 1,140 trustees were formed into 56 township school areas and 11 sections were added to areas which previously had been organized.

One factor in bringing about the amalgamation was said by the statement to be increased legislative grants. While the minimum grant to each section becoming part of an area remains at $100, the maximum grant based on equalized assessment in the area may now reach $250. In many of the areas formed this year the maximum grant is paid and the statement said this "is further evidence of implementing the policy of the government in relieving the burden of educational costs to local taxpayers."

While township school areas have been formed in nearly all counties and districts, they were formed in the counties of Elgin, Essex, Huron, Lincoln, Middlesex this year for the first time. A township school area is described in the statement as a unit of administration for public schools which may contain two or more or all school sections of a township. A board of trustees of five members is elected by a general vote of the area. This board replaces the section boards and assumes their obligations and powers.

The statement said the area plan provided the following advantages: Better educational opportunities for rural pupils, increased grants, savings in purchase of school supplies, more efficient teaching, better administration and improved supervision.

BROTHERS IN NAVY—Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClennan, 18 Dixon Lane, are serving in the R.C.N.V.R. OS. C. C. McClennan (Left), who was formerly employed in the Switchgear at the C.G.E. enlisted in January. He is now at H.M.C.S. Stadacona. Petty Officer Robert Earl McClennan (Right), who has been in the Navy 1½ years, is serving on a destroyer. He was formerly a machinist in the Genelco tool room. His wife also lives at 18 Dixon Lane.

Fishermen Hook Big Lunge, Boat Upsets Takes Women To Bring In Anglers And Catch

Curly Krug of the C.G.E. and Cliff McKee, local dentist, landed a big muskie from Katchawanooka Lake north of Hastings Friday, but they had to get two women to help them. In that respect they rate for the phrase "incomplete anglers," antithesis of the Waltonian category.

To be quite impartial in reporting this episode of the Kawartha fishing season, 1944, it may be said that one of them hooked a maskinonge, and things then started to happen. It has to be told that the Krug-McKee methods generated considerable excitement, and between them they forgot they were not on some secure dock or pier, but were fishing from a type of craft that so far has not yet been stabilized with gyroscope or otherwise, and in the heat of muskie action you have to keep one eye on it or you are likely to find yourself "in the drink." And that's what happened to McKee-Krug in their swift pre-ocupation of the moment.

The heat of battle was too much for them, and one or both upset the boat. And that is where the two women enter the picture and the emergency. They put out from a cottage, and pulled their stout skiff to the resuce of the two anglers, and when the line was pulled in after them, there at the end of it was the primary cause of all this drenching effect. So the two ladies were credited with an assist on the take-out of that muskie; and they seem to have earned it, too.

Robombs Flatten Entire Blocks

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—(CP). — More than 300 brides and children of Canadian servicemen arrived here yesterday from overseas, with the majority bound for destinations in Ontario and Western Canada. Seven members of the armed forces accompanied their British brides to Canada, returned either because of category reasons or to assume new duties. About 60 women and children were coming to homes in the Montreal area.

Mrs. M. Maurice, wife of a Canadian Army private who was discharged last winter, said she had twice been bombed from her home by the German robot bombs.

"They are worse than you hear of," she said. "Where I lived there is not a building left standing."

Mrs. T. G. Searle, whose husband, an RCAF sergeant, had been posted to Canada, said she had been bombed out three times and the robot bomb was "worse than any other kind." They were capable of levelling several blocks of homes and had destroyed more homes in London and Southern England than any other type.

of Ottawa, which fought with the British 8th Army, contains the 1st Division and the 5th Armored Division. In France the 1st Canadian Army contains the 2nd Corps, commanded by Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds of Kingston, Ont., which in turn is made up of the 2nd, 3rd and 4th (Armored) Division. Also in the 1st Canadian Army are Polish, Belgian, Dutch and perhaps French troops.

In France for the first time in history Canada has an Army in the strict military sense of a particular kind or organization in action. As distinguished from the Army, meaning the entire military force of a country, an "army" in the sense of a military formation, means one or more corps with necessary headquarters organization and supporting formations, operating under a single command.

The 1st Division went overseas December, 1939; the 2nd, July, 1940; the 3rd, August, 1941; the 4th, September, 1942; and the 5th, November, 1941. The 4th started out as an infantry division but was changed over to an armored division, and so, while organized earlier than the 5th, was later in getting overseas.

a three-mile-wide loop of the Seine. Rouen is at the north end of this 10-mile-deep loop and stands on both sides of the river.

"The Germans have thrown everything to the wind trying to get across the Seine in daylight," a senior Canadian officer said. "Masses of vehicles are queueing up trying to get on anything that will take them across. His (the enemy's) most frantic efforts are around Rouen."

The Seine pocket now is only about 10 miles deep and runs from Elbeuf through Epaignes and northeast to Honfleur which is in the hands of Belgian troops.

Allied artillery rained fire on Germans trying to ford the Seine and the R.A.F. in support of this hammering destroyed or damaged 61 barges, and sank or damaged four vessels ranging up to 3,000 tons. One of these transports was packed with troops.

Bouchard Says Intellectual Freedom Lost

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Ont., Aug. 26—(CP).—Senator Bouchard, speaking to the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs here last night, said that the loss of intellectual freedom in Quebec since the days of Laurier was a dark spot on the picture of the economic progress the province had made in the past decade. At least in one of our provinces, he said, the price of liberty of speech had gone up tremendously since the advent of the present war.

Other speakers at yesterday's sessions were Maurice La Montagne, professor of economics at Laval University, Quebec City, and J. W. Buckley, vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Senator Bouchard said two groups existed in Quebec. The largest but less aggressive group favored the present form of government. The smaller group, "more active," tended to the creation of an independent states patterned on the totalitarian and racial form.

In other social fields — notably education, health, agriculture, industry and labor—progress has been marked in the Province of Quebec. The province was a pioneer in America in social legislation he said. The co-operative movement too has grown rapidly in the province.

Mr. La Montagne said that Quebec's and Canada's post-war reconstruction could not be successful until economic democracy was achieved in Canada alongside political democracy. At present Canadians are living under "economic feudalism," he said.

Mr. Buckley told the conference labor should be given credit for knowledge and experience which increased production processes in many instances, contributing greatly to Canada's war effort.

At Dijon 29 clumsy troop carrier JU 26s were left smoldering, as well as two fighters.

The 2nd Tactical Air Force alone yesterday destroyed 269 motor vehicles, 56 tanks, 29 barges, two motor vessels and two tugs.

Both heavy and medium bombers made attacks in support of the finish fight for the liberation of Brest. British Beaufighters escorted by Polish pilots in Mustangs set fire to a heavily armed escort vessel north-west of Borkum in the Frisian Islands and left two other ships ablaze in the 16-ship convoy.

Typhoons and Spitfires harassing the German retreat across the Seine saturated the lower reaches of the river with bombs and rockets. They set fire to at least two large ships which later were believed sunk.

The Allied Air Fleets rumbled across the Channel to-day in blazing summer sunlight and German anti-aircraft guns on the French coast chattered at them incessantly.

CASUALTY IN FRANCE—Word was received today by Mrs. M. Pakenham, 737 Water street, that her son, Pte. Wallace Pakenham, of the S.D. and G. Highlanders, was wounded in France August 15. No details were given about his injuries. Prior to enlisting in 1940, the soldier worked at Tamblyn's Drug Store. Two brothers, Pte. Ivor Pakenham and L.-Cpl. Malcolm Pakenham, are serving in Italy.

Egg Receipts Are Adequate

TORONTO, Aug. 26 — A fairly steady market for eggs prevailed this week with receipts adequate to take care of the demand. Top grades moved well, but lower grades dragged, especially Pee-Wee "C" grade, which are beginning to accumulate. Quality is still fairly good. One car of Western eggs was offered while en route, at 41 cents basis "A" large, while one car arrived from British Columbia 41½ cents basis "A" large. Prices yesterday were unchanged.

Dealers appeared yesterday to be waiting for a higher price for butter. Light Ontario offerings moved readily at 34 cents or No. 1 solids General asking price for Western butter was 34⅝ to 34¾ cents, though no sales at these figures were reported. One odd car was reported sold at 34½ cents. Not much Western make is being offered.

Ottawa Deserted With Ending Of Parliament

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 25 (CP) — Two weeks after the close up of the parliamentary session the Parliament Buildings have been given over to tourists, echoes and memories. Members of parliament and Senators are almost as scarce as mosquitos in January.

In the offices of government departments, scattered about the National capital, ministers and civil servants are catching up on accumulated work and working in vacations as they can.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King shifted his living quarters from Laurier House in the city to his country home at Kingsmere as soon as the session ended but carried on with his work, except for a brief visit to Quebec where he stayed with the Earl of Athlone and Princess Alice.

Most cabinet ministers carried on with their work in Ottawa but a number are off on brief vacations, visits to their constituents or business trips.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner is at his farm at Lemberg, Sask., and Finance Minister Ilsey is in Nova Scotia dividing his time between Halifax and Kentville. Fisheries Minister Bertrand is in Montreal but busy on offical work at his office there.

Justice Minister St. Laurent took time out to attend a meeting of the Quebec Rural Bar Associaion Sherbrooke, Que., last week and will be in Toronto next week for the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association.

Labor Minister Mitchell is planning a vacation in Western Canada while Munitions Minister Howe is back at his office after a brief holiday. Air Minister Power is on a short vacation but the other two defence ministers, Col. Ralston of the army and Mr. Macdonald of the navy, are at their offices.

Revenue Minister Gibson is in his home city of Hamilton, and State Secretary McLarty, Postmaster-General Mulock, Pensions Minister Mackenzie and Trade Minister MacKinnon are on vacation. Mr. MacKinnon is on the west coast and Mr. Mackenzie plans to go there later. Resources Minister Crerar is out of town for a short time.

Transport Minister Michaud is in New Brunswick where a Provincial election is in progress, taking an interest in it but not actively campaigning.

War Services Minister Lafleche is at his office with vague hopes of a vacation some time later and Works Minister Fournier whose home is just across the river in Hull, is on the job at the office.

Newspapers Must Determine Attitude Toward Religion

The following is a condensation of an address delivered to the Provincial newspaper editors of Great Britain by Henry Martin, at the Savoy Hotel, London. Mr. Martin is editor-in-chief of Press Association, an affiliate of Reuters, which serves a domestic news gathering agency for the British Press.

What I am aabout to say on the subject of "The Place of Religion in the Post-War Press," will, I hope, be purely objective; if controversial—perhaps provocative. The occasion is unusually interesting because it is the first time the subject of religion has been sharply focussed before a meeting of hard-boiled editors.

My chief point is that after the war, but preferably now, the press has got to determine its attitude to religion; either cooperative, benevolent, indepedent, aloof or hostile. Up to now, it has in the man shirked a realistic approach to it. Only recently have we seen a tangible stirring of the journalistic conscience, reflecting a freer discussion of religious matters among all sections of the community. While a bare tenth of the population are church-goers, a spirit of inquiry is manifesting itself in all ages and classes, a genuine desire to know what Chirstianity has to say to the world's problems, and whether it knows the answer. A few newspapers have faced the issues, and started pioneer work.

Heretofore, religion has been regarded as the leper at the rich newspaper table; to-day, the spiritual element is challenging the press to be its chief guest, a last resort to cure the world's ills. A spiritual revival is most likely. A moral religion alone is being found insufficient, and we have seen in the Axis countries, how a low-level idealism has been lowered to idolism.

Want a Reliabel Guide.

Thousands of men and women returning from the forces will look for a living faith; they will ask whether the practice of Christian principles can avert another war. Is the press going to be a reliable guide, and pull its weight in stemming the tide of materialism? It cannot be indifferent. The germs of the new world repose of the new order we wish to see, rests upon the Christian home. Evolution or revolution is no more or less than the external patterning of the working of individual souls, and the press is a potent factor in determining how those souls shall act and think. Since the spiritual permeates every thought, action, and decision, it follows that religion is inescapable news of the highest order, of a kind that has never been adequately or clearly seen in our profession.

Leaders of our forces have testified to help the Almighty has given them. The right of the churches to express an opinion upon social politics has been actively canvassed.

Statesmen are emphasizing Christian principles; leaders of industry are admitting the spiritual value of honest dealing; trade union leaders are urging an infusion of the Christian spirit into the solution of labor troubles. This is religious news! I cannot see how the press can logically stop short at dispassionate reporting, which in some cases, is still inadequate. Is the press, I ask, prepared to Christianize public religion.

Research Committee.

I suggest a relgious research committee to enfranchise religion, and give it a Magna Charta; and embody that charter in the press constitution. Here, tentatively, are the terms of reference.

(1) To discover why religion has been looked a askance in the press, whether because it has been the reflection of public pressure, indifference to an apparenly moribund topic or because of an immature realization of its true values on the part of newspaper direction.

(2) To consider what ideologies and what kind of men and women are likely to prevail after victory, and what factors in the present call for special study to determine a reliable answer.

(3) To consider, in view of present trends, the extent the spiritual outlook is eypected to replace the material outlook, and permeates the life of the nation.

(4) To advise, if such permeation be deemed likely, the extent and method the press should make to meet the need, and to estimate the effect on circulation.

(5) To take into account the reaction of the non-religious population to the repeated suggestion of Christian principles as something different from, and transcending the mere moral argument in dealing with civic, national and international affaairs.

6) To weigh the internal complications in the newspaper offices of the adoption of a religious policy.

All this is a big order, with a good deal of the intangible in it; yet the general idea is well worth discussion.

I think it would be wise if the Archbishops arranged guidance conferences and ask the Bishops to exchange views with journalists.

I favor similar and equal contact with the Roman Catholic and Free churches; the broad Christian angle on all issues would tend to find editorial expression and policy.

Journalism can discuss the religious aspect of public affairs and the public aspects of religious affairs both at home and abroad. It can show that religion is not a side-show or bolt-hole, but a fighting faith from which this nation has derived its most precious elements. There is courageous work and plenty of fighting with the pen for an enlightened press.

Britain is still nominally a Christian nation; its press can, if it will line up with others and help make it actually so. If it can let its light so shine as to remove the reproach that makes little or no use of its potential for good, and it can convey to a war-weary world, the message of hope that is so desperately needed.

Ontario Priests Describe Schools Under Fascists

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

PESCARA, Italy, Aug. 26 (CP)—About 12 miles from here Canadian troops held a miserable, muddy front line all last winter. They'd cleared the Germans out of Ortona, driven them a short distance back along the Adriatic coast and then dug in to reorganize. Winter forced them to stay.

Meanwhile, on the other side of No Man's Land, near this town, two other Canadians, hiding in the hills, watched and waited hoped from day to day that their compatriots would sweep up along the coast, and set them free again.

They used to think of what they'd do when they saw the Canadians come. But Rev. Peter J. Ellert, Kitchener and Waterloo, Ont., and Rev. Edward J. Gaglowicz, Trenton, Ont., didn't have a chance to use their English when the advance resumed. They were liberated indeed, not by the Canadains but—by the Poles!

A complete reorganization of the Allied armies in Italy had been carried out, involving a transfer of the Canadians from the Adriatic to the Cassino and Rapido River sectors. The old Canadian lines had been successively taken over by Indian and then Polish formations.

Heads Boys' School

"Padre Pietro," as Father Ellert is known, is rector of the Collegio Aterno, a boys' school on the outskirts of this town. "Padre Edouardo" ((Father Gaglowicz) is its bursar. One of their teachers is an Italian priest, Rev. Luigi Scarfura, who for seven years was priest in charge of the Italian parish of Saint Mary of the Angel, Toronto.

The priests belong to the Resurrectionist Order, which has colleges in Canada located in London, Hamilton, Kitchener, North Bay and Waterloo, and keeps 150 priests busy teaching.

Teaching in Fascist Italy required some getting used to, said the rector, who's been head of Collegio Aterno since coming to it in 1933. In academic matters the state interfered only slightly, but where it did it was adamant in insisting on the Fascist emphasis. If teachers wished to continue at their jobs, they had to comply. But the bulk of Fascist education of the youth was done on week-ends.

"Professors knew it was useless giving home studies over Saturday and Sunday," said Padre Pietro. "As soon as school emptied Saturday noon the boys became the property of the various youth organizations. Saturday afternoon and evening they received their party training, while Sundays were devoted to drills and Fascist exercises."

Bigwigs would call on the rector during examination time if their sons, or their friends' sons, weren't too confident of success. Padre Pietro would be told "he'd be sorry if the boy weren't promoted. To such appeals and threats the rector invariably replied that the only person who determined whether a student failed or succeeded was the student himself. In most cases, he failed.

After the Italian armistice last September Pescara was evacuated and the college closed. The priests, obliged to leave, obtained false identity and ration cards and during the intervening months were constantly on the move.

Want To Get Back

First Canadians seen by the priests were soldiers of a Canadian Graves Registration Unit working on the new Canadian Military Cemetery near Ortona, and there they learned the price Canada had paid to win that battle.

Prime thought in their minds now is, "when do we get back to Canada?" "I guess Ted'll get home before I do," says the rector, "because he's due for the next leave. I had the last one, in 1939." Last word they had from Canada came two years ago via the Red Cross from a mutual friend, Miss Elizabeth Hall of Toronto, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Hall, Preston, Ont.

After graduating from St. Louis University, Kentucky, Padre Pietro came to study theology in Rome, then returned to the United States in 1926 to become rector of St. Mary's, he returned to Italy in 1933, was sent to Pescara, and has been rector here ever since. Padre Edouardo, whose brother is Father Frank Gaglowicz, Latin professor at St. Mary's, returned to Canada in 1930 after completing his studies in Rome, and for four years taught at Schollard Hall, North Bay, coming back to Italy in 1934. He was languages master until 1937, then became Bursar. Most Rev. Joseph Ryan, Roman Catholic Bishop of Hamilton, is a classmate of Padre Pietro's.

4,000,000 Bibles

NEW YORK, Aug. 26—Completing its fourth year of war emergency work, the American Bible Society has distributed to the United States Armed Forces and Merchant Marine 4,250,843 volumes of the Scriptures, which include 51,102 New Testaments, carefully packaged in water-proof containers, to be placed on lifeboats and rafts.

In addition, more than half a million books have gone to prisoners of war.

Dr. James Smart Concludes His Ministry Here Sunday

Rev. Dr. Smart, minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, who recently accepted an appointment under the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States will on Sunday conclude his ministry in Peterborough. Dr. Smart has been here two years and eight months, coming to Peterborough on the first Sunday in January, 1942. and his ministry has been blessed with a considerable measure of progress. A progress along lines which every minister desires.

On Sunday morning Dr. Smart will conduct a special communion service and following the service in the evening members of the congregation and friends will gather in the Sunday School auditorium to bid farewell to this much beloved minister and his wife.

Saul Leads Israel To Victory People Acclaim Him King

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL.

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for August 27 is I Samuel 9, 10, 11, the Golden Text being I Peter 2:17; "Honor all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king.)"

THE CHAPTER before the one assigned to our lesson today tells of the people's dissatisfaction with Samuel because he was old and because, too, his sons, like those of Eli, were not good men like their father. They demanded a king.

There was a man of the tribe of Benjamin whose name was Kish, and he had a son named Saul. Kish's asses were lost, and he sent his son with a servant to find and bring them home. They searched for three days and not finding them, Saul thought they should go home as his father would worry about him, but the servant said they should go to the nearby city and consult a seer or prophet named Samuel who knew everything.

The Lord Informs Samuel.

The Lord had told Samuel that this young man would come to him and that he was the man who would be made King of the Isrealites. Saul apparently had not known of Samuel. Samuel came out to go to "the high place," and Saul asked him where he would find the seer. Samuel said he was he, and told Saul to come up with him and he should dine with him that night and on the morrow he would tell him all that was in his heart.

Saul was treated as an honored guest and Samuel told him that "the desire of Israel" was on him Saul humbly said, "Am I not a Benjamite of the smallest of the tribes of Israel? and my family the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? wherefore then speakest thou so to me?"

Next morning Samuel told Saul to send his servant on ahead, and Samuel took a vial of oil and poured it upon Saul's head and kissed him, and said. "Is it not because the Lord hath anointed thee to be captain over his inheritance?" On his way home, said Samuel, he would find two men by Rachel's sepulchre, and they would tell him the asses had been found and his father was sorrowing for his son. He should go on and at the plain of Tabor he would meet three men going up o God of Bethel, one carrying three kids and another three loaves of bread, and the third a bottle of wine.

These men would salute him and give him two loaves of the bread and Saul should continue to the "hill of God," where he would meet a company of prophets. The phophets would prophesy and the spirit of God would descend upon Saul and he too would prophesy. Thus would Saul know that God was with him.

Home Folk Skeptical.

All this came to pass as Samuel had said, but the people of his part of the country who had known him said, "Is Saul among the prophets?"

Samuel then called the children of Israel together and told them that the Lord said they had rejected Him because they wanted a king, but he was going to give them one. When they were all gathered together according to tribes, he chose the tribe of Benjamin and asked for Saul. They found him hiding. He was a fine young man, taller and handsomer than any other, and Samuel said, "See ye whom the Lord hath chosen, that there is none like him among all the people?" And all the people shouted, "God save the king."

Saul then went home and with him men whose hearts God had touched, but some there were who said, "How shall this man save us?" and they despised him and brought him no presents.

The Philistines began to harass the Israelites at this time and messengers came to Saul to tell him of their threats; and the people lifted up their voices and wept. Saul came out of the field and said, "What aileth the people that they weep?" They told him, and and he was very angry. He took a yoke of oven, hewed them in pieces and sent the pieces among all the tribes, telling them he would slay their oxen, too, if they did not come out to him and Samuel. Three hundred thousand men of Israel came out and 30,000 men of Judah. Saul put them in three companies and they slew the Ammonites.

The people said, "Saul shall reign over us," and they wanted to kill the men who had not believed in him. Saul would not do this, however. "There shall not a man be put to death this day," he said, "for to-day the Lord hath wrought Salvation in Israel!"

Then Samuel said, "Come, let us go to Gilgal, and renew the kingdom there." And all the people went and they made Saul king and they sacrificed peace offerings before the Lord.

A Gracious Revelation

By REV. E. R. JAMES.

Moses said: I beseech thee, show me thy glory. And the Lord said, I will make all my goodness to pass before the Exodus 33; 18.

What a fascinating request. "What is God like" rises in the mind of every thoughful person. Many centuries later Philip, another Jew, exclaimed to the greatest of Jews:—"Lord, show us the Father and it sufficieth us." Perhaps you know the answer of the Lord Jesus:—"He that hath seen ME hath seen the Father."

In those wilderness days far from fhe highest civilization of his age Moses never forgot the glory of that great Egyptian monarch. As a babe Moses had been adopted by Pharoah's daughter. He was brought up in royal circles and educated in all the wisdom of the Egyptians. The memory of those far off days is in his mind as he exclaims:— "Lord, I beseech Thee show me Thy Glory."

What is your mental image as you live in these terrible days? Perhaps an ancient Scripture is the uppermost thought:—"The Lord God omnipotent reigneth, though the people be never so unquiet. It is a half truth. Moses living more than three thousands years ago reveals to us the other half. The revelation came as a shock to him as well as to multitudes since. Moses, hid in the clift of the rock, hears the Voice proclaim:— "The Lord, the Lord God, merciful and gracious, long suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth." Exodus 34:6.

Dr. Davidson, a famous Hebrew commentator says: — "This is the most moving description of the Divine character in the Old Testament." God's glory and greatness is Not in visible power and in the thunder bolts; it is in goodness and mercy.

This is not a popular idea. It has never been popular to think of God as a God full of mercy and loving-kindness. Let us take to heart the result of this revelation upon the character of Moses. A great change came slowly and gradually. As a young man he was hot tempered and slew the Egyptian, which resulted in his flight into the wilderness. In middle life he is still hot tempered when he struck the rock instead of speaking to it, and was never allowed to step on to the promised land. Gradually he is changing into something like the character of God, Who revealed Himself on the mount. In his old age he is noted for his meekness. Hearken to the ancient commentator:—— "Now the man Moses was very meek above all the men who were upon the face of the earth." Numbers 12: 3. Fifteen centuries later the Prophet of Whom Moses prophesied calmly said:—"I am meek and lowly in heart."

The same Lord practices what He teaches:—"Jesus, knowing that the Father had given all things into His hands and that He was come from God and went to God; riseth from supper and began to wash the the disciples feet." If you follow in His footsteps gradually you will become likeminded and meek and lowly.

Perhaps you may be moved to offer this ancient prayer, hot with the breath of innumerable saints:—

We humble beseech thee, O Father mercifully to look upon our infirmities: And for the glory of thy name turn from us all those evils that we most righteously have deserved: and grant that in all our troubles we may put our whole trust and confidence in thy mercy, and evermore serve thee in holiness and pureness of living, to thy honour and glory: through our only mediator and advocate, Jesus Christ Our Lord."

ISRAEL'S FIRST KING

Scripture—I Samuel 9, 10, 11

By Alfred J. Buescher

A man of the name of Kish, member of the tribe of Benjamin, had a son named Saul. Kish's asses were lost, and he sent his son Saul and a servant to look for them.

Saul and his servant couldn't find the asses, so they decided to go into the city and consult Samuel, the prophet. Samuel welcomed Saul, for the Lord told him Saul should be the king.

Samuel caused all the tribes to be brought together, and he called for Saul who was hiding. When they found him Samuel said, "See him whom the Lord hath chosen!"

The Ammonite threatened the Israelites, but Saul gathered them together and they slew the Ammonites, and made Saul king before the Lord.

Romania Quits

One of Germany's most devoted satellites, Romania, has announced that she has forsaken her Nazi pals. A government friendly to the allies has been set up and her soldiers have been ordered to fight against the Germans. Romania's record in this war has not been one to warrant the confidence of anyone, and the only pleasure which the Allies can take out of this move is to note that another one of Hitler's allies has seen the handwriting on the wall.

But Romania is not the only one to weaken, for the whole Balkan area is cracking. Bulgaria is already tottering, Yugoslavia has always given Hitler plenty of trouble and for a year and more has forced the Germans to maintain a highly organized army of occupation in the country. Even Hungary must feel like a person who has just undergone a serious operation and is coming out of the anaesthetic.

Are events following those of 1918? In August of that year it was quite apparent that the tide had turned against Germany. The beginning of her actual collapse however dated from September 29. On that day Bulgaria capitulated the first of the satellites to fall away. From then disintegration was rapid and continuous. Turkey got out on October 30. On November 4, Austria followed and Germany was left alone. The German soldiers and civilians knew the situation was hopeless and the Reich finally crumbled up on November 11.

If history repeats itself the end of the war in Europe is in sight.

The fall of Romania means that the great oil fields are lost to the Nazis for it is not believed that the German forces now in the country can long hold out against the advancing Russians. Cut off from Romanian oil it will not be long until German tanks and airplanes are stranded.

Dr. Smart Concludes Ministry

On Sunday Rev. Dr. James Smart will conclude his ministry in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough, as he has accepted an appointment under the General Assembly of the United States. Dr. Smart in his stay in Peterborough has become widely known throughout Central Ontario through his weekly broadcasts and he will be greatly missed not only by his own congregation but by the great radio audience which listened to his scholarly discourses. But this city and district is not the only looser, for the Christian church in Canada is losing one of its outstanding young clergymen.

Keenly interested in Christian education, Dr. Smart is going to find a much wider field with the Presbyterian Publications of the United States. A field which in recent years has failed to keep pace with the progress of the times. Dr. Smart will take to his new appointment a vigor and an enthusiasm which will go far in bringing religious publications into line and give them an opportunity to fulfil the great task for them to do.

While in Peterborough he has become known as a man of great thought, a powerful preacher and a man who was not afraid to take a stand for right against many of the trends of modern thought. He was a real pastor to his people, and he worked untiringly for his congregation and its welfare.

In leaving we bid him God-speed and wish him every success in his new field of labour.

Penicillin Available

Penicillin, the new drug with such amazing powers is now being released to Canadian civilian hospitals and Peterborough's two hospitals have been able to procure their share. Hitherto all available stocks in Canada, except a small amount for research purposes, has been requisitioned for the military forces. Domestic production is still all needed for military use, but the War Production Board in Washington has made a limited quantity of the American product available for civilian use in Canada.

The total amount available is distinctly limited and to effect a fair distribution and minimum wastage regulations relating to distributions and usage have been very wisely set up. As treatment is by injection and must be repeated every few hours the only practical way of preserving the limited supply, for the most urgent cases, is through the hospitals. The monthly quota is based on the bed capacity and at present only hospitals of over 25-bed capacity are receiving the penicillin.

This drug must be used within three to six months of manufacture, and as a serious case may require from 500,000 to 1,000,000 units many hospitals will receive each month only enough penicillin for one or more serious cases.

Medical staffs in each hospital have set up a small committee to advise and rule on the selection of cases and the use of the drug. It is only on the advice of this committee can the drug be administered.

The hospital purchases the drug and in turn sells it to the patients. Apparently whether the non-pay hospital patients receive the drug or not will depend upon the ruling of the various hospital boards and their ability to finance the costs. At present many hospital boards with the supply so limited will be able to finance the cost to the non-pay patients but when the supply increases to meet all reasonable requests other arrangements will have to be made.

Bombing Of Our Men

Condemning the "carelessness" of Allied fliers in their bombing of Canadian troops in France is very easy. For we are a long way from the battle front and little do we know the conditions under which our airmen were working.

Veterans of the Sicilian and Italian campaign returning to Toronto this week said there were instances of Allied bombs falling on Allied troops in that theatre of war, but they took these all as part of the war.

General Crerar in a message to his troops has gone to some length in explaining to the men that the accidental bombing was unavoidable. The armies on both sides are in close contact. Our forces have been pressing hard on the enemy and bombing of the Nazi troops has been one of the most important factors in our victory in Normandy.

Distances on the ground become very small, a few thousand feet up in the air, and taking all these factors into consideration, especially with our great weight of air power and the rapid advances our troops have been making, it is a wonder that there have not been more such accidents. That there have only been a few is a tribute to our airmen.

The accident is most regrettable and it is pretty hard to think that possibly bombs made in Canada were used by Allied airmen to kill our men. But this is not a time nor are we in a position to condemn the fliers.

Florence Saved

Troops of the Briti 8th Army did not force their w.. into Florence when they approached that city a couple of weeks ago. Instead they continued the pressure on the enemy's flanks, and the result has been, that he has been forced to withdraw without the street fighting which would have brought great damage to the city. Florence has fallen due to skill and patience of the Allied Army and the only damage has been caused by Nazi demolitions.

Thus Florence has avoided becoming a second Naples, or to have suffered terrible damage as did many other Italian towns and villages. It was not that the Germans wished so much to save the city but rather on account of Allied strategy.

Few cities were in the years before the war as rich as Florence in the collections of works of artistic and historic interest. The art galleries are among the finest in the world and were filled with masterpieces of Raphael, Botticelli, the Lippi, Ghirlandaio, Titian and many other artists. Just what remains of these works of art, we do not know, but in all probability the best pieces have already been taken to Germany and will be found in the homes of the Nazi rulers. However, Florence, the art centre, has been saved thanks to British strategy, and the world at large owes a debt of gratitude to General Alexander's forces.

NOTE AND COMMENT

With German oil supplies being wiped out it is only natural that friction will develop.

Peterborough gardeners proclaim August as the dehydrating month.

German generals in Russia are blaming Hitler for losing the war, while in Berlin the Nazis are blaming the generals. Neither are to blame, for the German nation is to blame.

Diary Of A Lopsided Man

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Went for a walk this afternoon, in blazing sun, and admired the fields of Indian corn; is there any prettier crop? The road which I took was thickly grown with goldenrod and ragweed, and if I had been a sufferer from hay fever I could not have gone ten yards. As a matter of fact, it looked at one time as though I were going to contract that painful complaint, but luckily nothing came of it. I do suffer from rose fever slightly, which makes we weep in a most complimentary fashion at all funerals. I believe that at one time an attempt was made to stamp out ragweed in this province, but it was abandoned. Perhaps the government changed, and a vigorous campaign of ragweed conservaiton was instituted, just to show the defeated party where it stood....Hay fever, like toothache, is one of those distressing complaints which are borne with great fortitude by people who have not got them, but which are desperately trying to those who have. All the hay fever sufferer can do is lie on the sofa, and sneeze, and think of the long line of famous men who have shared his pain.

MONDAY: I have never been particularly fond of animals, and animals have never shown much affection for me; nevertheless, I do not like to see them cruelly treated. This afternoon I saw several cows in an open truck, which stood in the sun for more than three hours, until the animals began to bawl piteously for water. As a paper-cup full of water is of little use to a cow, there was nothing I could do about it....I wonder how the superstition grew up that you can always trust a man who gets on well with animals and babies? I have yet to meet a crook who was not the idol of every dog he met, and as for babies!—babies from one month to twenty-five years are simply pushovers for confidence men. The plain fact of the matter is that babies are very poor judges of character. Look how fond some of them are of their parents, whereas if they had any discernment at all....! But I have no desire to disillusion babies and dogs about the company they keep.

TUESDAY: I see that one of our lesser political lights has declared that youth must take the helm in this country. Sometimes I wonder if it has not done so already. Very often I ride in crowded buses, and there I see little boys under twelve years of age, and girls of high school age and younger, planted firmly in seats while the halt, the lame and the blind, the aged, women with small children and women who are obviously going to have small children in a month or two stand up, and cling to whatever support is handy. If anyone gives up a seat to person who needs it worse than he does himself, it is likely to be someone over 30. Youth certainly knows its rights and its privileges; it does not seem to have much consciousness of its duties and responsbilities, however....I think it must be obvious to everybody that good manners and courtesy smooth the path of life. Why, then, is no attempt made to teach these things in our schools? Or would classification of manners as a school subject make them even more distasteful to the young than they are now?

WEDNESDAY: Because of the hot weather I have been absorbing a variety of soft drinks, which is unusual with me. They are pleasant, but they are all sweet to the taste. Now there must be hundreds of thousands of people like myself who do not like sweet drinks, and who would be glad of a soft drink which had a pleasantly bitter or astringent taste. One reason why beer is popular is that it has a clean, sharp, hoppy flavour; contrary to the belief of prohibitionists, most people do not drink beer in order that they may roll on the ground in bestial stupour, but because they like the taste. I offer this tip to some enterprising maker of soft drinks without any charge whatever.... I made my winter supply of chili sauce this evening, spending several hours bent over a hot stove; the result was worth it. Whenever I think of the Gorgeous East, of Harounal-Raschid and Scherazade, I always smell cooking chili sauce in my mind's nose. Actually I believe that the Gorgeous East smells like a mess of trout which has lain in a basket of dirty clothes in a hot sun for two weeks, but I have always preferred fiction to fact.

THURSDAY: Was talking today to a woman who predicted that after the war feminine styles would become very romantic in inspiration; she foresaw an era of flowing draperies, big hats, soft coiffures, long skirts and general dewy-eyedness. This should suit the boys from the battle-fronts admirable. They will want their women to be as feminine as possible, and if they come back to find them dressed like section-hands and grease-monkeys they will not be pleased....A newspaper editor, I observe, has urged his colleagues to do more preaching of true religion and true patriotism in their columns. Frankly, I am a little puzzled as to just what true religion and true patriotism may be. Sometimes they seem to lie in a direction directly opposite to that which most people have chosen. And I am not sympathetic to preaching in newspapers. The place for preaching is the pulpit. Newspapers have plenty to do without preachnig. And if editors begin they will put a lot of preachers out of their jobs, aggravating the post-war unemployment problem.

FRIDAY: What does the man in the street talk about? This is a question which has made fortunes for several busybody organizations called polls. Today I did a little investigating on my own account, listening to a couple of men in the street whom I found, oddly enough, in the street. Or to be quite exact, they were above the street, painting the wall outside my window; as I strove to work their conversation drifted in. They were talking about money. One man bet the other man that he had more money in his pocket than his companion; the bet was taken. Then for two hours they argued the matter back and forth, exploring every possible avenue of deduction and estimation. Whenever they could not think of anything better they fell back on a piece of dialogue which ran thus: (1) I betcha I got more in my wallet right now than you have. (2) Well I betcha you haven't. (1) Well how much do you want to bet? (2) Well I'll bet anything you like. (1) All right then, I betcha I have. (2) Okay, I betcha you haven't....And so on, for two hours. I made a note on my desk pad: 'One of the things the man in the street talks about is money." I hope that this information will be useful some day.

◆ ◆ ◆

SATURDAY: Starlings are becoming more and more a nuisance, and I see by the papers that the best way to keep them away from a property is to hang a stuffed owl from a tree. I have a stuffed owl named Socrates who sits on my mantlepiece with his wings spread, looking just as though he had been disturbed in his sleep; if I chose to sell Socrates I could probably make a profit of four or five hundred per cent on what I paid for him, and I would do it, too, if I were not afraid of being prosecuted as a war profiteer. What is the ceiling on stuffed owls, I wonder? ....All day I have had a pain inmy back which makes me walk lopsided; I attribute it to the sudden change in the weather. Can this be the beginning of old age? Certainly if I have to walk like this no one will say that I have grown old gracefully.

"NEXT TIME" TABLE?

Canada And The Pacific War

By B. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA: That there is only one war, though it is being fought on both sides of the world against Germany and Japan, has been the constant theme of Mr. King's succesive war reviews in Parliament since early in 1942. "The policy of the government," he said on Aug. 11, "is to see that our appropriate part is taken in the war against Japan to the very close of the war."

At the same time, Mr. King refused, for reasons of security, to give information regarding Canada's plans to participate in the coming offensives against Japan. The information, he said, could not be given "until the moment had come when agreement had been reached by all intending to contribute as to the extent of their contributions." Mr. King went on:

"There is this always to be kept in mind, that from the beginning of the war our forces have been employed in many parts of the world, but mainly in Europe, and that United States forces have not been in the war as long as our forces have, also that the United States have large forces already employed in Asia, to an extent greater than there are British and other forces employed here. What disposition therefore will be made of armed forces as between the United States, the British and those of the different dominions I am not in a position to say at the moment."

What Mr. King said, in effect, was that final decisions have not been made regarding the scale and allotments of forces to be mobilized against Japan by the United Nations. Canadian military sources have actually disclosed more than the Prime Minister indicated regarding Canada's participation in the Pacific phase of the war. In 1943 Canada had several officers attached to a British military mission in the Pacific to report on modifications required in weapons in the Pacific fighting zones. Early in 1944, twenty Canadian officers went out, attached to American, Australian and New Zealand forces, and some of them participated in operations at Saipan and possibly Guam.

Despatch of 400 or 500 technical personnel to the British army in India and to the Australian army was announced on Aug. 4. An R.C.A.F. mission, headed by Air Vice-Marshal L. F. Stevenson, is at Mountbatten's Southeast Asia headquarters in Ceylon. Royal Canadian naval plans for entering the war against Japan will rest chiefly upon what the British navy does, as technical collaboration with the British navy is easier for the Canadian navy due to similarity in equipment.

This will likely mean that Canadian naval units will operate in the Indian Ocean in conjunction with British naval forces under the Mountbatten command, rather than in the western Pacific in conjunction with the U.S. Pacific fleet. As far as army plans go, the evidence so far suggests Canadians will go to the Mountbatten comand rather than to an American command area in the Pacific, though the precedent set up at Kiska in July, 1943, of Canadian-American collaboration may influence decisions to ge made by the Canadian government and general staff when the times comes to send army units to the Pacific.

Mr. King's remark, quoted above, suggests that the final disposition of Allied forces for the war against Japan has not been decided. It is obvious that final plans can be made only when the role of Russia in the Pacific is known. There is, in addition, an apparent conflict of view over the correct strategy by which to secure the unconditional surrender of Japan.

Since the U.S. Pacific fleet landed forces in the Gilbert Islands in November, 1943, developments in the Pacific war have been dominated by naval strategy, and with sensational success. The claims of naval power command the highest premium at present, and Admiral Chester Nimitz, commander-in-chief of U.S. Pacific fleet, recently declared that the surrender of Japan might be obtained without an invasion of Japanese homeland.

On the other hand, the belief exists that the problem of defeating Japan will be solved only when the Allies establish powerful land forces in China and destroy the entrenched army of Japan on the continent of Asia. Such an operation will considerably extend the Pacific war beyond the limits foreseen by the admirals who believe that the defeat of the Japanese navy means the defeat of Japan. Recently, Mr. Churchill said he had reason to believe the war against Japan will not take as long as he once thought. Mr. Roosevelt, returning from a conference in Hawaii with Nimitz and MacArthur, said that the occupation of Japan's homeland would be carried out.

Meanwhile, the concentration of strength in the Mountbatten command has proceeded slowly and the strategy by which it will be mainly employed remains undisclosed, and undoubtedly will be until the time arrives to strike. And the strategy of coalition warfare in which forces under Nimitz and MacArthur on one hand, and forces under Mountbatten on the other, will collaborate in the final stages of the war against Japan, remains a matter of speculation.

Against this background, the role which Canada will play in the war against Japan remains obscure. An earlier oportunity, in which the objective of assisting in saving Australia might have rallied and unified Canadian opinion behind a program of participation in the Pacific war, was missed.

The time now is running short in which Canadian opinion must crystallise in support of a definite share in the final assault on Japanese military power. Will it command all our strength for another year or more? Will it be but an anticlimax after the defeat of Germany? Mr. King's statement, or any other yet given by the Canadian government, has not supplied answers.

Yet these questions will rise immediately, everywhere in Canada, once Germany is defeated. They may be dominant considerations in Canadian opinion during the crucial days of the next general election. Moreover, the nature of Canada's task and commitment in the Pacific war will have to be determined, to avoid the risk that we will neglect our responsibilities as a Pacific nation, before the home-front morale which has supported the war against Germany dissolves in the short days following the defeat of Germany.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

SUPPORTS REGATTA IDEA

Sir,—I was surprised to note that my suggestion as to the use of Little Lake pier made to Pete McGillen for band concerts had fallen on fertile ground, and I still cannot understand why this possibility had not occured to someone before this, as listening to a band over water has something unexplainable but very real, and when one thinks of the parking space available for cars around the lake it becomes even more adaptable for the purpose, and with the fine job of rip rapping the shore by Bill Mellis a few years ago, seating accommodation is provided for thousands with the addition of a cushion easily carried by anyone.

While on the subject of Little Lake, and the remembrance of the fine regatta organized by Alf Pink at Inverlea Park a week ago, I wonder why an eastern provincial regatta could not be undertaken with the perfect setting for power boat, dinghy, and canoe racing provided by nature within the city.

There is a possibility of an influx of thousands of people from outside points if it was held on Labour Day holiday, as without a doubt all persons within the district who were holidaying would welcome the opportunity of visiting Peterborough and seeing the spectacle, with each event clearly in the view of anyone present along the shore.

The City Council and various industries in the city would do well to consider this proposition as very good advertising for the city, and its possibilities are to say the least—very inviting to one who has seen such regattas in the 'Old Country' —years ago. Very sincerely,

DAN DOUGLAS.

A BIG CAST

Seated on his bed in the asylum, a lunatic was absorbed in reading a large, thick book. Another inmate, after watching him for a moment and discovering the book to be a telephone book, said:

"—Well, do you find it interesting?"

"Yes, indeed," said the other. "It lacks action, but the number of characters is something astounding."

A Bible Message

And the soldiers led him away into the hall, called Praetorium: and they call together the whole band. And they clothed him with purple, and platted a crown of thorns, and put it about his head. And began to salute him, Hail, King of the Jews!....

And when they had mocked him, they took off the purple from him, and put his own clothes on him, and led him out to crucify him.... And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice saying, Eloi, Eloi, lama, sabachthani? which is being interpreted, My God, my God why hast thou forsaken me?....

And when the centurion, which stood over against him, saw that he so cried out, and gave up the ghost, he said, Truly this man was the Son of God. (Mark 15: 16-18 20, 34, 39.)

And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: he is risen; he is not here: behold the place where they laid him. ((Mark 16: 1, 5, 6.)

They had had a little argument. The wife suspected the maid of eavesdroping, and when she went into the hall she discovered the girl in retreat.

Romania Quits

One of Germany's most devoted satellites, Romania, has announced that she has forsaken her Nazi pals. A government friendly to the allies has been set up and her soldiers have been ordered to fight against the Germans. Romania's record in this war has not been one to warrant the confidence of anyone, and the only pleasure which the Allies can take out of this move is to note that another one of Hitler's allies has seen the handwriting on the wall.

But Romania is not the only one to weaken, for the whole Balkan area is cracking. Bulgaria is already tottering, Yugoslavia has always given Hitler plenty of trouble and for a year and more has forced the Germans to maintain a highly organized army of occupation in the country. Even Hungary must feel like a person who has just undergone a serious operation and is coming out of the anaesthetic.

Are events following those of 1918? In August of that year it was quite apparent that the tide had turned against Germany. The beginning of her actual collapse however dated from September 29. On that day Bulgaria capitulated the first of the satellites to fall away. From then disintegration was rapid and continuous. Turkey got out on October 30. On November 4, Austria followed and Germany was left alone. The German soldiers and civilians knew the situation was hopeless and the Reich finally crumbled up on November 11.

If history repeats itself the end of the war in Europe is in sight.

The fall of Romania means that the great oil fields are lost to the Nazis for it is not believed that the German forces now in the country can long hold out against the advancing Russians. Cut off from Romanian oil it will not be long until German tanks and airplanes are stranded.

Dr. Smart Concludes Ministry

On Sunday Rev. Dr. James Smart will conclude his ministry in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough, as he has accepted an appointment under the General Assembly of the United States. Dr. Smart in his stay in Peterborough has become widely known throughout Central Ontario through his weekly broadcasts and he will be greatly missed not only by his own congregation but by the great radio audience which listened to his scholarly discourses. But this city and district is not the only looser, for the Christian church in Canada is losing one of its outstanding young clergymen.

Keenly interested in Christian education, Dr. Smart is going to find a much wider field with the Presbyterian Publications of the United States. A field which in recent years has failed to keep pace with the progress of the times. Dr. Smart will take to his new appointment a vigor and an enthusiasm which will go far in bringing religious publications into line and give them an opportunity to fulfil the great task for them to do.

While in Peterborough he has become known as a man of great thought, a powerful preacher and a man who was not afraid to take a stand for right against many of the trends of modern thought. He was a real pastor to his people, and he worked untiringly for his congregation and its welfare.

In leaving we bid him God-speed and wish him every success in his new field of labour.

Penicillin Available

Penicillin, the new drug with such amazing powers is now being released to Canadian civilian hospitals and Peterborough's two hospitals have been able to procure their share. Hitherto all available stocks in Canada, except a small amount for research purposes, has been requisitioned for the military forces. Domestic production is still all needed for military use, but the War Production Board in Washington has made a limited quantity of the American product available for civilian use in Canada.

The total amount available is distinctly limited and to effect a fair distribution and minimum wastage regulations relating to distributions and usage have been very wisely set up. As treatment is by injection and must be repeated every few hours the only practical way of preserving the limited supply, for the most urgent cases, is through the hospitals. The monthly quota is based on the bed capacity and at present only hospitals of over 25-bed capacity are receiving the penicillin.

This drug must be used within three to six months of manufacture, and as a serious case may require from 500,000 to 1,000,000 units many hospitals will receive each month only enough penicillin for one or more serious cases.

Medical staffs in each hospital have set up a small committee to advise and rule on the selection of cases and the use of the drug. It is only on the advice of this committee can the drug be administered.

The hospital purchases the drug and in turn sells it to the patients. Apparently whether the non-pay hospital patients receive the drug or not will depend upon the ruling of the various hospital boards and their ability to finance the costs. At present many hospital boards with the supply so limited will be able to finance the cost to the non-pay patients but when the supply increases to meet all reasonable requests other arrangements will have to be made.

Bombing Of Our Men

Condemning the "carelessness" of Allied fliers in their bombing of Canadian troops in France is very easy. For we are a long way from the battle front and little do we know the conditions under which our airmen were working.

Veterans of the Sicilian and Italian campaign returning to Toronto this week said there were instances of Allied bombs falling on Allied troops in that theatre of war, but they took these all as part of the war.

General Crerar in a message to his troops has gone to some length in explaining to the men that the accidental bombing was unavoidable. The armies on both sides are in close contact. Our forces have been pressing hard on the enemy and bombing of the Nazi troops has been one of the most important factors in our victory in Normandy.

Distances on the ground become very small, a few thousand feet up in the air, and taking all these factors into consideration, especially with our great weight of air power and the rapid advances our troops have been making, it is a wonder that there have not been more such accidents. That there have only been a few is a tribute to our airmen.

The accident is most regrettable and it is pretty hard to think that possibly bombs made in Canada were used by Allied airmen to kill our men. But this is not a time nor are we in a position to condemn the fliers.

Florence Saved

Troops of the British 8th Army did not force their way into Florence when they approached that city a couple of weeks ago. Instead they continued the pressure on the enemy's flanks, and the result has been, that he has been forced to withdraw without the street fighting which would have brought great damage to the city. Florence has fallen due to skill and patience of the Allied Army and the only damage has been caused by Nazi demolitions.

Thus Florence has avoided becoming a second Naples, or to have suffered terrible damage as did many other Italian towns and villages. It was not that the Germans wished so much to save the city but rather on account of Allied strategy.

Few cities were in the years before the war as rich as Florence in the collections of works of artistic and historic interest. The art galleries are among the finest in the world and were filled with masterpieces of Raphael, Botticelli, the Lippi, Ghirlandaio, Titian and many other artists. Just what remains of these works of art, we do not know, but in all probability the best pieces have already been taken to Germany and will be found in the homes of the Nazi rulers. However, Florence, the art centre, has been saved thanks to British strategy, and the world at large owes a debt of gratitude to General Alexander's forces.

NOTE AND COMMENT

With German oil supplies being wiped out it is only natural that friction will develop.

Peterborough gardeners proclaim August as the dehydrating month.

German generals in Russia are blaming Hitler for losing the war, while in Berlin the Nazis are blaming the generals. Neither are to blame, for the German nation is to blame.

Diary Of A Lopsided Man

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Went for a walk this afternoon, in blazing sun, and admired the fields of Indian corn; is there any prettier crop? The road which I took was thickly grown with goldenrod and ragweed, and if I had been a sufferer from hay fever I could not have gone ten yards. As a matter of fact, it looked at one time as though I were going to contract that painful complaint, but luckily nothing came of it. I do suffer from rose fever slightly, which makes we weep in a most complimentary fashion at all funerals. I believe that at one time an attempt was made to stamp out ragweed in this province, but it was abandoned. Perhaps the government changed, and a vigorous campaign of ragweed conservaiton was instituted, just to show the defeated party where it stood....Hay fever, like toothache, is one of those distressing complaints which are borne with great fortitude by people who have not got them, but which are desperately trying to those who have. All the hay fever sufferer can do is lie on the sofa, and sneeze, and think of the long line of famous men who have shared his pain.

MONDAY: I have never been particularly fond of animals, and animals have never shown much affection for me; nevertheless, I do not like to see them cruelly treated. This afternoon I saw several cows in an open truck, which stood in the sun for more than three hours, until the animals began to bawl piteously for water. As a paper-cup full of water is of little use to a cow, there was nothing I could do about it....I wonder how the superstition grew up that you can always trust a man who gets on well with animals and babies? I have yet to meet a crook who was not the idol of every dog he met, and as for babies!—babies from one month to twenty-five years are simply pushovers for confidence men. The plain fact of the matter is that babies are very poor judges of character. Look how fond some of them are of their parents, whereas if they had any discernment at all....! But I have no desire to disillusion babies and dogs about the company they keep.

TUESDAY: I see that one of our lesser political lights has declared that youth must take the helm in this country. Sometimes I wonder if it has not done so already. Very often I ride in crowded buses, and there I see little boys under twelve years of age, and girls of high school age and younger, planted firmly in seats while the halt, the lame and the blind, the aged, women with small children and women who are obviously going to have small children in a month or two stand up, and cling to whatever support is handy. If anyone gives up a seat to person who needs it worse than he does himself, it is likely to be someone over 30. Youth certainly knows its rights and its privileges; it does not seem to have much consciousness of its duties and responsbiilities, however....I think it must be obvious to everybody that good manners and courtesy smooth the path of life. Why, then, is no attempt made to teach these things in our schools? Or would classification of manners as a school subject make them even more distasteful to the young than they are now?

WEDNESDAY: Because of the hot weather I have been absorbing a variety of soft drinks, which is unusual with me. They are pleasant, but they are all sweet to the taste. Now there must be hundreds of thousands of people like myself who do not like sweet drinks, and who would be glad of a soft drink which had a pleasantly bitter or astringent taste. One reason why beer is popular is that it has a clean, sharp, hoppy flavour; contrary to the belief of prohibitionists, most people do not drink beer in order that they may roll on the ground in bestial stupour, but because they like the taste. I offer this tip to some enterprising maker of soft drinks without any charge whatever.... I made my winter supply of chili sauce this evening, spending several hours bent over a hot stove; the result was worth it. Whenever I think of the Gorgeous East, of Harounal-Raschid and Scherazade, I always smell cooking chili sauce in my mind's nose. Actually I believe that the Gorgeous East smells like a mess of trout which has lain in a basket of dirty clothes in a hot sun for two weeks, but I have always preferred fiction to fact.

THURSDAY: Was talking today to a woman who predicted that after the war feminine styles would become very romantic in inspiration; she foresaw an era of flowing draperies, big hats, soft coiffures, long skirts and general dewy-eyedness. This should suit the boys from the battle-fronts admirable. They will want their women to be as feminine as possible, and if they come back to find them dressed like section-hands and grease-monkeys they will not be pleased....A newspaper editor, I observe, has urged his colleagues to do more preaching of true religion and true patriotism in their columns. Frankly, I am a little puzzled as to just what true religion and true patriotism may be. Sometimes they seem to lie in a direction directly opposite to that which most people have chosen. And I am not sympathetic to preaching in newspapers. The place for preaching is the pulpit. Newspapers have plenty to do without preachnig. And if editors begin they will put a lot of preachers out of their jobs, aggravating the post-war unemployment problem.

FRIDAY: What does the man in the street talk about? This is a question which has made fortunes for several busybody organizations called polls. Today I did a little investigating on my own account, listening to a couple of men in the street whom I found, oddly enough, in the street. Or to be quite exact, they were above the street, painting the wall outside my window; as I strove to work their conversation drifted in. They were talking about money. One man bet the other man that he had more money in his pocket than his companion; the bet was taken. Then for two hours they argued the matter back and forth, exploring every possible avenue of deduction and estimation. Whenever they could not think of anything better they fell back on a piece of dialogue which ran thus: (1) I betcha I got more in my wallet right now than you have. (2) Well I betcha you haven't. (1) Well how much do you want to bet? (2) Well I'll bet anything you like. (1) All right then, I betcha I have. (2) Okay, I betcha you haven't....And so on, for two hours. I made a note on my desk pad: 'One of the things the man in the street talks about is money." I hope that this information will be useful some day.

SATURDAY: Starlings are becoming more and more a nuisance, and I see by the papers that the best way to keep them away from a property is to hang a stuffed owl from a tree. I have a stuffed owl named Socrates who sits on my mantlepiece with his wings spread, looking just as though he had been disturbed in his sleep; if I chose to sell Socrates I could probably make a profit of four or five hundred per cent on what I paid for him, and I would do it, too, if I were not afraid of being prosecuted as a war profiteer. What is the ceiling on stuffed owls, I wonder? ....All day I have had a pain inmy back which makes me walk lopsided; I attribute it to the sudden change in the weather. Can this be the beginning of old age? Certainly if I have to walk like this no one will say that I have grown old gracefully.

"NEXT TIME" TABLE?

Canada And The Pacific War

By B. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA: That there is only one war, though it is being fought on both sides of the world against Germany and Japan, has been the constant theme of Mr. King's successive war reviews in Parliament since early in 1942. "The policy of the government," he said on Aug. 11, "is to see that our appropriate part is taken in the war against Japan to the very close of the war."

At the same time, Mr. King refused, for reasons of security, to give information regarding Canada's plans to participate in the coming offensives against Japan. The information, he said, could not be given "until the moment had come when agreement had been reached by all intending to contribute as to the extent of their contributions." Mr. King went on:

"There is this always to be kept in mind, that from the beginning of the war our forces have been employed in many parts of the world, but mainly in Europe, and that United States forces have not been in the war as long as our forces have, also that the United States have large forces already employed in Asia, to an extent greater than there are British and other forces employed here. What disposition therefore will be made of armed forces as between the United States, the British and those of the different dominions I am not in a position to say at the moment."

What Mr. King said, in effect, was that final decisions have not been made regarding the scale and allotments of forces to be mobilized against Japan by the United Nations. Canadian military sources have actually disclosed more than the Prime Minister indicated regarding Canada's participation in the Pacific phase of the war. In 1943 Canada had several officers attached to a British military mission in the Pacific to report on modifications required in weapons in the Pacific fighting zones. Early in 1944, twenty Canadian officers went out, attached to American, Australian and New Zealand forces, and some of them participated in operations at Saipan and possibly Guam.

Despatch of 400 or 500 technical personnel to the British army in India and to the Australian army was announced on Aug. 4. An R.C.A.F. mission, headed by Air Vice-Marshal L. F. Stevenson, is at Mountbatten's Southeast Asia headquarters in Ceylon. Royal Canadian naval plans for entering the war against Japan will rest chiefly upon what the British navy does, as technical collaboration with the British navy is easier for the Canadian navy due to similarity in equipment.

This will likely mean that Canadian naval units will operate in the Indian Ocean in conjunction with British naval forces under the Mountbatten command, rather than in the western Pacific in conjunction with the U.S. Pacific fleet. As far as army plans go, the evidence so far suggests Canadians will go to the Mountbatten comand rather than to an American command area in the Pacific, though the precedent set up at Kiska in July, 1943, of Canadian-American collaboration may influence decisions to ge made by the Canadian government and general staff when the times comes to send army units to the Pacific.

Mr. King's remark, quoted above, suggests that the final disposition of Allied forces for the war against Japan has not been decided. It is obvious that final plans can be made only when the role of Russia in the Pacific is known. There is, in addition, an apparent conflict of view over the correct strategy by which to secure the unconditional surrender of Japan.

Since the U.S. Pacific fleet landed forces in the Gilbert Islands in November, 1943, developments in the Pacific war have been dominated by naval strategy, and with sensational success. The claims of naval power command the highest premium at present, and Admiral Chester Nimitz, commander-in-chief of U.S. Pacific fleet, recently declared that the surrender of Japan might be obtained without an invasion of Japanese homeland.

On the other hand, the belief exists that the problem of defeating Japan will be solved only when the Allies establish powerful land forces in China and destroy the entrenched army of Japan on the continent of Asia. Such an operation will considerably extend the Pacific war beyond the limits foreseen by the admirals who believe that the defeat of the Japanese navy means the defeat of Japan. Recently, Mr. Churchill said he had reason to believe the war against Japan will not take as long as he once thought. Mr. Roosevelt, returning from a conference in Hawaii with Nimitz and MacArthur, said that the occupation of Japan's homeland would be carried out.

Meanwhile, the concentration of strength in the Mountbatten command has proceeded slowly and the strategy by which it will be mainly employed remains undisclosed, and undoubtedly will be until the time arrives to strike. And the strategy of coalition warfare in which forces under Nimitz and MacArthur on one hand, and forces under Mountbatten on the other, will collaborate in the final stages of the war against Japan, remains a matter of speculation.

Against this background, the role which Canada will play in the war against Japan remains obscure. An earlier oportunity, in which the objective of assisting in saving Australia might have rallied and unified Canadian opinion behind a program of participation in the Pacific war, was missed.

The time now is running short in which Canadian opinion must crystallise in support of a definite share in the final assault on Japanese military power. Will it command all our strength for another year or more? Will it be but an anticlimax after the defeat of Germany? Mr. King's statement, or any other yet given by the Canadian government, has not supplied answers.

Yet these questions will rise immediately, everywhere in Canada, once Germany is defeated. They may be dominant considerations in Canadian opinion during the crucial days of the next general election. Moreover, the nature of Canada's task and commitment in the Pacific war will have to be determined, to avoid the risk that we will neglect our responsibilities as a Pacific nation, before the home-front morale which has supported the war against Germany dissolves in the short days following the defeat of Germany.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

SUPPORTS REGATTA IDEA

Sir,—I was surprised to note that my suggestion as to the use of Little Lake pier made to Pete McGillen for band concerts had fallen on fertile ground, and I still cannot understand why this possibility had not occured to someone before this, as listening to a band over water has something unexplainable but very real, and when one thinks of the parking space available for cars around the lake it becomes even more adaptable for the purpose, and with the fine job of rip rapping the shore by Bill Mellis a few years ago, seating accommodation is provided for thousands with the addition of a cushion easily carried by anyone.

While on the subject of Little Lake, and the remembrance of the fine regatta organised by Alf Pink at Inverlea Park a week ago, I wonder why an eastern provincial regatta could not be undertaken with the perfect setting for power boat, dinghy, and canoe racing provided by nature within the city.

There is a possibility of an influx of thousands of people from outside points if it was held on Labour Day holiday, as without a doubt all persons within the district who were holidaying would welcome the opportunity of visiting Peterborough and seeing the spectacle, with each event clearly in the view of anyone present along the shore.

The City Council and various industries in the city would do well to consider this proposition as very good advertising for the city, and its possibilities are to say the least—very inviting to one who has seen such regattas in the 'Old Country'—years ago. Very sincerely,

DAN DOUGLAS.

A BIG CAST

Seated on his bed in the asylum, a lunatic was absorbed in reading a large, thick book. Another inmate, after watching him for a moment and discovering the book to be a telephone book, said:

"—Well, do you find it interesting?"

"Yes, indeed," said the other. "It lacks action, but the number of characters is something astounding."

A Bible Message

And the soldiers led him away into the hall, called Praetorium: and they call together the whole band. And they clothed him with purple, and platted a crown of thorns, and put it about his head. And began to salute him, Hail, King of the Jews!....

And when they had mocked him, they took off the purple from him, and put his own clothes on him, and led him out to crucify him.... And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice saying, Eloi, Eloi, lama, sabachthani? which is being interpreted, My God, my God why hast thou forsaken me?....

And when the centurion, which stood over against him, saw that he so cried out, and gave up the ghost, he said, Truly this man was the Son of God. (Mark 15: 16-18 20, 34, 39.)

And when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had brought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint him.... And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted.

And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: he is risen; he is not here: behold the place where they laid him. ((Mark 16: 1, 5, 6.)

Unconsidered Trifles

They had had a little argument. The wife suspected the maid of eavesdroping, and when she went into the hall she discovered the girl in retreat.

She accused her of listening, but the girl violently protested her innocence.

"Don't deny it, Mary," stormed her employer. "Your hair is still standing on end."

"Yes," said George, 'but—er—I couldn't spell that word 'convenience,' so I made it 'risk'."

Miscellaneous Shower

Miss Alma Keene, a bride-elect of the coming month, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower tendered her recently at the home of Mrs. Wilfred Lewis, 789 Alymer street. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many useful and lovely gifts and a delightful social evening was enjoyed by all present, which included Lila Barltrap, Nellie Tinney, Jean Donaldson, E. Wiggins, Helen Gray Olive McKeown, Marjory Dodd, Jean Metcalfe and Lorraine Sexsmith.

Three Showers Given

Prior to her marriage to-day in Trinity United church, Mrs. F. R. Pammett, nee Maureen Brown, was honored by her friends on several occasions. Miss Eleanor Glover, Reid street, was hostess for a miscellaneous shower at her home recently. Aftr the bride had found the decorated basket of gifts by following instructions on various slips of paper, refreshments were served by the hostess. Miss Connie Nicholson, Bolivar street, was hostese for a personal shower in honor of the bride. Miss Mina Edwards, Rubidge street, also entertained at a miscellaneous shower.

Spicer—Wilson

St. George's Anglican Church, decorated with gladioli and larkspur, was the setting for a wedding recently, when Millicent Pearl Wilson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilson, became the bride of Benjamin Richard Spicer, of Canton. Rev. E. C. Moore officiated, with Mrs. R. King at the organ.

For the ceremony, the bride chose a street-length heavenly blue daytime crepe ensemble, with matching feather hat, and carried pale pink gladioli. She was attended by Mrs. Eva McIlwain, in wistaria daytime crepe, with matching accessories, and carrying yellow gladioli. Clinton Wilson, brother of the bride, was best man.

After a reception held at Hooper's Palm rooms, the happy couple left by motor for a wedding trip. On their return they will make their home in Canton.

Maureen Brown Becomes Bride Of F. Pammett

A pretty wedding of wide interest took place this afternoon in Trinity United Church, when Mable Maureen Brown, Park street, became the bride of C.S.M. Frank Rodney Pammett, son of Mrs. R. Whiting of Toronto. Rev. William MacDonald officiated, against a background of vari-colored gladioli. Miss Elsie Chambers was at the organ, and during the signing of the register, Miss Hilda Pearson sang "At Dawning."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white brocaded organza, with a draped bodice, long fitted sleeves, and full skirt gathered to a fitted waist. Her shoulder-length veil of white net fell from a Mary Queen of Scots halo, and she carried a shower bouquet of American Beauty roses.

She was attended by Miss Eleanor Glover, as maid of honor, and Misses Bernice Greatrix and Connie Nicholson as bridesmaids. The maid of honor was gowned in floor-length yellow brocaded organza, with shirred bodice, finished with matching bows, short puff sleeves, and a full skirt. She wore a matching shoulder-length veil caught to her head with white flowers, and carried a nosegay of red roses. The bridesmaids were frocked alike in floor-length blue sheer over taffeta, with matching shoulder-length veils caught with blue flowers, and carrying nosegays of yellow roses.

Bernard Pammett, brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Stewart Brown, brother of the bride, and Sidney Pammett, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. A. Brown, Park street. Receiving with the bridal party was Miss Mabel Brown, aunt of the bride, in blue crepe, with a black hat with accents of blue and wine, and a corsage of red roses. Also receiving was the groom's mother, in turquoise silk crepe, with white accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Later the couple left for a wedding trip to Toronto, Ravenna, Ohio, and other points, the bride travelling in a light blue wool suit, lace-trimmed blouse, navy accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

GOOD SPORT PLAYS FAIR.

Recognizes Sacrifices of Parents; Takes Things in Her Stride.

A group of girls ask me if I will give them my idea of a girl who is a good sport. Well, my idea of a girl who is a good sport is one who plays fair. Especially with her mother and father. She doesn't take everything and give nothing. She doesn't let Mother sew her fingers to the bone making her a pretty party frock and then, when Mother asks her where she is going and when she will be back, tell her it is none of her darn business and that she will come home when she pleases. She doesn't keep her father hump-shouldered paying her bills and then scoff at his opinions as those of a senile Dodo.

On the contrary, she recognizes that her parents have worked hard and made many sacrifices for her, and that the least she can do is to give them a run for their money by being affectionate asd companionable to them and causing them as little anxiety as possible.

Has Brave Attitude

My idea of a girl who is a good sport is one who has the brave attitude towards life. There is not a whine in her whole system. She takes what comes in her stride and makes the best of it. Undoubtedly she would like to wear the silks and Satins and furs and jewels she sells to rich girls. Surely she would like to lie abed of a morning instead of having to punch an office time clock. But if she would, you never hear it from her. She never bemoans her fate. She thanks god she has the intelligence and ability and grit to hold down a good job.

My idea of a girl who is a good sport is a square shooter. She is honest and frank and above board and she doesn't consider that her sex is an alibi for fibbing and welching and double-crossing. She doesn't hold up the boys who date her and make them spend more money on her than they can afford. She does not jolly a poor simp into taking her to a party and then watch him and spend the evening dancing wth other men. She doesn't have a birthday every time she sees a bag or wrist watch she wants. And, if she is a business girl, she doesn't try to make sex appeal take the place of good work, and rolling her eyes substitute for accuracy and efficiency.

My idea of a girl who is a good sport is one who plays the game. She is not puffed up by prosperity nor down-hearted over misfortune. If she is rich, she is not a snob. If she is poor, she is not a toady. She is neither a braggat nor a self-pitier. She neither runs after men nor away from them. If they show her attentions, well and good. If they don't also well and good. Life is full of a number of things for her besides dates.

My idea of a girl who is a good sport is one who carries on. She is no quitter. She doesn't sit down and wring her hands and cry every time she meets a difficulty. She does not give up when the sledding gets hard. She simply bends to her work and puts her heart and her back in it and struggles on to success. All of the big business and professional women are good sports. So are the wives who hold their husbands. Because they don't give up the first things go wrong.

That is my idea of a good sport. That's the girl for my money.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Our column today is going to be made up of recipes and unusual ways of serving vegetables. You can have an all vegetable dinner by serving any one of the following.

Baked Corn and Tomatoes

2 cups cooked corn, 2 cups tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 cup fresh bread crumbs, 3 tablespoons butter. Mix seasonings with the corn and tomatoes and pour all into a greased baking dish. Spread the crumbs over the top, dot them with butter and bake in a moderate oven for one half hour. This is a very satisfactory way of utilizing leftover corn and tomatoes.

Corn Pudding or Deviled Corn

2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon mustard, paprika, 2 cups corn pulp, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, buttered crumbs. Make a sauce of butter, flour, milk and seasonings. Add corn, egg slightly beaten and Worcestershire sauce. Pour into a baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees or 400 degrees F) for 30 minutes.

Stuffed Onions

6 large onions, ¼ cup chopped ham, or chopped green pepper, ½ cup soft bread crumbs, ½ cup fine dry bread crumbs, ½ cup milk, pepper, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ tablespoon butter. Remove a slice from the top of each onion and parboil the onions until almost tender Drain and remove the centres, leaving six little cups. Chop the onion that was scooped out and refill the onion cups. Place them in a baking dish, cover with dry crumbs, add milk and bake in a quick oven until tender.

Potatoes on the Half-shell

Select medium-sized or large potatoes, scrub and bake. Remove a piece of the skin from the side of each potato to make it boat-shaped or cut large potatoes in half lengthwise. Scoop out the inside, being careful not to break the shell. Mash very thoroughly. It is advisable to put them through the ricer. Add butter, salt and milk and beat well. Pile the mixture lightly back in the shells. Do not smooth down the top. Stand the filled shells in a shallow pan and return to the oven (400 degrees F) and brown lightly on top. Potatoes done this way are lovely served with cold meat or a salad.

Friends Honor Mrs. H. Lancaster

Prior to her marriage today, Mrs. Harold Lancaster, nee Ethel Mills, was entertained on several occasions by her many friends.

Mrs. Gordon Kennedy and Mrs. Alfred Mills were joint hostesses at the former's home, 694 Stewart street, where the bride was honored with a miscellaneous shower. The many beautiful and useful gifts were presented by Master Bobby Kennedy and Jimmy Cullen, in a prettily decorated basket. Following the presentations, refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Miss Iris Forbes and Mrs. Clarence Coons were joint hostesses at the former's home, 530 Roger street, where the bride was honored with a miscellaneous shower. About thirty-five friends were present, and many lovely gifts were received. During the evening a mock wedding was enacted, with Miss Iris Forbes as bride, Miss Edna Beatty as as clergyman. The evening closed with the serving of refreshments.

"The Knitting Club," of which the bride was a member, held a picnic supper in her honor, and presented her with a walnut coffee table.

Isobel A. King Wed At St. Paul's

Baskets of mixed gladioli decorated St. Paul's Presbyterian Church this afternoon for the marriage of Isobel Aulda King and William George Scott. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. King and the late Mr. Samuel King, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Scott. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. James D. Smart, and Mr. Martin B. Chenhall was at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William R. king, worn a floor-length gown of white satin with a fingertip veil, and carried a cascade bouquet of Sweetheart roses and Stephanotis.

Miss Jean Gillespie attended the bride, wearing a floor-length gown of yellow silk marquisette, with matching hat. She carried a cascade of peach and yellow gladioli and blue cornflowers.

LAC. Robert Scott, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother.

TAKEN WITH PITCHFORK

CAPE TOWN — (CP) — Lt. Lt. Archie Turnbull of the South African Sixth Division recently captured an Italian position with a pitchfork. Wounded and without his pistol, he attacked a German machine-gun nest in one of the buildings with a pitchfork until it surrendered.

George St. Church Setting For Lancaster-Mills Vows

George Street United Church was the setting for a pretty wedding this after noon, when Ethel Mary Mills, daughter of Mrs. Mills and the late B. T. Mills, became the bride of Harold Raymond Lancaster, son of Mrs. Lancaster and the late John Lancaster. Rev. George H. Tranter of Toronto, officiated, in a church decorated with gladioli and fern. Mrs. Charles Renaud was at the organ, accompanying Mrs. R. H. Harbison, sister of the bride, when she sang "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. A .T. Mills, of Hamilton, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white triple sheer, with full flowing skirt gathered to a fitted shirred bodice, with embroidered beaded neckline, finished at the back with tiny self-covered buttons, and long full sleeves, caught to a wide band at the wrist. Her finger-tip veil of white net fell form a halo embroidered in seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Lillian Mills attended her sister as bridesmaid, in floor-length dusky rose silk jersey, with full skirt gathered to a fitted bodice made with a square neckline, buttoned at the back with self-covered buttons, and full sleeves. She wore a matching hat and shoulder-length veil. Miss Dorothy Mills, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid in floor-length powder blue silk jersey, made on similar lines to the bridesmaid's. She wore a matching shoulder-length veil caught with a halo of white gardenias. Each carried a nosegay of pink roses and white gladioli.

Mr. Harry Sidders of Kingston, was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Jack Murray and Alfred Mills.

At the reception, held following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Forbes, 530 Rogers street, Mrs. Forbes received the guests in a gown of beige crepe, with a rose flowered hat, and beige accessories. She wore a corsage of gladioli. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore a navy crepe ensemble, with black hat and accessories, and a corsage of deep pink roses.

For travelling, the bride chose a white silk jersey dress with white accessories, and a light green Jigger coat.

For Sunday, August 27

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds indications of disruptive and dangerous circumstances of a sudden an explosive quality. Loss, extravagance and other forms of devastating and separative forces are at work and should be circumvented by well-laid plans and clever strategies.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of sudden disruptions or reverses, influencing the financial standing, property, security, and romantic entanglements. Shun all extravagancies and speculation, athough there is promise of benefits and personal satisaction in group or party gatherings. Consider plans carefully and work out strategies for safety and enduring gain.

A child born on this day may be at loss of possessions through its impetuous or speculative proclivities. It may take long chances or risks.

For Monday, August 28

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a state of mixed influences, with much wrangling, contention, and no harmony in both business and private affairs. with tact and good grace to vanquish such bickering and disagreements there is hope of a satisfactory and productive condition in finances, business and in general plans.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of conflicting adventures, with disagreements and strife in public, business and domestic affairs. Adherence to rules and codes, with tact and discretion the tide may turn into beneficial channels with an increase in finances, possessions and private matter happily adjusted. Be alert to duplicity and trickery.

"Buy Furniture, If Renting With View to Future Needs"

DEAR HOMEMAKER—

Many young people of to-day have been brought up in houses furnished for the most part with antiques and reproductions or with victorian furniture.

This reign of antiques and reproductions now perhaps growing to a close has left us so bereft of any living tradition in furniture that we have no present-day national standard or style. The average householder often finds it difficult to recognize what is structurally sound as well as what is aesthetically satisfying to himself. Because of this it is always best to go back several times before making a final selection.

You will be wise if when purchasing pieces of furniture you purchase them with relation to one another and to the room for which they are intended. Certain rooms seem to require certain pieces of furniture. It is difficult to know which piece to buy if one is living in an apartment or rented house intending to invest in a home later. Buy only those pieces which will suit your future home and at the same time be in the right proportion to your present room. Buy always with the finished whole in mind.

Plazas Beaten At Trenton In First Game

Plazas dropped the first game of their Ontario playoffs with Trenton by a score of 7-5, in Trenton last night.

The local team was leading 4-0 at the end of the third, but the Trenton outfit tied it up at the sixth and went on to win in the last frames. The game was played in a drizzling rain, making the ball difficult to handle.

Big Dave Wilson was giving the pitching assignment for the locals and although he twirled good ball his teammates cashed in with some costly errors.

Trenton sent Ed Joyner from the R.C.A.F. station at Trenton against the locals and he dished them up the fastest pitching they have faced all season. Possessing a barrel of speed and good control he was at his best in the pinches. On several occasions Plazas had men in position to score, but the Trenton ace tightened up and stopped them cold.

The deciding point in the game came when Blewett went after a hit in centre field that hit a stone and rolled into the bay. There were two men on at the time and the fluke hit, instead of being just a single, went for a home run, accounting for three markers and the ball game.

The second game of this series will be played at Riverside Park tonight at 6:00 o'clock, and the Plazas are confident they can turn the tables. Frank Stokoe or Terry Wood will draw the pitching assignment and a large crowd should be on hand for the battle.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

On behalf of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club we wish to publicly thank all those who came out last evening, and by so doing helped towards contributing $130 to the British War Victims Fund. And to those who could not play but sent along their contribution we want to say "Thanks to you."

And to the many merchants who very kindly and generously gave our committee fourteen individual prizes we express out sincere thanks.

There were close to one hundred lawn bowlers (ladies and gentlemen) who came out, not only for the sake of playing in the tournament, but to help that grand body of people who are now losing 17,000 homes every twenty-four hours. It was a noble effort and we feel sure that all the work done by George Gimblett and his committee has borne fruit.

Canadian Birds

By G. H. RICHARDSON

From low bushes, preferably in wet places, comes a persistent song — witchity, witchity, wick. A very small bird is seen among the growing leaves, nervously slinking about, yet bubbling over with curiosity at the intruder into its domain. Changing position to peer from different angles, the little mite comes quite close. A striking black mask on its face, bordered above with white distinguishes it as a yellow-throat, one of the warblers which remains with us to nest.

NORTHERN YELLOW-THROAT

Among the many kinds of sparrows now coming through, the white-crowned draws particular attention due to its larger size and stronger pattern. The back feathers are deep chestnut-brown with light blue-grey edges, the wings rich chestnut-brown with white bars, and the underparts, face and neck are clear blue-gray. The black and white markings on the head both harmonize and enliven this color scheme, completing the effect.

Song is Plaintive

Rather strangely, for a sparrow so robust in appearance, its song, although fairly loud, has a plaintive quality, which shows both in the tone color and the intervals.

KINGBIRD
BALTIMORE ORIOLE

In the west, a related form—Gambel's sparrow—is found, which is white between the eye and bill, instead of black.

The Baltimore oriole is a rather remarkable bird. It is one of the camparatively rare cases where a bird of brilliant plumage has a beautiful song. The quality is very mellow and flute-like and as well as this, the bird has a number of different phrases to its song, with varying pitches, qualities and intervals.

It seems that some hundred odd years ago an English lord, Lord Baltimore, was living in the United States. His coat of arms was emblazoned with orange and black and when this bird was first described, its describer thought of it as Lord Baltimore's bird, since it was wearing his colors.

Throughout apple orchards, the delight of orioles, as well as in more open stretches of meadow where rows of trees provide nesting sites and perches, kingbirds make themselves conspicuous. Their dark slate-gray and white pattern would be enough without their actions. But to see these birds of robin size fearlessly attack not only crows, but the largest of hawks as well, which may chance to come too near their nests is a sight which one remembers.

Are Flycatchers

They are flycatchers, and like to sit on exposed dead branches, as do others of their kind, where they have a free view for flying insects. A large hawk happens near. With a loud staccato splutter, a pair will take after it. It turns upon one, but

ROSE-BREASTED GROSBEAK

at that moment the other strikes so that feathers fly. No mere show this. To attempt to fight this concerted attack is useless, so the poor hawk puts on all speed to leave this unhealthy neighborhood, leaving the pair to return to their perches, to look cockily around as if to say—"Well, let that be a lesson. Does anybody else want a taste of the same?"

Two very striking birds of the woods are the rose-breasted grosbeak and the scarlet tanager. Both sing a song reminiscent of a robin's. The grosbeak's is lighter and sweeter, however, and the tanager's buzzy and somewhat strident, as Mr. Stuart Thompson once said, "like a robin with a sore throat."

The grosbeak is simply a handsome overgrown large-billed sparrow with black back with white markings, white abdomen and rose-red breast. The tanager, one of our very few representatives of this large tropical American family, is one of the handsomest, with a flaming scarlet body set off by jet black wings and tail.

Aircraft Girls In 2nd Tie With Westclox

For the second time since the play-off series of the Girls' Senior Championship began, Aircraft battled Westcox to a tie Friday evening at Ashburnham Bowl, and the game was called in the eighth inning when the two teams were still fighting to break a 2 to 2 deadlock, installed in the first frame. Westclox, with only one win away from the championship, will meet the Aircrafters at 2.30 this afternoon at the Bowl, in an attempt to polish off the series with the win meaning championship.

Large Crowd

A large crowd witnessed the tilt, including king-size cheering sections for both outfits. The Aircraft supporters, entrenched right beside those howling for Westclox, excitedly opened with a barrage of confetti near the end of the game, and the benches, after it was all over, appeared as if a triple-wedding had taken place.

Both Teams Score Twice

Both teams bobbed up with two runs in the first inning, and from then on, try as they may, neither team could do anything about it.

Westcox' counters began with Aggie Anderson, who was walked, dashing to second on a passed ball. Viola McLean reached second base when her drive into left field was fumbled by Irma Perdue, and Aggie Anderson scored on the same play. Nona Whetung struck out, Marjorie Hawthorne shot one out into left field, and Viola McLean scored when the ball got away from Helen Hunt at third base. Marjorie Hawthorne got around to third base later, but a strike out, a walk and a fly to catcher by the next three batters, offered her no opening to score.

Aircraft also gained two runs in that inning. Marg. Batley was safe when Isobel Bullock missed an easy roller. Audrey Paterson struck out and Norma Strickland walked, stealing second base. Marg. Batley came home when Eleanor Craig sent a hefty ball into left field that bounced away from Barbara Rome. Strickland scored on the play that put out Marg. Selkirk at first base.

No More Runs

That was the scoring for both teams for the evening. Westclox got a runner on third base in the sixth frame, and again in the eighth, but the needed hits didn't show up.

Aircraft's Eleanor Craig shot one of the most powerful blows of the game out into left field in the eighth, but a precision catch of it by Barbara Rome spoiled the chances for a home run, and also runs for Audrey Patterson and Norma Strickland, who were waiting on the bases.

Westclox fielding efforts were probably the high-spot of the game. Veteran centre-fielder Aggie Anderson caught three flies, all of them in deep centre, including a beautiful running catch of Norma Strckland's hefty drive in the fifth inning.

Isobel Bullock, hurling for Westclox, struck out 5, walked 6, but held the opposition to 2 hits. Miss Bullock became wild in some spots, and it definitely was not a "Bullock" game; Norma Strickland, pitching for Aircraft, fanned 8, walked 4, and allowed only 4 hits.

In the fourth inning Annette De Carlo was injured in a dash to second base, but continued in the game as the Aircraft catcher.

Marjorie Hawthorne had three of Westclox' 4 hits, and Verna Patterson's drive into centre field in the eighth was the other.

Irma Perdue and Annette De Carlo smacked Aircraft's two blows.

The teams:

Westclox — Aggie Anderson cf, Viola McLean ss, Nona Whetung 1b, Marjorie Hawthorne 3b, Isobel Bullock p, Beryl Dobbin c, Verna Patterson 2b, Barbara Rome lf, Joyce Withers rf.

Aircraft—Marg. Batley cf, Audrey Patterson 2b, Norma Strickland p, Eleanor Craig 1b, Marg. Selkirk rf, Annette De Carlo c, Helen Hunt 3b, Emma Roberts ss, Irma Perdue lf.

Lawyer-Athlete Dies Overseas

TORONTO, Aug. 25 — (CP) — Lt.-Col. Robert W. Armstrong, 34, of Toronto, who went overseas shortly after the outbreak of the war, died of wounds Aug. 20 while serving in Italy, his widow, Mrs. Deborah Armstrong, said here last night.

An outstanding athlete at Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., where he graduated in 1931, he established several track records which still stand at the military college. He also played on the Dominion championship intermediate hockey and rugby teams.

Lt.-Col. Armstrong was born at North Bay, Ont., and was called to the bar in 1934, joining the legal firm of White, Ruel and Bristol here.

Going overseas in 1939 with the 1st Canadian Division as a Captain in the 1st Field Regiment of the Royal Canadian Heavy Artillery, he went with the Regiment to France in 1940. In 1943 he went to Italy in command of the 17th Field Regiment where he served until he received the wounds that proved fatal.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—Overseas sports roundup:

European Theatre:

Capt. Taylor Drysdale, former Michigan swimming star, won the 100-yard backstroke in 1:18 and led two victorious army relay teams in a recent swim meet in London.

Just Like Home:

Sgt. Billy Goodrich, who used to write sports in Brooklyn, reports from a Pacific island; "Now I know how it feels to be yelled at: 'Kill the umpire!' A few days ago I worked my first ball game as an umpire. From now on my sympathies will be with the umps. Gosh, such razzing...."

Writing from somewhere in Italy, Getting His Wish:

Lieut. Jerry Karver, former Penn State miler, said he hoped to engage in service track meets soon, such as the big one in Rome he had heard about....Jerry also expressed a desire to "be with" Sweden's Gunder Haegg and Arne Andersson when they visit the United States....At the rate the troops are travelling in France, Jerry may be getting some good cross country workouts and he'll have to pull up to keep from running into Haegg the other side of Germany.

Byron Nelson Moves Into Front Spot

CHICAGO, Aug. 26 — (AP) — The $42,500 All-American golf tournament at Tam O'Shanter took on that old, familiar appearance Friday as Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, moved out front by two strokes at the half-way mark, with Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Philadelphia and Sgt. Vic Ghezzi of Camp Grant, Ill., close behind.

Nelson tacked a 35-35—70 Friday to his opening 68 for a 138 total, six under par, while both McSpaden and Ghezzi came up with cards of 34-35—69, after scoring 71's, yesterday. That gave them totals of 140, four under par and 2 off the pace.

Tied for third place with 141, as a result of a blazing 34-32—66, was Henry Picard of Harrisburg, Pa., playing in his second tournament since 1942. He was out of golf last year, working in a war plant. He was knotted with Felix Serafin, Pittston, Pa., who had 36-34—70 to-Friday.

Bulla's Fall Features

The day's No. 1 feature was not the fine shooting of the leaders however, but the reversal of form displayed by Johnny Bulla airlines pilot from Atlanta, G. Bulla, who paced the pack Thursday with a course record-tying 65, soared to a 79 today 14 strokes off Thursday's performance—probably the most resounding blowup major league golf has witnessed.

The golf-for-gold gang has been chasing Nelson and McSpaden all year, Jug being the season's big money winner and Nelson second, and it looks as if this one will be no different.

Picard and Ghezzi must be considered top-flight threats in the stretch drive ending Sunday, however, for both have beaten Nelson in finals matches for the P.G.A. championships. Either Nelson or McSpaden can set an all-time money-won record by finishing as high as third in the current controversy.

Steady All The Way

Nelson wheeled to the top by playing steady golf all the way. Over the 36-hole route he had 25 pars, seven birdies, three bogies and a lone eagle—just about his usual brand.

Only a stroke behind Picard and Serafin at 142 was George M. Smith of Lake Forest, Ill., dark-horse local pro, while six others, including Veteren Gene Sarazen, two-time United States Open king, were bracketed at 143, a stroke under regulation figures.

Bulla's explosion dropped him into an eight-way tie at 144, even pars, with such stars as Sam Parks, 1935 National Open winner; Al Watrous, the Birmingham, Mich., veteran, and Sam Byrd.

Thus, with 20 players even with par or better at the halfway mark, a stirring stretch drive was in prospect before the victor picks up $13,462 Sunday. Another score of players are only a stroke or two away.

In the amateur and women's divisions of the three-ring circus, the respective leads at the half mark were held by Ken. R. Heilmann, St. Louis, Mo., chemist, with 70-72-142, and Betty Hicks, duration National champion from Long Beach, Calif., a professional, who shot her second straight 78 yesterday, two over par, for a 156 total.

Ed Furgol, Detroit, public links player, was a stroke behind Heilmann, while Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia was four strokes behind Miss Hicks with 160.

Ottawa Man Takes Junior Men's Singles

MONTREAL, Aug. 26 (CP) — Bob Duford of Ottawa yesterday captured the Men's Junior Singles title of the Province of Quebec Lawn Tennis Association, defeating Ronald Raymond of Montreal three sets to one. Raymond captured the first two sets 6-3, but Duford came back and captured three successive sets 6-1, 6-3 and 6-2.

In the boys' singles, Gilbert Jolicoeur of Ottawa won the championship, outing Colin Maass of Montreal 5-7, 6-4 and 6-0. Pat Macken of Montreal won the junior women's singles title defeating Janeth Rutherford of Ottawa in two straight sets, 6-2 and 8-6.

TORONTO, August 26— (CP).—Apparently it's going to be the West for many Eastern hockey players this winter. Jimmy Ward is Westward-ho-ing to get things going at Portland, Ore., where he expects to have two teams—and he reports he has lined up several Montreal players for the season's chores. The rest he hopes to pick up in the West.

If that International West Coast loop gets rolling some of the athletes Eastward may emigrate that way—the Draft Board and Selective Service always considered, of course.

Bitter bitten, what?

Mike Rodden of the Kingston Whig-Standard wonders how Hamilton Wildcat players will react to Abe Zvonkin as assitant coach. Mike recalls that Abe always was quite a problem child for his coaches and executive officers of the club, and wasn't exactly overly-popular with the other players. The Wildcats now may give Abe a tough ride, Mike figures, because he used to be a bad boy himself.

Idle chater:

Eyeing with Canadian respect reports of the eight bars set up at George May's big Tam o' Shanter golf course, at Chicago, Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson opined enviously the establishment should be called a bar-plant, rather than a par-plant....Rise of the Toronto Maple Leafs to breath-taking stardom in International League circles prompted Andy (Toronto Star) Lytle to attempt an analysis of the underlying reasons. But, says he, it's "as inexplicable as a service sports release from the gang at Ottawa.".....Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning reports the Blue Bomber organization may withdraw completely from senior football this year, now that service athletes can not be used. That would leave the torch-bearing for the High School teams....Baseball fans around Windsor, Ont., are more pepped up over Detroit Tigers' American League chances than at any time since the Bengals nabbed the flag.

Giants Batter Brooklyn; Brownies Lose

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Eighteen scoreboard goose eggs stared the St. Louis Browns in the face to-day as the league leaders tackled the surging Detroit Tigers in the second game of a "crooshul" series.

Six of the eight teams in the American League changed places yesterday when New York took over second spot only 4½ games off the pace and Tigers shoved into a third place tie with Boston.

Dizzy Trout handed the Brownies a neat four-hit whitewash job, 1-0, doubling the string of zeros hatched by Washington's Johnny Niggeling on Tuesday night. Dizzy became the first American League hurler to toss four shutouts.

New York tamed Washington, but it took 11 innings to do it, 4-2, as Atley Donald handed Roger Wolff his 10th straight defeat.

Boston's hopes faded in a double setback at Philadelphia, 6-1 and 9-4, with Bobo Newsom lengthening his home scoreless inning streak against Boston to 26 for the first victory and Joe Berry grabbing a relief triumph in the second. Bobby Estalella boosted the A's to fifth place and helped drop the Red Sox from second to a tie for third with five hits in seven tries including his fifth homer with two on.

Kenny Keltner became the 23rd major leaguer to hit a grand slam homer this year when he connected for the second time in Cleveland's 10-2 romp over Chicako's Bill Dietrich.

Mel Ott's Giants hopped back into the National League first division on four successive victories by slaughtering Brooklyn 10-2 behind Bill Voiselle as Chicago was shut out by Cincinnati's Ed Heusser 2-0.

Pittsburg's run of victories was halted at six straight and 17 of 18 games when St. Louis' Fred Schmidt shut out the Pirates 4-0.

Ron Northey's bases-loaded homer gave the Phillies' Dick Barertt a first game 9-7 edge over Jim Tobin of Boston, but Nate Andrews outsteadied Charley Schanz to even the score in the finale, 4-3.

Orioles Regain First Place; Toronto Wins

By The Associated Press

The largest crowd in Baltimore's history, 20,642 fans, saw the Orioles regain their perch at the top of the International League heap, by sweeping a doubleheader from the Newark Bears last night, 4-2 and 10-3.

The double win enabled the Orioles to take a half-game lead over the Bears with the final of the crucial four game series to be played today.

Sam Lowry won his 13th game in the opener, despite a four-hit performance by Johnny Maldovan of the Bears. Stan Benjamin and Bob Latshaw hit homers for the Birds. Trailing by one run in the nightcap, the Orioles exploded for eight runs in the sixth, featured by Frank Skaff's 13th home run with two on.

The Toronto Maple Leafs took a firmer grip on fourth place and a play-off berth by defeating the Montreal Royals, 3-2, to put them three full games ahead of the fifth place Jersey City Giants.

The Leafs' winning run came in the ninth after Harry Davis walked and Tony Ordenana tripled to drive the first baseman home.

The Red Wings defeated Buffalo, 10-6. Del Rice hit a two-run homer for the Wings. Glenn Gardner, who won a double header a week ago, came back to win his 11th game of the season.

Chico Rodriguez' fourth hit of the game, a single with the bases full, scored the winning run in the 10th inning to give the Syracuse Chiefs their fourth victory in 17 tries against the Little Giants, 4-3.

Gerald Driscoll Wins Third Race

CHICAGO, Aug. 26. — (AP).—Gerald Driscoll, 19 year old San Diego, Calif., skipper, yesterday won his third race of the international star yacht world's series to forge into an eight-point lead.

It was the fourth day of competition in the five-race meet which closes to-day.

Driscoll, who had entered yesterday's race tied with Robert L. Lippincott of Riverton, N.J., at 52 points, came from behind on the final swing around a 10¼ mile windward-leeward course to win in one hour, 58 minutes ,38 seconds. Lippincott finished ninth to hold second place in the point standings with 63.

B. G. Waddell, Sarnia Bay, Ont., finished yesterday with a time of 2:05:27 and a point total of 27.

Boy Drowns

SMITH FALLS, Aug. 26 —(CP)—Apparently thrown from his outboard-powered motor boat when it stopped suddenly, 18 year old Glen Hagan of Smith Falls was drowned last night in the Rideau canal barely 50 yards from shore.

ADDS TWO TITLES — Ann Curtis, San Francisco's 18-year-old water champ who recently broke four world and two U.S. records, is shown here at the A.A.U. meet in Kansas City, Mo., where she added two more titles by winning the 100 and 1,500 metre free-style events.

Winnipeg Drops Senior Rugby

WINNIPEG, Aug. 26—(CP)—A. U. Chipman, vice-president of the Winnipeg Rugby Club, announced today the club, sponsorer of the famed Blue Bombers from 1931 to 1941, would not be actively connected with senior football this season.

He said, however, the club would not forfeit its identity altogether, but that it would continue to foster the game in minor ranks.

Possibility of organizing an inter-services league in Winnipeg with RCAF and Army teams involved are still bright, officials said.

Chipman said the club's decision to withdraw from competition was prompted by recent service rulings preventing service personnel from participating with civilians in organized sport. The club had hoped to sponsor a team or teams including both servicemen and civilians.

"Without the co-operation of the armed services we find it impossible to continue.

He said the club was interested in promoting an East-West school final.

Unknown Wins Trap Shoot

VANDALIA, Ohio, Aug. 26—(AP)—Leslie C. Jepsen of Dwight, Ill., who hasn't opened a gun for almost two years, yesterday won the 45th annual Grand American Handicap trapshoot and perpetuated the axiom that an unknown always wins the "Grand."

Jepsen, 45-year-old electrician, used a borrowed pump gun to break 97 of 100 targets from the 19-yard line and take the most coveted title in trapshooting.

His score was identical to that which won the 1943 championship for Jasper Rogers of Dayton, Ohio. Rogers, going the way of all former Grand American champions, broke only 86 targets Friday in defense of his title. No man has won the Grand twice.

N. C. Reed of Lima, Ohio, took second place in a shoot-off with A. G. Watson of Anderson, Ind. They had tied for the No. 2 spot with 96 out of 100. In a 25-target shoot-off Reed broke 22 to Watson's 18.

The women's championship was won by Mrs. Van Marker of Evanston, Ill., who broke 90 out of 100 from the 17-yard line. That nosed out Mrs. L. H. Gambell of Cincinnati, who broke 89.

Four Hamilton, Ont., marksmen participated in the shoot, but finished out of the money. Their scores:

Harry Kretchman, 92 out of 100; Dr. D. H. Stewart, 82; Norman White, 91; Sam Vance, 87.

Invites Willkie

NEW YORK, Aug. 26—(AP)—The Herald Tribune says that President Roosevelt, who last week told reporters there was nothing to published reports that he had invited Wendell L. Willkie to a conference on foreign policy, has "once again communicated with Mr. Willkie presumably to...renew the invitation."

Britain Seeks To Lead In Air Transportation

LONDON, Aug. 26— (CP Reuter) —Britain would not accept a secondary role in Internantional Commercial Aviation, Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair said to-day, and declare that British aims in the field of post-war air transport would "commend themselves alike to the scrutiny of our neighbours and the judgment of history."

"Our aims are, first to see that Civilian Air Transport becomes a means of uniting the nations, not plunging them into rivalry, and second to ensure that the air communications of the British Commonwealth and Empire are worthy, and to give the service they need for the prosperity of their peoples," he said.

Sir Archibald spoke at a luncheon to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the first British Commercial Air Service.

The Air Minister said Britain was "first in the field" and meant to keep her place in the first flight of International Air Transport. Other countries were joining Britain in the belief that air transport should not be a matter of power politics and national prestige but of commerce.

The war, he said, had interrupted progress in Civil Aviation, but "we must remember that if we had not put every ounce of our strength into the battle it would not be the fleets of the British Overseas Air Corporation that would be developing the routes from these islands, ut thefleets of the Deutch Liftahnsa."

"I must not raise undue hopes. If we are to retain the quality of our air force without which our power would decline and our gallant men would needlessly lose their lives, we must not relax our efforts to keep our military aircraft up to date," he said.

"But some improvement in the rate of progress on the civil aviation side must now be made. The course of the war should inspire us with confidence in the future of our country in the air, and of civil aviation."

The British Overseas Airways Corporation is entirely engaged on war work, said Sir Archibald, and the experience of its organization "several times as big as our civil transport organisation before the war" would be invaluable in peace.

84 Cases Of Polio Exist In Ontario

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (CP) —Poliomyelitis cases in Ontario now total 84, with three deaths, Dr. J. T. Phair, chief medical officer of the Ontario department of health, said today. He described the situation as normal.

Last year the department reported 96 cases as compared with 3,000 for the epidemic year of 1937.

Dr. Phair said cases in Ontario this year are evenly distributed but that 13 cases are reported in the Dryden area near Kenora.

Major Repair Job Facing Allies In France

By HUDSON PHILLIPS
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 26— (AP) —The United Nations face a major repair job in rehabilitating France's economic system, the foundation of which has crumbled under the heel of German occupation.

Deterioration was steady under German control after France surrendered in June, 1940. The Nazis looted everything in sight. Allied bombings also helped to cripple her war industries.

Raw material scarcities grew progressively worse. A lack of coal, motor fuels, foodstuffs, transportation and communications helped stymie recovery.

United States Department of Commerce records and various foreign reports give this picture of France's unhappy economic state:

Coal production dropped to less than half of normal needs of 6,000,000 tons a month and electric power output was hit by at least 10 per cent reduction.

A serious oil shortage cut motor car and truck circulation to a minimum. Reserves were reported at an end early in 1942.

Lubricants decreased, curtailing railway service—especially passenger travel. Output of textiles was whittled by more than half. Steel production, first affected by the coal shortage, later was hit by Allied bombings. Agriculture was handicapped by dwindling supplies of fertilizers, draft animals, machinery fuels and adverse crop weather. Many farmers and farm workers remained prisoners of war.

Exports and imports decreased to half the amounts of 1938 in only one year of German occupation.

Thrilled By Trip To Normandy

By MARGARET ECKER,
Canadian Press War Correspondent.

FRANCE, Aug. 26 — (CP) — You can eat breakfast in your flat in London while buzz bombs, hum, crumph and rattle the windows and a couple of hours later you can be sitting amidst the peace and beauty of rural Normandy with the fattest cows in the world gazing nearby.

The flight by Dakota Transport plane from London to Normandy is unrolling a panorama of war.

The American paratroop captain saw the first convoy and we did gymnastics on the metal seats along the sides of the plane to see through the tiny windows. Destroyers and corvettes shepherded three neat lines of L. C. I.'s through lanes swept of mines and marked by what looked from the air like white dots on the water.

We were flying low and you could see the splashes of khaki on the ships' decks. It was thrilling but in a way that made a lump in your throat.

Three fighter planes in close formation swooped over us. That was a thrill too, and a reassurance of protection from German fighters that might dart out of the clouds over Normandy.

Cool Reception.

Below the French countryside with its higgledy-piggeldy fields seemed untidy and cluttered after English fields, but a grey towered chateau rose serenely from a sweep of green lawns, with a forest behind it.

We came into an American landing strip in a yellow haze. Jeeps, planes, tents, men on the air strip were covered wtih a layer of dust that made them blend into the landscape.

It couldn't be much harder in peace time to get into France. In the registration tent an American major shouted into a field telephone, and wiped the mixture of dust and sweat from his face. At one point we heard him say "I have a shipment of war correspondents here —what am I to do with them?" In much the same tone of voice he'd have used if he'd found a shipment of Dresden china powder boxes on his hands.

The arrival of a woman war correspondent at 21st army group headquarters threw a British brigadier into more utter confusion than it had the American major, and so it was good after bumping in a jeep over Normandy roads to come to No. 8 Canadian General Hospital, on a meadow ringed with trees.

Here at least a Canadian woman war correspondent was welcome.

Release 2,000 Men In New Zealand

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Aug. 26 — (CP Cable) — A "substantial reduction" in air crew enlistments in New Zealand and "progressive reduction in home establishment" were forecast yesterday by Prime Minister Peter Fraser in announcing no more New Zealand men would be sent to train in Canada.

But, he added, New Zealand would train 1,200 air crew personnel yearly to meet increased responsibility in the Pacific.

Mr. Fraser told the House of Representatives that recent developments made possible and necessary revision in the earlier air training plans in Britain and the Dominions. Moreover, "air casualties, providentially, have been much less than anticipated both before and during the invasion of Europe." Creation and maintenance of a large air reserve in Britain "while still necessary is not the difficult problem it was when air superiority was in the balance."

The Prime Minister said that under the revised program "some 2,000 men will be released in the next few weeks and further releases will occur as the progress of the new plan permits."

GRADUATED RECENTLY.

Three men from Peterborough and district graduated recently at R.C.A.F. schools in Canada. Sgt. F. J. Cavanaugh, RR. 1 Peterborough, graduated as a navigator at London, Sgt. J. E. Cullen, 694 Stewart street, graduated as an air bomber at London, and Norman Erskine, of Cobourg, graduated as a pilot at Dunnville. The graduation ceremonies took place Friday afternoon.

HE DIDN'T FORGET.

Traffic officer Bud Clarke found out somehow that Sgt. Frank Spencely would return home from Britain on the 5.17 train Friday night. When Spencely arrived, his former buddy Constable Clarke grabbed him as he stepped off the train giving him a warm reception. Clarke enlisted with the Glengarrians and went overseas as a sergeant-instructor later being discharged, and his welcome to the young soldier is just another indication that friendships formed by soldiers have the quality of endurance.

F. Spencely First Soldier Home Wearing British 1st Army Badge

By DON. McGIBBON.

After serving with the British First Army and seeing action in North Africa, Frank A. Spencely, whose wife lives at 374 Downie Street, arrived home on leave on Friday afternoon, and on hand to welcome him at the station were many relatives and friends of the well-known rugby player and athlete. Aldermen Sullivan and Glover were also there to greet the soldier on behalf of the city.

Sgt. Spencely was with a group of officers and men who were attached to the British First Army from Canadian units, to learn battle tactics and strategy. Sgt. Spencely is probably the only Peterborough man to wear the Halberd insignia, popularly known as the Meat Axe badge, signifying service with the British First Army. He was in the front line of some of the fiercest action in Africa and Tunisia, and when his tour of duty with the famed British First Army was over, he returned to England in an instructional capacity.

"Much of the actual fighting in Africa was more of the hit-and-run style while I was there," he said, "and patrols dashing into enemy lines to test for strength occupied a lot of time.

"Of course, we were dive-bombed quite often, and dive-bombing isn't something I'd like to go through every day. The noise is terrific, and the strain on a person's nerves is the hardest thing to take," Sergt. Spencely reported. He said the individual German soldier was a good fighter, and not one to be underestimated.

Beautiful City.

He spent much time in exotic Algiers, which, according to Sergt. Spencely, is much more beautiful than usually pictured. "The buildings, which are up-to-date and modern in every detail, was one of the pleasantest surprises of Algiers," he said, adding that plastic and glass work is also quite modern. Everything in Algiers is color, he said, and red, green, and white houses and buildings make a wonderful picture of contrasts. Also palm trees along the streets add to the city's interest. A trip through the mysterious and infamous Casbah, Algiers' hideout for criminals from all over the world, is an experience of Sergt. Spencely that few men can boast. "But I went through with a regular type of sight-seeing trip, and it all looked quite natural to me. Of course, there were many things in the Casbah we could not see."

He brought back as a souvenir, a German silver ring, he picked up at an Algiers pawn-shop. "The Germans had cleaned all the gold out of the city before they left, so the next best thing was a silver article", he said. While the population is composed of Arabs and French, he asserted the French language is used most, although Arabic customs still hold good. Street bazaars, in which merchants sell their wares in the main throroughfares, and women wearing veils over their faces are every-day sights in Algiers.

"We're not supposed to look at any of the women wearing veils; to them, it's an insult, but they often stop and stare at us." The young sergeant completed his description of Algiers with, "besides palm trees, there's a Yankee soldier on every corner".

Suffered From Cold

To the question, "Was the weather very hot and dry in Africa," he replied, "Hot?" It certainly was not; I was never so cold in my life as in Africa; I wore my great-coat every day, and slept in it too! But the crops were still growing even in the wet, chilly weather, and when I left, the wheat was waist-high. It looked funny, while we were fighting, to see French people working in their fields with the crops, even while fighting was going on around them. The only beer he had in Africa, he said, was that from the newly-formed N.C.O.'s and Warrant Officers' Club, in Algiers, where, although the beer tasted just like sour cider, but it was all they could get, and consequently tasted like champagne.

"Doing a great job," was the way Sgt. Spencely spoke of American theatrical troupes entertaining overseas, and told of speaking to Actresses Martha Raye and Kay Francis while in Africa.

He left Africa to return to the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders,....his regiment,....in England, and there, carried out instructional duties.

The German buzz-bomb is an old acquaintance of Sgt. Spencley, and he brought back some interesting episodes about the Nazi terror weapon.

"Once, one exploded about 50 yards away from me, and although it rocked me a bit, I wasn't hurt. You just run for a shelter when you hear them coming.....and if you don't, the mob that does will carry you there anyway. The blast effect of the robombs is terrific, but no matter how many come over it won't disturb the English very much. They treat it as a morale-buster, but they don't let their morale be shaken by it. They still have their tea at the customary time, but now, they keep one ear cocked or the sound of the missiles. The robot bombs appeared to me like gigantic skyrockets, with a light in the tailend."

Fine Reception

"Well, it's good to be back home," he said. "The reception I got ever since I landed in Canada was excellent, and the first food I had was some good old milk, eggs and fruit. Practically impossible to get overseas, they were delicious. Out on the field, you know, the saying is 'A man's best friend is his can-opener', so I appreciated some milk and eggs more than anything. I had an uneventful trip back."

"While I'm home, I'm just going to take things nice and easy, and get in some fishing too. Like everybody, I'm anxious to get back overseas into action, but I'm also very glad to be home."

"Anything different that you've noticed since you came back?" he was asked. "Nothing, except the cars all drive on the wrong side," he laughed.

LINDSAY BOY WOUNDED.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lywood, 100 St. Peter street, Lindsay, have been notified that their son, Rfmn. Norman Lywood, was wounded in France, August 14. The 21-year-old soldier went overseas in December, 1943.

REPORTED KILLED — Pte. Lawrence Charlton, previously reported missing, has now been reported killed in action. His wife lives at 636 Union street.

Two Young Girls Raise $15 Aid To Robot Victims

Young school children never fully realize just how much their acts of today can bring joy in retrospect in the years that lie further ahead, nor how important a part they play in fashinoing their course of the future, when they have to face the sterner realities and responsibilities of life.

Over in Britain thousands upon thousands of children have had to leave their homes for more safer places, and sad to relate, many have fallen victims to the fates that war inflicts because they happened to live in a place which was within the zone of attack from the forces of the enemy, either by air raids, or latterly the flying or latest type of destruction known as the robot bomb.

It stands very much to the credit of the children in this city and district, which also reflects upon their parents as well, that some have been very mindful of the needs of their less fortunate brothers and sisters overseas, this being evidenced by their undertaking to raise money to give them a helping hand, through the local and district funder operating for that purpose.

In this particular account on behalf of, the fund's daily appeal, a considerable portion of the day's receipts goes to the credit of the young folk, two young girls Marie Harris of King Edward School, and Joan Heath who attended the Sacred Heart School combining to play an important part therein, for last Monday and Tuesday they held a sale of canned goods, homemade candy, lemonade, taffy apples, with some pudding powders at the corner of Perry and George streets to raise the nice sum of $15 which is listed in their name today, marking a repeat effort of work done for the same worthy cause.

Then two young boys, Ron Wood and Jock Simpson also got together to take a hand in the same good work, through which they were able to turn in the sum of $6.25, something they also will be able to recall in later life with a great deal of satisfaction.

Bible Class Totals $217

From the very outset of the operations of the fund, the Women's Friendly Bible Class of St. John's Church have done a good work to aid these sufferers through this fund, keeping up a continuous flow of gifts as they were able to either raise or gather the money together, another of these assists being recorded in their name today.

At the close of their regular sessions for the summer recess period, no less than three different donations were successively reported in this column, and now in spite of a stoppage in their regular activities for that period, they have added another $5 to their good record, which now stands at a total of $217 given to this one worthy cause alone. In this manner they carry out the true tenets of the Christian faith in doing good for other people in distress and great need.

It is just two days since the fund cabled the latest gift of £500 and already there is a balance of over $100 on hand in the bank to the credit of the fund towards the next donation.

Invasion Secret Kept By Lt. Ward For Months Preceding D-Day

A veteran of the great Allied invasion of France, and disappointed at missing the invasion of Southern France, Lieut. Walter G. Ward, R. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Ward, 52 Murray street, has returned home and later on he will return to active service.

The 29-year-old lieutenant served aboard the British cruiser Scylla during the invasion of Normandy as a special officer. Shortly before the landing on French soil began, he was appointed to more specialized duties and the cruiser he was on, was the flagship of the Eastern Task Forces and carried the commander.

Invasion Interesting.

"Perhaps the word 'interesting' best describes the invasion as seen through my eyes," he said. "It's hard to remember all the details of the action. The night before the actual landing,.... the night of the crossing, was perhaps the most exciting of all. The Scylla was leading one of the columns of ships, and we were supposed to enter a certain channel that would be clear of mines at a certain time. We didn't quite make it though, and for about 15 minutes, we had just about the most tense time of our lives, while directions and bearings were being found. However, we came out all right in the end, and we didn't hit any mine fields or other trouble at that time."

Lieut. Ward, as a staff officer, knew where the invasion would take place, and an idea of when it would take place, months ahead of time. When asked how it felt to carry such a tremendous secret about for that length of time, he replied, "I guess, because the entire affair was so huge, and important to the world none of us who knew even breathed a word about it, even to those aboard our own ship.

Then, we were so busy during those days, we didn't think very much about it, in one sense," he said.

He said that from reading newspaper accounts of the invasion, he had gained the impression that people thought the landings were "push-overs." "While we did take the Nazis quite by surprise, it wasn't a cinch in any sense of the word; it was a case of the Germans being strong, but we were stronger," he asserted.

Enemy Overwhelmed.

"The organization and planning was so vast, so intricate, and so complete in every detail, that the enemy was simply overwhelmed. I went ashore for a couple of days in France and some of the defences I saw were very complete. The Germans had fortified everything that could be fortified with mines, anti-tank defences, and various other defences," he said.

Lieut. Ward praised the fighting men who went inland after the landings had been effected, stating that "those army boys did not have a picnic."

Lieut. Ward said enemy resistance to the actual crossing from England to Normandy was slight; just a single surface craft that had been surprised by the Allied flotilla, that was sunk immediately. No aircraft attacked the armada. The soldiers who went across the channel in small landing craft must have had a rough trip, he said, and the weather that night was just on the borderline of being bad.

"I wouldn't have missed the invasion for the world," Lieut. Ward stated. In a letter written from the invasion front, published previously in the Examiner, Lieut. Ward gave many interestng details about the action, in what was one of the most most complete eye-witness stories brought back by a Peterborough man.

Sees Buzz-Bombs.

"About buzz-bombs?" echoed the lieutenant, ... "well, I don't like them! I've seen many of them exploding, sometimes all around, and once, in London, I heard one approaching while I was in bed. At first, they sound something like a one-cylinder motorcycle, then, the motor cuts, and you start counting numbers until you hear the explosion. Before the motor stops, the vibration of the robomb shakes the house, and when it explodes, it shakes houses even a half a mile away. That's where I was, about a half mile away, and yet the door in the house was blown open by the explosion. When the doodle-bug came over, I just put a pillow in front of me, and held tight!"

He explained the feeling that comes over one when buzz bombs approach as something along fatalistic lines. It's not that with the

"There's No Place Like Home" Peterboro Man Says Of Trip To States

If you are going on a holiday trip across the border, listen to Chill Turner's advice and take along with you something to sleep on, just in case, and also plenty of patience.

"We had wired ahead to the Schrader Hotel in Milwaukee and when we got there, they said to us 'Look, the State Fair is on this week. You've just got in here, eh!' well you'd better take the next train out. And that's what we did. There's no use trying to argue with a situation. So we went on to Chicago, or I don't know where we would have got a bed that night.

"And everywhere you go, there are line-ups, queues, you know, hotels, restaurants railway stations and so on. That's where the patience comes in.

"I was combining a buying and leisure trip, and my wife came with me. One day we went from Toledo to Cleveland. The three largest hotels in that city were packed, so we went back to Toldedo by bus, and there was just one room available to us, and it had five beds in it. Right then it was getting late, and no one else came along so we got that room with more beds than I ever saw in a sleeping room in my life.

"I was mighty glad to get back home after that kind of holiday. We are a lot better off in many ways than our American friends. For instance, I could not get a thing, from people we have been doing business with for years."

Legion Shows Do Much For Soldiers

BY MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press War Correspondent

FRANCE, Aug. 28 — (CP) — The men who were over here in the last war, the veterans who slugged their way through France once before, know what soldiers think about things and how they like a bit of good clean fun and relaxation when they've a lull from the front line.

That's exactly what the men of the Canadian Legion over here are providing.

Take Fred Ring of Weyburn, Sask., for instance, and there are dozens like him up and down Normandy and Brittany. Fred isn't under fire, not more than an occasional bomber raid, but some of his colleagues are right up under the guns.

Fred, with a couple of assistants organizes the entertainment for No. 8 Canadian General Hospital, patients and staff.

In one big tent you can usually find Gunner Harry Oake of Stewiacke, N.S. or Lawrence Arnold of North Bay, Ont. getting ready for one of the eight moving showings a week, or else one of them is sorting records for the music hours of recordings the Legion puts on.

Books, Cigarettes

You can find something to do any hour of the night or day in the big Legion tent, next door to the movie tent. There are magazines from Canada, books, English newspapers only a day old. There are always free cigarettes and several times a day you get a cup of tea, too.

The boys can send cablegrams home too, from here and flowers That's one of the first things a patient often thinks about when he's able to concentrate on something else besides his wounds.

Saturday night, the Legion puts on a bingo game for the boys with cigarets and chocolates as prizes. And a man in uniform can have his favorite spot for the asking. In the Legion cupboard, there's soft balls and bats, baseballs, boxing gloves, volley balls, rugby balls, darts for those who learned the pub game in Engand, and cards, checkers and chess for those who like to take their recreation sitting down.

23-lb. Muskie Caught Near Hunter St. Bridge

There was an exciting tussle on the Otonabee river just below the Hunter street bridge yesterday when Irven Moldaver and Zimel Levine tangled with a 23 pound maskinonge while casting from a canoe.

The antics of the frisky muskie, coupled with a strong current and the danger of the canoe upsetting made the battle a memorable one but Moldaver won the decision, hauling out one of the nicest muskies seen this year.

This catch tops off one of the best muskie fishing periods in recent years as more big ones have been reported in the last six days from th Kawartha ditsrict than can be recalled for some years.

Moldaver who is having the 23 pounder mounted for future enjoyment and proof of his ability said "For 20 years I have been trying to nab one of these beauties, and now I get one practically in my backyard, and less than a quarter of a mile from the town clock."

War—4 Years Ago

(By The Canadian Press).

ANG. 26, 1940— —In a three-hour raid R. A. F. attacked Government buildings and other targets in Berlin and struck at airdromes in France, Germany and the low countries. Three hundred reported killed in Russian-Romania clashes in northern Moldavia.

AUG. 27, 1940— Prime Minister Churchill informed Gen. De Gaulle economic assistance would be extended by Britain to all French overseas forces loyal to Allies. Canadian cabinet approved regulations governing calling up of single men between 21 and 45.

WOUNDED IN FRANCE — Pte. Lawrence I. Patterson, whose wife, Mrs. Evelyn Patterson, lives at 267 Bethune street, has been wounded in France while fighting with the S.D. and G. Highlanders. He had been driving a truck at the front, before he received his wounds August 14. Pte. Patterson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Patterson, 177 Aylmer street.

BACK FROM INVASION—Lieut. Walter G. Ward, R.N., 52 Murray street, has returned home for a leave, after seeing action on convoy duties, and with the invasion fleet.

J. T. Fitzpatrick Killed In France

HAVELOCK, August 26—(ENS). —Mr. and Mrs. T. Fitzpatrick of Cordova Mines have been officially notified that their son, Spr James Terance Fitzpatrick, Royal Canadian Engineers, has been killed in France on August 13, as the result of a road accident.

Spr. Fitzpatrick enlisted in September, 1942. He trained at Toronto, Orillia and Petawawa, going overseas in March, 1943. He had been in France since early in July. Prior to enlisting he was employed by the Acme Screw and Gear Co., Toronto, entering their employ when the mines at Cordova closed down. A brother, Sgt. T. V. (Vince) Fitzpatrick went overseas in December, 1939, with the First Canadian Division, and is now on active service with the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment in Italy. Wounded in Sicily in July, 1943, he rejoined his regiment last October.

Falling Brick Endangers Woman At Bank

Mrs. T. T. Roger, wife of the manager of the Diminion Bank, narrowly escaped being hit by a brick which fell Friday from the top of the wall at the rear of the bank.

The incident briefly shocked Mrs. Roger in her realization of the circumstances of chance which had swayed in her favor as she stood momentarily near the rear entrance of the bank talking to one of her daughters. Some time ago, the council discussed a somewhat similar occurrence on the north side of Simcoe street when some projecting adornment of the wall feel from the store building opposite the office of the Utilities Commission.

It was suggested then that some arrangement should be made for the examination of main street buildings for the purpose of making certain of their safety to the public. Most of them are old buildings, and time gradually deteriorates their original strength and workmanship. It was even suggested that unnecessary projections should be removed. At any rate, no definite action was taken then by the council, although it was generally believed that some person should be appointed to examine the buildings in the down town area for any weaknesses that might be a potential danger to the public.

King Street Favored For New City Hall

"I certainly would like to see the produce market down on King street," said Herb Doig this morning. "I think that is where it ought to be. It looks to me to be the most central spot of all, that is if the city is going to make any changes. I know they won't take place this year, or anything like it, but if they lo my suggestion for a new location would be King street."

The public is reminded hat the market is opening earlier these Saturdays. Many of the stands were all set by 8.30 this morning with an abundance of the season's products, from potatoes to honey. Attendance has been higher all through August than at any other time this year.

ARRIVES IN FRANCE—Lieut. Earle Edworthy, son of CSM. F. L. Edworthy and Mrs. Edworthy, 235 Princess street, has arrived in France, according to a letter received by his family. He went overseas with the S.D. and G. Highlanders and returned to Canada in June of 1943 for his commission. Lieut. Edworthy returned overseas in February of this year.

IN MEMORIAM

ABRAHAM—In loving memory of Mr. Jas. Abraham who passed away August 26, 1936.

Loves greatest gift—Remembrance.
The world may change from year to year
And friends from day to day
But never will the dad we loved
From memory pass away.
—Always remembered by sons and daughters.

GILLESPIE—In loving memory of Clarence Gillespie, who passed away Aug. 26, 1942.

Just when his days seemed brightest
Just when his hopes seemed best,
God called him from amongst us
To His eternal rest.
—Ever lovingly remembered by Mother, Dad, Helen and Marian.

McDOUGAL—In loving memory of Wm. McDougall who passed away August 27, 1942.

Newlyweds Honored With Presentation

FRASERVILLE, Aug. 26.—(ENS). —The Fraserville Orange Hall was filled Thursday night when friends and relatives gathered to honor a recent bride and groom who are residing in Fraserville, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lunn (nee Lillian Footit, of Millbrook. Fraserville and Millbrook friends joined together for the presentation.

Round and square dancing was enjoyed, the music being supplied mostly by relatives of the bride and groom. They included Mrs. D. Gilmour of Garden Hill on the violin, Mrs. Pudsey of Cavanville at the piano and Miss Gilmour of Garden Hill on the banjo. Others assisting on the violin were the groom's brother, Charlie Lunn, of Fraserville, and McIntosh Bradshaw of South Monaghan. Miss Henry Jewison of South Monaghan and Mrs. Austin Moore of Fraserville, also assisted at the piano.

Before the supper hour, Mr. and Mrs. Lunn were called to seats of honor at the front of the hall and an address was read to them by Mr. Leigh Hewitt of Fraserville, and the presentation of a studio couch was made by Johnny Elgar, of Millbrook and K. Moncrief of Fraserville, on behalf of the Millbrook and Fraserville friends.

Invasion Secret

English people themselves though he pointed out, and they are taking the new menace in their stride. To them, while it is a horrible thing, it's just another inconvenience of war. In one part of England, Lieut. Ward watched dozens of the missiles come over at night, and while they didn't drop near him, he said they made a colorful sight in the darkened sky; leaving great luminous trails behind them.

With Convoys.

Before taking part in the invasion, the young officer had seen much action on convoy duty, when he served on an aircraft carrier. "In convoy duty," he said, "it's not so much excitement, as it is suspense."

Lieut. Ward enlisted in the R. C. N. V. R. in March, 1942, just as he graduated from McGill University in Montreal in electrical engineering. After taking a special radio course in Toronto, he went overseas in Jun, 1942, and was assigned specialized radio work with the Royal Navy. He was promoted to the rank of lieutenant while serving aboard the aircraft carrier. He was educated at Peterborough Collegiate in part, and while attending McGill, worked at C. G. E. here during the summer.

Millbrook Soldiers Improving In Hospital

MILLBROOK, Aug. 26 — (ENS) —Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards have received a telegram from the War Office informing them that their second son, Albert, previously reported wounded in France and now in hospital in England, suffered a compound fracture of the right arm with injury also to fingers of the left hand. Some shrapnel fragments were imbedded.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ridge, whose second son, Robert, was reported wounded in France some weeks ago, with injury to the back and right shoulder, is making good progress toward recovery. He is in hospital in England, and while there has just received his Christmas parcels from home and other friends.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott

Wounded Man Gives 12th Donation Tells Need Of Plasma Overseas

A veteran of this war, Donald Mann, 246 Lansdowne street, who recently made his 12th blood donation emphasized that too much stress cannot be placed upon the need for plasma which is doing such an important work overseas.

"It is very little for any of us to give and it means so much to the boys over there. The donation you give today may save a soldier's life a few weeks from now, and the doctors are giving transfusions right on the battlefields."

Mr. Mann, a former C.G.E. employee, was discharged from the Army when he was injured overseas. After he had been in Great Britain a few months serving with an Ack-ack unit, he was wounded when an enemy plane blew up the gun and crew. He was the only one to come out alive.

Although not a Peterborough man before he enlisted, this was not the first time Mr. Mann had visited the Clinic. During the time he was stationed at the camp here for basic training, he gave some blood.

"I saw how they used the plasma overseas in the hospitals and many of the boys who were in wards with me would not have been alive today without it. It doesn't hurt anyone to give their blood and it means so much—the difference between life and death—to many fighting men.

"Most of the camps overseas set aside a regular day for the men to make donatoins. The men knew a good thing when they saw it and realized they might be needing that blood when the big day came, so they were always ready to line up.

Missing At Sea

BROCKVILLE, Aug. 26 —(CP)— Lieut. Malcolm S. Grant, R.C.N.V.R., of Brockville and Montreal, has been reported missing at sea, his wife said to-day.

He is the son of Lawford Grant of Ottawa, formerly of Montreal.

Lawyer Claims He Is Sane

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 26 (CP) —Chief Justice J. B. M. Baxter has issued a writ of habeas corpus calling on Dr. E. C. Menzies, superintendent of the Provincial Hospital here, to produce Maxwell B. Singer before him in Chambers Saturday, Sept. 2, and show cause why the man should not be released.

Singer, who formerly practiced law in Montreal, has been held in the Provincial hospital since the spring of 1941, when physicians certified him to be mentally ill. He claims to have been illegally incarcerated following criminal proceedings instituted against him by members of his family.

Application for the writ was made by counsel on an affidavit and a memorandum prepared by Singer.

This is the second time Mr. Crankshaw has attempted to obtain Singer's release. The first was last August, in the Supreme Court of Canada, which found that it had no jurisdiction to issue such a writ because a Provincial statute was involved.

UNWISE PASS COSTLY

IT CAN cost you just as much to pass when you should bid as to bid when you should pass. That is especially true of opening bids. When you are vulnerable it is especially important to bid when you have enough for a sound opening. Failure to do so opens the door for a wily not-vulnerable opponent to begin the auction with a psychic which may talk you and your partner out of a game. Especially be sound when you are in the second hand position, just at the left of the dealer, for then your not-vulnerable foe is in the third-hand spot which is ideal for a confusing psychic call.

North: ♠ K 9 8 ♥ A 7 6 4 3 ♦ A 8 ♣ J 6 4

West: ♠ 5 3 2 ♥ K 10 ♦ K 10 9 3 2 ♣ Q 9 7

East: ♠ J 7 ♥ 8 ♦ Q 7 6 5 ♣ A K 10 8 5 3

South: ♠ A Q 10 6 4 ♥ Q J 9 5 2 ♦ J 4 ♣ 2

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1. Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
1 NT
2. Pass	1 ♥	Dbl	Rdbl
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Dbl
Pass	Pass	2 ♣	4 ♥

Players with a penchant for trickery were in the East position at both tables of the team match where this hand was contested. Both tried their utmost to bamboozle their vulnerable opponents, but only one of them got away with it. Why? For the simple reason that North had made an unsound original pass.

At the first table North was one of those players who think your cards won't take as many tricks when you are vulnerable as when you are not. He therefore wants more strength for an opening bid. His fetish cost his side the deal. After his pass, it was pretty hard for South to make a vulnerable spade overcall of the psychic heart. North could not very well bid over West's No Trump bid, and when it reached South again, he could not dare to try spades at the level of two. Can you imagine South's chagrin on contemplating North's original pass, after his side had taken the first eleven tricks? It produced a score of a dinky 250 points for his side.

At the other table, East could not bamboozle the opponents after North had opened.

Canadian Troops 15 Miles From The Seine

By ROSS MUNRO,
Canadian Press War Correspondent.

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY NEARING THE SEINE, Aug. 26 — (CP) Cable) — Leading Canadian troops were only 15 miles from the big bend of the Seine river west of Rouen to-day while Belgian forces operating with the 1st Canadian army on the northern flank reached the estuary of the river at Billerville and are advancing on Honfleur, four miles farther northeast and across the estuary from Le Havre.

Overnight Canadian infantry and tanks made a rapid 15-mile advance from Thiberville, 10 miles east of Lisieux, to the Brionne area on the Risle river.

Another armored and infantry column operating south of this drove through Bernay and established a bridgehead over the Risle river in the Beaumont area in a similar advance of from 10 to 15 miles. Beaumont is eight miles south and slightly east of Brionne and 17 miles southeast of Elbeuf, where Allied headquarters reported heavy fighting between German and American forces.

A series of straight macadam roads lead from the Risle to the Seine, converging on the city of Rouen, 10 miles north of Elbeuf where the Seine takes a big loop. If German resistance continues spotty and disorganized, Canadian advance elements should reach the Seine soon at the present rate.

The Seine bag is rapidly being folded up and wtih Lisieux cleared of the enemy, British armor moved east rapidly, linked up with the Canadians at Thiberville, and reached St. Georges Du Viare, just west of the Risle.

Take Comeilles.

Brtiish infantry also pushed out from Lisieux and the Touques river area to take Comeilles, midway between the Touques and the Risle.

Air-borne troops finally captured Pont L'Eveque, nine miles north of Lisieux, and advanced eastward towards Beuzeville, seven miles southeast of Honfleur.

After cleaning up the coastal town of Trouville, the Belgian forces advanced four miles along the coast road to capture Villerville and with British and Canadian air-borne forces were closing in on Honfleur, a quaint old Normandy fishing village from which Champlain sailed on his voyages to Canada.

Canadian infantry and tanks are operating on more than a score of roads and German forces, which have been ordered to delay this advance to the Seine, are finding it impossible to block the advance.

The Germans obviously see the writing on the wall now and are getting back as fast as they can," a staff officer at Canadian headquarters said. "Guns are being taken back to the Seine for evacution attempts."

Need 6,000 Men To Harvest Western Crops

WINNIPEG, August 26 — (CP)— A labor shortage for harvesting one of Western Canada's largest crops was reported to-day by farm labor officials, who estimated another 6,000 men will be needed. Wages from $4.50 to $6 in Manitoba to as high as $8 in the other two provinces.

Cutting, combining and threshing has become general in southern sections of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. A few Southern Saskatchewan districts reported work being held up due to lack of stookers.

In Southern Manitoba cutting was 75 to 100 per cent completed, in Saskatchewan 25 per cent, and one-third in the Alberta foothills. Wheat yields have averaged 25 bushels an acre in Manitoba, 19 in Saskatchewan, and 12 to 25 in Southern Alberta.

Crop Is Heavy.

Wheat production for the three provinces is estimated at about 450,000,00 bushels compared with 277,000,000 bushels a year ago. The coarse grains also are expected to be considerably above those of 1943, except in the case of flax.

In addition to shortage of farm help, Dominion officials are hoping to eliminate a grain bottleneck at the head of the Lakes where a scarcity of unloaders has tied up several thousand bushels of grain in railways cars and slowed up the movement to world markets.

A. A. Heaps of Winnipeg has been appointed controller to remove the bottleneck with wide powers to transfer labor from other industries. Most of the workers will have to come from the Lakehead area, he said.

Some 225 Eastern harvesters have gone to Prairie fields along with soldiers, airmen, sailors, Indians from reserves, and civilians totalling more than 4,000.

Eastern excursions that brought several thousand workers West in the last three years are scheduled to begin early next week.

Fifteen hundred men are wanted in Manitoba, an estimated 2,000 for Saskatchewan, and 2,500 for Alberta.

Waterloo Sues Kitchener City

KITCHENER, August 26 —(CP) —Writ as issued by a Waterloo today against Kitchener for an accounting of the street railway profits since 1923, one-quarter of which are alleged to be owing to the town by Kitchener Public Utilities Commission, operating the street railway between the two communities.

The writ alleges that under the terms of the agreement signed by the Commission and Waterloo on March 28, 1923, the Commission was not entitled to charge debenture principal, debenture interest losses arising from the operation of the old Bridgeport railway and reserve fund for road rehabilitation, against the Kitchener-Waterloo street railway revenues.

Commission chairman H. J. Graber in a statement to-day said the agreement came into force before any of the present commissioners were in office and he felt that had there been any violation of the agreement terms the Commission's auditors would have called attention to it.

Missions In Canada Described For W.M.S.

BETHANY, Aug. 26—(ENS)—The regular meeting of the Evening Auxiliary of the W.M.S. was held Tuesday evening in the Sunday School room of the church, with seven members present and seven visitors.

It was moved by Mrs. Clarence Rowan and seconded by Miss Weatherilt that Mrs. Porteous act as president for the remainder of the year. Response for Watch Towers was given by Mrs. Jackson, Indians in Canada, and Mrs. Henderson, China. The Christian Citizenship program was then taken over Mrs. Porteous leading and Mrs. Jackson reading the scripture verses.

Prayers for the Dominion, for those who toil, and for the women of this land, were repeated in unison.

Rev. Mr. Henderson gave an interesting address on his work in the Peace River district, and emphasized the importance of mission work in the new settlement of Canada. His description of the church, vegetation and wooded areas were educational and the mission work, while not always encouraging, gives one the satisfaction of knowing that foundations are being laid for further Christian developments, he declared.

One phase of Mr. Henderson's work was carrying messages from sick people to their friends, and also starting travelling libraries to relieve the loneliness of desolated areas.

Mrs. Porteous moved the vote of thanks to Mr. Henderson and reported $5 profit from greeting cards.

Mayors To Talk Post-War Plans

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 26—(CP)— Postwar planning will be one of the principal items for discussion of the Ontario Mayors Associaiton in Toronto October 18 and 19, it was announced to-day by the association president, Mayor Garfield Case of Owen Sound.

Mayor Case, who predicted a large attendance, appealed to municipalities to file resolution early so time can be provided for discussion. Resolutions already received deal with such subjects as additions to fire department personnel in two-platoon cities and the right to tax public utilities which may compete with private enterprise. Stratford and Collingwood are urging increases in Old Age Pensions.

Ottawa Silent On Liquor Quota

OTTAWA, Aug. 26 (CP) — While there was no official comment here on a statement by Premier George Drew of Ontario urging a relaxation of restrictions on the sale of liquor, it is understood there is little prospect of a change before the end of the war.

The Federal government's order limiting sales to a percentage of the amount sold in 1941 was put forward originally as a measure of temperance and governmental spokesmen have never based it on a shortage of supplies.

Distilleries are believed to have considerable stocks of liquor on hand and the supply situation is not believed to be any obstacle to releasing large quantities for sale.

The feeling in official quarters, however, is that there is still a need for an all-out effort in industry and a need for encouraging temperance and saving money. This situation is expected to continue until the end of the war.

Oil's Contribution to Man

In 1859 a group of far-sighted men drilled down into the earth near Titusville, Pennsylvania. At a little over sixty-nine feet, their drill struck oil . . . and thus, in the little wooden shacks that sheltered the pioneer Drake Well, the petroleum industry was born.

Through eighty-five years of progress, new generations of oil men have pushed their drills almost five miles down below the surface, stepped up petroleum production from forty to over 4,500,000 barrels a day on this continent. And on this tidal wave of "liquid power" rich gifts have floated to mankind . . . the modern car, truck and airplane . . . oil-heated homes and oil-driven ships . . . the farmer's tractor . . . asphalt roads that unite the nation . . . lubricants and other petroleum products that have enabled industry to produce better goods at lower cost, for more people. Today, as essential "ammunition" on our fighting fronts, petroleum is making its finest gift—victory in a bitter war to preserve our way of life and ensure our future.

As Canada's pioneer and leader in the field of petroleum, Imperial Oil Limited has contributed abundantly to the achievements of the past—is giving its best and utmost to the war job of today. Tomorrow, when peace comes, Imperial Oil service station men will again speed the motorist happily along the highway. Imperial Oil research workers will turn their inventive skill from tasks of war to problems of peacetime progress. The Imperial Oil geologists, engineers and drillers who brought Norman Wells and Turner Valley into being will continue to search for the oil resources necessary to our further progress.

Rhone Valley Pincers Closing Fast

More Than Half German Army Wiped Out In South

By GEORGE TUCKER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ROME, Aug. 28—(AP)—More than half of all German soldiers garrisoning Southern France prior to the Allied landings are believed to have been killed, wounded or captured in less than two weeks, and today the tattered remnants were fighting a frantic battle in Rhone Valley to escape a trap.

American troops have reached the Rhone Valley north of Montelimar, 100 airline miles north of Marseille, and have cut off the line of retreat of the German 11th armored division and other troops to the south, field dispatches said today.

At least 50,000 enemy front line troops were estimated to have been knocked out of the war in Southern France to date. The German 11th division was being pressed from the south by other American units, harassed by Maquis in the hills to the west and cut up by Allied artillery fire from the east.

Location A Secret

The Germans were making a fierce effort to cut a way through to Valence, 25 miles north of Montelimar, it was said, but the Americans were confident of their ability to crush the breakout attempts.

The Germans were confronted by the additional menace of "Butler's Task Force"—the mobile column commanded by Brig.-Gen. Frederick Butler, which several days ago reached Grenoble, 70 miles northeast of Montelimar, and whose activities have not been reported since.

The Germans were attempting to withdraw northward through the Rhone Valley along the river's east bank when a column from Lt.-Gen. Patch's advancing army fell upon them and in a series of rough encounters killed hundreds a headquarters announcement said. Montelimar is 100 miles north of Marseilles.

It was estimated 15,000 of the battered German 19th Army have been eliminated. This defeated German force included elements of the German 11th Panzer and 198th Infantry divisions, which had been reinforced by scattered elements of three other enemy infantry divisions.

The loss of this force, which was announced simultaneously with the loss of the German 242nd and 244th divisions at Marseilles and Toulon, means at least 50,000 German front line soldies have been eliminated.

Hampering the Nazis in their flight up the Rhone has been the work of the Mediterannean Allied Air Force, cutting bridges from underneath them and making withdrawals both hazardous and costly. The chances of the Nazis to pull east and north of Valence, 28 miles north of Montelimar, were diminishing with each day's fighting.

The Germans were known to have been in the Montelimar area almost a week ago. The town itself is in the dead centre of the Rhone Valley, but the terrain from there to the east rises gradually into rugged alpine country.

8th Army Nears Po Valley And Pesaro Port

ROME, Aug. 28.— (AP).— Attacking fiercely against German forces withdrawing slowly into the Gothic line defences for a last stand in Northern Italy, Polish troops have punched a path through Nazi strongholds behind the Metauro river and have fought on across the Arzilla, Allied Headquarters announced to-day.

The advances placed the British 8th Army units in the Adriatic sector within five miles of the important port of Pesaro and only a little more than 20 miles from Rimini at the southern edge of the broad Po Valley.

The little Adriatic port of Fano was found clear of the enemy as Germans scrambled to get out of the way of the hard-fighting Poles. The latter crossed the Arzilla river, which empties into the Adriatic a mile northwest of Fano, only after a stubborn fight, however.

A prisoner from the veteran Nazi 4th Parachute Division — one of the three German divisions recently reported in action on the Adriatic sector — said orders for his unit's retreat from the Metauro line could not be carried out because of the terrific artillery barrage laid down by the Allies.

Substantial gains were made by 8th Army troops further inland where Allied forces crossed the Maggiore river in the mountains and captured Fossombrone on the main lateral road to Fano.

North and East of Florence the Nazi withdrawal in the Gothic line continued. A British force pushing three miles north of the Arno river in the vicinity of Pontassieve, nine miles east of Florence, found the enemy covering his retreat with heavy cannon and machine gun fire.

British Establish 5th Bridgehead Across Seine River

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 28 (AP)—British forces established a fifth bridgehead across the Seine today and American troops, sweeping in a wide arc threatening German lines of retreat into the Reich, have crossed the Marne and captured Meaux 23 miles east of Paris.

The new bridgehead was near Louviers, a few miles upriver from the crossing at Pont de L'Arche where the 1st Canadian Army was moving toward the backdoor to Dieppe, scene of the gallant Canadian raid on Aug. 19, 1942. Dieppe is roughly 45 miles due north of Pont de L'Arche.

Addition to this bridehead, the Canadians forced another slightly south of Pont de L'Arche.

Headquarters reported progress at these bridgeheads as well as the American one at Mantes, 30 miles northwest of Paris and another British brideghead at Vernon, 10 miles northwest of Mantes.

Meanwhile the Germans in the Marne area were yielding the battleground of the First Great War without a fight as the Americans swept on through Meaux, in the Marne River loop. Sedan, a famous battlefield in the Franco-Prussian War and in 1940, was 105 miles to the northeast.

An earlier dispatch from Canadian Press War Correspondent William Stewart said German resistance in that area seemed "completely disorganized," and a senior British staff officer told AP War Correspondent John F. Chester that "Rouen is another Chambois shambles," which some 200,000 German trapped in three pockets, are trying madly to escape the Allied ground and air pounding.

Memories of 1914.

For the first time in this war American troops were fighting on a battlefield of the First Great War. The town of Meaux marked the high tide of the German attempt to take Paris in September, 1914 — an attempt which ended with the Allied victory of the first battle of the Marne when the Paris taxicab

Rocket Ranges Battered By RAF Heavies

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Aug. 28 —(AP) — R. A. F. heavy bombers with fighter escort attacked a concrete structure in the French coastal area late yesterday believed to be connected with the nazis' secret long range "V-2" rocket, the Air Ministry announced to-day.

The Berlin radio reported Allied bombers blasting again to-day at Nazi Europe from both Italy and Great Britain, striking in northwest Germany, Austria, Hungary and Czecho-Slovakia.

The concrete structure was at Mimoyecques in Pas De Çalais. The Nazis have been threatened to use a 60-to 90-ton rocket with a war head estimated at about 10 tons, capable of wrecking damage far beyond that of the present robot bomb

Last night the R. A. F. Mosquitos slashed at the Rhineland industrial centre of Mannheim and attacked German transport in the low countries.

Heavy bombers which have flown 8,000 sorites in large-scale assaults from British and Italian bases in the past four days were apparently idle overnight, btu the fast Mosquitos struck into Holland, bombing and strafing trains, motor convoys and barges while others slashed at Mannheim.

Widespread Targets.

Yesterday powerful formations of Allied planes from Britain and Italy smashed at Germany's synthetic oil sources and strafed and bombed retreating Nazi troops in France, after R. A. F. assaults Saturday night on Konigsberg, Kiel, Hamburg and Berlin.

Pilots reported considerabie movement of German reinforcements and supplies from the low countries into France, operations which the Mosquitos harassed in Holland particularly. Fighter-bombers extended their operations farther north and east of the Seine. Some trains that were blown up indicated they were loaded with ammunition or possibly flying bombs.

The air blows at the flying bomb ramps, depots and supply routes were believed responsible for the sustained respite that London has enjoyed for three days.

Reds Overrun Oil Fields Across Ploesti Region Fifty Miles From Bucharest

Unconfirmed Report Says Speeding Russians Deep Inside Transylvania Section Taken By Hungary From Romania

By EDDY GILMORE—Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Aug. 28—(AP)—Two great Russian army groups paced by Cossacks advanced within less than 50 miles of Bucharest today in a drive swiftly over-running the wealthy Ploesti oil region. An unconfirmed report said some columns had plunged also 50 miles into Transylvania. The 16,642-square-mile northern section of Transylvania was cut away from Romania and awarded to Hungary by Hitler in the 1940 Vienna dictate. Yet there were no reports of Hungarians fighting alongside the Germans in that area.

(The German communique said "counter-attacks by Hungarian and German troops to prevent the enemy from entering Hungary through the Eastern Carpathians are making good headway. Russian attacks at Piatraeamt at the edge of Transylvania were reported foiled. The Germans said the Russians "continued their big attack" between Warsaw and East Prussia in the region between the Vistula and Narew Rivers and "reached the Bobr area.")

Move Into Carpathians.

The main Russian direction in Romania was toward Bucharest, but numerous columns moved off the Russian right flank into the Carpathians. It was one of these which was reported deep in Transylvania—which capitulated Romania has sworn to retake from Hungary.

Strong air forces were bombing and strafing the disorganized Germans day and night.

East of captured Galati in the breached defences in the gap between the mountains and the Danube mouth advance Russian troops poured down the highway toward Bucharest on roads which skirt the Baragan Steppe north of the Bulgarian frontier.

Front dispatches said Nazi storm troopers were haranguing and threatening the German troops in efforts to make a stand. There was sporadic resistance, but the armies of Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin and Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky appeared to have broken the back of the Nazi forces before Bucharest.

(A Bucharest communique said Romanian troops going over to the Allies struck the Germans at Ploesti and blocked mountain passes leading to Hungary by way of Transylvania.

(German broadcasts frankly admitted their position was "precarious," and said Nazi troops were locked in "unusually ferocious" battle with Romanian troops amid the twisted wreckage of Ploesti oil field installations.)

Russians overwhelmed the Germans at Focansi and Galati, anchors of the once-vaunted Nazi defence line, and rolled on through the oil fields of Ramnicul-Sarat, 22 miles beyond Focansi and 75 miles northeast of Bucharest. Ploesti is 57 miles southwest of the advancing Red armies.

Bucharest Road Open

Malinovsky moved on Ploesti and Bucharest down the southern side of Transylvanian Alps while Tolbukhin rolled ahead from the Danube. The way appeared wide open to Bucharest.

The Russian war bulletin said other Soviet forces climbing westward into the Carpathians north of the Galati Gap captured some localities along a railway lending to the Transsilvanian Plateau, including Gomanesti, 60 miles northwest of Focansi, and Targu-Ocna, Romania's largest salt mining centre.

Surrender of two Nazi corps commanders and two major-generals, together with 18,000 soldiers, indicated the sriousness of the German's plight.

Peace Proposals Ready For Bulgaria's Chief

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Surrender terms for Bulgaria probably will be handed to an envoy of that Nazi satellite in Cairo within a few days and armistice terms for Romania are expected to be signed shortly in Moscow, it was learned today.

Greek and Yugoslav interests are understood to have full protection in the terms to the Bulgars, despite the Balkan kingdom's strange plea to be allowed to retain parts of those Allied Nations which Bulgaria grabbed with German approval. The peace terms were prepared by the European advisory commission and submitted to Washington and Moscow for approval. Steps were taken to obtain Greek and Yugoslav concurrence.

The Russians asked Germany's remaining allies—Finland, Hungary and the rump state of Slovakia—to quit the Nazis before it is too late.

Urging other countries to turn against the Nazis as Romania has done, the official Communist party organ Pravda said only thus could they "escape the disastrous consequences of the criminal policies of their governments."

"Events are developing so rapidly," said Pravda, "that they leave no time for hesitation. The situation is quite clear. The Germans have no hope and he who does not break with them will share their fate."

While Russia is not at war with Bulgaria, Pravda's warning seems aimed at her as much as at Hungary

Bulgars Told Recall Soldiers

By JOSEPH MORTON,
Associated Press War Correspondent.

BARI, Italy, Aug. 28 —(AP) — The Bulgarian Government, which has announced through the Sofia radio that it wants to get out of the war and achieve complete neutrality, up to yesterday had taken no steps to withdraw its forces from Yugoslavia and Greece, it was learned through channels well posted on the Balkan military situation.

Reports from Cairo that such action was under way were described as without foundation

The Allies are reported insisting that Bulgarian troops be called home before an armistice is granted, and British broadcasts beamed to Bulgaria stipulate flatly that withdrawal is a condition for peace.

The Bulgarians are believed to have six or seven divisions in Yugoslavia and three or four in Greece.

French People Paid Dearly For Liberation Of Capital

By DON WHITEHEAD—Associated Press War Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 26 (Delayed)—(AP).—Parisians paid for liberation of their city in blood—and somewhere in this excited capital is a modern Joan of Arc who was the heroine of the Patriots' battle to drive out the Germans. Hundreds of civilians were killed and many more wounded in the eight-day battle which raged through the streets as resistance forces fought to push the Germans out of Paris. French authorities say more civilians than Germans lost their lives in the fight for Paris. They say 500 Germans were killed and 969 wounded.

At times the Patriots fought tanks with nothing more than rifles, pistols and hand grenades and the boldest of the leaders was a French woman known to the Germans as "The Wildcat."

This slender, brown haired woman of 40 is a captain in the French forces of liberation. Fighting under her was a group of 40 men. Having sworn vengeance on the Germans after her brother was killed she led her band of 40 against three Mark IV tanks the day before Paris fell. Her comrades would not let her fight tanks herself, but she carried their ammunition and brought them grenades and directed the fighting. They destroyed the three tanks.

Food arrived here in an uninterrupted stream today. Allied authorities said they expected to bring 2,400 tons daily— enough to feed everyone.

The first convoy of 100 trucks entered the city last Friday before the formal enemy surrender, and since then hundreds more have arrived.

Planes brought in the most urgently-needed food and medical supplies.

The supplies are coming from a pool set up by the British, Americans and French, with supply lines manned by troops of the three nationalities.

Ration cards have been printed for all the citys 5,000,000 residents, and are being distributed through an organization already set up.

26 Persons Die In Plane Crash

LONDON, Aug. 28 —(CP) — Twenty-six persons were killed early to-day when a large air transport crashed into a house near the Trans-Atlantic Military Air Base at Prestwick, Scotland

The dead included seven of the plane crew, 14 passengers and five occupants of the house, which was demolished. Soldiers and civil defence workers labored through the darkness to recover bodies from the wreckage.

The plane was inbound from an Atlantic crossing. It was the second time within a week that a plane had crashed on a building. Last Wednesday 59 people were killed or died as a result of injuries when a United States bomber plunged on to the schoolhouse at Freckleton, in Lancashire.

German Army Holding Greece Is Cut Off

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 28 — (AP)—A Chiasso dispatch to the Gazette De Lausanne reported today that German forces in Greece —cut off from the Reich by developments in Romania and Bulgaria were preparing to abandon that country. The dispatch said small units of the German army were gathering and regrouping in an attempt to fight their way through Yugoslavia to Germany.

Canadians Drive On Rouen Between Paris and Le Havre

BY ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 28 — (CP) — Canadian infantry today pressed toward Rouen, biggest German-held city on the Seine between Paris and Le Havre, from two bridgeheads across the river 10 miles to the south, and cleaned up scattered enemy elements still concealed in the forests south of the Seine.

British, Netherlands and Belgian forces of the 1st Canadian Army hastened the liquidation of the last remaining enemy formations on the south side of the river, compressed on a narrowing pocket extending inland from the estuary to the vicinity of Rouen.

The battle for the Seine has been won and Allied forces now are poised for a drive across the river to clear the German 15th Army from the robot bomb and rocket gun northern French coast.

The 15th Army lacks a single fully armored division and it is estimated there are probably not more than 15 enemy divisions east of the Seine and north of Paris.

Expect A Stand

Masses of Allied armor and infantry are ready to go into action against the last remaining German force standing between them and the Rhine. The Germans are expected to attempt a stand along the Somme and Marne rivers but it is considered unlikely they can hold the Allies there for any length of time.

Canadian bridgeheads were established across the Seine during the week-end at Pont de la-Arche and near Elbeuf, seven miles west. Medium artillery is lined up south of the river for use in case of of enemy opposition, But so far the German rear-guard opposition has been light.

Storm boats took a considerable force of western Canada infantry across the river at Elbeuf, along with jeeps and anti-tank guns. Movement of men and material across the Seine will be accelerated once Royal Canadian engineers have laid bridges.

In their precipitate flight from Normandy, the retreating Germans left masses of equipment. The approaches to the Seine are strewn with the wreckage of enemy tanks, self-propelled vehicles, guns and cars. In the Domaniale Forest south of Pont de l'Arche they abandoned a huge supply dump.

It was officially announced Sunday that the 2nd Canadian armored brigade has participated in the fighting in Normandy almost continuously since D-Day. This announcement followed disclosure Saturday that the 4th armored division has been in action.

Robomb Crews Casualties High

LONDON, Aug. 28 —(CP)—Flying bomb attacks resumed against southern England, including the London area today after a lull of nearly 72 hours had been broken only by a brief barrage Sunday morning.

Meanwhile the London Evening Standard's Paris correspondent reported that so many German mechanics have been killed in working on flying bombs that the Germans are forcing foreign workers to handle them.

A French engineer who visited the bomb site said that large numbers of bombs exploded before taking off and that others crash after a shaky turn in the air, the Standard said.

So many bombs exploded before leaving the ground that German mechanics refused to continue work, as the average life of a man on a site was 10 days.

The week-end respite from the bombs had produced a growing feeling of optimism there. Fewer persons are taking to underground stations and other shelters at night but the government made no move to relax precautions.

The Daily Mail said the Russians had come across a place in Poland where the Germans have been testing super "V-2" rockets and had turned over the information to British experts.

"In certain circumstances it seems this additional secret weapon would be no more serious than V-1 (the flying bomb)," the Mail said.

Pope Appeals To Londoners

Urges Spirit Of Charity Toward Enemies

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(CP).—Pope Pius XII has appealed to the people of London to bear their trials with fortitude and with "Christian sentiments of forgiveness, charity and mercy, so that God may reward what the world will admire—an example of magnanimity inspired by the spirit of Christ's gospel."

The Pontiff's message was brought to London by Msgr. Bernard Griffin, Archbishop of Westminster, who recently returned from a visit to the Vatican and the Italian battlefront.

"You and yourselves, beloved children," the Pope said, "were not the least of our anxieties. For you, yes, you also, have had to pass through dark days in this most terrible of all wars, and those days are still with you.

"We have sympathized deeply with your affliction and when destruction and death were among you we prayed for you daily and hourly:

"Our lively hope and our confident conviction is that you will work toward realization of universal harmony in Christ while in word and act, through prayer and personal sacrifice and the shining example of a sincere Christian life, to help those millions of noble souls who are your separated brethren to return to the fold and so make your contribution toward the establishment on earth of the reign of Christ, the Prince of Peace."

Canadians Take Nazi Supplies

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS AT THE SEINE RIVER, Aug. 28 (CP Cable)—Destruction of the bulk of the German 7th Army and pursuit of its remnants to the banks of the Seine forced the enemy to abandon a great dump of stores and ammunition in the Domoniale Forest south of the river between Elbeuf and Pont de L'Arche, seven miles farther east.

Canadian infantry and armor swept the forest in the drive to the Seine Saturday. They found no Germans among the rows of pines but discovered big piles of shells, mortars, bombs and other ammunition and supplies of all kinds. The huge stacks of equipment included crates of uniforms and some winter clothing. The dump covered acres of ground under the trees.

The northern part of the forest was littered with the wreckage of horse-drawn vehicles which apparently came under aerial attack as they emerged from the cover of the trees and headed for a river crossing.

Believed Ordered To Kill De Gaulle

PARIS, Aug. 28—(AP). — French resistance leaders expressed belief today that German officers left behind for the very purpose were responsible for two attempts on the life of Gen. De Gaulle.

The first shot was fired at the leader of the French Committee of National Liberation Saturday while he was driving from a square crowded by thousands of Parisians before the Hotel de Ville (City Hall).

The General never knew at the time that he was fired upon in the square, where a near riot was caused, but he certainly knew of the second attempt, which burst at him as he was entering Notre Dame Cathedral to hear a prayer of thanks for deliverance of the city.

A ring of guards surrounded De Gaulle at the Cathedral, and they searched through the crowd for the would-be assassin.

Members of the skeleton government staff said they believed many Germans were left behind in France for the special purpose of killing De Gaulle and other members of the French government and leaders of the resistance movement.

The incidents took place during De Gaulle's triumphant tour of the city, which started from the Arc de Triomphe.

New Government Being Set Up Huns Bomb Paris

PARIS, Aug. 28 —(AP)—A new French government was being set up in liberated Paris today after a frenzied week-end in which Gen. Eisenhower was given a tumultous welcome, the Germans bombed the city, and Gen. De Gaulle escaped death or injury from snipers' bullets.

(The Paris radio in a broadcast heard in London said the city was quiet today and that two additional nests of enemy resistance had been mopped up.)

Nearly all of the directors of the French resistance movements, who will have prominent parts in the new government, were in the city. The Algiers government was enroute.

Quartus Cerat, head of all French resistance, was appointed minister-at-large under Gen. De Gaulle. Cerat's name, like some others in the resistance movement, is an assumed one.

Crowds jammed the Champs-Elysee yesterday and shouted themselves hoarse as Gen. Eisenhower and his British, French and American staffs made a ceremonial tour of the city that ended in the shadow of the Arce De Triomphe.

There the Supreme Allied general told cheering Parisians: "I have come here to pay the tribute of the Allied forces to the indomitable spirit of Paris."

All Notables

With him were Air Chief Marshal Tedder, deputy supreme commander, Lt.-Gen. Bradley, commander of the U.S. 12th Army group; Lt.-Gen. Koenig, commander of the French forces of the interior; Brig.-Gen. Leclerc, commander of the French 2nd Armored Division, and Maj.-Gen. Gerow, U.S. 5th Corps commander.

Gen. Eisenhower wanted Gen. Montgomery, Lt.-Gen. Patton and Gen. De Gaulle to participate in the parade, but duty prevented their appearance.

German planes had bombed Paris suburbs Saturday night, and early yesterday the skies were aglow from the light of fires. The death toll was placed at 110, with 719 persons injured.

When the raiders came over, people were still in the streets celebrating, despite the battle which broke out Saturday afternoon when rooftop snipers started firing during the victory parade for Gen. De Gaulle.

Thousands of Partisans were thrown into panic as the parade broke up in wild flurries of gunfire along the four-mile line of march.

Several spectators were killed and dozens were wounded as the shooting spread, a short time after Gen. De Gaulle had sped along the parade route at a 40-mile-an-hour clip.

French Patriots in the parade fired at roof tops from which French Fascist militia had sniped at them. Soon thousands of men of the French forces of the interior joined in the fighting, which extended rapidly throughout Paris.

Gen. De Gaulle's vcitory address was postponed.

and Finland.

Moscow is believed fully informed of the armistice terms forwarded to Sofia. The terms were not disclosed, but it was believed that, besides demanding unconditional surrender, they caled upon Bulgaria to give up all territories acquired in the war and turn over to the Allies all facilities needed against Germany. The latter presumably includes right of passage for Allied troops.

There seemed little possibility that either London or Washington would be satisfied with the position of "complete neutrality" Bulgaria seeks.

"Bulgaria, with its record of greed and guilt, cannot slide gently into neutrality," said the Times of London, and other papers expressed similar sentiments.

Reports from Moscow said the Germans were doing their best to keep weakening Hungary in line by rushing defence construction workers to her borders, the free Hungarian council in London urged Hungarians to overthrow the present government and turn against the Germans.

There also were reports indicating Finland might be taking steps to break with the Nazis. One unconfirmed dispatch from Stockholm said Juho Paasikivi, Finnish negotiator, was in Moscow seeking terms.

NAZI MASCOT—Little Nikolai Pankov, shown here, rejoins the ranks of the United Nations with his capture by British soldiers in the trap at Falaise, France. Son of a Russian army lieutenant, orphaned by his mother's death, he was adopted by a Russian neighbor. When the foster father was forced into the Nazi army he took young Nikolai along with him. For 14 months Niokalai, dressed in a small-sized German Grenadier uniform, accompanied German soldiers at the front.

speed left to outstep Gen. Patch's forward columns and they can find a way to keep Allied air power from slashing their communications too severely, their one chance of withdrawal appears to lie beyond Lyon through the flat country north of Geneva by way of Bescancon and Mulhouse. This would bring them out at the German border.

Mystery Force

But threatening even this route was the Allied force which made a spectacular 140-mile drive to Grenoble in the first few days of the invasion, the present whereabouts of which remains a secret, as far as Allied headquarters is concerned.

This force, commanded by Brig.-Gen. Frederick Butler of San Francisco, is known officially as "Butler's Task Force."

While strong forces of bombers assaulted the heavily-manned enemy coastal batteries on the fortified island of Ratonneau, which lies west of Marseille, French infantry reported they had all but eliminated Nazi resistance in the great Maritime port. All opposition was confined exclusively to the harbor area as an assault by French troops drove the Germans to the waterfront, from which they shelled the city at intervals.

The line was held by a force estimated at 2,000 to 3,000 men, whose isolated position doomed them to eventual defeat.

Reports from Switzerland received in London said American columns were rolling along the Swiss border from Perly, three miles south of Geneva, and were within 170 miles of the invading armies in Northern France and Troyes.

Vichy Liberated

(An Algiers broadcast said French forces of the interior had liberated Vichy, French collaborationist capital, but gave no details.)

Resistance collapsed inside the city and port of Toulon during the week-end, but use of major French naval base was denied the Allies by enemy units retreating to a peninsula dominating the harbor.

An indication of weakening enemy resistance was seen in the surrender of 1,000 Germans north of Grenoble. Headquarters said the Nazis threw down their arms when their commander ordered them to attack.

The total of prisoners taken in Southern France rose to 23,000.

On the eastern flank of the bridgehead Allied forces have reacher the Var River and have spread out along its banks. The Var's mouth is four miles from the prewar Riviera resort of Nice.

Final Arrangements Completed For Dance

HAVELOCK, Aug. 28 —(ENS) — At a meeting of the Civilian Committee and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the 149th Squadron Air Cadets, the various committees appointed in connection with the forthcoming street dance on Wednesday, sponsored by the squadron, reported that everything had been arranged for the event.

Padang Port Heavily Bombed

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Aug. 28 — (AP) — Allied carrierborne aircraft, with heavy support of the far-ranging Eastern Fleet, have smashed again at Japan's industrial installations near Padang on the west coast of the island of Sumatra in the Netherlands East Indies.

This fourth blow against the island's installations since it was taken over by the Japanese in March, 1942, was carried out in the early hours of Thursday. The attack appeared to fit into the pattern of expanded activity in the Pacific as the Allies in Europe bring Japan's Axis partner to her knees.

Chief target was the great cement manufacturing plant at Indaroeng, near Padang, which supplies the Japanese with material for fortifications in much of the occupied area. Large numbers of heavy bombs were dropped on the plant and flames and smoke rose from 800 to 1,000 feet.

The planes also plastered Padang's port of Emmahaven and the airfield of Padang itself. Padang is the chief cit; on the western coast of the island.

At Emmahaven a merchant vessel of about 3,500 tons was hit four times and a smaller vessel of about 2,500 tons was hit twice. Both ships were left burning fiercely. Wharves, warehouses, a coaling jetty and a rail yard were hit many times and were heavily damaged, the communique said. Harbor installations were strafed by fighters.

Once again complete surprise was achieved by the attacking force under the command of Rear Admiral Clement Moody.

Only moderate anti-aircraft fire was met. One of the attacking planes was shot down. The communique said a few enemy aircraft were in the air at the time of the attack, but no serious attempt was made to interfere with the Allied planes and no attempt was made by the enemy to intercept the escorting surface forces, either during or after the operation.

army stemmed the German tide.

The town is 24 miles southwest of Chateu-Theirry where Americon troops in the second battle of the Marne held the Germans during June and July, 1918, and took part in the counter-offensive launched on July 18.

The whole Allied attack to-day was swinging north on or across the Seine river along almost the whole 200 miles from its source to the sea.

Between Paris and the English Channel, American, British and Canadian armies deepened four bridgeheads over Seine and have doomed Rouen, where Joan of Arc was tried and burned. Rouen, 13th city of France with 122,800 population, now is the centre of German resistance such as it is.

Le Havre Doomed.

The Allies also virtually doomed the great port of Le Havre and have opened the way into the Germans flying bomb belt in the Pas De Calais farther north.

The American bridgehead was at Mantes, the British at Vernon and the Canadians had two between Elbeuf and Pont De L'Arche.

U. S. 3rd Army infantry was streaming into the great tank-won bulge between the Seine and the Marne forming a consolidated front 85 miles or more almost due east of Paris in a great half-wheel around the still exuberant and now almost cleared French capital

On the extreme right flank of the American advance, a column thrust 12 miles northward from Troyes toward Areis Sur Aube, reaching a point 118 miles from the German border in the Saar. The Nazis put up a stiffened resistance, possibly indicating they were beginning to react to the American threat to their retreat routes.

The Germans already were reported evacuating Le Havre, except for a few rear-guards and demolition troops and were said to be streak east toward Germany under pulverizing aerial attacks.

These three activities were being conducted by the Allies between Paris and the sea:

1. The British were building up a bridgehead at Vernon, 55 airline miles from the mouth of the Seine, to strike out probably in the direction of Beauvais. Beauvais is 35 miles northeast of Vernon.

Hold at Nantes

2. Canadian, Belgian and Dutch troops were engaged in what one observer called a "fair sized slaughter" of the enemy 7th Army. Canadian troops were locked with German rear-guards at the southwestern approaches to Rouen. A few miles to the east the Canadians thrust two more bridgeheads across the Seine between Elbeuf and Pont de L'Arche, and were in position to come up on Rouen from the rear.

3. American troops were clearing out German stragglers in the 30-mile-wide area between Mantes and Paris. The American bridgehead at Mantes was holding firm.

After breaking German resistance at Melun, 25 miles southeast of Paris, American armor lunged out 28 miles to the east and reached Provins, going through Pecy and Nangis on the way.

With the column at Lagny, these troops formed almost a quarter circle around Chateau - Theirry. Lagny is 34 miles southwest of that Frist Great War Battlefield, and Provins is 33 miles south. Pecy, between Lagny and Provins, is only 31 miles from Chateu-Theirry.

The capture of Nogent, 37 miles east of Fontainebleau, was announced.

At the tip of the Breton peninsula, far behind the main battleline, Allied ground troops were making slow but steady progress in the battle to reduce the port of Brest.

CLASS ON WHEELS — Topped out like a French mayor this French-Canadian soldier cycles along a road near Sassy in France. The high silk hat and bike were left behind by the retreating Germans.

Early today air activity over northern France was restricted by rain and solid cloud banks. Planes based on England and France flew about 5,000 sorties yesterday, 3,500 by tactical units helping the infantry and armor round up and annihilate battered German Divisions. They unloaded thousands of fragmentation and high evplosive bombs on Germans, vehicles and barges concentrated near Rouen.

The day's score included destruction or damage to 191 locomotives, 1,100 railroad cars, 700 motor vehicles, 39 barges and 44 field guns.

British and American heavy bombers kept up their two-directional bombing of military objectives in Germany. Oil plants were battered.

In all operations from the west yesterday, Allied fliers destroyed 18 German planes aloft and 22 aground. Twenty Allied planes were lost.

Obituary

RICHARD EDWARD ORDE.

KEENE, Aug. 28.—(ENS). — A life-long resident of Peterborough and Otonabee, Richard Edward Orde died Sunday at the home of his son, Everett Orde, Otonabee, after a lengthy illness. He was in his 79th year.

Born in Peterborough, the son of the late Robert Orde and Fanny Toper, he worked as a laborer in Otonabee. He is survived by two sons, Pte. Robert Orde, overseas, Everett, of Otonabee, and by one daughter, Mrs. M. Nurse, of London, Ontario. Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. W. Wheeler, Peterborough, Mrs. Walter Hancock, Peterborough, Mrs. F. Battersby, Lindsay, and Mrs. John Edwards, of Otonabee.

He is also survived by two brothers, Henry and Leonard, both of Peterborough.

The funeral will be Tuesday, August 29, from the home of Everett Orde, to Zion cemetery, at 2.30. Rev. E. C. Moore will be in charge of the service.

HERBERT BIGELOW

BETHANY, Aug. 28 (ENS) — The sudden passing of a life long resident, Mr. Herbert Bigelow, farmer at the home of Mr. Isaiah Skong west of the village, came as a shock to Bethany residents recently. Mr. Bigelow while not in the best of health for some years, due to heart trouble was a familiar figure.

He is survived by his wife nee Edna Howden of Omemee, two daughters, Mrs. Hancock, Peterborough (Evelyn) and Phyllis also of Peterborough and one son, Morgan, at home, one brother George Bigelow and two sisters, Mrs. Everett of Sask. and Mrs. Thos. Rowan, Bethany.

Interment was made Saturday in the family plot United Church cemetery at 2.30 o'clock. Rev. M. Henderson officiating.

BARTHOLOMEW SULLIVAN.

The death occurred Saturday afternoon of Bartholomew (Bart) Sullivan, who for the past seventeen years has been a resident of the city. He was born in Ennismore eighty years ago, a son of the late Bartholomew Sullivan and his wife Margaret Moore. Soon after his marriage to Margaret Hawkey, who predeceased him many years ago he went to reside in Minneapolis, where he remained until his return to Canada when he took up residence in the city.

He leaves to mourn his loss one sister, Mrs. John Esper, Utica, Michigan, and two brothers, Michael Sullivan of Ennismore and John Sullivan of North Dakota.

Possessed of a kindly disposition Mr. Sullivan had made a host of friends throughout the country as well as the city, who will regret to hear of his sudden passing.

The funeral was held this morning from the parlors of the House of Providence to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, where Requem Mass was offered by Rev. J. A. Grennan. Interment was in St. Martin's cemetery, Ennismore. Rev. V. J. Gillogly conducted the services at the graveside.

Pallbearers were Timothy Crough, Daniel Hickson, Robert Begley, Ambrose Crough, Henry Guerin, Frank O'Connor.

Corrigan Team Trophy Winners

MARMORA, Aug. 28—(ENS)—M. J. Corrigan's team are the Deloro Bowling Club champions for 1944 through defeating F. Leal's team in the finals this past week. The six rival teams finished up the ten-game regular season as follows:

	Won	Lost
F. Leal	8	2
M. J. Corrigan	7	3
C. H. Buskard	4	6
J. H. Hemphill	4	6
W. A. Sanderson	4	6
H. A. Burwash	3	7

Since only four teams could qualify for the playoff series an elimination series had to be played between the three teams tied for third place. Sanderson being eliminated in this series, Buskard and Hemphill were left to join Corrigan and Leal in the final playoff series. In the semi-finals Corrigan eliminated Buskard and Leal did the same to Hemphill. The final games between Corrigan and Leal sohwed a good exhibition of bowling in the first game with the standard slightly down in the second. The first game went to the Corrigan team with the score of 20-14 with the bowling of Corrigan, Brown and Leal standing out. This margin of six points proved sufficient to give Corrigan the championship although Leal won the second game by the score of 18-16 and came within four points of tying the total score round. P. Fletcher, F. R. Wells and M. J. Corrigan supplied the bowling features in this game with Corrigan again being the individual stand out.

Each member of the winning team W. Hilton, F. R. Wells, W. Brown and M. J. Corrigan was presented with a miniature silver trophy.

American Team To Meet London

WICHITA, Kans., Aug. 28 (AP)— A Canadian-American international baseball playoff series will be staged at London, Ont., starting Sept. 18, President Ray Dumont of the National Baseball Congress announced today.

The series, to be decided within seven games, will bring together the Canadian semi-pro champions, London, and the winners of the current United States title tournament.

Staged for the first time this year the series will be an annual event, Dumont said, in the non-professional global program of the National Baseball Congress.

Lloyd Douglas of Toronto, Canadian commissioner of baseball, has been named director of the playoff.

June No Longer Chief Month For Weddings

War has brought many changes into the social life of the country and one of the greatest of these is that the supremacy of June as the month for brides has been seriously threatened. Now the months of July and September equal and sometimes surpass the total number of weddings which take place in June.

The month of June, traditionally the most popular month for brides, is gradually losing the lead which it has enjoyed over a long period of time. At the threshold of summer, June gives a delightful promise of the things to come and is somehow symbolic of the young bride on the threshold of a new life and experiences.

The figures for the past two years are an indication of the trend of the times. Engagement announcements for May, 1943 and 1944, with weddings to take place in June were 35 and 33 respectively; in June, 1943 and 1944, with most weddings to take place in July, 36 and 44; up to August 26 in 1943 and 1944, with most weddings in September, there were 38 and 32.

There seems to be no particular reasons for this change, although it might be due in some small part to the fact that many servicemen may get furloughs earlier in the spring and during the fall, instead of the beginning of the summer. Glamor weddings are becoming more a thing of the past, and instead of having the bigger weddings seen more often in June, girls are arranging, in many cases, for quiet ceremonies. Since they are being married without all the trimmings, some brides are not particular about choosing June. Some girls want to have their honeymoon in summer weather so they can go to resorts and so choose July; and in still other cases, where servicemen get an unexpected furlough before going to far parts of Canada or overseas, they get married when they have the opportunity.

During the past week, two nights' engagement announcements totalled nine, and three and four announcements at a time have been appearing in August issues. But to most bride-elects, who are very much in love, the month is unimportant, it is marrying the man of their choice which counts.

Tomatoes And Apples Appear In Quantities

Tomatoes still held the spotlight at the farmers' market Saturday morning, and sold generally at 25 cents a 6-quart basket, and 40 cents an 11-quart basket. Muskmellons also were on display in quantity, and prices for them ranged from 6 to 25 cents, to 20 cents each, depending on size and type.

Cucumbers were bowing out at 25 cents to 75 cents a 66-quart basket, with the price variation due to shape, size and quality. Onions were dealt with at 50 cents a 6-quart basket, carrots went for 5 cents a bunch, or 35 cents for a 6-quart basket, and a basket of beets went at the same price level. Potatoes held firm at 40 cents a peck, or 25 cents a 6-quart basket, and corn ranged from 25 cents to 30 cents a dozen.

Sweet potato squash sold for 15 cents for 2; Hubbard squash brought 25 cents each. Cabbage vanished at 10 cents a large head, and peppers sold 2 for 5 cents.

Chickens ran the price range from 32 cents to 35 cents a pound, while tender roasted fowl was on sale for 50 cents a pound. Eggs held firm at 40 cents a dozen.

Apples began to appear in quantities on the shelves Saturday, with Duchess selling at 60 cents a peck; Melbas at 70 cents a peck, and Yellow Harvests going at 45 cents a 6-quart basket. Crab apples went for 35 cents a 6 quart basket.

Mining News

TORONTO, Aug. 28.— (CP). — Gains were boarded by golds and dustrial issues to-day on the Toronto exchange. Base metals and junior oils weakened narrowly. Turnover was small at 262,000 shares.

Better prices were posted by O'Brien, Malartic Gold Fields, Cochenour Willans, Kerr-Addison, Pickle Crow, Aumaque, Aubelle and some others, while Dome, Preston, Lake Dufault and West Oalarctic were softer.

The papers, steels, utilities and food issues were stronger industrials. Abitibi Pfd was active and higher by a half-point or more.

Hertzberg Will Give Up Post

OTTAWA, Aug. 28—(CP).—Maj.-Gen. H. F. M. Hertzberg of Toronto, commandant of Royal Military College, Kingston, will relinquish his post September 3 when he reaches his 60th birthday, defence headquarters announced last night. He first will proceed on leave, pending retirement from the Army.

Gen. Hertzberg, appointed commandant of R.M.C. July 8, 1940, will be succeeded by Brig. D. G. Cunningham, Kingston, who was awarded the Distinguished Service Order for devotion to duty and coolness under fire during the raid on Dieppe in 1942.

Gen. Hertzberg is a member of a family distinguished in Canadian military and engineering circles. His brother, the late Maj.-Gen. C. S. L. Hertsberg, died on active service in India about a year ago. Both had seen extensive service in the First Great War and held senior appointments in the present war.

Gen. Hertzberg began his military career in January, 1905, when gazetted a Lieutenant in the Canadian Militia. He served throughout the last war with the Engineers, being awarded the Military Cross and the Distinguished Service Order. He was made a Commander of St. Michael and St. George.

He commanded the 1st Canadian Divisional Engineers, and from June, 1918, until March, 1919, commanded the 3rd Engineer Brigade. He became a Colonel in July, 1918; Brigadier in January, 1934, and Major-General in December, 1938.

Gen. Hertzberg was Quartermaster-General of the Canadian Army when war started. From April, 1940, until proceeding to R.M.C. as Commandant, he was acting Adjutant-General. He is the father of three children, two daughters, and a son, Capt. P. A. Hertzberg, Royal Canadian Engineers, overseas.

Brig. Cunningham is a well known Barrister and Alderman at Kingston and is a graduate of the college of which he will assume command.

He went overseas as a Liaison Officer of a Canadian division in 1940 and attended the first Canadian Junior War Staff Course in England. He subsequently was appointed Staff Captain at the headquarters of an infantry brigade.

In July, 1941, he was promoted Major and appointed Brigadier-Major. His brigade took part in the raid on Dieppe and shortly after he was promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel and posted to the command of an infantry regiment.

Early in 1943 he was appointed General Staff Officer, grade one, at a Canadian Corps headquarters, and in December, 1943, was promoted Brigadier and appointed to the command of an Infantry brigade.

Women Joining Maquis To Kill Germans

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHERN FRANCE, Aug. 28 —(AP) — High up here in the Lower Alps more than 150 miles inland from the Riviera coastline lies the heart of the Marquis country— the sector where French Forces of the Interior have been making life both miserable and short for Germans with their own guns, ammunition, food and supplies.

After spending a few days with these fantastic fighting men and women I found their use of enemy equipment to fight the enemy only one of a million of their seemingly miraculous achievements

Each, of course, has a practical explanation. For instance, some of the enemy weapons they captured themselves, but mostly they are guns the Allies took from the defeated Germans and Italians at the climax of the Tunisian campaign more than a year ago. These weapons had been repaired in North Africa. Then daring airmen parachuted them down along with what ammunition had been captured in Tunisia.

Then the Maquis went hunting for more ammunition, killing more Germans in order to get it. In addition to these guns, both Britons and Americans have been parachuting their own make of weapons down to the Fighting French from North Africa and England.

These forest-wide folk, who have been writing Robinhood-like legend in the French highlands have learned in nearly four years of being forced to fight like skulkers in their own country how to achieve the impossible almost daily.

When British, American and French training teams parachuted down into these wooded wilds to help organize them, the Maquis acted so swiftly hardly a single Allied agent was captured by the Germans. When they needed more ammunition, volunteers stormed German garrisons, although sometimes outnumbered a hundred to one, and captured it.

Through bitterly cold winters they huddled in caves, huts and in the hills, often unable for weeks at a time to get enough food. The women bore hardships the same as the men.

They are fighting fools. I have seen them leap barricades during hot street fighting and race straight into intense small-arms fire from German-held buildings. I saw a Maquis girl armed only with a pistol lead an assault on a German machine gun position.

Decorate Police Court

COBOURG, Aug. 28 — (ENS). — The police court-room has been further modernized by the addition of several new chairs for use of police and barristers attending court. A new paint job and new linoleum were applied to the court-room some time ago and the acquisition of the new chairs to replace the antique and rickety ones formerly in use, has improved the court-room.

3 Major Drives Can Doom Hitler's Empire

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The great military trap continues to close with accelerated speed about the desperate Germans, crushing in toward the doomed Reich both from the freshly erupting Russian front and from the speeding armored columns of the United Nations in the West.

The only question that remains is how long the already-beaten Nazis can stand off utter collapse. The Allies are rushing in an effort to turn the trick before the bad weather of late autumn arrives to impede offensives.

There are three major Allied operations which are especially worth watching. These are the great northward turning movement growing out of the battle of the Seine and Paris, the sensational Russian drive into Romania, and the fresh assault against the Vistula line north of Warsaw by the Red Army.

Allied Supreme Headquarters confirm that American troops east of Paris have swung northward and reached the Marne River—famous battlefield of two great wars. This means the Western allies are well set to carry out a flanking movement against the Germans north of the Seine River and along the coast of the English Channel.

The Hitlerites must begin their great withdrawal northward toward Belgium and their own frontier quickly or face disaster for the already greatly weakened forces of their 15th Army which is holding along the line of the Seine and guarding the Channel coast opposite England. As a matter of fact, disaster hangs over them anyway, for in their retreat they cannot escape the eagle eye of the vast Allied airfleet which will chop them to pieces by scores of thousands as they flee. Their chances of carrying out a successful rearguard action to protect their retirement are growing more slim daily as the Allied position improves.

The situation in the Eastern theatre presents momentous possibilities. The terrific red drive into Romania has already smashed the defences of the famous Galati Gap which is the gateway into the rolling plains of the Danube Basin. When the Muscovites broke through that gap they breached the whole Balkan keg and made it impossible for the Germans to hold this great peninsula.

Equally important is word that the Russians again are smashing at the Vistula front north of Warsaw with the idea of flanking the Polish capital. This city is the anchor of this powerful defensive line to which the Nazis are clinging for dear life, when that Vistula line cracks, the Germans will have nothing to shield them from the Red storm.

GOLD IN SEPTEMBER

September is the historic month when gold stocks start their upward surge and move into new high ground. Holidays are over. Fall and winter plans for drilling and development campaigns are announced.

September, 1944, gives promise of breaking records. The mining market is now technically ready to spring into new high ground. More important, this September may witness the end of the European phase of the War and can easily spark a gold mining market of tremendous importance.

We have prepared a survey, "Gold in September," covering 6 gold mining stocks—two producers, two which have indicated ore for post-war production and two prospects with striking possibilities.

BATTLE DEVELOPMENTS IN FRANCE—Spetcacular developments continue in the battle for France as (1) the lunge from the Riviera invasion coast reached the Swiss border near Geneva and began to move northward for a junction with the forces pushing below Paris. Dijon is expected to be the approximate meeting point. The drive already has practically cut off the southwestern section of France. To protect the north and eastern areas (2) the enemy is expected to make a stand along the line indicated on the map. Bordeaux (3), fourth largest city in France, is reported liberated.

Regina Sailors Do Heroic Work After Explosion Sinks Ship

BRITISH PORT, August 28. — Grimy with grease and exhausted from their grim ordeal, 64 Canadian sailors, survivors of H.M.C.S. Regina told on their arrival here how their Canadian corvette was sent to the bottom by an explosion while going to the aid of a disabled merchantman.

The sinking, in which two have been reported dead and 27 missing, took place while Regina was escorting a convoy. She sank in 28 seconds.

Under command of Lieut. Jack Radford, R.C.N.R., of Sydney, N. S., the Canadian corvette had played an important part in the invasion and its sinking brought to a close one of the most colorful careers of any R.C.N. ship. She won fame in spring of 1943 when she sank an Italian submarine in the Mediterranean, capturing more than 20 prisoners.

Regina had ordered an LCT to remove the crew from the merchantman while Regina stood by to screen the operation. "Everything was going fine," Radford said, "when whang. There was a terrific explosion and everything went. Our ship just seemed to disintegrate. Torrents of water and oil swamped the bridge. She listed to port and I climbed on to the rail. I didn't know where I was going. I just closed my eyes and jumped. I swam for about 20 minutes towards a danboy where seven others were clinging, and later we made our way to a carley float andwere picked up by the LCT."

Depth Charges Fixed.

Only the foresight of the commanding officer prevented serious injury or death to the men in the water when he had all the depth charges set to "safe' before going to the aid of the merchantman. Not one charge exploded under the water. And the casualty list would have been much greater had not a number of the ratings off watch came up on deck to see the merchantman. The men reported missing were those trapped below deck.

Radford praised the ship's medical officer, Surg. Lieut. Grant Gould, R.C.N.V.R., of Toronto, for the zeal and attention he gave the injured survivors on board the rescue ship. Suffering two fractured ribs himself Gould attended to all the men and was forced to amputate one man's leg below the knee using only a butcher knife, sterilized in the galley. The operation was performed on the open deck of the LCT by torchlight and medical authorities said later the operation was an amazing success.

Saved Many Lives.

Everyone praised the work of the two ratings, Able Seaman Albert Faulkner of Kenora, Ontario, and Robert Hogg of Winnipeg, who swam after and recovered two empty carley floats and brought them back to the little circle of survivors and in doing so saved many lives of the men too exhausted to cling to pieces of wood any longer. Faulkner got away from the ship after being sucked down before he could release his foot, caught in a depth charge rail, and Hogg was blown into the air by the force of the explosion and landed at the stern of the ship.

The ship's first lieutenant, Lieut. James R. Wood, R. C. N. V. R., of St. John's, Nfld., was off watch and having a smoke on deck when the explosion "blew the ship from under me." The next thing he know he was six feet under water. He was going down the third time when he grabbed the end of the pom-pom barrel, then got hold of a smoke float and "then felt much better when I got myself a plank to hang onto."

"It was pretty tense for a while," Wood said. "The ship's bow was straight up in the air and for a few moments I was sure it was going to opple right over on top of us. But it sank straight down."

The veteran officer aboard Regina Lieut. Rodderck Thomas, R. C. N. V. R., of Longueuil, Chambly, Que., and Regina, was on the bridge having a "bit of food" when the ship blew up.

"I was just reaching for a sandwich when there was a bang and a flash and was thrown against some thing on the bridge," Thomas said. "The ship began to sink fast. I got my feet tangled in some wire and although I managed to get free the suction of the ship pulled me down with it. When I broke loose and made the surface I just swam like hell to a plank of wood and then worked myself towards one of the carley floats.

Vague on Experiences.

Reginas Coxswain, Chief Petty Officer Jack Winn, of Halifax, was the most confused of all the survivors. Things happened so fast, he said, he doesnt really know what happened to him.

"I was on deck watching the merchant ship, Winn said. "I didn't know or hear anything until I found myself in the air. I landed back on the quarterdeck and was again thrown into the air. I don't know how or why. The second time I landed clear of the ship. By this time it was standing straight up and down with the bow well out of the water. I then made my way to a plank and just hung on."

Veterans At Cobourg

COBOURG, Aug. 28 — (ENS). — About 350 veterans and their families visited Cobourg on Saturday, arriving from Rochester on the local car ferry. They were met at the boat by Cobourg Legion and the band and paraded to the park, where the wife of one of the Rochester war veterans placed a wreath on the Cenotaph. Later they were entertained by the Legion and escorted back to the boat.

ROMANIANS MARCH ON HUNGARY—Swiftly following the news that Romania had joined the Allies is the report from London that Romanian troops are marching on Hungary. Bulgaria has asked for peace, while the Russians pushed into the heart of the oil and wheat belt around Galati and Ploesti with the possibility that large Nazi units in the Balkans might soon be trapped.

Drew Overseas To Tour Army Hospitals

TORONTO, Aug. 28— (CP). — Premier Drew of Ontario is in England to "make arrangements in connection with the rehabilitation and hospitalization of the members of the armed forces from Ontario." Acting Premier Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, said in a statement issued at the week-end in connection with the Premier's arrival in London Saturday.

"Very considerable difficulty has been experienced in carrying out the rehabilitation program and it was considered essential that arrangements be made in England so that all wounded or other members of the armed forces coming back to this province would have adequate information as to the rehabilitation opportunities open to them," said the statement.

"Arrangements are also to be made for closer contact with hospital cases. The Ontario government intends to take whatever steps are necessary to assure assistance and proper convalescent treatment for all those returning to Ontario."

In London Saturday the Premier said his overseas visit would last about two weeks and that he planted a tour of Canadian army hospitals in England.

In addition to making arrangements to taking care of cases in which Ontario has direct interest, the Premier also will hold conferences with British officials on Ontario trade affairs.

Sailor Reported RCNVR Casualty

COBOURG, Aug. 28 — (ENS). — Word has been received here that Able Seaman Gerald Gallagher, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. Gallagher of Cobourg, is missing. Thirty years of age, he was born and educated in Cobourg. Prior to the war he sailed on the upper lakes in the summer and worked in the foundry in Cobourg during the winter. He enlisted in 1940 with the R.C.N.V.R.

He has a brother, Charles, who is also in the Navy, and a sister, Katherine, in Detroit; a stepmother, Mrs. William Gallagher; a stepsister, Betty, and three stepbrothers, Ernest and William, at home, and Clarence overseas.

Cobourg Flier Sgt. G. Sherwin Missing Overseas

COBOURG, Aug. 28 — (ENS) — Flight Sergeant Gordon Sherwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sherwin of Ball street, Cobourg, has been reported missing after air operations over enemy territory. Twenty years of age he is the veteran of over 30 bombing raids and in his last letter to his parents he informed them that he had been on raid with medium Mitchell bombers.

He was born in Hamilton and came with his parents to Cobourg about five years ago. Graduating from Cobourg Collegiate Institute in 1942 he immediately joined the R.C.A.F. After receiving his wings at Chatham, N.B. he was stationed for a short time at Pennfield, N.B. and went overseas in November of last year. Besides his parents he has a brother Bob, and two sisters, Alice and Margaret at home.

Strongly antiseptic and medicinal Dr. Chase's Ointment clings to the diseased skin, destroys germs, soothes and heals. A favorite at golf clubs, etc.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

1 Clean Your Furnace

Have your furnace thoroughly cleaned before lighting the fire. Scale should be removed from inside surfaces. Chimney and smoke pipes also should be cleaned. When burning Soft Coal, furnace should be cleaned every week. A soot deposit ⅛" results in a one-third waste.

2 Keep Your Furnace in Good Condition

Badly fitting doors and cracks allow air to enter where it is not wanted and either burn your fuel too fast or cool off the heating surfaces. Refit the doors, cleanouts and dampers, and fill cracks with furnace cement.

3 Use Your Fireplace in Spring and Fall

Use your fireplace, if you have one, instead of lighting your furnace during Spring and Fall. It will take the chill off the house and shorten your furnace heating season. Close damper when fireplace is not in use.

4 Caulk Window and Door Frames

Many hardware stores rent caulking guns. For small cost you can save fuel by caulking the space between the brickwork and the window or door frames.

5 Use Storm Windows

By employing storm windows you can save much of your fuel. To be effective they should fit snugly. Put them up early.

6 Weatherstrip Doors and Windows

If your windows open too easily, use weatherstripping. Paper, rags, or cheap cotton batting can be used if regular weatherstripping is not available.

7 Seal Chimney Leaks

Seal all heat leaks in the heating system and the smoke pipe connection with the chimney. A little stove cement will do the trick.

8 Repair Insulation

Insulation on hot water and steam pipes and boiler should be repaired to prevent heat loss in basement.

9 Take Care of Hot Water Tank

An insulating jacket on your hot water tank will save heat. At frequent intervals drain off any accumulation of sludge through the tap provided.

10 Don't Let Taps Leak

Replace washers on taps when they leak. Use hot water sparingly.

For 23 other—and equally valuable—ways in which to save fuel—save yourself money that previously you may have wasted without realizing it, ask your fuel dealer for the FREE BOOKLET, issued by this Department—"33 Ways to Save 1 Ton in 5."

Returning To School

As the day for the re-opening of school rapidly approaches many children, who have been working during the summer and have possibly received a remuneration which greatly exceeds anything they would get in normal times, will be urging their mothers and fathers to allow them to continue at jobs. The number of children in recent years who have been passing their entrance at midsummer and then failing to enter a secondary school in September has been large. This has been due to the number of jobs available and the scarcity of help. Often the greed of parents to have their children at work and bringing into the home some revenue has decided the issue.

Before consenting to their children, if they are over 16, remaining out of school we would urge all parents to give the question serious consideration.

A general slackening in industry may be expected before another year rolls around and some industries are now laying off inexperienced help. Hence the chance of having a boy or girl on your hands with no trade is considerable. On the other hand, we feel a grave injustice is being done to the boy and girl by allowing him to quit school. It is unfair to the boy or the girl and it is also unfair to society in general. Thousands of dollars are spent annually in providing a secondary education in Peterborough. The staff of teachers is best to be obtained and the school the most modern.

Children entering the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School do not have to select the course they intend to take during the first year. The first year's course is a general one, and following that they elect whether they wish to take the commercial, household arts, industrial arts or academic courses.

To aid them in this selection the Board of Education has added to the staff a teacher qualified to advise and direct them.

To the boy and girl who quit school in past two or three years in order to enter industry and who intends to return we believe there is no better time than the present to go back. A year from now, they naturally will be one year older, and the desire to return that much weaker. Schools after the war are expected to be crowded and with much keener competition in business and in industry the earlier they complete their courses the better for them.

Department regulation insist that all children under sixteen years of age attend school and permits can only be granted to children should their help be needed in the home or the home requires their financial assistance.

Born At Solferino

Representatives of 26 governments meeting in conference in Geneva 80 years ago this month adopted the Geneva Convention, which provided the international principles for the care of those wounded in war, and established the International Red Cross Society. The emblem of this society was to be a white flag bearing a red cross. This actually is the Swiss flag with the colors reversed.

The convention was drawn up as a result of several years of effort by Henry Dunant, who had been shocked by the horrible sights he had seen following the battle of Solferino in Northern Italy, when the armies of France and Austria met. Dunant had spent several days on the battlefield doing all he could for the wounded who had been left to perish.

He then visited the European governments and organized the gathering at Geneva, which saw the forming of the Red Cross. It is 86 years since those men who fought at Solferino were helped by Dunant. Warfare and its destruction of that day cannot be compared to the terrible destruction of modern warfare; but something else has made strides and these in a much more humane direction. The wounded man 86 years ago had little chance of recovery; today most of the wounded recover, for the progress of medical and surgical science has been brought to the battlefield supported by the work of this great organization of mercy the Red Cross.

Every Canadian has an opportunity to help the Red Cross in the work it is doing. In Peterborough a great decline has been noted in those offering blood at the blood donors' clinic. Possibly this is due to the hot weather and so many away on holidays; but now that September is about here and with increased tempo of fighting in France, greater quantities of plasma are needed.

We urge those who have not yet given blood donations to think the question over and make an appointment. For this most modern and most precious of the Red Cross services can be only as prompt and as wide as the personal generosity of the public will permit.

A Coal Famine

The present situation with regards to coal for next winter in Ontario is far from being the best, so when Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Supply, warns householders to get their orders placed and take what they can get, he really means just what he says.

This shortage is due to several reasons. The anthracite supplies in Canada are much lower than they have been for several years. No Welsh coal is being imported to Ontario and the anthracite importation from the United States is still subject to restrictions.

Last year householders co-operated and placed their orders early; this year the opposite in many centres has been the case, although in Peterborough many of the coal dealers have been pretty busy all summer booking orders. If people think, that because they got through last winter so satisfactorily, they naturally can do the same this coming winter, they may be in for a very rude awakening. It may be true, for we are not weathermen and cannot tell what kind of a winter it will be, but if disappointment comes, it will not be the government's or the coal dealers' fault.

Banner Tourist Year

More than 11,000 tourists have applied to the Peterborough Ration Board for temporary ration booklets since the first of June. Many of the regional boards have still to report indicating that 1944 have been a banner tourist year in this great vacation land. Tourist officials estimate that over 50 per cent. more visitors came to the Peterborough district this year than last and summer resort owners have reported capacity houses for weeks. Summer cottages throughout the whole season have been at a premium in the district.

All this goes to indicate that now is the time to make plans for the tourist industry after the war. Our competition will then be much keener as our visitors will have plenty of gasoline and good tires to travel greater distances. Summer resort owners would be well advised to lay plans now. The tourist of 1945 when he goes on his summer vacation does not want to live like he did in 1920. He demands more comforts, more pleasures for his family and above all a better service. This we are going to have to provide if we desire to continue to get that increase in tourist trade after the war.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

TEMPERATURES in isolated places in the West dropped as low as 28 degrees. Where that happens, you may be sure there will be some feed wheat harvested. On the whole, the Western crop still promises to give a good yield, for which the whole world will be very thankful.

◇ ◇ ◇

NOVA SCOTIA has shown marked increase in hog production and the quality is quite good. In the month of April last year, there were only 632 bacon hogs marketed in Nova Scotia while in April of this year the number increased to 3,415, which is about five and one-half times as many. An increase of 550 per cent is making a substantial advance. Of these increased marketings, almost 85 per cent were graded A and B. It will be interesting to watch how production continues. The winters in the Maritimes are a little unfavorable for farrowing.

◇ ◇ ◇

AT a sheep shearing competition in England, a champion shearer, Dan Munday, from Australia, established a record by clipping a sheep, in first class style, in 2½ minutes. Pretty smart work.

◇ ◇ ◇

AS fields get stripped of grain, farmers find as usual that there is very little let up to their business. It is a good plan to turn cattle and sheep into a newly cleared field, which has not been seeded to grass. The beast will roam around a good deal. Some old fence-viewer of a cow will look for a place to get out but cattle have a good deal of curiosity and so like to survey a new field on the farm. There will be a little feed, and if you have sheep a few weeds will be picked up. Don't leave them in too long as this is no time for cattle to drop in flesh, nor cows to drop in milk. The sheep can take a little more of it. Then get a double disc or skimmer and turn the soil lightly to bury weed seeds so they may sprout, and if they are annuals you have a chance to kill them. Turning these beasts into a field is also a proof of the condition of the fences, for if there is a weak spot, they will find it and you can repair it.

JUST how quickly agricultural production can get under way is illustrated by the fact that 17,000 tons of lemons were being brought into Britain from Sicily a month ago and are probably there now. Britain has bought all the exportable surplus of dates from Iraq, and some 32,000 tons of dried fruits have been purchased from Turkey.

It is an outstanding fact that bread has never been rationed in Britain during the almost five years of war. Canada gets credit for having produced the wheat which made that possible. For a short time, there was a little oat and barley meal in British bread, but that has been for some time abandoned and only wheat bread is provided. In no case is whole wheat used as the 85 per cent wheat product has been proven to be more nourishing and more digestible than the whole wheat.

◇ ◇ ◇

SEVERAL clovers have come to the front during the war, but it is claimed in England that none of them are up to the quality of Kentish Wild White. Not only does it supply grazing cattle with a high quality of herbage but experiments show that with a fair amount of this clover in a pasture it will extract from the air and add to the soil a quantity of nitrogen in one year equal to an application of half-a-ton per acre of sulphate of ammonia. A little wild white has been brought to Ontario with fair success. A good deal has been seeded in fields in the United States. In growing wild white, pastures must be broken up every three or four years or the strong supply of nitrogen in the soil will grow stalks of grain so leafy that they are apt to give you a crop that will lodge badly.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE first country to recognize fully that water is quite as essential as grass to farming, is Britain. It is a comparatively small island and surrounded by salt water, so in spite of its heavy rainfall, fresh water is frequently dangerously scarce. The matter is now to be taken in hand and water is to be piped to every farm which has not got a satisfactory supply. For this purpose, fifteen million pounds, a sum equivalent to $66,000,000 is granted to England and $38,000,000 to Scotland to furnish waterworks for the farms. Scotland has not nearly as large an area as England but there will be a great deal of rock to blast to carry water to some farms in Scotland. It has been stated that the cost per week for water supplied to small farm cottages should not be more than the cost of a glass of beer. They'll need to run this waterworks system in a more economical manner than some of the systems Ontario has suffered under. There is no doubt that far too frequently all our farm animals suffer from a lack of sufficient water. All our beasts on a farm will go down in flesh rapidly if they have not access to plenty of fresh water. Cows that are milking are the first to suffer.

◇ ◇ ◇

IN threshing barley, if you have any intention of selling it as malting barley, don't thresh it too close. Use concaves with fewer teeth than for wheat and oats. If barley is threshed too close, the ends of the kernels are apt to break off with the awn and barley to be useful to make malt must be sprouted so every broken kernel that will not grow is a dead loss. There has not been a great market for malting barley in Ontario for many years and nobody has done much about it.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE present estimate of Canada's wheat crop in the West is 447,000,000 bushels. The Western oat crop is placed at 416,000,000 bushels and barley at 201,000,000 bushels, with rye at 9 million and flax at 11 million bushels. This with a generous yield in all the other provinces looks promising for 1944. Canada has been selling wheat rapidly this year. The report of the Board of Grain Commissioners show that we have sold almost 100,000,000 bushels during the past year. We have yet 296,540,535 bushels in store. This is almost three hundred million bushels so we ought to feed some hungry people when the German power is smashed, and trade moves with less danger.

Vansittart on Schacht

Lord Vansittart called Dr. Schacht the most oleaginous scoundrel in Europe or something to the effect. Perhaps he was. But first of all he was a great banker who served his own country according to his lights by placing at its disposal his unmatched knowledge and mastery of finance both national and international. Now it may be quite possible to be a great financier and an honest man. Be that as it may, according to Lord Vansittart, one may be at once a great banker and a thoroughgoing scoundrel.—Western Producer (Saskatoon).

Crime By Youth

From THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

IF any American city really wants to prevent such appalling cases as the murder in Boston's Fenway to which five 15-year-old boys have reportedly confessed, it can do it. Laws are adequate, and other elements of prevention are available, awaiting only vitalizing by an awakened civic will.

The five boys, who, police say, lay in wait to rob the first man who came along "under the influence," and who inadvertently murdered their victim, were not confirmed criminals prior to this act. They were just high school youngsters who had never been trained to behave themselves.

The parents didn't do the job; the schools didn't. The community where these boys live has inadequate recreation facilities and is teeming with commercial recreation, of a sort which provides the worst environment for youth. Little was being done to correct all this.

Unquestionably there must have been indications in school of whatever it was in these boys' characters that led them into gangsterism and crime last week. Alert teachers can see the signs in advance, and many find ways to help; if the teachers could have counted on family and community co-operation, they could have initiated preventive action.

The court which has jurisdiciton over this case is so heavily burdened with juvenile cases that it cannot keep abreast of its paper work. Yet public thinking has never been sufficiently aroused to insist that this court have a Juvenile Court attached to it. It has merely a once-a-week juvenile session under a single judge and with an insufficient staff of probation officers.

The situation in Boston is not basically different from that in many other cities. And it all boils down to this: Do the people want to roll up their sleeves and do something about juvenile delinquency? If again we are content to roll the gruesome details of this crime under our tongues and gasp about how terrible it is that young people should be so misled; if we are content merely to shudder over the conditions of our slums or to shake our heads over the shortcomings of the school system—then American cities will be faced with a more and more serious juvenile crime problem.

But the situation need not be hopeless. Improvement need not be postponed to a distant future. Of course, the primary responsibility and opportunity belong to parents. But citizens can begin now, right in their own immediate communities, to pitch in and help their young people. They can force governments to provide play space. They themselves can furnish leadership. The churches can lend their aid. Licensing boards, impelled by public opinion, can do away with superfluous taverns and unsavory night-spots. Successful parents can band together to help those not so successful. A beginning can be made now, right on the ground floor.

Hudson Bay Railroad

From NEW YORK TIMES

THE announcement that the United States has five air bases in sub-Arctic Canada merely confirms the rumours of the last two years of the extent of our flying over these Northern and desolate routes as a quick method of getting airplanes to England. But it is especially interesting to those who have visited this part of Canada—and not many people used to go there—to read that one of the bases is at Fort Churchill on the West side of Hudson Bay.

An air base has finally justified the building of the railroad from The Pas to Churchill, a road built with incredible difficulty over the swamps and rivers of that lonely land. It was built to provide an outlet for grain from Western Canada to Churchill where it was loaded on ships that took it in the short ice-free months through Hudson Strait to England. Henry Hudson first made the passage of the strait, and he was set adrift after mutiny by his men on the east side of the bay that also bears his name.

Over the wavering tracks of the Hudson Bay railroad only a few grain trains travelled during the year, and in the winter a train ran only once a week, two or three days being required for the trip each way. The wind whistled through cracks in the wooden cars, and at temperatures of 40 or 50 below zero the trip was an adventure. The train stopped at night and the crew went to sleep in the bunk car, leaving one man on watch in the locomotive.

The speed was nothing to brag about, for even in winter, when the muskeg was frozen, the roadbed was apt to dip suddenly. For a long time out of The Pas the train ran through tamarack, gaunt trees that grew even more tortured and scarce as one went north, and then finally petered out altogether beyond the timberline in the flat, dead country known as "the land of little sticks," for the trees that started there never got more than a foot or two high. And finally it came to Churchill, where there were no trees at all, and where in winter there was nothing but an expanse of snow and the ice that stretched over Hudson Bay.

And it is there that the United States has built an air base, in one of the emptiest places on earth. But the little railroad, built on faith and in defiance of nature by a tough little Scotch engineer, is now hauling high octane gasoline and supplies. The toot of the locomotive's whistle must have a new note of pride and authority with which to frighten the ptarmigan and the occasional moose. More power to it.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

QUEBEC GOODWILL

(A letter in the Ottawa Citizen)

Editor, Citizen: When criticizing Quebec it might also be well to remember Quebec's generosity towards Ontario.

The Quebec Act passed by the British parliament in 1774 made Quebec include what is now the province of Quebec and also the province of Ontario and applied the French civil law to all of these territories.

The territory now forming Ontario was being settled by the U.E. Loyalists and other English-speaking persons. It was inconvient for the people residing in what is now Ontario to be subject to French civil law and to go all the way to the city of Quebec which was the capital, to do public business.

By the generosity and friendliness of the French Canadians they consented to all that territory now forming Ontario being separated from Quebec and forming the province of Upper Canada, now Ontario. By that act of generosity and friendliness Quebec released and gave up 412,562 square miles so that the English-speaking people living in that territory might get rid of the French civil law and adopt the English civil law and be relieved from the burden and necessity of doing their public business in the distant city of Quebec.

York, now Toronto, was made the capital which was much more convenient than Quebec city for the English-speaking Canadians.

It might also be mentioned that the French Canadian Roman Catholics permitted the Protestant English-speaking people to use a building in Quebec owned by the Roman Catholic church as a place in which Protestants were permitted to worship until such time as the English-speaking Protestants could erect a church of their own.—W. C. MIKEL, Belleville, August 21, 1944.

WHAT A RACKET

Two cats were watching a tennis tournament. One of the pussies seemed intent on the match, and followed the ball back and forth without missing a stroke. The other appeared bored and also a bit irritated at his companion's interest.

"I didn't know you cared so much for tennis," he finally purred.

"I don't," the other replied, "but my old man's in the racket."

A Bible Message

Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils....

Afterward he apeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen.

And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.... And these signs shall follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover. (Mark 16: 9, 14, 15, 17, 18.)

◆ ◆ ◆

Then the eleven disciples went away into Galilee, into a mountain where Jesus had appointed them....

And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world. Amen. (Matt. 28: 16, 18-20.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The Army Air Corps is noted for rapid promotion of young officers. A sign over the officers' club bar in a Californian camp reads: "No lieutenant-colonels of the Army Air Forces allowed at the bar unless accompanied by their parents."

Ernest R. Pope in Munich Playground tells the following:—

The Gestapo raided a Jewish home. They confiscated all valuables, then examined the victim's papers. They picked up a suspicious-looking note-book. Turning to the first page, they read:—

"God preserve Adolf Hitler!"

Astonished, one of the Gestapo said: "What a strange Jew! So patriotic despite all persecution."

He turned the page. On it was written in large letters: "God preserve Joseph Goebbels!"

"This Jew must be O.K.," exclaimed the Gestapo.

They looked at page 3, which said: "God preserve Hermann Goering!"

"Too bad this loyal German is a Jew," the amazed Black Guards remarked.

Page 4 bore the inscription: "God preserve Heinrich Himmler!"

"We must make this fellow an honourary Aryan," the Gestapo burst out in unison. They turned to page 5. On it was written: "God preserve Ernst Roehm."

Below this was the pencilled note: "Preserved —June 30, 1934."

King and Saskatchewan

There has been some surprise expressed in political circles at Prime Minister King's announcement that, despite the recent political debacle in Saskatchewan, he would run in his old Prince Albert seat in the next general election.

Some suggest that the Prime Minister in this is not displaying his usual political sagacity.

But a provincial election in Saskatchewan and the next Dominion general election are two very different affairs. A lot of people in Saskatchewan "took a chance" on the C.C.F. and Mr. Douglas to see what makes the Socialist clock tick. It's very much to be doubted whether they will be willing to take the same chance when it's a question of putting soveregin power into the hands of a C.C.F. Government at Ottawa. It is said by those who have done a little investigating since June 15 that, had Saskatchewan been given the opportunity to vote again the next day—after the result of the election was known —the result would have been very different. Evidently a lot of Saskatchewan voters thought they were the only ones voting to take a chance, and when the votes were counted they found that the chance takers were in the majority.

At any rate, Mr. King's announcement shows that he is no political coward.—Lethbridge Herald.

The School Teachers

The late premier of Alberta was for many years a school teacher. Saskatchewan has had several premiers who followed that calling and Manitoba at least one, if not more.

An examination of the list will show that most of the men who have reached successful positions, at one time in their life taught school. There is something in the honourable profession which influences for good the members of the profession. The successful teacher must discipline and be disciplined. He must be tactful and he must be thorough. The best training for public men in Canada is a few years as a school teacher.—Guelph Mercury.

Omemee Wins Second Game In Semi-Finals

OMEMEE, Aug. 28.— (ENS). — Omemee Creamery came from behind and scored four runs in the last of the seventh, to win the second play-off game of the semi-finals against the Knights of Columbus, the final score being 9-8. This gives the O's two straight wins in the best three out of five series in the Lindsay Town League playoffs.

The O's went into the last of the seventh three runs down. Deyell, first up, singled and stole second. Johnson, next up, got his only hit of the game when he hit a long fly, scoring Deyell and ending up at third. Crawford drove a two-bagger, scoring Johnson. Williamson struck out. Parsons got a two-base hit advancing Crawford to third. Brooks drove a pop fly over third. Hennessey dropping the ball. Crawford ran home, tying the score. Hennessey's peg home was wild and Parsons scored the winning run.

Don Lucas pitched for the K. of C.'s, allowing eleven hits and fanning 9. Parsons, pitching his second game this year for the O's, struck out four, walked 4 and yielded 10 hits. Both teams contributed several errors. The O's line-up was almost completely changed, with only three men playing in their regular places.

The O's scored two runs in the first, Williamson driving out a single and scoring when Parsons knocked a home run. K. of C. evened it up in the second, O'Leary and Walsh scoring, after the former walked and the K. of C. bunched three consecutive hits. The Knights scored four runs in the third and added two in the sixth. The O's got two in the fifth and added 4 in the seventh.

Gleason led the K. of C.'s at bat with three singles. Williams had two hits and a walk and O'Leary reached first four times, twice on walks and once on a single and also on an error by Crawford. Ashmore drove out two triples and accounted for four of his team's runs. He drove in two and scored two himself.

Crawford and Deyell were Omemee's heavy hitters, each with a single, a double and a triple. Parsons had two hits, a double and a homer. Williamson got a double and a triple. Johnson besides hitting a triple, made a running catch in right field in the seventh inning to rob Father Kay of a home run.

Line-up:

K. of C.—Gleason ss, Father Kay cf, Lucas p, Williams ss, Ashmore 1b, Hennessey 3b, O'Leary c, Walsh lf, Mills rf, Arthurs batted for Mills in the third.

Omemee—Crawford 2b, Williamson ss, Parsons p, Brooks c, McQuade cf, Weir 3b, A. Stephenson 1b, R. Deyell lf, Johnson rf.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Trenton and Plazas will clash at Riverside Park at 6 o'clock tonight in the third and final game of their O.A.S.A. intermediate A playoff series and the battle looks like the biggest attraction of the season. The clubs are tied with one win each, Trenton winning at home Friday 7 to 5 and the Plazas coming back with an extra innings win Saturday by 5 to 4. In other words it is anybody's series and tonight's engagement should be full of fireworks. The biggest playoff crowd in years saw Saturday's game and it is probable that tonight's attendance will be even larger for the fans are still talking about Saturday's exciting struggle that was in doubt until the last half of the tenth inning when Joe Blewett's long triple blossomed into a run on the strength of an outfield fly by Jack Tucker. Long ball hitting really won that ball game for Plazas for Jim Ellis poled a homer with two on. This R.C.A.F. hurler Chorner had a lot on the ball and the Peterborough representatives found him plenty tough. He is liable to be sent right back against them tonight. As for Plazas the pitching choice is likely to be between Frank Stokoe who finished Saturday's game in great style or Dave Wilson who was outlucked in the first game of the series. It shaped up like a torrid struggle between two well-balanced clubs with little to choose bewteen the two outfits.

* * * * * *

Tonight's game will not be the only provincial playdown of the week for Westclox, perennial champions of the Girls' League, are billed to meet Belleville here Wednesday evening in the first game of their P.W.S.U. playdowns, with the second game in Belleville Saturday. The Quinte City representatives are touted as a strong outfit, with good pitching, fast fielding and considerable power at the plate and they will need all those weapons to head off the Big Bens who fresh from their local successes are in good shape for the Ontario tests. The Westclockers have a pair of capable pitchers in Isobel Bullock and Joyce Withers and they are well fortified in every other department. In addition playing against outside clubs is no new experience for the Peterborough champs. They have been hammering on the Ontario championship door for several seasons and they are hopeful that this is the year that it will swing open for them. The Belleville series is the first step along the trail and the Big Bens will be in there punching all the way. Wednesday's game should bring the fans out in droves

A Lot Happened

Considerable water has run through the Lions' pool at Riverside Park since this column last made its appearance and a lot has happened in the local sport world since then. Somehow or oher the holiday schedule-making so arranged itself this year that your commetator managed to miss the final playoffs in both the City League and the Girls' Softball loop. From what our scouts report we passed up a lot of good softball and the scores bear out that statement. As for the results we cannot say that they were surprising. In the men's league the law of averages finally caught up to Manager Murph Chambers and his Switchgear outfit. During the regular schedule they had won three games from Plazas and tied them once. Then they started the playoffs with another win. It was just not on the cards that Switchgear could go on beating a strong outfit like Plazas indefinitely and when the tide turned it carried the Chambers' outfit right out of the picture. The second-placers, getting fine pitching and tightening up their defence to its highest level of the season, showed enough power to win four games in a row and take the final round 4 games to 1.

* * * * * *

In the senior division of the Girls' League the perpetual champion Westlox went through the final series with the battling Aircrafters without a loss, although the losers made every game a battle and twice tied the Westclockers. The Big Bens who had finished in first place after winning a playoff game to decide the position had a slight edge over Aircraft throughout the final round, as shown by the fact that they were not beaten in the six games that made up the final series. Westclox carried over to this year most of their championship team of 1943 and thus did not have to do much building up and experimenting. They did lose Eunice Armstrong, first base, Marg Watson, pitcher and Doris Walker, outfielder of last year's team but they were fortunate enough to pick up fine replacements in Nona Whetung who has played fine ball at first base all season and Joyce Withers, a fourteen-year-old twirler who has been a source of strength to the champs throughout the campaign. Westclox are worthy title-holders for another season and Aircaft were close runners-up and deserve credit for the battle they gave the Big Bens throughout the regular schedule and in the playoffs. Both clubs have supplied the fans with a lot of entertainment and have earned the gratitude of softball enthusiasts.

* * * * * *

A Real Attraction

Peterborough people do not worry about how to spend Labor Day. For once on a holiday Peterborough has a real program to keep folk at home and the gala sports card arranged by the Auxiliaries of the Navy, Army and Air Force should provide plenty of entertainment. There are two softball games that in themselves should be enough to draw the biggest crowd of the season. One is a men's game between the strong Toronto Bowsers and an all-star Peterborough outfit and the other brings the crack Toronto Simpsons' girls' team in a clash with a selected Peterborough all-star aggregation. Both games should be outstanding contests. In addition there will be races for boys' and girls' a swimming exhibition by the Y.W.C.A. girls, carnival games, draws for a radio, electric range and outboard motor and a host of other attractions during the afternoon and evening. And all the proceeds go to a grand cause. They will be divided up among the three auxiliaries and used to supply Christmas parcels for the Peterborough boys in the Navy, Army and Air Force. With such a worthwhile object to be assisted and with such a program the Labor Day celebration should be the biggest thing of its kind staged here in years.

* * * * * *

The American League race continues to supply most of the interest in the big leagues with St. Louis Browns still enjoying a fair margin but showing signs of wear and tear while behind them three or four clubs are liable to cut loose with a drive that might carry them to the top. The Boston Red Sox who hurt their chances last week by a slump that extended to five straight games suddenly put on the brakes yesterday by taking the Philadelphia Athletics two in a row and are now only four games behind the Brownies whose Sunday effort was an even break with the Detroit Tigers. That the St. Louis Cards in spite of their tremendous lead in the National League are not going to let them down is shown by the fact that in the first game of a double-header with Pittsburgh yesterday in which the champs were trounced 14 to 6 Billy Southworth used no fewer than six pitchers including two of his aces, Max Lanier and Ted Wilks. The second game was tied at 1-1 with Ostermueller holding the leaders to two hits so that the Cards were perhaps lucky in getting away with a draw. By failing to grab either of the games the champs lost a chance to grab off their 90th victory of the season two days earlier than the record set by the Chicago Cubs back in 1906.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Neutral umpires were billed to handle the Plaza-Trenton battle at Riverside Park this evening.... The Saturday clash between the two clubs is regarded as one of the most exciting battles of the season.... Chorner had the Indian sign on the Plazas over most of the route and Trenton also had a flock of base-runners stranded through failure to come through with hits with ducks on the pond.... Connie Mack's Philadelphia A's are doing all right by themselves financially... They had 30,146 fans out for a double-header with the Boston Red Sox Sunday.. Art Padgett who played with Switchgear in the City League this season was top man for Peterborough cricketers in their game with Picton R.A.F. Saturday. Art batted effectively for 26 runs.

Westclox Girls Capture Softball Title

Before a large crowd at Ashburnham Bowl Saturday afternoon, Westclox won a decision against Aircraft with a 6 to 3 count, in a game that spelled the Girls' Senior Championship for the Westclox team, after a hard-fought schedule of four-out-of-seven, in which Aircraft was allowed no wins. After the game, many compliments and congratulations were doled out to the victorious Clockmakers from Aircrafters, and supporters. The Westclox girls are now on their way and are scheduled to meet Belleville in Peterborough, Wednesday.

Westclox Leads

Westclox led the attack in the first inning, when two runs crossed. With two out, Nona Whetung shot one down to Audrey Patterson, but a wild throw to first base to Pat Wilson advanced the runner a base. Marjorie Hawthorne singled into centre field to score Whetung. Isobel Bulloc[illegible] was safe on an error by Emma Roberts, and Marjorie Hawthorne came home when Pat Wilson kept the ball at first base, believing Bullock to be out.

Another two runs in the next frame, boosted the Westclox count to 4. Nona Whetung walloped one into centre field. Verna Patterson and Joyce Withers, waiting on bases, scored.

Aircraft Scores

Aircraft gained one run in the second inning. Eleanor Craig scoring on the play that put Irma Perdue out at first.

In the third frame, another run came in for Aircraft. With one away, Emma Roberts popped to Verna Patterson, Helen Hunt was safe on a roller past third base, and Marg. Batley reached first base when Viola McLean and Marjorie Hawthorne collided while attempting to catch Batley's high ball. Audrey Patterson was walked and Norma Strickland also was issued a walk, bringing in Hunt.

Double Play By Westclox

Eleanor Craig's easy roller to Marjorie Hawthorne finished Aircraft's chances of scoring in that inning. Hawthorne dashed after Batley and put her out before reaching the plate, and retraced her steps in time to retire Audrey Patterson at third base.

The fourth inning brought in 2 more for Westclox. Viola McLean was safe when Emma Roberts fumbled at short; and Nona Whetung drove one into centre-right field, where Marg. Selkirk and Marg. Batley made valiant tries for it, but the batter's homer had been completed before the ball was brought back into the game. Viola McLean scored ahead of the batter.

Aircraft's final chance came in the eighth inning, when one run totalled their count for the day at 3. Norma Strickland sacrificed to score Marg Batley.

Took Early Lead

It was an exciting game from start to finish, although when Westclox scored four times within the first 2 frames, the spectators took it as final they would win.

Joyce Withers hurled for the winners; fanning 3, walking 4, but allowing the Aircraft only 3 hits. Norma Strickland pitched steady ball for Aircraft, striking-out 5, walking none, allowing 9 hits.

Nona Whetung and Marjorie Hawthorne each got 2 of Westclox' 9 hits, with the remaining blows being smacked by Verna Patterson, Barbara Rome, Viola McLean, and Joyce Withers.

The three Aircraft hits went to Eleanor Craig, Irma Perdue, and Margaret Selkirk.

Westclox went down in order twice; Aircraft, four times.

End Of Series

The Saturday afternoon game climaxed a thrilling four-out-of seven schedule for the two rivals, with Westclox taking all four games, and allowing Aircraft not a win. Twice, however, the battling [illegible] the Westclox to a tie.

This is the fifth year in a row that a Westclox Girls' team has held the championship softball awards.

TORONTO, Aug. 28. —(CP) — Maybe results of that all-star baseball game in Toronto won't show immeditely. But it's going to mean a great deal in good will between the amateurs and professionals in the Queen City, and won't do the game a particle of harm.

It was the first time in more than 30 years the pures and the paids met on the diamond in Toronto, and though the amateurs took a beating, that was only to be expected. The idea wasn't to see if the amateurs could beat their salaried colleagues, but to bring the two groups together on the field of fellowship, etc., and raise a little money for promotion of amateur sport. That latter it did successfully.

Other benefits will be seen in the future when the big brother professional club probably will be able to look to the sandlots for replacements, developed by the encouragement and interest shown in their doings in past years.

Bob Gray Hot At Chicago In Golf Meet

CHICAGO, Aug. 28—(AP)—Rain wrecked the final round of the $42,500 all-American golf tournament at Tam o' Shanter Saturday shunting the payoff play to Monday.

But the money-making magic of George D. May didn't desert him, despite the deluge which washed away the expected "big day's" gate receipts.

May had rain insurance—$10,000 worth—for only one day of his seven-day, three-ring fairway free-for-all, and that day was Saturday.

Nelson Ready

So May will pick up a $10,00[0] cheque from the insurance firm and $100 of his own—and there you have the first prize for the open tournament. The leader in that 72-hole medal-play test gets $10,100 in cash, or $13,462.50 in war bonds. It's the biggest payoff in Golfdom's history, and with 54 of the 72 holes out of the way, Byron Nelson, the long, lean, lanky lad from Texas and Toledo, is ready to snatch it.

All Nelson, second highest money winner of the year, has to do is maintain a two-stroke edge over the field. He set up the lead in the second round, and held it through the third Saturday, despite a 73, his fourth journey above par in 56 rounds this season.

Right behind him, however, are Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Philadelphia, the year's heavy money winner, and Pte. Buck White of Greenwood, Miss. Nelson, winne[r] of the tournament in 1941 and 19[illegible] has 211 strokes, five under par for the 54 holes. McSpaden, who beat White in last season's title play-off, is tied with White at 213, only two shots off the pace.

Another Army man, Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Dayton's Wright Field, is close up with 214, and Bud Williamson of Lincoln, Neb., has 215.

Horne Leads Canadians

Stan Horne of Montreal turned in the best Saturday score of the Canadians, a 68 made up of 36 and 32. Horne's three-game total is 218.

Bob Gray shot the second nine in 33, finishing with four threes, an eagle and two birdies, for a 74 and a total of 224. Bill Kerr shot three 77's for 231. Bob Burns and Dick Borthwick stand at 232. Burns had a nine on the 18th. He put two balls in the river. LAC. Gordon Watso[n] had 74 for a 236 total.

Plazas Even Up Series With Trenton

Plazas evened up the series with Trenton with one win each when they won their home game at Riverside Park, Saturday, in the tenth innings by the score of 5 to 4. The winning run came on a squeeze play. Joe Blewett tripled, Tucker hit a long fly to McColl in centre field and Blewett beat the throw to the plate. It was one of those close decisions, but the umpire was right on top of the play and called Blewett safe.

Trenton again used Chorner, who after pitching eight innings on Friday night, went the ten in Saturday's game and in eight of the ten innings had the Plazas eating out of his hand. His fast ball had them baffled and in eight innings he only allowed four hits and in four of them the side was retired in order.

Terry Woods started for the Plazas. He was hit hard in the first, Trenton again threatened in the fourth and after allowing four hits he was sent to the showers and Stokoe went in to pitch. From then on it was a real pitcher's battle with Stokoe giving just as good account of himself as Chorner. He allowed two hits in the fifth but for the next three innings held the visitors hitless and then in the ninth and tenth they only got one hit in each innings.

Plazas failed to give either of their pitchers that air-tight support that they had given in the league finals. Trenton clouted the ball hard when they connected and in the field gave great backing to their pitcher.

Strong Start

Both teams started off strong, with Trenton getting two runs in the first, one in the second and one in the fourth. Plazas scored four in the first. Jimmy Ellis, manager of the team, got a home run with two on bases and two other hits and an error yielded the fourth run. The Petes were then held scoreless until the tenth. They got three men to third base but Chorner was too much for the batters. In the fifth he struck out Blewett, Ellis and Tucker, and he got another strikeout in each of the next four innings. Hawks pulled down a drive of Bell's in the sixth that would have gone for at least two bases. Trenton showed up poorly on the base running and Eddie Starr was able to cut several runners off.

Both Lesparance who played short and Chorner were dangerous men with the bat, the former with three hits in six times to bat and getting on the bases five times. Chorner had three hits in five times to bat and never missed making first base. Blewett scored two runs on his two hits and Starr, Heal and Ellis hit twice.

The Game

The game started with Lesprance singling past Ellis, Heaney doubled into centre scoring Lesprance. Mills was safe when Phil Pryde dropped the fly and Heaney beat the throw to Starr. McColl lifted one to second, Starr took Russell's pop fly and Istead struck out. In the second for Trenton Long struck out, Drake grounded to Heal, Chorner hit a hot one through third, made second on a wild pitch and scored on Lesprance's double to centre. Heaney popped to Starr. In the third Mills grounded to short, McColl and Bell both hit safely into left field. Istead was out on a infield fly which Ellis dropped and both runners advanced. Long lifted one to Pryde.

Drake first up in the fourth struck out, Chorner singled, Lesprance hit a drive past Tucker, but was caught trying to steal second, Heaney hit into left field and Chorner scored, Mills singled to centre field and Woods went to the showers. Stokoe walked McColl to fill the bases and Bell grounded to third to end the inning. In the fifth Istead flied out to Blewett, Long hit into right field, Drake walked, Chorner bunted safely to fill the bases, but Lesprance forced Long who was out at the plate and Heaney flied to Blewett. In the sixth Trenton went out in order on flies to Starr, Conroy and Hawks.

In the seventh after two were out Drake walked, Chorner was safe when Hawks booted the ball, and Lesprance grounded to short. Only three batters faced Stokoe in the eighth, and in the ninth Bell the first man up, bunted safely, he was sacrificed to second and third by Istead and Long but Trenton was unable to come through with the hit and Drake struck out. In the tenth Chorner was safe when Hawks missed, but was forced at second by Lesprance, Heaney popped to short and McColl singled to left, but Mills was caught sliding home on a throw from Conroy to Hawks to Starr.

The Plazas End

For the Plazas Starr, lead off man in the first, lifted a fly to Drake in right, Heal bunted, Conroy was safe when Long dropped the throw at first, Blewett hit into left scoring Heal, Ellis homered scoring Conroy and Blewett ahead of him, Tucker walked, Pryde struck out, Hawks walked but was forced at second by Woods who grounded to short. In the second Starr grounded to second, Heal bunted safely for his second hit and stole second and third, but Conroy and Blewett lifted infield flies to short. Ellis in the third grounded to first, Tucker flied to Drake in right, Pryde hit into centre field and Hawks grounded to the pitcher.

In the fourth Stokoe lifted one to McColl, Starr hit a liner past first which he made two bases on, Heal sacrificed him to third but Conroy lifted a fly to Istead in left. In the fifth all went out by strikeout route. Pryde in sixth popped to Chorner, Hawks to Heaney and Stokoe struck out. Starr singled in the seventh and stole second and third, Heal popped to the catcher, Conroy struck out, Blewett walked and Ellis grounded to second.

Tucker in the eighth flied to second, Burton batting for Pryde grounded to Chorner, and Hawks struck out. Stokoe struck out in the ninth, Starr grounded to first, and Heal was out Bell to Long.

In the tenth Conroy flied to Chorner, Blewett tripled into deep right, Ellis singled to short but Blewett was held on third and Tucker lifted one to McColl in centre field with Blewett beating the throw to the plate.

The teams meet again this evening at Riverside Park in the third and final game.

Orioles Whip Jersey City 3-2

By The Associated Press

Howie Moss, Baltimore Orioles' star hitter, is just plain poison to Jersey City Giants. He really hurt the Jersies yesterday when he blasted a three-run home run in the last of the seventh to change what looked like a 2-0 defea into a 3-2 victory. The Orioles swept the twin bill, winning the first 12-2.

Howie was sold to the Orioles by the Little Giants last season.

The Birds raked Cliff Melton and Bob Henry for 10 hits in the opener.

The Orioles now enjoy a 2½-game advantage over the second-place Newark Bears.

The Best the Bears could gain was an even break with Syracuse Chiefs, winning the first 8-6 and dropping the nightcap, 5-3. Ed Marleau, one of three Bear pitchers in the opener, and George Wodend were the two winning pitchers.

Bufalo fans were treated to a pair of tasty pitching jobs as Walter Wilson won his 17th in the first game 8-1 and Hank Oana racked up his sixth shutout in the finale, 8-0, against Toronto.

Montreal and Rochester split a pair of one-run decisions, the Wings taking the opener 3-2, the Royals the afterpiece, 2-1.

Boston Red Sox Win 2 From Athletics

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sport Writer

Beaten almost to their knees, the bewildered St. Louis Browns rose from a near-knockout blow yesterday to slug out a draw.

Reeling from a 5-3 setback by Detroit Tigers for their fourth loss in a row and their ninth setback in the last 11 games, the Browns recovered their equilibrium to pound out a 17-2 nightcap victory over the Tigers.

The split enabled the American League pace-setters to retain their 3½-game lead over the second-place New York Yankees, who got no better than split with Washington Senators.

Boston Red Sox moved into a tie for third by a double victory over Philadelphia Athletics.

The Tigers must uncover another hurler to go with Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout. Newhouser gained his 21st victory before 51,367 fans, Detroit's largest crowd of the season, yesterday though he was nicked for 13 hits. Trailing 3-1, the Tigers pounced on Bob Muncrief for four runs in the sixth to win.

The Browns came to life in the nightcap, pounding five Tiger hurlers for six runs in each of the second and third innings and four in the seventh.

The Yankees missed an opportunity to gain a full game on the Browns when they dropped the second game, 5-4, after wining the opener from the Senators 4-2. A pinch single by Wilfred Lefebvre with two out and the bases full scored the winning run in the ninth. George Stirweiss, Yankees' leading hitter, was stopped after hitting in 17 straight contests.

The Red Sox double win over the Athletics 8-5 and 7-2, ended a five-game losing streak. Bob Johnson paced the Red Sox with five hits, three in the second game.

For the first time this season, St. Louis Cardinals failed to win at least one game on a Sunday, when they dropped the opener 14-6 to Pittsburgh Pirates and tied the second 1-1 in 10 innings, halted by darkness.

Mel Ott hit two homers as New York Giants won two from Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-1 and 4-2, to increase their fourth-place lead over Chicago Cubs to 1½ games. Philadelphia and Boston Braves split, the Phillies winning the opener 8-5 and the Braves taking the nightcap 4-3.

Suggests Check

TORONTO, Aug. 28 — (CP) — John Click, vice-president of the American Hockey League and former president of the now defunct International Hockey League, was suggested as a possibility or the National Hockey League Presidency by Vern DeGeer, sports editor of the Globe and Mail, in the Globe today.

St. Kitts' Take 2-Game Lead In Lacrosse

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 28. — St. Catharines Athletics took a two-game lead over the second-place Toronto Lake Shores before a crowd of 2,000 Saturday night, when they buried them under a 34-11 score. The total of 45 goals is probably a record for a senior O.L.A. game.

Roy (Punk) Morton swept into the scoring leadership of the league over Bill Brunskill of Brampton. Morton scored six goals and assisted on four, to pick up 10 points. Norm MacDonald also kept in the scoring race with three goals and two assists.

The game was enlivened by five fights, four of which occurred in a hot third period. The referee handed out eight major penalties to the battlers. In one of the scraps Bobby Thorpe of the A's suffered a twisted knee, and midway in the fourth period Goalie Hartley of the Lake Shores, who played a swell game despite the lopsided score, was injured and was replaced by King. He suffered a leg injury in a scramble around the net.

St. Catharines — Whittaker, F. Madsen, C. Madsen, Nelson, Thorpe, MacDonald, Whiteley; subs, Wright, Myers, Cove, Morton, Cheevers, MacKie, Moore, Frick.

Toronto — Hartley, Murphy, Vipond, Howse, Elliott, G. Gair, N. Gair; subs, Phillips, Stewart, King, Downer, Richards, Ruddy.

Referees—Clarke, Hamilton and Peart, Port Colborne.

Churchill Tank Used As Flame Thrower

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—(AP)—British authorities today took secrecy wraps off the fire-breathing 41-ton Churchill "Crocodile," a tank-mounted flame-thrower capable of hurling its lethal blaze 450 feet ahead and even around corners.

The potent British weapon was introduced to the Germans at the Normandy beaches. Since then it has been used with what the British information services reported as "deadly effect" in burning a path for British and Canadian forces through Hitler's strongponts in France.

The British Supply Council and Army Staff in the announcement of the new weapon called it the most powerful flame-thrower in the world.

Designed to burn out strong-points of the Atlantic wall and save infantry lives, the "Crocodile" uses a special new type of fuel. Its flames can be ricocheted off a near-by surface, in the manner of a billiard shot, to burn out pill-boxes and trenches hundreds of feet away.

The flame gun is mounted on a standard Churchill tank, with the fuel carried in an armored trailer behind. The flame eouipment can be jettisoned in case of need and the tank can operate thereafter as an orthodox Churchill, with no cut in firepower.

The announcement said British troops first used flame-throwers to put a coastal battery out of action in the Dieppe raid, in which units of the Canadian 2nd Division constituted the majority of the attacking force, and have been working on their development ever since.

Early experiments with an oil flame defense improvised on the Kent beaches in 1940 when invasion appeared imminent, have contributed, along with information gained from captured enemy equipment.

One eminent British scientist, Dr. Frank Sturdy Sinnatt, hastened his death by his untiring efforts in development of flame weapons, the British Information Services reported. Many civilian and military workers suffered burns and injuries in the search for safe fuel and efficient projectors to put in the hands of the troops.

The Germans got the benefit of it all shortly after D-Day when the Crocodiles, newly built, rolled ashore on schedule.

R.A.F. BOMBS FALL SHORT OF MARK—ONTO CANADIAN TROOPS—Clouds of smoke pour from burning Canadian trucks after bombs dropped by R.A.F. planes scored hits during the Allied advance toward Falaise, France. The bombers, pounding German positions, dropped bombs close to Canadian lines and fired these trucks.

Drunk Is Unhurt

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 28—(AP).—Robert Edwards told police a car struck him, breaking his leg, as he played good samaritan to a drunk who was having trouble crossing a street. The drunk, he said, walked away uninjured.

Mounties Proud Of War Record

TORONTO, Aug. 28 — Not one case of sabotage in Canada since the outbreak of war has been attributable to enemy agents, Inspector G. B. McLellan of the R.C.M.P., told a Rotary Club meeting Stauraday. He spoke on "The R.C.M.P. During Wartime."

The precautionary measures taken by the Dominion Government early in 1939 rendered potential saboteurs completely helpless, Inspector McLellan declared. A compelte security survey was made across Canada and all vital industries were checked and protective measures instituted.

"Within 24 hours of war starting practically all the potential leaders of subversive groups were taken into custody," the R.C.M.P. official said. "Their leaderless followers found themselves incapable of taking advantage of the excitement and turmoil of the war's first few day's."

Inspector McLellan tok of wartime duties of the Dominion police force. These included checking fingerprints of employees in vital war plants, photographing prisoners of war, smashing black markets and assisting in the round-up of draft evaders. He paid tribute to the reserve force, which, he said, had shouldered so large a share of responsibility that regular, fully trained men were made available for more complicated duties.

Total strength of the R.C.M.P. is now 440 detachments, as against 36 during the first Great War.

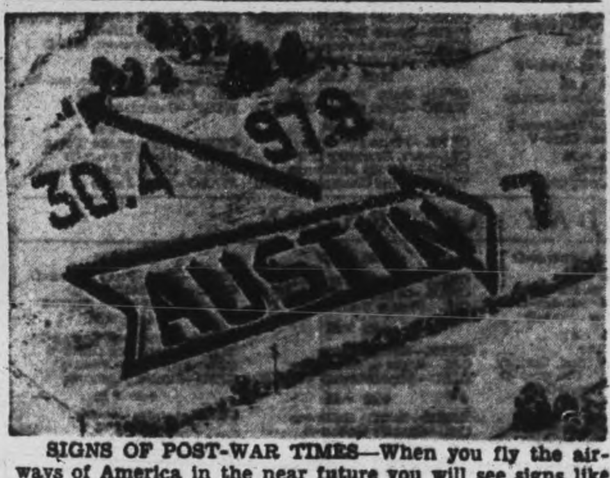
WINDSOR, Aug. 28 — (CP) — Charles Dowd, 64, of Buffalo, N.Y., chief engineer of the ship Thunder By Quarries was electrocuted while the ship was at the Ford Motor Company dock here to-day. The accident occurred in the ship's control room. Windsor Fire Department's rescued squad was called and worked on the victim for two hours, without success.

Persistent Fellow

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Aug. 28—(AP).—A local motorist has a market for his automobile any time he decides to sell. Daily for the past few weeks a prospective buyer has left his name, address and this note tied to the auto: "I need a car like yours."

AERIAL COWBOY—Capt. J. R. Willingham, above, of Tuscaloosa, Alabama, leader of a flight of Thunderbolts, is credited with the capture of over 300 Germans, who raised the white flag of surrender after the captain started to pepper the road with live shells. By circling overhead, he succeeded in herding the Germans to one of the Allied armored columns who took charge of the prisoners.



SIGNS OF POST-WAR TIMES—When you fly the airways of America in the near future you will see signs like this when you look down and can tell any time just where you are, either by night or by day. This is the grid system of air marking the country and institution of the system awaits only the lifting of the army's ban on these aids to private flying, U.S. civil aeronautics administration officials say.

New Agreement On Security Given Impetus

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—(CP)—Official hopes for an early British-Russian-American agreement on world security were given new impetus today by the report that the Russian delegation entered the Dumbarton Oaks conference carrying only skeletonized and flexible commitments from its government.

Earlier indications from Russia as to her views on how the proposed International League should be set up had hinted at possible Allied disagreement on at least two points—inclusion of small nations and the organization of an International Air Corps.

Britain and the United States both back smallpower council membership in the belief the security agency plan would not otherwise be acceptable to the rest of the world. On the point of any sort of international force the United States is opposed, favoring instead the use of National forces to preserve peace.

Few Pages

It now is reported that while the United States laid before the conference a plan which filled a book, and the British delegation came in with many detailed recommendations, the Russians surprised the other conferees by turning up with a document only a few pages long.

In this they advocated the principles of world organization backed by force, an assembly of nations and a council and the use of prompt and strong measures by the big powers to put down trouble-makers whenever and wherever they threaten. But they left themselves uncommitted on specific ways of accomplishing objects.

This has given them a flexible position in which to negotiate without having to alter the principles for which they have gone on record officially.

The prospect is that the work will be completed in about three weeks, after which the British and American delegates will hold a week-long talk with the Chinese delegation. Out of these meetings, it is hoped, will come a tentative four-power plan.

The Truth about QUEBEC TEXTILE WAGES

Latest figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on earnings in the cotton yarn and cloth industry are a clear and complete answer to irresponsible charges about Quebec textile wages. Dealing with per capita average weekly earnings paid on or about March 1 this year, the government statistics for this industry show that Quebec cotton workers get:

(1) More than the average Ontario cotton worker
(2) More than the average Maritime cotton worker
(3) More than the all-Canada average.

Dominion Textile Company wages paid at that date are higher than the Quebec average. The figures are:

QUEBEC .	$23.76	per week	per capita	(D.B.S.	Figures)
Maritimes .	22.89	"	"	"	"
Ontario .	23.39	"	"	"	"
All-Canada	23.61	"	"	"	"
Dominion Textile Co. Ltd.	24.51	"	"

These wage averages include earnings of female workers and beginners, but do not include salaries paid to mill officials, sales force or head office staff.

● To win the war and speed the victory, buy Victory Bonds and War Savings Stamps and Certificates. Buy all you can.

To win the peace for your family, supplement your War Savings with life insurance. Life insurance rounds out your financial security programme in a way no other form of investment can. It ensures that there will be sufficient funds to provide food, clothing and shelter for your family even should you not be here to look after them.

And it is well to remember that much of your investment in life insurance goes into the nation's war chest. Imperial Life invests heavily in Victory Bonds. In winning the war and winning the peace, Victory Bonds, War Savings Stamps and life insurance are "all pals together."

Broader Export Markets Needed

A recent authoritative estimate shows that in the neighbourhood of 80% of the export business Canada is now doing belongs in the category of temporary, abnormal wartime trade, with about 20% in the category of normal and permanent trade. On this foundation of 20% Canada must rebuild the whole structure of her export trade for the future.

● It is clear therefore that Canada must broaden her export markets in peace time. Canada has always depended for her prosperity on export trade.

The war has merely made this truth clearer and more graphic.

Full employment and prosperity have been a by-product of our war effort. We could not have avoided a result so inevitable. We are utilizing that prosperity to achieve Victory.

But prosperity is an end in itself. After the war we must maintain it. That means a search for new export markets when those created by war have ceased to exist.

The Dominion Bank, one of the Chartered Banks of Canada, will continue to render the widest co-operation in furthering Canada's export trade after the war.

GOOD FISHING

From Chemong come reports of excellent maskinonge fishing in recent days. Eddie Whitehill picked off two with a total weight of 14 pounds, Jack Sueriel knocked off an eight-pounder. Dr. D. W. Clarke came in with another of the same size and several other catches are reported over the week-end.

HALIBURTON BOYS CASUALTIES

An August 26 announcement from the Department of National Defence reveals that Pte. Walter Albert Winn, son of Mrs. Cecilia Young, Haliburton, has been reported died of wounds received while fighting in the Canadian forces overseas, Pte. Thomas Earl Ventress, son of Mrs. Myrtle Ventress, also of Haliburton, has been reported wounded. Both soldiers were with an Eastern Ontario regiment.

JOINS ADVERTISING STAFF.

Jack Sloggett of Campbellford, who served for more than a year in the Canadian Active Army before being discharged because of a lowered medical category, has been engaged on the advertising staff of the Peterborough Examiner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Sloggett of Campbellford. He replaces Bruce Butler, who is now with an advertising agency in Toronto.

GETS BIG TROUT.

Mr. F. E. Johnson, principal of the Vocational Schools, while on a trip to Bancroft with Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club, landed a 10 lb. lake trout at Bay lake, three miles south of the village. Mr. Johnson remarked about the clarity of the water in the lake, saying that he could see the fish 35 ft. below the surface biting at his line. The fish was landed without the use of landing net or gaff. G. Minty was on the oars.

"CHRIST JESUS"

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ Scientist, throughout the world, including First Church of Christ, Scientist in Peterborough on Sunday. The Golden Text was: "Though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord, and my God shall be my strength." (Isaiah 49:5). Selections from the Bible included the following from John 1:1-14: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father), full of grace and truth." Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Jesus was the son of a virgin. He was appointed to speak God's word and to appear to mortals in such a form of humanity as they could understand as well as perceive."

NOT MUCH ACTIVITY.

Fire believed to be from a cigarette butt set the sawdust pile at the London street dam smouldering on Sunday evening, and the fire department received a call. On Sunday afternoon a false alarm took the fire reels down to the box in front of the C.G.E.

AND SO IT GOES

How a rumor spreads was amply demonstrated Sunday evening, when a fire engine racing toward the London street dam led many people to believe a drowning had taken place. Up and down George street the word spread that someone had falln off th dam, and bfor long, it had grown to include two people fallen off the dam, and before long, way to spike this rumor, and after all the talk about double-drownings had ceased, word spread around a small sawdust pile, burning near the dam and causing no damage, was the reason for the activity.

NO TROUBLE AT ALL.

How to keep a car together in one easy lesson was demonstrated Saturday evening on South George street, to the delight of all concerned. A car, of the type that were manufactured in the Gay Nineties, was bouncing merrily along George street, near the C.P.R. station, when a bump in the road caused the entire rear bumper to fall to the ground with a bang. When the owner discovered the loss she just turned the machine around, got out, picked up the bumper, set it in place, and drove off.

Rambling Reporter

UNEXPECTED SWIM.

While many people know there is hidden danger in star-gazing, there is one reporter in Peterborough today who is convinced there is danger in fish-gazing, particularly when out in a canoe on the south Otonabee. Spying what appeared to be an enormous rock-bass darting through the weeds, he following the fish with his eyes as long as he could, and when the fish glided under the canoe, the spirit moved him to keep on watching it; all of which landed him, clothes, lunch and all, into the water. After wallowing around while a companion stood on dry land reduced to helpless laughter, the "fisherman" managed to drag himself and the boat to land.—D.M.

92 Jap Ships Lost In Month

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Aug. 26 — (AP) — Hitting Japanese ships at a pace of better than five a day for August the far eastern Air Force was reported today to have blasted a cruiser, seven freighter--transports and a barge tender at Dutch Celebes on the invasion path to the Philippines.

The Thursday raid, just announced by Allied headquarters, plus three coastal vessels and a landing craft sunk elsewhere, made the total recorded in 26 August communiques read:

Sunk or probably sunk—92 ships among these 34 freighter-transports with a tonnage exceeding 60,000.

Damaged, some likely sunk—42 ships, including 26 freighter-transports with a tonnage of more than 50,000; also a destroyer and destroyer tender.

From Pearl Harbor, U. S. Pacific fleet headquarters reported a strike Wednesday night by heavy bombers at Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands, within 750 miles of Tokyo.

Shell Shortage To Keep Hunters At Home

Deer hunters are going to wish they had some of those shells they fired not accurately and wisely in recent autumn seasons of plenty when they used to bang away at swiftly moving tawny targets which they remember now with a regretful sense of waste.

Unless they have reserve stocks of centre fire cartridges they will have to fall back on the trapper's snare. That seems to be the cheerless import of a letter received by City Clerk Outram who wrote the deputy administrator of munitions in Montreal a modest plea that some concessions might be devised for the legion of hunters in the Peterborough area.

The reply was one of those "sorry, but...." letters regretting all the circumstances of scarcity of hunting ammunition permitting no present change of policy.

There are centre fire shells for the duck hunters, rationed in fifty shell lots, and there are also rim-fire cartridges of .22 calibre. Bill Campbell contributes a thin ray of hope for some .25 and .32 calibre rims, but beyond that the Burleigh-Cavendish deer have nothing to fear this coming November, when the leaves are rustling under foot, excepting the hunters who set by a stock of shells.

Hundreds of shotgun men have been applying at the city hall recently for their ration permits. They have been coming from all over the district, and on Saturday reached line-up numbers at times. However, the shootin' irons are not going to be so hot this deer season.

Rain Needed To Boost Fruit

OTTAWA, Aug. 28—Cooler weather with varying rainfall proved some relief for fruit and vegetable farmers in Eastern Canada last week, but more moisture is urgently needed in most sections to fill out fruit.

Golden Jubilee and Rochester peaches are at peak production in Ontario, and "V" types have started to move. A heavy general rain in the Niagara district should aid in promoting better sizing, which has been subnormal to date. Bartlett pears are moving in light volume from Ontario, while Boussoek are at peak production, and Clapp's Favorite tapering off in the earliest areas.

The grape harvest is starting in Ontario with the first shipments this week. The recent hot dry weather matured cantaloupes rapidly in Ontario, and volume has been heavy, with the harvest well advanced. Tomatoes have been offering in very heavy volume in Eastern Canada, with considerable soft fruit showing up as a result of the extreme heat. In some areas the crop will be reduced by lack of plant growth and failure of blossoms to mature. Plums are maturing rapidly with Bradshaw and Gages at peak harvest, to be followed shortly by late varieties. Lack of rain is reflected in the slow sizing of fruit in Ontario, together with a tendency toward early maturity. Duchess and Melba comprise the bulk of present offerings, with Gravenstein, Alexander and other second early varieties ready by the end of the week.

R. Kemp Wounded Fighting Overseas

..Word of the wounding of another member of the S. D. and G. Highlanders was received Saturday when Mr. and Mrs. John Kempt, Ida, were notified officially that their son, Pte. R. Kempt of the Glengarrians had been wounded in France on August 14. The message stated that his injuries were slight. tPe. Kempt enlisted with the S. D. and G's here in 1940, and went overseas in 1941. He is 25 years of age. His wife died in 1941 while he was stationed at Debert and two children, Joan and Gerald, are being brought up by the grandparents.

VISITS PETERBOROUGH — Ordinary Seaman Ragnar Johnson, a former C.G.E. employee, recently spent a furlough with Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Scott, 455 Stewart street. He has been stationed at H.M.C.S. Cornwallis.

ARRIVES HOME—Lieut. Cameron A. Craig, whose wife and daughter live at 585 Sherbrooke street, has arrived home because of a lowered medical category, after serving with a railway operating unit of the Canadian Army overseas since July, 1943.

Lt. C. A. Craig Arrives Home

After serving overseas with a railway operating outfit, for over a year, Lieut. Cameron A. Craig, whose wife and daughter live at 585 Sherbrooke street, arrived home Friday evening for a leave before reporting to Kingston for new duties. A lowered health category is responsible for bringing Lieut. Craig back from England.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Craig, of Perth, Ontario, he served with a Line of Communications was the supervision of the hauling group overseas, and one o. his tasks of invasion supplies to the front ports, over English railroads. One reason why the Canadian Army has railway operating sections, is because of the shortage of trained civilian help Lieut. Craig said. Most of the ıen in his unit were all former railroad employees, but there were still many things to learn with regard to the operation and maintenance of English railroads. The Line of Communications group completely cperates a railway, including engineers, firemen, and technical experts.

Lieut. Craig pointed out that until the railroads in conquered France are rebuilt and reorganized, there will be no work there for his outfit, as it is merely an operating section of the Army.

About the robomb menace to English railroading, he said, "The German buzz-bombs have not, and will not demoralize the British system of railways.

Formerly of Fenelon Falls, where he was the principal of the Public School for some time, Lieut. Craig has considerable railway experience behind him to help him in the vital job of keeping supplies to the front moving.

He enlisted in the active army in April, 1942, first with the artillery then with the Canadian Railway Operating Company of the Canadian Army, going overseas in July, 1943.

Previous to his enlistment he was employed at the Canadian General Electric Company, in Peterborough.

Old Peterboro Family Loses Son In France

Captain George Gilbert Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Reynolds, Winnipeg, and years ago of Peterborough, was killed in action in Normandy on July 23. He was second in command of a Company, Royal Canadian Engineers.

Captain Reynolds, was educated at Royal Military College, and at Queen's University of which he was a graduate in science. He enlisted at the outbreak of the war and went overseas in 1940. A bridge ertecd in Normandy was named after him by the Royal Engineers.

The grandfather of this young soldier, whose smiling picture recently appeared in the Winnipeg Tribune, was George Stethem who carried on a hardware business in Peterborough at one time on George street, and finally on Hunter street in the premises now occupied by Campbell and Best. The family lived at the southeast corner of Aylmer and Sherbrooke tsreets, and it is understood that their daughter, Sybil Stehem married Hal Reynolds who is remembered as an athlete in his Peterborough days.

Trenton-Plaza Game Is Postponed

The third and deciding game between Trenton and Plazas, billed for tonight at Riverside Park, has been called off on account of rain. The contest will be played tomorrow night.

Due to the fact that Trenton team has to leave at 3:00 o'clock to arrive here in time for the game, and rain was falling at that time it was decided to postpone the fixture until tomorrow night.

EFFICIENT ENGINEERS

NEW DELHI, India — (CP) — Punjab and Madrassi engineers work together in a section of a railway construction company in a forward area near the Burma front. These men are today so well trained that without outside assistance they have built sidings on Assam airfields.

5th Gift Made By Group At Trent River

When a nation is at death's grip with another country which threatens to enslave and destroy its very system of life, real service in its cause is not one of those things that may be given spasmodically if victory is to be achieved in the shortest time possible, nor can any one just lay back after one accomplishment and say with content, "I have done my bit," for that is just only playing into the enemy's hand.

British tradition has always given members of the race the credit for seeing a job through to the bitter end, and with so much at stake in the crucial few years that have now passed by, there is many an evidence of some folk living fully up to this same tradition, among whom may be counted the ladies banded together as the Women's Institute at Trent River, and since their work covers a considerable field of endeavor, they have formed an inner group from their own membership which is known as the War Service Unit.

In addition to a number of things among which was the looking after comforts for the men on active service from their own district, besides sending jam to the people of Britain, they have added to their laurels by contributing on a number of occasions to assist the sufferers from air raid attacks over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, and today a further gift of $25 is recorded in their name through Mrs. Harry Mann, this marking the 5th time that they have so contributed.

Six Boys Take a Hand

It is exhilarating to find young boys looking to the better things of life and taking a hand in this humanitarian work. Ranging in age from 11 to 13 years, Bob Beggs, Allan Bennett, Ray Harris, Jackie Stevenson, Jack Gibson and Gerald Bennett held moving picture shows, fitting up a garage for that purpose, and realized the sum of $5, also credited in their name today.

The moving pictures were in charge of Ray Harris, while Allan Brown dressed as a clown, supplied some clever acts between pictures. Bob Beggs and Jackie Stevenson supervised the sale of tickets, while Gerald Bennett and Jack Gibson acted as treasurers.

All of these boys are pupils at King Edward School, and all advanced into the next higher class at the close of the last school year, and this assist to the fund marks their second effort for the same purpose, in addition to which, they also raised money for the Junior Red Cross.

Little Johnny Steele of 477 Bolivar street is only 5 years old, yet he too could take a hand in this all important work, and by selling homemade orange and lemonade, with some canned goods on the family lawn, he was able to send in a dollar to help this worthy cause.

An echo of the tag day held some time ago is to be found in another 25 cents being handed in, this coming from one of the women who worked on this occasion, it having been given her after her box had been turned in.

FO. Kenneth Fox Killed In Action

A former well-known Peterborough boy, Flying Officer Kenneth Fox, has been killed in action with the Royal Air Force, his father, Reginald Fox, former representative here of Dunn and Bradstreet and now living in Toroto has been informed.

Flying Offcier Fox was brought up here and received his early education in the Central School.

He had been with the Royal Air Force since the beginning of the war and had seen a lot of action. He was first a member of the Bomber Command and was badly injured in a crash after returning from a raid over Germany. After many months in hospital he got back into action as a fighter pilot and had just about completed his tour of operations with the R.A.F. pending a transfer to the R.C.A.F. when he was killed.

WINS COMMISSION — Gerald Haig, whose wife and son live at 209 Stewart street, has been commissioned a Second Lieutenant overseas. He went overseas as a reinforcement to the S.D. and G. Highlanders in 1941, and at the time of his promotion was a C.S.M. Prior to enlisting he was employed by the G. Whitaker and Company.

States Shivers In Cold Wave

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—(AP)—From Wichita to Boston the United States shivered in abnormally low temperatures yesterday. It never got above 65 in Kansas City, the third day in a row that the thermometer had set a record for a low maximum. And a mark that had stood for 66 years in Charlotte, N.C., fell chattering when the mercury dipped to 54.89.

Fires were in North Georgia (low 59), and Indianapolis (59), while fall clothes were trotted out on New York's Fifth Avenue (57). Boston had a low of 53, Des Moines and Detroit 52.

The queerest quirk came in Kansas. Not only was it cold, it was wet. And on these normally hot, dry Kansas plains cold and wet are two adjectives usually out of place this time of year.

Streams which in many a Kansas August won't run a cupful a month are gushing from bank to bank, with flood stages reported on the Kaw, the Blue, the Missouri.

Cauliflower Crops Reckoned As Loss

The domestic pickling season will have to struggle along without Cauliflower, one of the essential trinfity of foundation stock, of which the other two are cucumbers and onions.

With cooler weather and some rain, the late cauliflower plants may make some satisfactory headway, but their quantity will not be sufficient to make up the shortage of the early variety that is being reckoned in the gardener's balance sheet as just about a total loss. The crop was blighted by the long period of drought and weeks of hot sunshine. The plants that escaped the busy bugs which the white butterflies industriously disseminated were dwarfed by adverse weather, and instead of the blanched, white color they are repellant brown, rejected by the trade and left to the elements by the gardeners who realize that the crop is beyond redeeming.

The later cauliflower crop may be due in another fortnight, but it has started under a handicap and may not rise up to the standards of size and color desired by picklers, amateurs and professionals.

Drunk Driving Case Goes To Trial

Hearing of a drunken driving charge against Rollie Saltren of Dummer township before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning was adjourned until this afternoon at the request of Defence Counsel W. J. Arthur Fair who said that a witness, Lloyd Peacock, Cavan, who had been subpoenaed had failed to appear.

The charge arose out of the arrest of Saltern on the afternoon of July 15 by Officer C. J. McGillen.

In the witness box this morning that officer stated that his attention had been attracted by the appearance of Saltern when he saw him at the wheel of a car at Hunter and Water streets. Officer McGillen stated that he had followed the car on his motorcycle and had stopped it in front of the police station where Saltern had been arrested. The witness stated that there were two other persons in the car, Saltern's mother and a man named Munro and there were two cases of beer.

Officer McGillen and Officer John Stevenson and Inspector J. F. Reid who saw the accused in the police station after his arrest swore that Saltern was very drunk.

For the defence, Mrs. William Saltern, mother of the accused, testified that so far as she knew her son had had only one pint of beer that afternoon. She said that around noon he had been in the Empress Hotel for a while and that afterward he, his mother and two men had driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe, a mile east of the Lift Lock, after getting two cases of beer at the brewery warehouse. Her son had got twelve pints and she herself two dozen pints. Mrs. Saltern said that some of the beer had been drunk at the Sharpe place but that her son had been busy all afternoon fixing his car and had had only one drink of beer. He drove the car without any trouble, she stated.

To Mr. McElderry the witness stated that she did not know how much beer had been consumed and that the party had nothing to eat from breakfast time.

Rollie Saltern, the accused, swore that he had had two drinks of beer at the Empress at noon and another during the afternoon.

William Saltern, father of the accused, swore that his son was not drunk when he saw him in the police station around 7:30 o'clock that same night.

At this stage Mr. Fair asked for an adjournment to give the defence a chance to try and get the missing witness into court. It had been testified that Peacock was one of the four occupants of the car when Saltern was arrested.

Second Offender Gets Month In Jail

"I guess I will have to board it out," said William MacMasters of Norwood in police court this morning after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of having been drunk here and admitted to a previous conviction.

Magistrate Gee informed him that the penalty was a fine of $50 or a month in jail.

The Norwood man elected to accept the jail sentence and was warned that the next offence would mean three months imprisonment.

John Arthur Beebe, Toronto, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor was fined $10 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate Gee.

PROMOTED TO CORPORAL— Mr. and Mrs. Bert Trotter, R.R. 4, Peterborough, have received word that their son, LAC. Robert Trotter, has been promoted to a corporal while serving overseas. He is now a qualified physical culture instructor with a bomber squadron in England. A brother, Tpr. Albert Trotter, has finished a tank driver's course overseas, and a sister, Lieut. Sadie Trotter, is nursing in a Canadian hospital overseas. Another brother, Tpr. Earl Trotter, is stationed at Orillia.

New Ration Book Comes Oct. 14-21

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—The Prices Board announced Saturday that Ration Book No. 5 will be distributed to the Canadian public the week of Oct. 14-21, and said coupons will be included in the new book to cover "emergencies that may arise."

K. W. Taylor, co-ordinator of the Foods Administration, said the situation regarding rationed commodities were examined regularly every few months to determine their position in the light of any new development. A study now was being made of the preserves ration picture to see what action should be taken should the sugar supply situation become worse.

Mr. Taylor said he believed the sugar situation in 1945 was likely to be "tough." However, crop prospects could not be accurately forecast until about the end of the year. Europe was likely to require large allocations of sugar out of the 1945 crop.

The board's announcement said it was generally felt that it would be wiser to reduce the quota of sugar to industrial users than to cut the regular ration to consumers.

Officials said the butter situation was unlikely to become any better. In the first seven months of this year butter production fell by 10,200,000 pounds or 5.5 per cent, compared with the corresponding months of 1943. Creamery butter consumption has increased 20,000,000 pounds in the same seven-month period.

A stock-taking of the tea and coffee situation will be made some time this fall.

THE PEPLUM SILHOUETTE—The chief interest in the new fashions appears to be hip interest, with the peplum the most all-around becoming of the various hip-interest devices. You'll notice that wherever it is used... front, all around or flared to the sides... there is slimness beneath it, especially at the sides of the silhouette.—By Prunella Wood.

For Tuesday, August 29

CONTRADICTORY and conflicting conditions dominate on this day, the final outcome of which depending upon the wisdom, sagacity, perseverance and sound judgment brought to bear on precarious situations and circumstances. Primarily collaboration, and not dissention, jealousy, rivalry and competition, is imperative, as this may attract the whole-hearted support and good will of those in high places, financially and in power. Work to this and toward the most cherished goals, whether business, professional, social or politically. But be alert to crafty and peculiar persons, doubtful intrigues and guard the health.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of exceptional opportunity for attaining important hopes and wishes, in the realm of business, the professions, financial or political life, with corresponding social prestige and influence. But this must be secured by astute, efficient and determined efforts, and against possible pitfalls, and tenacious obstacles. Cooperation and not competition, rivalry or strife are enjoined.

A child born on this day should have high ambitions, with the talents and determination to attain them against obstacles and limitations.

Bride-Elect Has Trousseau Tea

A trousseau tea in honor of Miss Shirley Wyatt, bride-elect, was given on Saturday afternoon by the bride's mother, Mrs. D. Wyatt, 554 Roger street.

Miss Joyce opened the door, and the guests were received by Mrs. Wyatt, Mrs. Trennum, and the bride-to-be. Miss Doreen Vass looked after the signing of the visitors book and Misses Audrey O'Dette, Ann Wright, Betty and Barbara Wyatt were on hand to display the many gifts received by the bride.

The table was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers, and a large matching bell hung over it. An attractive bouquet of summer flowers in a large silver vase adorned the centre of the table. Those pouring tea were: Mrs. F. Mowry, Mrs. F. Edgar, Mrs. W. Wishire and Mrs. A. Ebbs. The refreshments were served by Miss Bernadette Flynn, Miss Kathleen Walsh, Mrs. G. Bousfield and Miss Joy Edgar. Those who were serving looked charming in floor-length gowns in pastel shades.

Elizabeth Melrose Married Wearing Chiffon Gown

The marriage took place in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Saturday, of Alice Elizabeth Melrose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam C. Melrose, to Cpl. James Edgar Fisher, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fisher, Grimsby, Ontario Rev. Dr. James D. Smart officiated. The church was prettily decorated with a profusion of gladioli and white ribbon, and the music was played by Martin Chenhall. During the signing of the register Mrs. A. Spencely sang "The Lord's Prayer", and "Loves Coronation."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white chiffon with lace inserts. Her floor-length veil was of white net, and was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible, with rose streamers.

Miss Betty Fisher, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and wore a yellow taffetta gown, with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline.

Miss Cora Fisher, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and Miss Arlene Coggins, Hamilton, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They were dressed in gowns of similar style in blue and pink taffetta respectively, with matching hats and shoulder-length veils, and carried bouquets of roses and bouvardia.

The best man was William M. Fisher, brother of the groom, and the ushers J. Earl Tufford, of St. Catharines, and Howard E. Coggins, of Hamilton.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, 472 Thompson avenue, where the bride's mother received wearing a gown of beige crepe, with a hat of brown felt. She carried a corsage of white roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of mauve brocaded chiffon, with a hat of black felt, and carried a corsage of white roses.

Later the bride and groom left on a motor trip for the north country. For travelling the bride wore a yellow brocaded chiffon dress with black coat and accessories. On their return, the bride will live with his parents.

Christianity Key To Problems Rev. Dr. Smart Says In Valedictory

After more than two years of zealous service as pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. James D. Smart conducted his farewell sermon Sunday evening, before leaving for new work with the General Assembly, of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. After the service, many of his friends from the congregation gathered in the Sunday School auditorium, to bid him God-speed, and express their best wishes for his new work.

One of Canada's outstanding young clergymen, Dr. Smart came to Peterborough in January, 1942, and his ministry has been blessed with considerable measure of progress. In his new position, he will find a much wider field with the Presbyterian publications in the United States, and he will take with him a vigor and enthusiasm, well-known to his congregation in Peterborough.

"All week," Dr. Smart said, "I have been striving to find a suitable text for this service. I wanted something to leave behind for you, and finally, I came upon something very simple. First, the years ahead will be trying and difficult; years of decision, and years of testing. There are problems ahead, frightening problems if no answer can be seen. There is one adequate solution to these problms, that is to be found only in the Christian gospel. Not that has been found, but rather is to be found. It is there available for you; there is no value if it is not rediscovered."

Leave 2 Convictions

"If I can leave two convictions for you, I shall be satisfied. What do you think of when you hear the words, 'the uncertain future'? Some people thing the future is all fixed; that they can discern into the future. They don't seem to realize that only faith in Christ is faith in the future. There are two possibilities for the future. Either heavenly, ..or damnable. If you rebel against God, there is only one future. If you obey God, there is the second future. The future of Christianity is determined by faith in God."

"One of a minister's tasks, is to help find the right road through life; where does it lead, what's ahead. I am deeply troubled by the road we are on today. I am not a pessismist, but even though the days are looking brighter, I still am certain we are on the wrong road. There are problems ahead, deep problems, and we have the answer to all of them in the Lord's Prayer. Why should we look for any complicated philosophy, when, in these few words, so simple a child can read and understand them, we have an adequate faith for a troubled world."

Dr. Smart pointed out the Prayer means 'we are the children of one father'. He illustrated how the world revokes the prayer in that there are separate divisions as to race, colour, and languages. He said the fact the world is all devided into individual lots, is contrary to the Lord's Prayer. "The prayer means the acknowledgement of one Father, and the worship of one God. He spoke of countries massing armed strength and attacking others; of one little state invading other states while the prayer acclaims the entire world as God's country.

"There is an abundance of food in the world today", Dr. Smart continued. "And yet, men starve. The Lord's Prayer means we are all partakers of one bread; given by all, and shared by all."

Much World Distress

"The world is torn with hatred, and vengeance, a vengeance that is sometimes called 'justice', to make it sound more noble. Yet the prayer calls upon us to be sharers; to forgive with a cheerful spirit, the same as God does. The Lord's Prayer rises up in answer to a dark world ahead; we see the prayer every day; it lies before us like a gold-mine, but we do not know it is there. But it will do more than any diplomat to set us on the right road."

Dr. Smart told the congregation they are living in an age of nationalism, and because modern inventions have shortened distances and are bringing us into a smaller sphere, this nationalism is being intensified. He asserted it is causing more distinction between peoples; with each nation concentrating upon itself. He said "Never has there been seen a period of greater frenzied nationalism than today."

He described the American isolation group "American First" as a theory that can become dangerous, and said that Russia's recent change from internationalism to nationalism is also something that can become dangerous. He said there is exploding power in all states of nationalism,....our own, included. If Britain, Russia and America should band themselves together to keep out other nations, it is just a question of time before other nations band themselves together too, and there'll be another war to be fought, and more young men to be killed.

Dr. Smart said another problem of the days ahead is that of capital versus labor, adding that there are usually comments made when that question 's discussed in a church. He said that in the past, two mistakes have been made with regard to this problem; one, is that part of the church merely stands on the sidelines, with the view that Christianity has nothing to do with capital versus labor, and another part of the church becomes given to some particular social program, and takes it as the gospel; allowing themselves to become a political organ. It is not necessary to make any of these errors, Dr. Smart said. It is only a problem of how men are to obtain their daily bread without injuring each other. He said if the church can not do anything to help, it might as well close up shop. Many men and women returning from the forces will enjoy a few years of prosperity after the war, but what then? he asked. "Will the wheels slow up? Will boys who were heroes in a bomber over Germany become people asking or food at our back-doors?"

Something Must Be Done

He said he did not know the answer to that question; but warned something will have to be done in this line, that the time is short.

He expressed his belief that Christianity and the spirit of Christianity can help to find the solutions.

Other problems that are besetting the world, he said, are those of Catholicism versus Protestantism, Jew versus Gentile, and various other racial and religious questions. "I don't like them. There is vengeance in every one of them; in our hearts, and in their hearts. What then is there in store for a world of vengeance? What has Christianity to say about this? Remember the Lord's Prayer, and what it means; the child of one father, worshipper of one God. Is it true? There is no race problem if we believe in the Lord's Prayer", he declared.

He warned against antagonism in our hearts when we think of Japs or other races. He told the congregation to take belief in the Christian gospel whenever we feel antagonistic reactions towards other peoples, and say to yourself: "Our Father.....his Father....God cares as much for him as he does for me!" "If we give ourselves up to vengeance, then we give ourselves up to life. If we do not forgive others God cannot and will not forgive us."

"There is an answer to all the world's ills in Christianity. I believe the solutions to our problems is in the Lord's Prayer," Dr. Smart declared.

In concluding Dr. Smart looked back on the two years and 8 months he has been in Peterborough with St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. He told the congregation they had been most patient, whenever he had anything in his heart, to hear him. He said he had enjoyed a great happiness in his work in Peterborough, and thanked those present for being so very cooperative during his two-year sojourn. He said he knew he would enjoy the work ahead of him in the United States, adding that it is the work God has called him for, and in which he will find his heart's true desire.

Immediately following the benediction G. Wilson Craw a member of the session approached the front of the church and after asking the congregation to remain seated invited Dr. and Mrs. Smart and family to come forward.

Address to Minister

Mr. Craw in his address said:

"The time has now come when the ties which have bound us together as pastor and people are to be severed. We rejoice with you, in the broader sphere of church work, which you are entering, but still we regret that you were the one, who had to get this call.

"You came among us at a time when we needed a real pastor, and the success in which your ministry has been blessed is ample proof that you have succeeded.

"In the pulpit from Sabbath to Sabbath your messages have reflected scholarly preparation. You have endavored to sow good seed, although we fear the ground on which it fell, has not brought forth the fruit, which might have been expected.

"Through these critical years of distress and sorrow, you have been more than a friend to many. No matter when the call came, your earnestness to help, your unfailing dependability to render faithful service, and your comfort to the sick and the bed ridden, have proved your worth among us. You have always been a friend, when the need was greatest, and your sincere love of your work has been a great blessing to this congregation.

"St. Paul's always came first with you, and you have worked hard, to make this a great congregation in our Presbyterian church, not only in the temporal meaning, but in a spiritual way.

"We regard you as a true man, we admire your fine sense of honor, and your contempt for anything mean or low, your fearlessness in opposing wrong, and your courage in upholding the right. These qualities have made for a greater congregation and a united people.

"You have ben an inspiration and a blessing to those whose lives have been touched by yours. Your interest in the young people will show great results in the years to come. Your leadership in the Sunday School, and your organizing ability, showed that you at all times had the welfare of the younger members at heart. In fact every organization received from you that guidance and leaderahip, which go to make a successful ministry.

"Even though your sojourn among us has been short, there have been many changes in our membership. Many of our older members have departed, to that higher life above, and in every case you have acted as God's massenger and comforter to those who were left. City congregations see many changes in a year or two, and here I may only point out that you inducted 14 men into the eldership of this congregation. Fourteen men who will never forget, that masterly instruction you gave them in your induction sermons.

"But your work has not been all with St. Paul's, for in the Presbytery, the Synod and the General Assembly your voice has been heard and the wise counsels which you gave the Presbyterian church will be greatly missed in its various courts and boards. We as a congregation are loosing a true pastor, but the Prsbyterian Church is loosing a ministr and a leader which it can ill afford to loose.

"In all this work among us you have had a true and faithful helpmate in Mrs. Smart. Although the mother of a small family, with all the home ties which such includes she has given Christian leadership to the various women's organizations, and has always been ready and willing to help the officers.

"We hope and pray that in the future, the Master will bless your efforts, and that you two, will long be spared to work in His vineyard on this earth.

"Now that you are about to leave us, we feel that we must tell you these things, and express to you our gratitude, for the great help you have been to us, and are you depart from our midst, we would ask you to accept this purse, and you, Mrs. Smart, this gift from the ladies of the congregation, as tokens of our high esteem."

Presented With Cheque

Mr. Craw then presented Dr. Smart with a cheque, on behalf of St Paul's congregation. Miss N. Davidson presented a set of mink furs to Mrs. Smart, also on behalf of the entire congregation.

Miss Mary Curry, president of the Young People's Society, expressed her best wishes to Dr. Smart, and offered him a pocket-watch as an appreciation of his work in the Young People's group. A set of dinner plates was presented to Mrs. Smart by Miss Curry.

As a gesture of farewell, and to wish him the best of success in his new work, Miss Mary Grier, on behalf of the Young Women's Missionary Society, gave the beloved minister a beatuiful painting of Lake Chemong, something by which Dr. Smart will remember the beauty of the districts around Peterborough, that he came to know.

Six-year-old Mary Elizabeth Hunter presented a gift to little Anne and Mary Eleanor Smart, daughters of the minister, and Jean Smith expressed her farewell to Margaret Jean Smart with a gift.

Dr. Smart thanked the members and friends for their consideration, and also for their appreciation and understanding of the work he did while in Peterborough. When he is away, he said, the spirit of the congregation will remain with him always.

"Thank you again, not just for tonight, but for everything that has been done during the past two years and eight months, that has made my stay here worthwhile."

To conclude the service, the congregation stood, and sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Many of those present then retired to the Sunday School auditorium, where a social half-hour was spent, and many personal farewells to the minister were given.

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

SIX MONTHS ENOUGH TO WAIT.

Man Must Make Up His Mind About Marrying by Then or Girl Send Him Packing.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 26. College education. Excellent job in the advertising business. Have a sense of humor, but I let my heart rule my head. Recently I have fallen in love with a young man of 29. He likes me tremendously and does not want to go out of my life completely, but he does not want to become engaged or to marry.

I have definitely asked him to make up his mind about us, but he says he is unable to do so. How can I help him to solve this problem of indecision? E.C.

Time for Laughter.

ANSWER: You say you have a sense of humor. If you will bring it to bear on the problem you will see that there is no mystery about it at all, and you will laugh a little wryly at yourself for not facing the fact that the young man is not in love with you; that he has no matrimonial intentions whatever; and that you are wasting your time and effort in trying to bring him to the proposing point.

There are laughs sadder than any tears because they are the camouflage that a woman puts on to hide the wound in her heart, and because back of them there is so much disillusion and lost faith and dispelled glamor and because so much of her girlhood goes with them. But there is something antiseptic in such laughs. When we can laugh at our folly we are cured.

So my advice to you is to write "finis" at the end of this romance. Put this young man entirely out of your mind. He is one of the sentimental deadbeats who picks out an attractive girl, makes semi-love to her, wins her affections monopolizes her time and keeps other men away, but who never courts. The men whose attentions are without intentions are responsible for more old maids than anything else. Don't be one of their victims. Six months is long enough to give any man to make up his mind about whether he want a girl for a wife or not. If he doesn't pop the question by then, tell him good-bye and send him packing

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: The girl I intend to marry is about 19. I am just over 21. At the present time she is working and doing well at her job. We have agreed, should we get married in the near future, that it would be best for her to keep her job and live with her mother while I am in the Army. My civilian job is being kept for me, and it is a good one.

My question is: Do you think we would be doing the sensible thing in getting married this summer? F.W.O.

Soldier Should Postpone Marriage.

ANSWER: I think you would be doing a far wiser thing if you waited until the war is over before you married, for in that way you will stand a far better chance of having your marriage a success than if you make one of the off-again-on-again war marriages that are now filling divorce courts.

Your experiences as a soldier, the girl's experience in business will change you both from what you are now. You will be adult then, instead of a boy and girl as you are now. You will know what you want in a life companion. Wait until after the duration and look each other over then and see if you still want each other before you marry.

If your love isn't strong enough to stand a little separation now, how do you expect it to last a life time?

DEAR MISS DIX: My grandparents have been married for 40 years and they have not spoken to each other for the past 14 years They are left alone in the house to take care of their grandchildren and they play checkers together but they are both so stubborn that neither will say a word to the other.

Can you suggest any way of solving this problem? Julie.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: People that stubborn are more mule than human, but perhaps their silence is a blessing in disguise. I have known plenty of quarrelling husbands and wives who would have made their homes happier if they had been dumb.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Coming to the end of August, we start thinking of our autumn wardrobe and what will be worn. Today we will give you a few of fashion's latest hints. In the first place, clothes will be much more feminine in style, softer and more fancy instead of so very tailored as in the past few years.

Let me describe a coat most suitable for the woman or girl whose height is around 5' 5". This coat is straight in line, with a narow belt around the natural waistline. It has two large buttons, giving it a double brested effect. The shawl collar, which comes right to the waistline, is of platina-dyed white fox. The colors are either black or for the junior miss, teal blue, with white fox trim.

A smart dress is in one piece, with the front of the skirt in six deep pleats and a plain waist with V neckline. Two pockets on the waist are touched with the elegance of gleaming nail-heads and the belt is also touched up with nail-heads. With the dress is worn a small pill box turban, sitting well forward and over the brow with a hair bandeau around the back, trimmed with a flat bow.

The fur coats are very smart this winter but they too are made more on the dressmaker style. One coat, knee length, with skirt very slim, has a draped blouse effect, and full sleeves. A nailstudded sash hugs the waistline firmly. The fur in this coat is a tightly curled Persian Lamb in black.

For the junior miss, a suit, with companion coat made in the new all season stripes, and a smart felt beret make a complete ensemble.

For dresses and hats black is leading. Black crepe dresses are soft and lovely and may be worn any hour of the day. Small black turbans or off-the-face hats are worn with them. These are the dresses and hats planned for Indian summer and mid-fall.

Now for a few words about hats. This is not the season to clasp a plain hat on your head, snare it with veiling and call it a hat. This is not the autumn when you will meet your hat coming down every street Incessant repetition is out. There is a smart black suit, and with it wear a draped turban of bronze satin or a drooped brim sailor in vermilion velvet with a trimming of roses. Another sailor has a straight brim about 3" wide, in beige felt, with four black birds flat on the brim and a black veil worn tight over the face.

For an afternoon hat to wear with a black suit or dress, choose a white satin sailor with ostrich feather bandeau. Hats are hats again with their trim of feathers and flowers. A black silk velvet hat can be trimmed with either plumes or flowers in the turning-leaf colors. All these fashion hints you will find right up to date.

We'll do your decorating or advise you what you need.

Years of experience assures you of satisfaction

Blind Italian Kills Daughters

TORONTO, Aug. 26.—(CP). — Joseph Moro, 57, was to be arraigned in police court to-day on a charge of murder in the death of his three-year-old daughter, Lucy, fould stabbed to death in thier home on Wilson avenue in suburban North York Saturday.

Mrs. Moro, 46, is in hospital for knife wounds. Her condition is reported fair. Moro, who is almost totally blind, faces a charge of attempted murder in connection with the attack on her.

Moro was blinded several years ago when a delayed dynamite charge exploded in his face when he was working on a construction project in Northern Ontario.

The attack occurred about noon Saturday and Mrs. Moro ran screaming to a neighbor's for help. The child's throat was gashed later. Another child, Lorrie, six, was absent from home at the time.

Braised Short Ribs

A tasty recipe for this thrifty meat is a must for wartime housekeeping

How many housewives, I wonder, have seen this tasty meat in their butcher's case, but hesitated to get it because they had no ready recipe for cooking the ribs?

In the panel, we give our favourite way of preparing this tasty dish. Do try it next time you see short-ribs for sale; your family will love it and the dish is as good nutritionally as it is delicious.

Martha Logan

BRAISED SHORT RIBS

6 Servings

3 lbs. short ribs of beef
3 tsps. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 tbsps. fat
6 medium potatoes
6 small onions
3 parsnips
3 carrots
1½ cups boiling water

Season ribs and brown in hot lard. Add water, cover and simmer gently for one hour. Prepare vegetables, cut potatoes and onions in half . . . parsnips and carrots in quarters. Add vegetables to ribs and cook until these are tender, adding boiling water as required. Gravy may be thickened with flour blended with cold water.

LAWN BOWLING
By HERB MARTIN

On Wednesday, August 30 at 1.30 o'clock, we commence play for the Stratton Trophy. It is for men's rinks and the fee is set at $6.00 per rink.

This Stratton Trophy is probably one of the old trophies, to be competed for annually in the Central Ontario district. It was presented to the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club by the late Hon. J. R. Stratton when our club was situated down on Brock and Aylmer streets.

This is always a good competition and the committee is only hoping for a fine day. In addition to the regular good prizes that go with this tournament, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Graham have very generously donated a prize in memory of the late Wm. Kennedy, Mrs. Graham's father. The late Mr. Kennedy was a great admirer of our club and he could be seen night after night, sitting in the car with his daughter over on Walnut street watching the progress of the games. It was often our privilege to go over and talk to him and he would want to know where so and so was playing. Very often the next morning he would have Mrs. Graham call up to find out how Mr. X. and Mr. Y. made out.

And the thoughtfulness of Mr. and Mrs. Graham in presenting this memorial prize to the club is in keeping with their usual community spirit.

It is not too late to get up a rink and enter the tournament. Give your entry to Chairman H. Freeman or to any member of the committee.

We have some outside entries in and it is more than likely that J. Latt, of Uxbridge, who won the trophy last year, will be back again to defend it.

All bowlers who are left in the club singles are requested to be on hand to-night at 7 o'clock. This takes in all groups.

Drafting Room Beats Aircraft

Friday night the Drafting Room team defeated the Aircraft 10-7 in a close and well played game at the Brinton Field.

No runs were scored in the first. Then in the second Hefernan for Aircraft struck out three in a row and they collected one run in their half. The Drafting Room boys got 3 runs in the third when Correll knocked out a triple. There was no further scoring till the sixth when the Drafting came through with 5 runs while Aircraft could only gather one. The Wingmen gathered two in the 7th but the Blue Print got those back in the 8th and then went scoreless in the ninth. Aircraft threatened in the last when a walk and two doubles produced 3 runs with 2 men being left on bases.

Kemp for Drafting struck out 6 and walked 3 and also got 3 hits out of four tries and Shaughnessy got 3 out of 5. Stewart shone in the infield defensively.

Hefernan was the star for Aircraft striking out five and walking four and also collected two out of four hits.

Quality Field Plays In Sweepstake

Although the field entered in the Saturday sweepstake at the Peterborough Golf and County Club was not as large as usual, the quality was defintely of the best. Not one of the card turned in showed a net score of higher than 76, and most cards added up to around the seventy mark. This could be taken to mean that more golfers are playing nearer their handicaps than in the past or it might mean that their handicaps have been placed nearer to where they will play. However, it makes for excellent competition to see every player walking off the last green with a net score hovering about 69. It is equally hard and just as gratifying to some men to turn in a card of 82 or 92 as it is for the club champion to go round in 72. Excellent progress is being made in the various club tournaments and all matches should be down to the final bracket in plenty of time for the match and handicap committee to decide the matches to be played on hampionship day, Sept. 10, weather permitting.

Joe Watson and Bob Abbott will play off for the right to meet the winner of a semi-final match between two Westclockers, Stan Payne, last year's club champion, and Russell Kitchen. Watson and Kitchen are the dark horses this year but all these men are on their game and the name of the winner will remain in doubt until the last putt is holed. Bill Lloyd finally stopped John McKercher in the MacDonald Trophy and now waits in the final slot for the winner of a semi-final round between Hubert Chown and Bill Cowell.

The finals of the C. G. Graham trophy and the consolation round for Reg Faryon's prize will be held on the big field day and if possible the ladies' division might have a championship match to play off. Further details in this regard will be available at a later date.

Prizes for Saturday's sweeps will be awarded to players who turned in net scores of 69 or better, these include:

Stan Payne whose gross 75, less 8, netted him a sub bar 67.

B. Benson with 94-26-68. F. Jobbitt 88-78-68; Wm. McCreery 99-30-69; J. M. Watson 81-12-69.

A meeting of the match and handicap committee will be held this week and final adjustments made in players' handicaps before the final matches are played.

Sports Day By Day

Incidentally the Peterborough team which has not had a game for many weeks was beaten 114 to 87...Murray Downey who finished the game for Tips Tops in their exhibition battle with the Peterborough All Stars earlier in the season is now in the army and Saturday he pitched for the Army Shamrocks against his own club...Dowey shut out the Tip Tops 4 to 0, holding them to five hits and won his own game by slamming a homer with the bases loaded in the ninth off Big Susie Turner... The summer is passing with a rush...Hamilton Wildcats have commenced their football drills.

Favorites Win Races At Stratford

STRATFORD, Aug. 28—(CP)—Favorites won both divisions of the sixth renewal of the 2-year-old Futurity here Saturday before one of the largest attendances ever to witness the classic for juveniles.

In both the trotting and pacing divisions, the winner was first at the pay station in each of two heats. Edna McKillop, a nice going filly by Peter McKillop, owned by E. W. Fawm, Mitchell, and driven by Gordon Fawm, copped the long end of the purse in the trotting division. Jack E. Herbert, a pacing son of Oro Grattan, owned by W. H. Herbert & Son, London, and driven by Floyd Milton, annexed the pacing division.

RAF Cricketers Win At Oval

After a ten-weeks lay-off the Peterborough Whitaker C.C. met the Picton R.A.F. at Nicholls Oval on Saturday. A well-contested game resulted a win for the R.A.F. by 114 to 87.

The winners batted first and consistent batting resulted in a total of 114. Cpl. P. Forbes, who has played for Suffolk County, was top scorer with 19. Successful bowlers were F. Dyer, 4 for 36 and G. Colbran 4 for 3. B. Roberts made three good catches in the outfield and Pagett deputizing as wicket keeper also held three chances.

The locals took the score to 53 for 4, owing chiefly to a fine innings by Pagett, 26, but the rest did little, with the exception of W. Dyer who hit out well for 16, and the last wicket fell at 87. For the R.A.F. Clempson, a fast right-hander, had the sensational analysis of 9 wickets for 2 runs in 3 overs.

The Clubs will play a return game at Picton on Saturday, Sept. 9.

After the game the visitors were entertained at supper at the Y.M.C.A. with A. H. Radford presiding.

In thanking the visitors, he said that in the last three seasons the teams had met 14 times, including the present match. He also pointed out that owing to the efforts of the R.A.F. at Picton and Mount Hope a sum of $600 had been raised for our local War Victims' Fund by means of exhibition soccer matches. FO. Hall briefly responded for the visitors, and owing to changes in administration it will be the last visit of the R.A.F. to Peterborough.

London Majors have a 2-0 lead over Galt Terriers in their best-of-five series for the inter county senior ball championship. After taking the afternoon game at London by 7-4 the Majors again walloped Terriers 21-3 before 2,000 fans Saturday night. The Majors garnered 21 hits off Angelo and John Torti in the nightcap.

In the intermediate playdowns Stratford Nations lead Waterloo Tigers 2-0. Andy Broder pitched them to a 11-4 victory Saturday. Chatham Arcades eliminated Sarnia by chalking up their second straight 6-5. They won the opener 5-4 a week ago.

Kitchener defeated Tillsonburg in the juvenile bracket, winning their second straight by 6-0, qualifying to meet the winners of the Ingersoll-Woodstock series.

Over in the Niagara District playoffs Hamilton defeated the St. Catharines-Merritton Combines 7-4, earning the right to meet Welland in the finals. Hamilton had the mound services of Paul Wargo, former Rochester Red Wings player who played in Hamilton during the Pony League days.

Alfred P. aPrker's By Jimminy took a bounding stride toward horse-of-the-year laurels with his run-away triumph in the $80,000 American Derby at Washington Park Saturday. That the five-horse field was the second smallest in the history of the 34-year-old classic did not minimize the victory by the big brown eastern colt which tore home six lengths ahead of Old Kentucky, lopping a second from the former Derby record of 2:04 held jointly by Cavalcade and Whirlaway.

Bon Jour Wins.

CAMDEN, N.J., Aug. 28.—(AP)—The weights told the story of the $50,000 added Trenton handicap at Garden State Park Saturday as Bon Jour, under the light package of 101 pounds, whipped the highly regarded Alex Barth with a track record performance for 1⅛ miles. Alex Barth, top weight in the field of nine with 120 pounds in the saddle, trailed by one-half length when Bon Jour reached the wire in 1:49—four-fifths of a second faster than the course mark.

Major A. U. (Andy) Gilles, former well-known Rugby player at London, was killed in action in France on Aug. 15, his family has been notified. He enlisted in June, 1940, and went overseas in July, 1943. His widow and young son, Thomas, live at Niagara Falls, Ont.

Toronto Scottish beat Montreal Vickers 4-3 in a soccer match at Montreal Saturday, earning a one-goal lead for the second game at Toronto in their inter-city exhibition series. Scottish came from behind after Montreal gained a 2-0 lead.

Rugby appeared Saturday when close to 70 players turned out for the first practice of the Hamilton Wildcats, 1943 Canadian champions.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

MAKING IT SUFFICIENT

NOTHING IS gained by getting panicky because you unwittingly committed some irregularity. Everybody does it once in a while, and nobody is going to suspect you of doing it intentionally. The laws provide automatic penalties, and your conscience can be clear if you do the best you can in spite of them. In the case of an insufficient bid, you know your partner must pass on his next turn. It is usually advisable then to select the best final contract you can guess for your side, and bid it pronto.

North: ♠ K 8 6 ♥ 7 4 ♦ A K J 10 5 ♣ Q 7 3
West: ♠ A J 10 7 4 2 ♥ 3 2 ♦ 8 2 ♣ 5 4 2
East: ♠ 9 5 3 ♥ K J 9 6 5 ♦ Q 7 ♣ A 10 8
South: ♠ Q ♥ A Q 10 8 ♦ 9 6 4 3 ♣ K J 9 6

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	1 ♥	1 NT	2 ♠
Pass	Pass	2 ♦

That was the course of the actual bidding in a rubber game, including North's second round pass when he should have bid 2-No Trumps with his spade stopper, and South's insufficient 2-Diamonds. The opponents immediately called attention to its insufficiency, whereupon South promptly made it sufficient with 3-Diamonds. Everybody passed then, including, of course, North, whose pass was compulsory because of his partner's error.

South waltzed home with eleven tricks, losing only one in each black suit, but got no game because his side had not bid one.

The worst mistake an insufficient bidder can make is to correct it quickly. If South had paused to think, he would have realized that his correction of the bid would probably become the final contract. With his strength opposite an original bid, he then should have estimated that a game was probably in the hand and should have chosen either 5-Diamonds or 3-No Trumps, taking a chance on the spades being stopped.

R.C.A.F. To Run School For Navy Fliers

OTTAWA, August 28 — (CP) — The R.C.A.F. has taken over control of the Royal Navy Fleet Air Arm Training Station at Collins Bay, near Kingston, Ont., it was announced Saturday.

The station, however, continues to be devoted almost exclusively to the training of flying personnel for the Royal Navy, an official said. He added that some Canadians were among the Royal Navy trainees, but he thought the majority were from the United Kingdom.

Earlier this week a Canadian Navy spokesman, said that no steps have yet been taken to train an all-Canadian Fleet Air Arm. He was commenting on a report from Kingston that the Collins Bay Flying School was to be used for such a purpose.

He said that Canadians were training at Kingston, Pensacola, Fla., and other Royal Navy Fleet Air Arm stations, but on completion of their courses they entered the Royal Navy and not the R.C.N.

He added it was possible some might find their way to the flight decks of the two R.N. flattops whose sea-crews are all-Canadian.

Announcement that the R.C.A.F. had taken over the Collins Bay station was said in official circles to have no special significance.

"We supplied a good many of the instructors and ground personnel, so we are just going to run the show altogether for the Royal Navy," said an officer.

Iroquois Bags 20 Hun Ships

By LIEUT. WESSLEY HICK, RCN
ABOARD HMCS IROQUOIS AT SEA, Aug. 28 — (CP) — A night-long Channel battle Wednesday saw HMCS Iroquois under Cmdr. J. C. Hibbard of Halifax and Victoria go into action for the third time in three weeks and increase her score to 20 German ships destroyed and three damaged with assistance in all actions from the British cruiser Mauritius and destroyer Ursa.

In the darkness three enemy ships were sighted 30 miles from Brest. The Iroquois, in the van of the Allied ships, opened fire, setting the foremost ship ablaze almost immediately. The other two enemy ships returned fire and missiles ricocheted all around us but heavy fire from the cruiser left them in flames too.

Two hours later four more enemy ships were sighted. The Iroquois, again in the van, scored four direct hits on the first vessel. Salvoes from the Ursa then hit her and she sank. Two of the remaining vessels ran for Audierme harbor but ran ashore and under the guns of Allied forces they too were soon burning.

The chase went on for the escaping member of the quartet and just before dawn we found her hard aground. Once more our guns opened up and four direct hits by the Iroquois finished her off.

Back tracking, the Iroquois and her companion ships survey the damage of beached and burning ships. Seeing an armed trawler that looked as though it might work free from a shoal and escape, the Iroquois sent a torpedo crashing into the craft.

Woman Knits 20 Sweaters

MARMORA, Aug. 28 — (ENS) — Mrs. Albert Bartlett, wife of Marmora's night constable has been making good use of her ability to knit which she says she has inherited from her mother, the late Mrs. James Vilneff. Since 1941 she has been spending many hours a week knitting for the Marmora War Workers. She kept no record of her work until this year. To date she has knitted twenty-nine sweaters and five pair of socks.

In 1941 she did about eighty pairs of gloves and sixteen helmets. The next two years, sweaters and gloves were the order and she thinks about fifty-one sweaters were knitted in that period. A great incentive to her war effort is the fact that she has thirteen nephews in the Forces, eight of whom are overseas at the present time.

Plane Wreckage Found By Woodsmen

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Aug. 28 — (CP) — Arthur Tremblay, 59, and Roland Maltais, 30, woodsmen of Grand Fonds, about nine miles from La Malbaie, Que., today told the Canadian Press of the discovery of the wreckage of an aircraft in the woods about 20 miles from the St. Lawrence River and how attempts to find the plane resulted in failure.

The woodsmen said they believed the wreckage to be that of an RCAF Liberator bomber which was reported missing last October with 24 persons aboard. However, airmen who accompanied them on a later search said it could be one of several planes which have been missing on flights out of Bagotville, Que.

"We found a plane in the woods around Lac des Sables on the afternoon of Aug. 7 and we brought a piece of it with us," the woodsmen said.

"One day in July we saw in the distance on the side of a mountain trees which appeared to be broken—as if by a plane. We decided to go to see it.

"Monday, Aug. 7, the two of us left to make our search. Apparently, it was trees broken by the wind. We continued to walk in the woods. Later, in the afternoon, we reached a plane which had crashed in thick forest. We had reached a distance of 50 to 110 feet from the plane and could easily see the color of the aircraft although the trees blocked our vision.

"A very disagreeable odor arose from the spot which led us to believe that some one had died in the accident. The grounds had been frequented by bears and we could see the remains. We picked up a piece of the plane and began to retrace our steps. We had been walking for about seven hours.

"At a good distance from the spot where we had seen the plane, we noticed a lake which appeared to us to be Lac des Sables."

"On Aug. 9 we returned to the forest at the request of Officer Perodeau of the air force at Bagotville to whom we had given the piece of the plane. He hunted until Aug. 13 without finding anything. The woods are very thick and we could not locate the plane. On our return we reported to the fliers.

"Aug. 18 we again returned to the forest, but this time with three airmen to continue our search. On the 23rd we returned again, still without finding the plane. We have decided not to return with people who are not well versed in forestry. Woodsmen need quiet. They must have time to think, to retrace their comings and goings with out being disturbed. And then, the time is not suited to searching in the woods. It will be much better in the fall when the leaves have fallen."

Reds In Sight Of Ploesti Oil Derricks

275,000 Prisoners Taken Already In Romanian Push

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Aug. 29—(AP)—Swift Russian drives through Romania approached the great oil centre of Ploesti and the capital of Bucharest today as one army poured across a 75-mile stretch on the Danube and another knifed 15 miles inside Hungarian-held Transylvania.

Hungarian and German troops were reported massing in Transylvania, the 16,642-square-mile section of Romania which Hitler gave to Hungary in 1940. The sudden Russian push through passes in the Carpathians gave the Red Army the good base town of Bretscu on a railroad and highway.

(The German radio said the Russians had driven into Buzau, 40 miles northeast of Ploesti and 60 miles from Bucharest. Buzau is a rail and road junction 60 miles west of Braila. The large Danube port which the Russians captured last night.)

The entire Danube Delta was in Russian hands and troops which crossed the Danube on a wide front were racing for the Black Sea port of Constana and the roads leading to Bucharest from the east and northeast.

The Russians captured a large flotill on the Danube and each hour new ships were arriving on the Danube and Black Sea coast behind Russian lines, flying the Red flag.

Already the Ploesti oil field derricks, north of the city, were in sight of Russian troops. Cossacks, tanks and motorized infantry on the plans before the Romanian capital ranged close to the city of 650,000 feeling out German resistance.

Other Russians deep in capitulated Romania edged within 45 miles of Brasov, 12th city of the kingdom with 62,000 people, and seriously menaced any chance the Germans might have

Smaller Nations Given A Place

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(AP).—The Dumbarton Oaks conferees announced today "general agreement" on the form of an international security organization, including a council composed of big powers plus a number of smaller nations.

The conferees in a joint statement declined to amplify the announcement made or to say specifically what authority should be given to the small powers on the council in relation to the big nations.

The statement said:

"After a week of discussions, the three heads of delegations are happy to announce that there is general agreement among them to recommend that the proposed international organization for peace and security should provide for:

"1. An assembly composed of representatives of all peace-loving nations based on the principle of sovereign equality.

"2. A council composed of a smaller number of members in which the principal states will be joined by a number of other states to be elected periodically.

"3. Effective means for the peaceful settlements of disputes, including an international court of justice for the adjudication of justiciable questions, and also the applications of such other means as may be necessary for maintenance of peace and security."

Liberals Forecast New Trend

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 29—(CP).—A Liberal victory in the New Brunswick Provincial election Monday was taken today by Liberal party spokesmen in the capital to mean an upturn in the party's fortunes federally. They said they agreed such an upturn was sorely needed. Liberal governments are in office in only three of the nine provinces—Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Liberal members are powerful factors in coalitions in British Columbia and Manitoba, but in Alberta, Ontario, Saskatchewan and Quebec their political opponents hold the reins.

The 245 Federal seats are distributed among the provinces as follows: Alberta 17; British Columbia 16 Manitoba 17; New Brunswick 10; Nova Scotia 12; Ontario 82; Prince Edward Island 4; Quebec 65; Saskatchewan 21, and the Yukon one. The Liberals now hold 163 seats.

On the basis of Provincial seats won by Liberal candidates in elections in the last five years in proportion to the Legislature totals, the Liberal share in a Federal election would be approximately as follows:

Alberta, none; British Columbia, seven; Manitoba, seven; New Brunswick, seven; Nova Scotia, nine; Prince Edward Island, three; Ontario, fourteen; Saskatchewan two and Quebec 30—a total of 79.

Election authorities said, however, that provincial election results could not be taken as an exact guide to the Federal voting trend.

Alberta No Guide

They cited Alberta, where the Social Credit victory on August 9 might be taken to mean the Liberals no longer had substantial support in that province.

Actually, the Liberals entered no candidates in the provincial campaign and party supporters threw in their lot with the Independents,

Marseilles Observes Liberation Day

MARSEILLE, Aug. 29 — (AP) — Marseille scheduled a formal parade today to celebrate the expulsion of the Germans, but residents of France's second city already have engaged in impromptu processions.

Soon after the German garrison surrendered, one group thrust into the former headquarters of Jacques Doriot's fascist party organization, tossed piles of propaganda leaflets onto the sidewalk and started a bonfire.

Marseille's famed avenue, La Canebiere, was a wreck after days of shell-fire from Nazi-held forts. Frenchmen swept away debris while their comrades marched singing La Marseillaise.

Canadians In Bitter Fighting With S.S. Troops Beyond Seine

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS ON THE SEINE, Aug. 29—(CP Cable)—S.S. troops, fighting with typical fanaticism have been identified among the German rear-guards holding the neck of ground formed by the Seine east of Elbeuf. Canadian infantrymen battled them all day yesterday around a hill just north of the village of Igoville on the north side of the river across from Port de l'Arche.

The Germans have a number of machine-posts there and mortar batteries, as well as artillery supporting them. The Canadian forces have taken the hill twice, they were driven off it once and tonight are on it again.

The opposition was the first of any consequence encountered by Canadian soldiers since they helped to close the Normandy trap on the German 7th Army southeast of Falaise.

The gound rises steeply up from the slow-flowing Seine here and the Germans have good cover and observation. Their shelling of some river crossings and roads leading to them increased today but Canadian tanks are building up a strong bridgehead in this sector nine miles south of Rouen.

A force of S.S. troops armed with machine-guns tried to work around the Canadians and across the Seine behind them near Pont de l'Arch from positions the enemy still holds around the village of Alizay, 1½ miles east of Igoville.

The river is comparatively narrow between Alizay and Pont de l'Arche and flows in two streams, with a long island between. Enemy storm troops tried to cross to the south bank again by way of the island.

These fanatical storm troops also may be defending the neck of land formed by the Seine's northward loop to Rouen. French-speaking and Western Canadian troops have been meeting opposition in this loop.

The Germans have tanks behind them in that area and may use them in rear-guard actions, although they probably were on the way to one of the enemy's chief escape crossings of the river at Rouen.

Around Elbeuf yesterday you could hear German shells coming over regularly and the enemy also tried to interfere with the crossing of Canadian tanks by mortar fire.

Sherman tanks kept crossing bridges laid by army engineers all day and a group of them helped the Canadian infantry to regain the hill north of Igoville, which the enemy seems to want to hold at all cost.

Along most parts of the Canadians' Seine bridgeheads it has been a day of bitter fighting.

Rhone Trap Closed On Germans

French Turn South Aiming At Spanish Border

By GEORGE TUCKER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ROME, Aug. 29 (AP) — French troops of the 7th Army, in sweeps well west of the Rhone in Southern France, reached Uzes and drove through Nimes today, forming a solid southern buffer to help wipe out the battered German 19th Army already cut off by an American surprise thrust far to the north.

From Nimes, a city of 93,758 population 14 miles beyond the Rhone, one French column turned southwest along the coast in a drive toward the French-Spanish border.

Other French columns extending west and northwest of Avignon for at least 24 miles to the Uzes area won control of a triangular region north of which the fleeing Germans are being pressed against the Americans north of Montelimar, some 45 miles from Avignon.

The flying column under the command of Brig.-Gen. Frederick Butler which reached the Montelimar area Friday, after inflicting wholesale punishment on at least one force of 15,000 German troops, killing many and possibly knocking out the remainder, continued to spread out through the entire region.

Reports from there said roads were strewn with destroyed German transport and other vehicles.

American forces on the eastern coastal flank late yesterday drove into Cagnes, 10 miles northeast of Cannes, and Vence, five miles inland due north of Cagnes—advances which placed them five miles from Nice and only 20 miles from the Italian frontier.

Many Prisoners

Thousands of German troops fell into Allied hands with the surrender of the enemy in Marseille. The full liberation of Marseille and Toulon gives the Allies adequate port facilities for any operations necessary, not only for the military campaign but for rehabilitation of the liberated areas.

Surrender of forts on the St. Madrier peninsula in the Toulon area brought an end to fighting in the coastal area. The surrender was arranged through Lt.-Gen. Gotthold Schaefer, commanding the German 244th Division and supreme Nazi commander in the Marseille region.

The surrender of the St. Madrier garrison came after the enemy coastal batteries were heavily bombarded by French, British and American naval vessels—including the French battleship Lorraine and the British battleship Ramillies.

Polish Group In London Given Soviet Co-operation

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press War Correspondent

LUBLIN, Poland, Aug. 29—(AP)—The Soviet-sponsored Polish Committee of National Liberation has asked Stanislaw Mikolajczyk premier of the Polish government, Committee President Edward Boleslaw Osubka-Morawski has announced.

Mikolajczyk has not yet replied to this suggestion, Osubka - Morawski said here yesterday at a press conference.

Osubka-Morawski disclosed that the National Committee also offered places in a unified government to three other members of the Polish regime in London. The committee's plan for the new government was presented to Mikolajczyk during his mission to Moscow early in August. Mikolajczyk had delayed a decision until he could consult with his colleagues in London, the committee president said.

Osubka-Morawski denied that the London government was supported wholeheartedly by the four major parties of Poland said: "If Mikolajczyk doesn't accept our generous offer we believe the London regime will break up in a crisis. Much depends upon Mikolajczyk."

Tadeusz Romer, Foreign Minister of the London government, is unacceptable in any unified cabinet but he might be useful again as an ambassador, the committee president asserted.

Osubka-Morawski said the Polish Workers Party, equivalent to the Communist Party, had three members of the National Committee, and another, Boleslaw Bierut, was president of the National Council which now is the supreme legislative body in the country.

Declaring that this did not mean the Workers Party is the most important, Osubka-Morawski said, "We've tried to pick the best men for the job regardless of the party."

Boundaries of Poland after the war, he asserted, would embrace East Prussia and in the west would follow the Nissa River to the Oder and thence to the sea, with Stettin becoming a Polish city.

He said the question of Lwow and other problems arising from the new Russian-Polish frontier would "be settled in friendship," with voluntary population transfers probable.

He declared the Polise "won't allow any Germans to remain in Poland, not even women and children."

Japanese Claim Island Victory

LONDON, Aug. 29 — (CP) — Berlin broadcast a Tokyo dispatch today asserting that American troops were repulsed in a landing attempt near Cape Torokina on Bougainville in the Solomon Islands.

American troops have been on Bougainville or a year or more, but strong pockets of isolated Japanese troops still are on the jungle-girt equatorial island.

The dispatch said the Americans landed Aug. 10 six miles east of Torokina on the left bank of the Jaba River but that the Japanese counter-attacked nine days later and cleared the beachhead, Aug. 20 after heavy fighting.

Ghost Interrupts Broadcast

German Announcer Annoyed By Critic

LONDON, Aug. 29 (CP-Reuter)—The German Transocean Bulletin was again interrupted today by a ghost voice, Reuter radio monitors said.

This is the dialogue which ensued:

Ghost: "Are you here again with this utter rubbish?"

Announcer:: "The British think they have already won the war in France."

Ghost: "There is no question about it. We had enough of your lies."

Announcer: "An attempt on De Gaulle's life was made in Paris with an infernal machine."

Ghost: "There will be one for Hitler soon."

Announcer: "The enemy has been able to make some advances."

Ghost: "Now you're actually telling the truth."

Announcer:: "Flying bombs are even destroying anti-aircraft guns."

Ghost: "You wait, there will be an end of those things pretty soon."

Huns Lose 122,000 in Troops Allies 50 Miles from Verdun

Von Kluge's 7th Army Ripped To Shreds In Battle Below Seine

BY JOHN F. CHESTER
Associated Press War Correspondent

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS NEAR THE SEINE, Aug. 29 — (AP) — Allied troops killed or captured 122,000 Germans in the great Falaise entrapment, British 2nd Army headquarters disclosed today, and still more thousands of Germans will be added to the toll from the disorganized enemy retreat across the Seine.

The 122,000—including 30,000 killed and 92,000 captured, a third of the latter wounded—represented a bag of British, American, and 1st Canadian armies through successive entrapments in the Falaise area up to Aug. 25.

The Armies since that time have swept on, pinning the shredded remnants of Field Marshal Von Kluge's 7th Army against the lower Seine, and taking a new heavy toll. The figure was announced after five days of counting prisoners.

Even this huge bag has been swelled during the last three days and will grow again as troops complete mopping up the last three remaining pockets in Seine River loops south and west of Rouen.

British troops fighting across the Seine east of Vernon have encountered a German armored division from Norway and there was speculation about the weakening of the Norway garrison.

Enemy rearguards have been fighting stubbornly against British troops pouring across the Seine east of Louviers and at Vernon, but prisoners asserted theirs had been a last-gasp assignment. Men captured yesterday said they had been without food for two days, that they were short of ammunition and almost entirely without artillery support except for their own mortars.

The men of Lt. Gen. Dempsey's British 2nd Army advanced within five miles east of Louviers at the Seine bridgehead. They have moved four miles east of the meandering river at the Vernon, crossing, capturing the village of Tilly enroute, despite German resistance.

Call In Reserves

In this general area, the remnants of Von Kluge's army have been bolstered by elements of the German 15th Army, which has been deployed between the Seine and the Belgian border in the Pas de Calais department guarding the robot bomb platforms.

It was conceded generally by staff officers that the Nazis were emptying northwest France as rapidly as humanly possible in order to escape an even larger and more deadly trap which is being sprung by the swift American drive northeast of Paris.

This "bag" was the result of two traps—the Argentan Falaise pocket which in effect came to an end with the shambles at Chambois, and the larger loop covering all northwest France south of the Seine.

The mop-up was truly an Allied effort, for it was engineered and completed by British, American, Canadian, Belgian, Netherlands and Polish troops.

A Load Of Beer

WITH THE R.A.F. IN FRANCE, Aug. 29 — (CP).— Sqdn.-Ldr. Chris Leroux, D.N.C., of South Africa, who has 22 1-2 planes destroyed to his credit, is top man with his squadron in more ways than just as a killer of Germans. At his landing field near Bayeux his squadron had built the most elaborate bar in Normandy but there was no beer. So Leroux, after a day's skirmishing over the German lines, got permission to fly to England for the night, and when he came back his Spitfire was packed from cockpit to tail with 40 gallons of beer.

Allied Spearheads 70 Miles From Belgian Border

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 29 —(AP)—Swiftly advancing American troops captured Chateau-Thierry and Soissons today in whirlwind advances which carried them over French soil where their fathers fought to within 70 miles of Belgium and 100 from the German frontier.

On the Seine northwest of Paris the Canadians smashed forward from their Pont de L'Arche bridgehead over the river to within sight of Rouen, where Joan of Arc was burned. The nearest Canucks had fought their way to four and a half miles from the historic city.

South of the Canadians' rapidly expanding bridgehead the British and American bridgeheads were welded into a solid front of 25 to 30 miles when the forces which crossed at Mantes and Vernon joined hands. The assault front was pushed 11 miles north of the Seine almost to the Rouen-Paris highway.

Fighting on ground where in 1918 Americans routed the Germans in the second battle of the Marne, the Americans swept through Chateau-Thierry and raced northward 25 miles into Soissons in a thrust which was rapidly flanking the whole Pas de Calais department where the Germans launch their robot bombs. A new and more deadly trap might be forming around the remnants of the German 7th Army, broken in Normandy, and the 15th Army, in Pas de Calais.

At Upper Marne

At Soissons, where the Allies won one of the closing battles of the last war, the Americans were 55 miles northeast of Paris.

Parallel columns driving north reached the Fismes area 16 miles east of Soissons and reached the Upper Marne at two places between Chalons and Vitry le Francois.

Troops were less than 50 miles from Verdun where a younger Marshal Petain near the start of the last war turned the Germans back with resistance concealed in the slogan: "They shall not pass."

The American triumphs at Chateau-Thierry and Soissons cracked the German Aisne-Somme line and moved the Allies within 15 miles of Reims, 15th largest city in France.

Up along a ballooning front east of Paris, the Americans made advances during the day of 18 to 25 miles. They were within 60 miles of Sedan on the famous Ardennes road of invasion, the same route the Germans used to enter France in 1940. The Aisne-Somme line is the last great water barrier before Germany

Trade Barriers Named In War Causes

CALGARY, Aug. 29 —(CP)—Ray Atherton, United States Ambassador to Canada said here today that "there can be no world prosperity, no guarantees against future wars unless we solve the problems of post-war world trade."

Speaking before the Calgary Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Atherton said in an address prepared for delivery, that the world must succeed in solving the trade problems if the post-war period is not to grow into "just one more pre-war period."

Attempts to solve the problems could best be started in North America. Both Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, and Prime Minister Mackenzie King had stated that "artificial trade barriers and impediments to international commerce are at the bottom of the worst troubles that afflict the world."

"Although Canada and the United States maintain a volume of trade with one another unequalled by the trade between any other two countries, still our normal international business has been crippled periodically in the last 100 years by short-sighted policies initiated now by one country, now by the other," he said.

"Tariffs and other trade barriers have been permitted to grow up on a continent where they are more blasphemous and out of place than anywhere in the world.

"First one nation and then the other has yielded to selfish promptings and has created trade restrictions which have set us back decades in achieving the joint prosperity that a fully developed integration of our two economies could give us.

Political Football

"The question of freer trade between our two countries, of a maximum exchange of goods and services, has become at various periods a political football in both countries. Each time there has been a political decision reached which hampered our joint trade it was reached for reasons far removed from the facts of the case.

"The people of both countries have suffered as a result, producers and consumers alike.

"If North America cannot lick this thing, this selfish madness that multiplies the difficulties of the exchange of goods between peoples, then how can we expect the rest of the world, which lacks both our fortunate situation and our fortunate mutual understanding, how can we expect the rest of the world to succeed where we fail?"

Japanese Units Face Starvation

KANDY, Ceylon, Aug. 29—(CP)—British tropos have captured the town of Pinbaw on the Mogaung-Mandalay railway in Northern Burma and now are pushing on down the line in pursuit of withdrawing Japanese forces, Allied Headquarters announced today.

The announcement said the enemy had left a strong rear-guard at the entrance to Pinbaw, but that it had been wiped out by British forces who found the town itself unoccupied.

In the Kabaw Valley further east, hundreds of Japanese were reported starving to death as the result of Allied flanking moves and air smashes which have severed their communication lines.

One battalion in this sector was said to have lost nearly 1,000 men, incuding all its officers.

Bombs Riddle Seine Barges

LONDON, Aug. 29—(CP).—Sweeping over Northern France throughout the night, British Mosquito bombers blasted enemy rail and road transport from the mouth of the Seine to the German border in continuation of the Allies' round-the-clock campaign to halt all movement between the Reich and the Western front.

Other squadrons, armed with everything from bullets to two-ton bombs, heaped new destruction on one of the last Seine crossing points available to Nazi remnants upstream from Rouen. Still other Mosquitos blasted the German city of Essen, home of the Krupp armament works.

The weather continued spotty over France today but it was no worse than yesterday, when more than 800 American fighters hammered German rail, highway and river transport in five countries.

It was disclosed meanwhile that the Allies have made full preparations for the air defence of Paris which was attacked Sunday night by 25 to 30 German JU88s but has not been raided since.

The twin-engined German raiders Sunday night dropped only small-calibre bombs, mostly incendiaries, it was revealed, and the death toll and damage would have been con-

Thieves Make Whiskey Haul

500 Bottles Of Rye Taken In Robbery

TORONTO, Aug. 29.— (CP). — More than 500 bottles of Canadian rye whiskey were stolen to-day from an Ontario liquor store in Central Toronto by a gang of shopbreakers who battered a large hole through a brick wall with sledge hammers and crow bars. The liquor, at bootleg prices, was valued at $5,000.

The Ontario Liquor Control Board reported the retail price of the stolen whiskey exceeded $1,500.

Police said the thieves battered a hole large enough to pass a case of liquor out at a time. They said the job of making the hole took at least an hour for the wall was one foot thick.

Neighbors questioned by police said they had not heard any noise during the night. The store is close to a railway line and police believe the thieves worked while trains were passing.

Forty cases were said to have been taken and loaded on a truck. Police believed four men took part in the robbery and are being aided by Liquor Control Board inspectors in their search for the burglars.

Liberals Win 36 Out Of 48 In New Brunswick Conservatives Lose 7 Seats

Liberals Promise Abolition Of Road Taxes New Social Measures With 9-Year Record To Their Credit

FREDERICTON, Aug. 29—(CP).—Liberal forces were in New Brunswick's legislative saddle for another five-year term today as the result of general election balloting that saw government candidates obtain a majority of the Legislature's voting power for the third time in the last nine years. The Government party under Premier J. B. McNair, decisively outscoring the Progressive Conservatives and flattening the C.C.F.'s first major try for seats in the House, obtained the election of 36 of its candidates yesterday on the basis of complete civilian returns available early today.

Election of 12 Progressive Conservatives to the remainder of seats in the 48-seat House was indicated, while the C.C.F. group failed to gain election for any of the 41 contestants it put into the field. The available returns pointed to about 27 C.C.F. standard bearers losing their deposits.

The Liberals snatched seven seats that had gone into the Conservative column in the province's first wartime election in 1940, in which the Liberals took 29 against 19 seats for the Conservatives. The standing at dissolution was: Liberals 25, Progressive Conservatives 16, vacant 7.

The Progressive Conservatives, under Hugh MacKay, failed to gain a seat anywhere. They lost four in York, two in Queens and one in Restigouche. The results in the other 41 seats were unchanged from the last voting.

Premier McNair Returned.

Thirteen of the province's 17 ridings—many of which have three and four seats—fell fully into the government column. The Progressive Conservatives carried four. There were no split results among the ridings.

The Liberal constituencies were: York, Kent, Victoria, Moncton City, Madawaska, Gloucester, Restigouche, Northumberland, Charlotte, Queens, Sunbury, Westmoreland and Albert.

The Progressive Conservatives swung Saint John City, Saint John county, Carleton and Kings.

All cabinet ministers were conceded re-election, with Premier McNair topping the 12 men on the ballot in York county, though the count was still incomplete there. Progressive Conservative Leader MacKay rolled up a majority of 1495 in Kings. In York Premier McNair's majority was 369 with 16 of 103 polls to be counted.

C.C.F. Run Last

C.C.F. Leader J. A. Mugridge, in search of public office for the first time, was defeated in Saint John City, where the four C.C.F. candidates trailed four Progressive Conservatives and four Liberals. However, the C.C.F. men in this riding made one of their best showings of the province.

In French-speaking Madawaska, they came closest to election. Two C.C.F. candidates beat out the Progressive Conservatives here and ran second to the Liberals—only riding where they accomplished this.

Like the C.C.F. party head, both the leaders of the other two groups were leading their followers to the polls for the first time. Premier McNair, 55-year-old lawyer, who became government head when Premier A. A. Dysart accepted a County Judgeship in 1940, campaigned on the nine-year-old record of the Liberal government and a 31-point manifesto outlining future policies.

These included programs for basic industries, promising public ownership of electrical services "wherever in the public interest," proposing numerous social measures and undertaking the abolition of municipal road taxes.

While the full popular vote figures were unavailable today, it was believed the entry of the C.C.F. into the field probably provided enough additional interest to run the total vote up over the 1939 figure.

The list of eligible voters was estimated to number 325,000 of whom between 15,000 and 20,000 are in the armed forces. The service vote was extended to New Brunswick soldiers in all theatres at home and abroad, though it was not expected that all those at the war fronts would be able to mark a ballot.

Results of the service vote were expected to be available for tabulation and inclusion with the civilian totals early next week.

The way was wide open to Bucharest. Moscow speculated that Soviet forces would reach the capital by tomorrow. Latest reports placed tankled columns less than 50 miles away.

A northern arm of Gen. Odion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukraine Army plunged through the pine-clad Oituz Pass at Poiana-Sarata and penetrated 10 miles within northern Transylvania, capturing Bretcu and hurling back both German and Hungarian troops.

((The fall of Britcu, in the Hungarian-held section of Transylvania, was announced in the daily Soviet communique, but the bulletin said nothing of any border crossing, since Moscow does not recognize the Vienna award by which Hitler tore the northern half of the province from Romania and gave it to Hungary.

Forming Trap

((This westward thrust through the mountains apparently was aimed at trapping thousands of Germans reported embattled with their former Romanian allies to the south.)

Soviet Marines, landing from ships of the Russian Black Sea Fleet, captured Sulina, Romania's second seaport, and overran the Danube delta by seizing Tulcea, 42 miles inland at the head of the river's three channels.

The Soviet communique said large sea-going vessels can penetrate the Danube with ease as far as Brailia, big grain port west of Tulcea. Braila 15 miles south of captured Galati and one of the last major cities before Bucharest, fell yesterday to the 3rd Ukraine Army.

Yesterday's bag of prisoners was 11,000. The remaining pockets or 12 encircled and broken German divisions southwest of Chisinau were liquidated, yielding 5,000 prisoners Another 6,000 were taken in the drive for Ploesti and Bucharest.

The German prisoner toll in the current Romanian campaign is rising toward the 275,000 mark, and the Germans are reported fleeing wildly, abandoning equipment, in many cases disobeying their commanders and offering only sporadic resistance.

In the north the Red Army captured 50 towns and villages south of the East Prussian border in an apparently significant break into German positions before the Masurian Lakes.

The 2nd White Russian Army toppled the communications centre of Ostrow-Mazowiecka, 50 miles northeast of Warsaw as part of advances along a 21-mile sector of that front. The Russians approached within 9 miles of the Narew river, the crossing of which would outflank Warsaw.

Establishment of a new bridgehead across the Vistula river only 30 miles south of Warsaw at Warka was reported by Daniel De Luce, Associated Press War Correspondent, in a dispatch from Lublin, Poland. De Luce said both Russian and Polish troops took part.

United Church May Use Radio

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 29.—(CP).—A proposal for an extensive program of broadcasting which may ultimately cost $100,000 a year is made in a report of a commission on church and radio which will be presented to the General Council of the United Church of Canada which opens here Sept. 6.

The commission is headed by Dr. James S. Thomson, former general manager of the CBC and it recommends that $15,000 be spent on broadcasting in the next year.

Other recommendations include the appointmeint of "radio pastors" in specified areas; establishment of a control office for supervision and direction of "an aggressive program of evangelization and education through braodcasting"; instruction on radio technique for ministers who broadcast.

The commission also asks that the CBC Board of Governors provide the National Religious Advisory Council with sufficient funds to appoint a permanent secretary acceptable to the churches.

Hockey Players Controlled By Work Order

WINNIPEG, Aug. 29—(CP).—W. Duncan of the regional employment office announced today the policy and procedure laid down by National Selective Service last year regarding professional hockey players will continue in effect during the 1944-45 hockey season.

Selective service permits to enter employment of a professional hockey club in Canada or the United States will be granted to any person not in the age groups designated under the mobilization regulations, or to any person in those age groups who has been rejected for military service, unless the applicant is employed by an establishment of "A" or "B" labor priority rating.

Mr. Duncan said that if a person is engaged by an establishment not given an "A" or "B" rating, a permit will not be granted without the consent of the employer and on the understanding that any time lost playing hockey will be made up in order that production will not suffer.

Labor exit permits will be granted subject to civilian regulations and authorization to leave Canada will be given under mobilization regulations, Mr. Duncan said.

Fire Destroys H. Given's Mill

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed a saw mill operated by Hugh Given, 500 Gilchrist street, Monday evening, in a spectacular blaze that attracted hundreds of spectators. Firemen under Chief Gimblett, using three water lines, had the fire under control in 15 minutes, although the smouldering embers of lumber kept the fire-fighters at the scene for some time.

Danger to other dwellings and buildings on Gilchrist, Donegal and Park streets, was considerably reduced because there was little or no wind, and a drizzling rain was falling. Although the mill itsqelf, which is located near Walter Green's foundry, was totally demolished, piles of cut lumber and other wood nearby escaped with only a severe scorching.

Many Inquiries.

Dozens of telephone calls from people all over the city, inquiring about the brilliant red flare the fire sent up into the sky, swamped the fire department, and the Examiner news room. The local fire station said that one woman who sighted the flames, phoned and salad: "It's a mass of flames, and I don't think you can save it." When the engines arrived at the scene, fire already was spurting high in the sky from the roof of the mill, and a neighboring house was soaked by firemen to prevent it from becoming ablaze.

John Hick, who lives at 490 Gilchrist street, and only a few yards from the mill, told the Examiner he had been in his house, repairing a bicycle tire, when he happened to glance out of the living room window, to see flames leaping from the wooden structure. Rushing out of the house, he saw that many people had already gathered, and the firemen were on their way.

Danger From Wires.

High voltage wires close to the scene of the fire, were in danger of snapping from the heat, and police officers who attended were kept busy warning sight-seers from under them.

Mr. Given operates the saw mill, which was formerly known as the Albion Wood Yard, where the logs are cut into slabs. He is very well known in the Nogie's Creek and Bobcaygeon districts.

The fire was discovered at approximately 9.30, and at first many people who noticed the reflection in the sky, believed it to be the result of some freak atmospherical condition. It was seen by people in all parts of the city, and many spectators at the fire had aroused themselves from beds, to see the blaze.

In the Federal election the Liberals are expected to run under their own party banner, and Ottawa spokesmen recalled that in the 1940 Dominion voting the Liberals presented the strongest opposition to the Social Crediters and elected seven of the 17 members from Alberta.

In elections with in the last 18 months the Liberals were defeated in Ontario, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick. Social Crediters succeeded in their bid for re-election in Alberta.

Liberals take comfort from the realization that no one opposition party appears to be sweeping the country. Progressive Conservative efforts for election failed in Saskatchewan and New Brunswick and succeeded in Ontario. The C. C. Prime Minister Mackenzie King has said the election will not be held before the end of the war but before the statutory expiry of the term of the present parliament next April.

Nearing Lorraine.

In the Fismes area, the Americans were but a little more than 50 miles from Lorraine, which the Nazis incorporated itno the Reich after France fell.

Paris was cleared of its last German resistance. The American 5th Corps seiezed the great Le Bourget airfield where Lindbergh ended his trans-Atlantic flight, and cleaned out the Montmorency suburb. The surviving Germans were driven beyond the French capital.

(A German broadcast said the American advance had carried into the streets of Chalons.)

One American column plunged 16 miles northeast of Meaux to Cuvergnon. These U.S. 3rd Army units were within 10 miles of the forest of Compiegne where the First Great War armistice was signed and where Hitler forced his terms on France in 1940. The stratgeic Aisne River was 16 miles north of this American force.

The second breaching of the Marne took place 10 miles east of Meaux. Crossing on bridges captured at La Ferte Sous Jouarre that force continued driving upstream and its advance elements were reported to have reached Chateaux-Thierry, 13 miles away, where American troops won a historic victory June 21, 1918.

The whole 85-mile 3rd Army assault arc east of Paris was swinging north to within 20 miles of Epernay and Vitry—the back door to Verdun—and was 35 miles away from the First Great War siege citadel of Reims. It was a mop-up on a sweeping scale across the scarred battlefields of some 30 years ago.

A Reuter News Agency dispatch from 3rd Army Headquarters said Vitry had been captured. This would put the Americans across the Upper Marne, 100 miles east of Paris and little more than 50 miles from the frontier of the stolen French province of Lorraine which the Germans claimed as the boundary of the Greater Reich.

Aim at Belgium

Slashing toward the Belgian border 76 miles away, the American units which reached Ouvergnon were 20 miles from Soissons and Compiegne. The Aisne River which flows between these two cities links with the Somme into the last river defensive chain in northern France. A breach of the Aisne would flank any stand Field Marshal Von Kluge might hope to make on the Somme to save the already-menaced flying-bomb belt.

Between Paris and the sea—where the Allies already were reported seizing more of the southernmost of the German flying bomb bases with each day's advance—the Canadians pushed over two bridgeheads to within a few miles of the German strongpoint of Rouen on the back road to Dieppe.

Three other British and American bridgeheads were deepened three to five miles north of the Seine toward Beauvais.

One front line report said that at least 14 robot bomb sites had been found in the mopped-up area just south of the Seine, with increasing numbers ahead every mile of the thrust from the north banks.

American fighter planes flew 800 sorties in attacks on German communications all the way ahead of the assault through northern France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and into Germany. These planes found a noticeable drop off in enemy road and rail traffic in the whole belt between the Seine and the Somme.

Southeast of Meaux on the right flank of the Allied line, other American columns racing toward the Marne swept through Coulommiers and Le Ferte-Gaucher, 35 miles and 47 miles east of Paris, and reached Sezanne, 20 miles farther east.

They also drove to Montmirail, 20 miles southwest of Epernay and 35 miles from Reims, the martyr city which the Germans shelled for four years in the First Great War.

On the extreme right flank of the 8-mile arc east of Paris the Americans pushed 15 miles north of Troyes to Arcis Sur Aube and on to within 20 miles of Chalons and Vitry.

The clean-up of the last three pockets south of the lower Seine seemed likely in a matter of hours as the Canadians closed in tighter and Allied planes maintained day and night patrols pouring bomb, machine-gun and rocket-fire destruction over the attempts of the enemy to ferry or swim to safety

Mass For Attack

Gen. Montgomery's left flank gave no indication of bursting on in a swift follow-up of the German flight in disorder across the Seine and apparent pull-back to the Somme.

Some military observers said a steady power build-up north of the Seine seemingly was following Montgomery's frequent pattern of massing and overwhelming force before a breakout attack.

In contrast to the Seine-Marne front east of Paris where the Germans still were unable to get any real force into action, enemy troops were making a bitter rear-guard fight north of the lower Seine suggesting that the Nazis were determined to guard their vengeance bombing sites to the last minute.

In Paris the last Nazi resistance was being mopped up in the northern and eastern suburbs. It was disclosed that the clean-up was being conducted by the American 5th Corps, including the 4th Infantry Division and the French 2nd Armored Division

The Americans' close-in attack on the great port of Brest at the tip of the Breton Peninsula continued, but there were no detailed reports on the extent of gains.

Police Should Be Given Physical Course

WINDSOR, Aug. 29 (CP)—A Province-wide physical fitness program for police officers was urged by Deputy Chief George Hughes of Niagara Falls, Ont., president of the Police Association of Ontario, addressing the opening session of the association convention here Monday.

He said: "In every municipality there ought to be special arrangements made so that police officers may take regular physical training each week. There should be organized games, such as volleyball, basketball, and outdoor sports, so the maximum number of men may participate, and keep in top physical condition."

Women Police Officers

Mr. Hughes reported that the association had obtained a charter from the Provincial Government. He spoke also of the appointment of women police officers in Ontario cities in the last year, and added: "They are fulfilling their duties as capably and skilfully as veteran male officers, and are a real credit to police forces. Several of these women police officers have been added to the roster of the Police Association of Ontario."

During discussion Monday it was learned the Toronto and Hamilton Police Associations are considering affiliation with the Provincial body. Constable Fisk Gregory and Det.-Sgt. Walter Hagan, presidents, respectively, of the Toronto and Hamilton associations, took part in discussion.

Gen. D. C. Draper, chief constable of Toronto and president of the International Chiefs of Police Association, replied to an address of welcome tendered at the opening by Mayor Arthur Rheume of Windsor.

Organization of safety commissions along the lines of the Kingsville Safety and Welfare Commission, organized by Chief N. H. Grassick of that community, was recommended by H. G. Fester, general manager of the Ontario Safety League.

The importance of cooperation between the police and the press so that both may perform their respective functions more efficiently was emphasized in a speech made by Harold M. Morden, associate editor of the Windsor Star. Problems of the police and the press are parallel. generally speaking, Mr. Morden said, since both are interested in building a better community—and a better community means a more law-abiding community.

Supt. H. Darling of the R.C.M.P. identification section at Ottawa outlined the needs filled by the R.C.M.P. Gazette, a paper published weekly by the Mounties and circulated throughout Canada to supply police departments with information of general interest on crime developments.

Presentation was made to President Hughes of the association's new charter, which empowers it to act as a bargaining agent for its members in bringing into collective bargaining agreements affecting police departments. The presentation was made by Cecil Crawford of Toronto, legal adviser to the association.

Bombers Lash Celebes Base

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 29—(AP)—American bombers have hit at Celebes, supporting arch of Japan's newly-curved southern sea routes, it was announced today by headquarters.

Eleven Japanese vessels were destroyed or damaged Sunday, including four freighters and three small craft at Manado, Northern Celebes. The August toll of Japanese shipping in the Southwest Pacific: 101 vessels sunk or probably sunk and 46 damaged.

Manado is a key harbor in the Philippines - Celebes - German line where last week medium bombers hit a light cruiser and eight other vessels.

Three coastal craft were battered in sweeps around the crest of Netherlands New Guinea.

Truck Srikes Man Giving Cuts, Bruises

Horace George Markwick, 227 Bethune street, was taken to Nicholls Hospital Monday night, suffering from a cut on the left side of his forehead and bruises on the back, after he was struck and knocked down by a truck at King and George streets.

Donald Pierson, Monaghan road, was driving a truck owned by the United Farmers' Co-operative north on George street, and the 69-year-old Markwick, crossing George street at King street, was struck and knocked down.

The driver and a passenger riding with him both told police that they did not see the pedestrian in time to avert the accident.

It was raining at the time and the visibility, according to the police report, was not good.

Nazis Withdraw Into Defences Of Gothic Line

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press War Correspondent

ROME, Aug. 29—(AP).—Forward elements of the British 8th Army, advancing along the entire eastern half of the Italian front, have pushed at one point to within three miles of the formidable concrete and steel fortifications of the Nazis' Gothic line, Allied Headquarters disclosed today.

A communique announced infantry and tanks had surged forward throughout the sector, with Polish forces on the coast occupying the town of Fang and establishing a line on the southern bank of the Arzilla River. Further inland other units punched across that stream.

It appeared, however, the enemy's voluntary withdrawal has ended as the Nazis settled themselves into the prepared defences on which thousands of men have toiled in recent months.

(The United Nations radio in Algiers said Lt.-Gen. Clark had announced his Allied 5th Army has taken a total of 47,000 Nazi prisoners thus far in the campaign.)

The Poles found Nano heavily booby-trapped. Headquarters said 25 mines were removed from one house alone.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

NOTICE TO EMPLOYERS AND THEIR MALE EMPLOYEES

By an order signed on August 15th, 1944, by the undersigned Minister of Labour under authority of National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations:

1. Commencing August 22nd, 1944, every employer is required to check the documents held by each newly engaged male employee, within 7 days of the employee's engagement, to determine if such employee possess documents to show that he is in good standing under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations (that is, in relation to the Military Call-up);

2. Every employer must report on Schedule 9 to the Registrar for his Mobilization Division, concerning any employee found not to possess documents as referred to;

3. Every employer is required similarly to check the documents held by each male employee newly engaged between May 1st, 1944, and August 22nd, 1944, and to report to the Registrar for his Mobilization Division by August 29th, 1944, on any such employee found not to possess documents as referred to;

4. Any male employee here referred to, is required by the Regulations to present his documents to his employer for purposes of inspection;

5. Penalties are provided for any employer or male employee who fails to comply with these Regulations.

By an earlier order, employers were required to check the documents held by their male employees, and to report by May 1st, 1944, on doubtful cases as well as cases where employees did not possess documents. The procedure for the present continuing check, although being notified to employers in "Notice to Employers and their Male Employees", which is now being mailed, is identical with that set forth in "Employers' Guide", which covered the check made before May 1st, 1944.

Employers are asked to remember that they do not report on men who do possess the necessary documents—only on those who fail to present documents for examination, or where there is doubt that the document presented actually proves good standing.

The employers of Canada co-operated very satisfactorily on the first check, made up to May 1st last. This co-operation was decidedly helpful, and is very much appreciated. Further co-operation is now earnestly requested.

Schedule 9 and details as to documents which prove good standing, are available through the Employment and Selective Service Offices.

Toronto Offered 200 Homes At $2,400 Each

TORONTO, Aug. 29.—An offer to build 200 wartime houses in Toronto's parks at a cost of $2,400 eacch was made to Board of Control yesterday by Joseph Pigott, president of Wartime Housing.

The houses, which would be occupied by servicemen's families, would be of a less permanent type than the $3,000 dwellings now under construction on 100 sites on vacant lots.

Mr. Pigott stated the city would rent each ow the park houses for $16 monthly from Wartime Housing, and rerent them to tenants. If the city desired to remove the houses from parks, it would pay Wartime Housing the difference between the amount collected by the housing company in rent and the $2,400 cost, Mr. Pigott added.

No Immediate Decision.

His offer came immediately before Board of Control's departure for Flint, Mich., to view a pre-fabricated house there which is manufactured in a Flint plant. Pending results of the Flint visit no decision was reached regarding the Wartime Housing offer.

Lengthy discussion occurred concerning the movement of 75 temporary houses to Toronto from Nobel, Ont. The houses have been vacant since the closing of a munitions plant there. In Mr. Pigott's opinion, moving of the houses to Toronto would not be "sound or practical." He said the moving would cost $1,000 per house, and doubted whether they could be ready for occupancy in a shorter time than new houses could be built.

On several occasions, Board of Control members and officials of the Canadian Corps Association challenged the entire basis of the Federal Government's approach to the housing question Mr. Pigott has said some arrangement must be effected to enable Wartime Housing to get back funds expended in building the houses.

"It seems there is a terribly sordid element in the whole business," said O. T. G. Williamson, Corps secretary. "We have servicemens wives coming into our office daily, pleading with us to find them some place to live. Yet Wartime Housing feel they have to get dollar for dollar out of the whole transaction. I'm hanged if I can see why they should get back every nickel they put into the propostion."

Blames Influx of Workers.

Mayor F. J. Conboy maintained that an influx of war workers employed on Federal Government work, has displaced servicemen's families in Toronto. The city had sought wartime housing repeatedly but none had been erected. Other municipalities had thousands of wartime houses, he stated.

"I'm willing to have the city lose some money in an effort to provide houses for servicemen's families," said Con. Saunders "I think the Federal Government also should be prepared to lose money."

When the problem was building houses for families of servicemen, the Federal Government should not adopt a "niggardly attitude,' contended Con. D. A. Balfour. The plight of many families was desperate, he stated, adding that the Government and city must cooperate immediately to get the houses erected.

Lawyer's Absence Delays Trial

COBOURG, Aug. 29—(ENS)—Due to the fact that defence counsel, Lieut. H. Gordon of Bowmanville interment camp was not present at the opening of the hearing, the trial of Harold White and Isabelle Smith for purse snatching did not get underway Monday morning. Crown Attorney Harry Deyman contacted Lieut. Gordon by phone and it was arranged to get started in the afternoon. However there were a number of cases in Port Hope police court and when the magistrate arrived back late in the afternoon, Lieut. Gordon had gone back to Bowmanville. It was then decided to adjourn the case until ten o'clock Tuesday morning.

The pair are charged with snatching a purse from Mrs. Adelaide Skinner in Cobourg on July 27 and with attempted theft the same day of a purse from Mrs. A. Lingard at Port Hope. They were later arrested in Montreal.

After court opened, Crown Attorney Harry Deyman informed the magistrate that he had just been in touch with Lieut. Gordon who had said that he was unable to be present and to carry on in his absence. The accused, Harold White, then asked for a remand. Mr. Deyman in reply pointed out that in view of White's plea of not guilty on his first appearance, the Crown had brought witnesses up from Montreal. White had had local counsel and then changed to Lieut. Gordon.

Offered Services

The accused told the court that he had changed counsel when Lieut. Gordon told him that he would take over in view of the fact that White was in the army. Asked by the magistrate as to how he retained the military solicitor, White replied that Lieut. Gordon had said "I'll take care of your case."

"Well there are two witnesses here all the way from Montreal. I believe the fault lies on Lieut. Gordon's side," commented the magistrate.

"That is what I think," agreed Mr. Deyman. "I don't want to send back these witnesses to Montreal and squander county money that way."

The case was then adjourned until the afternoon, the Crown Attorney again getting in touch with Lieut. Gordon. The Port Hope cases had to go on in the meantime and when the magistrate and crown attorney were delayed in Port Hope, Lieut. Gordon left and returned to Bowmanville.

Rotary Club Raises $1,254 At Carnival

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 29. — (ENS).—At the Rotary luncheon the results of the successful carnival held last Friday night were disclosed. The total receipts were $1,254.33.

On motion of Dr. Watson, seconded by P. C. Denyes, the secretary was asked to write a letter of thank to Mrs. Tinney, Mrs. Wallace, the women in the Bank of Toronto, Mr. Roy Barnum, Mr. D. Clapper and also to the boys who loaned their ponies.

Rotarian Calver spoke on the proposed inter-city meeting of the district clubs, for the purpose of providing a weekly holiday for the boys and girls and the secretary was instructed to notify the president of the Picton club that the local club will attend the meeting.

Visitors at the luncheon were Messrs. McGlauchlin, Toronto, Foster of Belleville, and Fairman of Cochrane.

LONDON, Aug. 29 — (CP) — Marshal Tito announced today his Yugoslav Partisans have captured the fortified enemy stronghold of Palisad Zlaticor in Serbia, killing 850 Bulgarians and cpturing 120 out of a force of 1,400.

His broadcast communique also said a Polish battalion formed in Yugoslavia had particularly distinguished itself in Bosnia.

Lunge Escapes Twice Flattens Fish Hook

GORE'S LANDING, Aug. 29 — (ENS)—Local fishermen have been active the past few days trolling for the biggest 'lunge in Rice Lake. Norman Sharples of Toronto, who owns a cottage on the bay, was out trolling around the bar, a sunken island between the pier and Black Island, which has, been excellent fishing ground for years. Feeling a tug, he brought in a huge muskie to the side of the boat. He said it was a long, large fish. As he was getting a gaff ready to bring it in, the 'lunge tore loose, flattening the hook.

On Saturday, Milton Ames took a guest out throlling and in the same place, he hooked a 'lunge, which made it's getaway in the same manner, flattening the hook.

Among the many boats bringing in lunge were Joe Harris on Saturday who caught a 15 pounder, and his wife caught another nice one on Saturday afternoon. Karl Harris caught two lunge weighing 9 and 5 pounds respectively, on Sunday.

Girl Guides Make Two Presentations

GORE'S LANDING, Aug. 29 — ENS — The Girl Guides made two presentations on Thursday evening, when they met at the rectory and presented their Captain, Mrs. Lloyd Delaney, with a pink and blue baby blanket for her small son, Paul James.

A gift of pictures was also made to one of their members Laura Eagleson who left Gores Landing last week for Bailieboro, her new home, with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Eagleson and brother Murray. The Eagleson family formerly lived near Fenella and have been in Gores Landing for the past two years.

Patriots Occupy Gateway To Italy

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 — (AP) — French forces of the interior and Italian patriots have occupied the St. Bernard pass between France and Italy (apparently the Little Bernard Pass), the BBC said today, quoting Swiss reports.

Teh Little Bernard, which some modern scholars say Hannibal used in crossing the Alps during the second Punic War, leads from the Isere valley in eastern France to Aosta, in the northwestern corner of Italy. The great St. Bernard crosses the Alps between the Italy and Switzerland.

Gore's Landing News

A real estate deal was completed recently by J. D. Fowlie who sold a lot stretching from the County road to the shores of Rice Lake to Mr. Medcof, a public school teacher of Toronto. The lot is immediatelly east of the property owned by Henly Sorley. Mr. Medcof, who expects to retire in two years intends to build a permanent home on this site.

Kinsmen Club Observes Charter Night

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 29 (ENS) — Over one hundred Kinsmen from Peterborough, Belleville, Trenton, Tweed, and Marmora joined the local club in celebrating their Charter night.

President Mat. Currie of the Belleville Club presided and introduced the visiting presidents and non-Kinsmen guests. These included Mayor Long, W. A. Goodfellow, M. P. P., Harold Carr, Ex.-M. P., Bert Taylor, President of the Rotary Club, Mike Corrigan, Pres. of the Marmora Club, Jerry Quinn of the Tweed Club, Ken Smylie of the Peterborough Club and Bob Ford of the Trenton Club.

Past National President Knechtal of Hanover, presented the Charter to President Forrest Dennis. He brought greetings from the National President and using the theme of his address to the National Convention recently held in Regina, he stressed the fact that Kinsmen could take the rough strata and by their efforts could use the shapeless mass as a stepping stone to higher thing. Kinsmen were fortunate in their name which denotes relationship one with another he said and it is the keynote of fellowship. He warned against complacency and urged every member to take a personal interest in the great problems that are to be faced in the world today. There are 129 clubs with a membership of 4,500, which places the Kinsmen in the forefront of the service clubs of Canada, he declared.

Telegrams of congratulations were read by Vice-President Fink from Bob McGillis of Toronto; J. D. Thacker, National President, Regina; C. Kendall, Hamilton; Robert Spencer, Ottawa; A. J. M. Wilson, Calgary; W H Ackerman, Sydney, N.S.; James Basky, London; H. J. Stapley, Regina; K. S. Wilson, Winnipeg; C. Allman, Vancouver; and Lou. Pierce, Saskatchewan.

Officers Installed

The chairman introduced the General Secretary S. H. Bantick, who conducted the installation of the officers. He noted that the membership had doubled in five years and that there were now over 1,000 Kinsmen in the armed services. He congratulated the local club on the selection of their officers, for success depended largely on the personnel of the leaders. These are:

President, Forrest R. Dennis; Vice-Pres. Jack F. Fink; Treasurer W. J. Callaghan; Secretary, Ken Kingston; Directors Roy Barnum and Harold Doheer; Bulletin Editor Ron Hazall.

Past President Cleo Colling on behalf of the Belleville Club presented two pictures of their Majesty's The King and Queen.

President Forrest Dennis, thanked all who had helped to make the Kinsmens Club a success. He stated that nearly $400 had already been contributed toward the "Milk for Britain" fund and that several cases of local need had been given attention. He said that the Kinsmen would be there to welcome all the boys back from overseas.

Mayor Long thanked the club on behalf of the Town Council for their help to the underprivileged.

W. A. Goodfellow, M. P. P. in complementing the club on its endeavour to assist in the bettering of conditions and in the success it has made in helping the "Milk for Britain" fund stated that the King and Queen being aloof from all political factions represented the whole Commonwealth in personal service.

President Bert. Taylor of the Rotary Club said there was plenty of room for two service clubs in Campbellford and said that the Kinsmen would receive the active cooperation of the Rotarians. H. W. Carr, ex.-M. P. P. expressed pleasure and good wishes for the Kinsmen.

BRITISH SECRET INVASION WEAPON IN ACTION—This is the first picture to be released by military censors of the Crocodile flame-throwing tank, one of the secret weapons used by the British in the invasion of France. The Crocodile is a Churchill-type tank, equipped with a flame-thrower that projects a geyser of fire for 450 feet and can actually fire around corners. The tank tows a fuel-carrying trailer. It was revealed that these tanks went ashore on Normandy beaches 35 hours after the first landings.

Roy Holland Overseas Reported Wounded

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 29 — (Special).—Pte. Roy Holland, a Campbellford member of the Royal Regiment of Canada, was wounded in action in France on August 12, according to an official message received by his wife. Ottawa reported that Pte. Holland was suffering from a broken arm and leg wounds.

The injured soldier, who was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Holland of Madoc but had lived in Campbellford for some time had been overseas since February of this year. He enlisted in Kingston in October, 1942, and trained at Ottawa and other points in Canada before going overseas.

He is a son-in-law of Mrs. William Southwell, Campbellford.

Campbellford Boy Forces Hun Surrender

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 29 (ENS) —Corporal Don. R. N. Nicholas, who enlisted in the Midland Regiment and who was transferred to reinforcements for the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, is another Campbellford boy who has brought honor to his home town.

Frederick Griffin, Toronto Star reporter in France, reports "It was at the Chateau that Cpl. Don Nicholas of Campbellford did a job of sublime devotion and courage, which according to his Colonel really led to its capture. As his platoon was advancing it was pinned down by the murderous fire from the direction of the Chateau, and its officer was mortally wounded. Without orders, Cpl. Nicholas picked up his Bren gun, stood up and shooting from the hip advanced alone. He killed four Germans and caused thirty others to surrender."

Charges Withdrawn

COBOURG, Aug. 29 —(ENS) — Vagrancy charges against Georges McMitchell and Alfonso Briere were withdrawn in police count on Monday at the request of Provincial Constable A. McLeod, who informed Magistrate R. B. Baxter that he was offering no evidence in either instance. The pair were arrested on August 16 during the course of a man hunt in this district for alleged tire thieves. Both are of Montreal.

ALLIES SPEED TOWARD GERMANY — Spectacular thrusts by Allied forces in France are battering the Nazis in all sectors and gaining ground so rapidly that news breaks, on new victories, are being received one on top of the other. Primary purpose of many of the drives appears to be a co-ordinated plan to cut the German army to bits. An armored unit that flanked Paris on the north (1) is reported heading toward the coast. Driving for the German border is another force (2) under Gen. George Patton, that flanked Paris on the south. Spearhead pushing up from the south of France (3) has captured Grenoble. An armored column is reported headed southeast (4) from Nantes. This force may form a junction with units which are said to have effected a landing in the Bordeaux area (5) according to D.N.B., the German news agency.

New City Hall Site

Several sites have been suggested for the new city hall and we believe that the citizens are more interested in this question than some members of the city council have admitted. The Examiner has not either approved or opposed any of the suggested sites, for the simple reason that we supported the plan to establish a Town Planning Committee. In fact for several years we have been urging such a committee. With the establishment of such a committee we feel that it is in a better position to judge suitable sites than we might be. This committee, we are fully aware, has already accomplished a great amount of work. They are all able men and vitally interested in town planning.

When Tracy LeMay, of Toronto, was here this spring addressing a citizens' meeting on town planning the Examiner had the pleasure to sit in on an informal discussion, after the dinner, between Mr. LeMay and several engineers who are now members of the Town Planning Committee. These men were all keenly interested in town planning and from the discussion it was revealed that several of them had been making a study of this question for some time.

Since the establishment of this committee very little has been heard of it, but this does not mean that the committee has not been active, for through the co-operation of the Board of Education, a room in the old South Central School is being used as headquarters, and it is here that maps are being prepared and plans discussed. The men on this committee are all citizens interested in making Peterborough a better city in years to come.

One reason why cities and towns decay is because people build the wrong thing in the wrong place. Most of these people are just as good citizens as the rest of us. They are simply trying to make money by building something, on a piece of ground which they own. Unfortunately one mistake can start a whole neighbourhood downhill. We have seen residential districts developed, shops and filling stations grew up with them.

Other things cause decay too. Someone puts up a new, large office building where it is not needed. Tenants move out of the older, but still good buildings, leaving them vacant. A few people profit temporarily through this expansion, but in the end everybody loses. The process is wasteful. It destroys property values and it breeds slums.

With Town Planning Committees, zoning regulations and other legal restrictions there has been some effort of control in many cities. But besides telling people what they cannot build, the right kind of development must be encouraged.

Some Action Demanded

The city council has authorized Alderman Dutton and City Engineer Parsons to attend in Boston, Mass., some weeks hence a convention at which it is expected they will be able to glean the latest ideas on sewage disposal and other matters relating to public sanitation. Mr. Parsons is president of one of the constituent groups which will foregather in the New England city.

Alderman Bradburn recently affirmed that the council should move to the top of its list of problems, and it is becoming a formidable list, this question of the improvement of the city's sewage system and its sewage disposal plant. As one of the preliminaries in planning what course should be followed, the Council has invited one of the leaders of the Ontario Department of Health to come to Peterborough early this fall for purposes of investigation and presumably of recommendation. From some rural intimations it may be that this action will precede by only a few weeks representations to the Department from neighbouring townships urging that Peterborough's long deferred sewage disposal overhauling be finally undertaken. The provincial authorities have been in agreement with the local municipal councils in waiting upon results from new methods of disposal by which Peterborough could be guided with an element of certainty that was lacking when the present disposal plant was built.

However, that is incidental to the entire project, as is the trip to the convention in Boston. Taxpayers can hardly find fault with its council for expenditure on railway fares. The only official journeyings abroad are mostly necessary and routine visits to Toronto, calling on government and municipal departments. The council did send several of its members on a trip of observation and fact-finding to St. Catharines and Kitchener at the beginning of its enquiries into city hall and sports arena matters. With these and other questions before the community as postwar projects, it might be suggested that taxpayers would not offer adverse criticism of the council if it did spend some extra money in quest of ideas which might be effectively applied here at home. Some of these proposed municipal investments which are pending are intended to serve Peterborough for generations.

It is a rather curious fact that let an elected representative of the people travel about, everywhere he goes he forms impressions of comparison with the old home town and usually returns with some ideas which he considers worth recommending. This is true of members of councils, school boards and commissions, and is a mark of the sincere interest that abides with them to the end of their part in the municipal administration.

The council has on occasion suggested to Alderman Bradburn as chairman of the manufacturers committee to take a week or ten days and visit Toronto, Montreal, cross the border, endeavour to enquire about new industries, some of them embodying new ideas developed since the outbreak of the war, which might possibly become interested in Peterborough. It is not a criticism of Alderman Bradburn to remark that he has not undertaken that more extensive faring forth. Personal affairs cannot be lightly laid aside, and after all the end of the war is not yet here. Apart from those considerations, the attitude of the city council these many years is to be sparing of expense accounts. If they were sure of bringing back some kind of bacon they wouldn't hesitate, but returning only with contacts in goodwill is probably a major deterrent. And yet, in reasonable bounds, it should not be.

Another Prophecy?

The prophetic numerical formula which pretends to prove that the war will be over on September 7, 1944, at 2 o'clock has been exposed by The Royal Bank Magazine. Here is this impressive looking formula:

	Churchill	Hitler	Roosevelt	Mussolini	Stalin
Age	70	55	65	64	61
Born	1874	1889	1879	1880	1883
Took Office.	1940	1933	1932	1922	1920
Years in Office	4	11	12	22	24
	3888	3888	3888	3888	3888

End of War—½ of 3888 equals 1944.
Month and date—½ of 1944 equals 972—
9 7 2
Sept. 7th, 2 o'clock

But before you get excited over all these impressive totals, there is a catch and the bankers spotted it. The age plus year born must inevitably total 1944. The year of taking office plus the number of years in office must likewise total 1944. Double 1944 and you get 3888. Half of 3888 naturally gives you 1944 again. You can work this out yourself, using your own age, year of birth, date of commencing your present occupation and number of years therein engaged.

The war we hope will end in 1944, but if it does it will be without the help of figure jugglers and those who fell for this hoax.

NOTE AND COMMENT

One of the favourite local amusements at the present moment is picking a site for the new city hall. With a large chunk of North Monaghan coming into the city soon it might be a friendly gesture to erect the building somewhere near Lansdowne and Lock Streets.

Why do writers insist at this season of the year in beginning articles with the statement that "summer is waning?" It is unfortunately true but why bring it up just now when we are being told that we are likely to freeze to death next winter if we don't get our coal in without delay?

The German propaganda bureau will probably describe the developments on the western front as a masterly move of disengagement on the part of the Nazi army. However, when the disengagement spread to the German border they will have a little trouble explaining that.

Real War Mongers

(By J. H. GRAY)

By picking the brains of a British genius, Sir William Perkins, the German government and German chemists had a thriving chemical trust in operation as far back as the 1880s. In the last 60 years it has been the undeviating policy of the German state to encourage the growth of the German chemical cartel by every means at its disposal. And for the past 60 years it has been the undeviating policy of the German chemical cartel to prepare the German army for war at home and undermine the war potential of the democracies abroad.

We of the United Nations know well such men as Kaiser Wilhelm II, Hindenburg and Ludendorff; Hitler, Goering, Goebbels, Thyssen and Krupp. But how many Canadians have ever heard of Dr. Carl Druisberg, who founded I. G. Farben in 1904 and guided and controlled it for 30 years? Or do such names as Professor Fritz Haber, Dr. Walter Druisberg, Frederick Bayer, Professor Bosch, Dr. H. Schmitz, Dr. Carl Zeiss, Dr. Ernest Abbe and Professor Siegfried Czapski mean anything to us? It is unlikely. And yet, without them, Germany could never have embarked upon World War I and we would not how be engaged in beating down the second attempt of the Germans for world mastery within a generation.

The I. G. Farbenindustrie, the first great amalgamation of the German chemical industry was formed in 1904 by Dr. Walter Druisberg. A half-dozen related chemical industries were welded into one. Since then the I. G. Farbenindustrie has expanded in all directions. Nobody knows for certain, except the top Farben men themselves, how far this expansion has gone. But Joseph Borkin and Charles A. Welsh, in "Germany's Master Plan," list one hundred separate industries, many of which have many plants in Germany and scores throughout the world.

The importance of I. G. Farben to German industry and the German war machine may be gauged from a mere recital of some of the industries which it dominated in Germany. Here are a few: Coal-tar dye stuffs and allied products, organic and inorganic chemistry, solvents for paints and varnishes, preservaitves of all kinds, tanning agents, mineral colors, synthetics of all kinds, compressed and rare gasses light and heavy metals including aluminum and magnesium, chemical machinery and equipment, pharmaceutical products involving hundreds of coal-tar, sulphur and other compounds, insecticides, photographic products and equipment, cell wool, rayon, celluloid, plastics synthetic gasoline synthetic rubber, nitrates fertilizers and synthetic textiles.

A careful examination of this list will clear away any illusion about the nature of I. G. Farben. It is the chemical arm of the German army. Everything it touches has a war potential. Out of its laboratories came the synthetic nitrogen which made it possible for the Germans to fight the first World War. Out of its laboratories came the poison gasses which played such havoc on the western front. From them came medicinal compounds which not only helped save German lives but cost Germany's enemies heavily when the Germans, through their cartels, shut off the Allied source of supply. The shortages of Salvarsan alone in the last war cost the Allies tremendously on the medical front.

The extent to which I. G. Farben controls the giant German photographical-optical industry is not year clear. But it was this industry which gave Germany its advantage in instruments in the last war which counted so heavily at the battle of Jutland.

The discovery of artificial nitrogen by a Farben chemist in 1913 enabled Germany to go to war in 1914. It was the discovery of how to make rubber and artificial gasoline that enabled Germany to go to war again in 1939. These far-reaching contributions of I. G. Farben to Germany's war-making proficiency will be discussed in the third article of this series.

(The second of a series of articles on cartels and monopolies.)

Election Talk No Mystery

Prime Minister King is puzzled over all the election talk that is going on in Canada. He cannot understand it, and wonders why people speak so much about the matter. He said a stranger entering Canada and hearing all the election talk would wonder if there was such a thing as a war. He hears little but "election, election, election."

There will be many people who will wonder at Mr. King's wonder. There is talk about election because Mr. King has talked about election. He has said more than once that he will not hold an election while the war is on, if he can help it, and will not have Parliament run beyond its constitutional term, if he can help it. But since Mr. King alone can call the tune, this has everybody in a state of uncertainty and expectation on the subject of an election.

There is talk of an election because the parties, including the Liberal Party, are all preparing for one. There is talk of election because of the interest aroused by the series of provincial elections and the apparent prospect of the C.C.F. cutting quite a figure in the next Federal polling results.

Another reason there is talk of election is that at this time the Liberal Party is bringing down social legislation of an unprecedented kind after it has been in office during eighteen of the last twenty-five years. This may simply be a manifestation of the slow progress of social betterment in Canada, but it makes people think of an election.

Last, but not least, there is talk of an election because there are great numbers of people who, notwithstanding the Government's record, think it is time for a change. Whether they will think the same on election day is another matter. So, deplorable as election talk may be, it is no mystery.—Ottawa Citizen.

No Control of the Press

In the British House of Commons last month, during a discussion of the Ministry of Informatoin, Mr. Brendan Bracken said:

"Newspapers do not like any institution which in their judgment can sift news or can prevent newspapers, through censorship, from dealing with the news. I do not blame newspapers at all. The Ministry of Information has no control over any part of the press."

Mr. Bracken was speaking on the subject of censorship and was replying in particular to the question as to whether "any functions of the Ministry of Information ought to extend beyond the lifetime of the emergency."

When The Losing Pitcher Is Manager and Club Owner —By Thomas

Come, Come, George!

From THE WINDSOR STAR

Everything is lovely now. Premier Drew has explained all the trouble away. He just didn't mean what he said, and his enemies have made a "well-organized attempt" to "misinterpret" his blast about family allowances.

Apparently the misinterpretation consisted of accepting his words at face value. Mr. Drew's enemies should have realized that he did not intend them to be taken in their literal meaning. When he said that Ontario could take the $100,000,000 it would be called on to contribute, and spend it to much better advantage on allowances for its own people, he was speaking figuratively —or something. He is horrified now to find that people believed he was suggesting that Ontario money should not go to help other provinces. Of course, that is what he said, but why should people believe that is what he meant?

It has taken Mr. Drew a week or so to dacover that people were being so literal. He has just now awakened to the fact that his remarks caused some resentment. He has probably been too busy, until now, to read the papers, or could it be that some level-headed advisor has whispered in his ear that he spoke out of turn, and had better do something to get out from under?

Whatever be the reason, he has made a very poor fist of talking himself out of the trap he talked himself into. Surely, George, you can do better than that!

Hockey Players Shamed

From THE STRATFORD BEACON-HERALD

Whatever one may think of Major Connie Smythe, of Toronto, as a hockey team manager, there can be no stint of admiration for him as a stout-hearted soldier. He proved his mettle in the Frist Great War as a decorated artilleryman, airman and prisoner of war. He has added fresh laurels in the Second World War and has shamed younger, huskier "sportsmen." Today a grievously wounded casualty, Connie Smythe must still be wondering why it is that so many of the yonng giants he knew best —professional hockey players—have been backward in getting into the infinitely bigger game against the Hun.

We hope that these "shrinking violets" read Harry Grayson's article in Beacon-Herald. This column, having more than once questioned the propriety of radio commentators and sports writers making heroes out of professional hockey players who cracked down oponents, still fails to associate "courage" and kindred qualities with husky, healthy men who stayed at home and played hockey for big money, while less robust lads enlisted in a game that requires courage worthy of the name. We confess to being still nauseated by the presentation of "Young Canada" in war-time as being professional hockey players to whom the cause of human liberty made no apparent appeal. The "Young Canada" meriting public respect was in the skies, on the sea or in the land forces of the Allies.

In his article on Connie Smythe, Mr. Grayson reveals the reason why the hockey manager felt constrained to organize an artillery battery and go to war a second time—because Canadian athletes, particularly hockey players—"disgusted" him by hanging back until drafted. To quote one brief paragraph from the Grayson article:

"Smythe was disgusted by the hesitancy to enlist manifested Canadian athletes, especially hockey players. So he organized his own Battery, called it the Sportsmen's, asked athletes to join. He got 265, the Battery strength, in a week, but not a single professional hockey player. That made him sizzle even more."

A lot of "eye-wash" has been talked and printed about the necessity of professional hockey as a morale-builder in wartime. That old chestnut had better be buried before another hockey season rolls around. Connie Smythe has made the whole set-up look mighty sick.

Rare Singer

A pair of red-backed shrikes obligingly frequent the telegraph wires near our country bus stop, where intending passengers may watch, while waiting, the male bird boldly perched in silhouette against the sky, or sometimes swooping out to make neat capture of a passing bumble-bee.

Below, facing a wide green, is a typical butcher-bird hedge, untrimmed and reinforced by a matted boy-proof tangle of blackthorn, in some part of which there is no doubt the butcher-bird's "larder" of bees and other insects impaled on thorns.

Fledglings are sometimes included among the victims, yet other birds do not seem to shun or mob the red-backed shrike. Turtledoves, linnets, and yellow-hammers perch near him on the wire, and sometimes one might fancy that there were other birds as well, for the red-backed shrike is an accomplished mimic, and in its infrequent song includes the notes of many species.

My introduction to the song of the red-backed shrike (writes a correspondent) came through hearing a tree-pipit on a Surrey green. Then came a lovely passage of the blackbird's song, followed by the twittering of a swallow, then the rising, flute-like notes of the blackcap, and finally the greenfinch's long-drawn "Breeze," and at last I realized that all these various utterances came from the telegraph wires above my head, where a red-backed shrike was soliloquizing softly.—London Times.

Complaints From Rome

During Prime Minister Churchill's visit to Rome, certain newspapers there appeared to him to clearify the present position of Italy and, by implication, to accept her as a full partner of the United Nations. One, for instance, asked the prime minister to determine "whether we should still be treated as a conquered people or a nation that by suffering and fighting is redeeming the wrongdoing of a regime which was its oppressor."

Another paper declared: "We are ready to accept all the necessities of war, but we cannot conceal our profound disappointment after so much has happened to be still technically enemies of the United Nations. We would like to know which law of war governors us."

Mrs. Anne O'Hare McCormick of The New York Times, who is on the scene, remarks that Mr. Churchill must take "a certain satisfaction" in the contrast between the supplicating tone of the Roman press today and the vituperation poured upon him by the Fascist newspapers of that city. And she adds, sensibly, that although he would receive an ovation on the street, the last British prime minister (Neville Chamberlain) had a cool popular reception, when he came to Rome in a war of aggression.

The Italian liberals who now edit newspapers in Rome may feel sincerely aggrieved that their country is still bound by the terms of unconditional surrender. But they cannot alter the fact that the great majority of the Italian people gave every sign of approving the foreign policy of the Mussolini government. Defeat does not automatically convert. And the cheers of crowds who were reviling him only a few years ago merely demonstrate, for Mr. Churchill's benefit, the old axiom that nothing succeeds like success. —Kansas City Star.

Smoking in Church

Arrangements to relay services from St. Mary's Church, Chatham, to an adjoining hall where those who wish can sit and smoke as they listen might have seemed a trifling concession to some churchgoers of the past who claimed the right to enjoy a pipe even inside the church. In some English country churches smoking used to be so customary that pipe-racks, and even spitoons, were provided, and in Wales as late as the middle of last century, the start of the sermon was regarded as a general signal for male members of the congregation to light up. Readers of "The Heart of Midlothian" will remember an important personage who through the whole of the sermon smoked tobacco borrowed from other worshippers.—Manchester Guardian.

Church For Victory

Heads of the Church of England and the Methodist Church have stated that the men and women who are bringing about Hitler's defeat are performing a divine service.

The Archbishop of Canterbury expressed this view at a ceremony dedicating two mobile churches near London; while at the fifth Methodist Conference to be held in wartime, which took place recently at Leeds, the new president, Dr. W. F. Howard, said in his presidential address:

"No wonder that some of us feel that war, with the degradation it brings, is so terrible that nothing can justify it. Yet the overwhelming majority, in the church as well as in the nation clearly recognizes that, in this conflict forced upon the world by ruthless diabolism, there is but one choice to be made. Here stand we. We can do no other. So help us God! For the sake of the ultimate decencies of life, this conflict must be carried through with inflexible resolution until that victory, without which there can be no peace."—British Information Service.

More whispering, and then a flash of inspiration.

British Workmen Wanted Here Premier Drew Declares

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(CP Cable.)—British workmen who have developed special skills are particularly wanted in Ontario, the Province's Premier, George Drew, told a British Press Conference yesterday.

Mr. Drew, whose arrival after a Trans-Atlantic flight was announced Saturday, said he believed that Canada—particularly Ontario which is the Dominion's most industrialized area—was going to see the greatest period of expansion it has ever known after the war.

Questioned about Federal jurisdiction, he said that while there are certain over-riding provisions, the provinces have jurisdiction in social services and the settlement of people. He said also it was his own opinion that any Briton with a war service gratuity could come to Canada after the war.

Mr. Drew disclosed that one of his purposes in coming here was to discuss arrangements for transfer of British funds to Canada by Britons wishing to settle in Ontario.

Another purpose was rehabilitation of Ontario soldiers who would have priority on home assimilation and jobs.

At the same time, he said, he is working on the prob;lem of getting British manufacturers to establish branch factories in Canada. He gave an instance the opportunities plastics and synthetic products in Canada, where wood is plentitful and the fact that at the war's end Canada would be plentifully equipped with machine tools and electric energy.

Mr. Drew declared his belief that in times of great prosperity Canada could support a population of 50,000,000 people.

In the last sixt months, he said, 7,000 people had called at Ontario House in London asking that their movement to Canada be facilitated.

M.P. Defies Law Goes On Beach

LONDON, Aug. 29—(CP Reuter)—Britain's "battle of the beaches"—conflict with authorities over prohibited areas— reached a new stage today when a Conservative member of parliament, Sir Herbert Williams, was fined 10 guineas (about 46.50) for entering the prohibited area of a beach. His wife was fined five shillings.

Sir Herbert, who was alleged to have told a detective that members of parliament were out to stop "this tyrannical conduct," gave notice of appeal.

Holidaymakers were reported recently to have bathed in defiance of regulations after seeing soldiers bathing and since then the government announced more sections of the beaches would be opened.

No Himmler In Kaisers Day

The first split has appeared in the inner seams of German strength and morale.

Will German resistance now disintegrate suddenly, as it did in 1918? Will history repeat itself?

The great difference between the Germany of the end of World War I and the Germany of to-day is in the paralyzing fear that Heinrich Himmler and his secret police have instilled in the people. There was no Himmler in 1918 and no government leader of Hitler's ruthless power and desperate determination. The Reichstag still existed, and with it free speech and an expression of popular will.

The popular will was for peace, and that will was bolstered by hungar and heavy casualties. The Social Democrats succeeded in persuading the majority of civilians that only the militarists and the profiteering industrialists wanted the fight to continue. As early as June, 1917, the Reichstag had adopted a peace resolution. And at the end the Reichstag was steam-rolling toward a liberalized government which would give it the power to conclude peace. The revolution only hurried the process along.

This began with the mutiny of the fleet at Kiel. The fleet had been drained of its best personnel to man Germany's submarrines. For months the sailors had been idle and restless. Finally on Nov. 3, came the rebellion which brought the German empire to a sudden end. The revolt spread to the workers and soldiers within Germany. To crush it, the Kaiser would have to withdraw troops from the front, and the situation there was too precarious.

As disorder grew, the Reichstag demanded the Kaiser's abdication. This was granted on November 9 by the chancellor, Prince Max of Baden, without the Kaiser's approval. Max announced that a regency would be set up, but he was powerless to follow through. The Social Democrats Friederich Ebert at the head. On November 10, the Kaiser fled to Holland, and the following day the fighting ceased.

In 1918 it was the German supreme command and not the people that first admitted the enevitability of defeat. To-day too the generals again know that the jig is up. But this time there is no weakened, amendable government to listen. Instead a fight to the death between Naziism and Junkerism has broken out. The old army generals, humiliated at taking orders from a former corporal and hopelessly frustrated by his errors of military judgment, have finally rebelled. The dissension-rotted core of the German command is now being cut away by Himmler's brutal surgery.

This revolt apparently crept down into the ranks before the new blood purge began. But it may not spread to the people as quickly and easily as it did in 1918. No popular party opposes the government to-day. For 10 years dissatisfaction has been watched, listened to, and catalogued by the Gestapo. Open criticism has been crushed by prison and death. Enthusiasm for war and hope of victory may be largely gone, but fear remains to hold the German people together.

There must be another fear, too—a fear that can reach into the Gestapo and even into the highest Nazi circles. That is a terror of the righteous vengeance of the approaching Allied armies particularly the Russian, and of the 10,000,000 foreign workers held at forced labor within the Reich.

Soldier In France Grateful For Boxes

ROSENEATH, Aug. 29 — (ENS)—Writing from Somewhere in France to thank the Alnwick township women for a recent parcel, Jack Pacey, R.C.A.S.C., says:

"I wish to thank you for the lovely box I have received. It arrived at a time when it was more than appreciated. It is good to know that you, the women of Alnwick township, are always remembering the boys over here, and I am sure that everyone feels the same as I do, in that we are grateful and appreciate all you have done for us. Each parcel that I have received from you contains some treat or comfort that we are unable to get over here.

"Long after this war is over and peace has been restored, I feel sure your efforts to make things brighter and more pleasant for us boys will still be remembered."

In a recent letter to his mother, Mrs. J. W. Pacey, the soldier spoke of a leave spent in Edinburgh and a visit to the Scottish national zoological Park. A booklet describing the park, and a silk hanky 'Frae Edinburgh,' accompanied the letter.

Fish Killed

GALT, Aug. 29—(CP).—A large number of dead fish were seen floating down the Grand River here last week following the flushing of the river by releasing water through the Shand dam at Belwood Lake. Local fishermen believe these fish were drowned as they were drawn through the rushing water of the huge flood gates.

BREAK CLEAN COME OUT FIRING—Who says the age of chivalry is dead and modern machinery has taken the romance out of war? Tpr. W. J. Whan, Belle Ewart, Ont., and Sgt. R. Gladnick, New York City, show that Canadian tankers at least, still abide by the code duello and pistols at dawn and spilled wine are not found only between the pages of books. But it is all clean fun and the lethal weapons are a couple of souvenirs picked up in a wrecked German position. The boys are relaxing between bouts of slugging it out with Jerry with much more dangerous weapons than those shown in the picture. (Cdn. Army Overseas Photo)

SPECTACULAR BUT COSTLY TO CUBS — It's a spectacular spill, but very costly for Andy Pafko, Cub outfielder, and the Chicago Cubs. Pafko, star rookie of the team, slid into second to break up a double play but he was spiked badly and will be out for days. The Cubs were playing the Boston Braves in Chicago at the time.

Aquatic Demonstrations Given At Bancroft's Unusual Pool

BANCROFT, Aug. 29—(ENS)—One of the most interesting events since the outbreak of the war was staged in Bancrroft recently at the York River swimming pool on Station street when Gordon Minty, swimming director at the Y.M.C.A. of Peterborough, brought several expert swimmers and divers to Bancroft to give aquatic demonstrations.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mr. Minty with James Arkles in charge of the local demonstrations which consisted of swimming and diving by boys and girls of the villake who had received lessons from Mr. Minty on previous occasions. The following schedule covers the various swimming feats:

Girls 16 and under, 50 yards, free style—Hazel Vance, only entry.

Girls 14 years and under, 50 yards, free style—1, Muriel Watson; 2, Hazel Vance; 3, Carol Laundry; Jacqueline Maxwell.

Girls 12 years and under, 50 yards, free style—1, Carol Laundry; 2, Muriel Watson; 3, Jacqueline Maxwell.

Boys 16 years and over, 50 yards, free style—1, Verne Tanner; 2, Jerry Severin; 3, Jack Maxwell.

Boys under 14 years, 50 yards, free stye—1, Jack Maxwell; 2, Joe Kavanagh; 3, Jerry Severin. Other entries: Jim Bruce, Gordon Whyte, Gene Tanner.

Boys 12 years and under, 50 yards, free style—1, Wane Walker; 2, Billie Tryon; 3, Don Armstrong; Tommie Armstrong, David Armstrong.

Girls 14 years and under, ½ mile—1, Carol Laundry; 2, Muriel Watson; 3, Jacqueline Maxwell; Hazel Vance.

Boys 14 years and under, ½ mile—1, Joe Kavanagh; 2, Jerry Severin; 3, Jack Maxwell; Eugene Tanner, Wayne Walker.

Girls 15 years and over, ½ mile—1, Shirley Walker; 2, Marguerite Maxwell; 3, Merilyn Bulger.

Boys 15 years and over, ½ mile—1, Don Edwards; 2, Dan Armstrong; 3, Vern Tanner; Tommy Severin.

Diving Exhibitions

During the interval between the half-mile races two local boys, Vern Tanner and Jim Bruce were introduced by Mr. Minty who announced the type of diving each contestant would exhibit and the boys made a good showing. Then as an added attraction Mr. Minty introduced Donnie Jackson, the Alberta low board diving champion; Stan McBride, Peterborough tower diving star; Cliff McInroy, clown. These three Peterborough boys gave excellent demonstrations of diving. Then followed the introduction of Bill Lech, Canadian junior breast stroke champion; David Cottingham, University of Manitoba free style star who gave a wonderful show of swimming. Judges for the various events were three local men, H. L. Skuce, M. Burns and F. Askey.

Beautiful Pool.

The new swimming pool which has been erected on the York River, the first ever to be erected in this village, is deserving of a great deal of credit, as the local provincial policeman, Stanley W. Palmateer, along with a few sportsmen, made the project possible by their untiring efforts in putting this project across. It was done by voluntary offerings from outside firms, local merchants and local and outside individuals.

The grounds are well laid out, having erected three diferent sized diving boards which are erected on cement and stone foundations. The west side of the river is gracefully curbed with a stone wall capped with cement and on the extreme south end of this curbing is a life-sized model of the Canadian beaver in natural colour, busily engaged cutting down a tree. This is moulded from cement. This extradordinary work is the art of Mr. Ciana who lives near Bancroft and is a native of Switzerland, wherein the learned his trade. Also on the grounds are two slides for children, rest rooms and dressing rooms, benches and tables.

Prizes for the various events of the afternoon were donated by the merchants of the village.

Army Sports Are Encouraged In New Order

KINGSTON, August 29—Organization and fostering of sports in the Canadian Army has been re-emphasized in a routine order recently issued by National Defence Headquarters. The new order, which affects all military commands and districts throughout Canada, again stresses the value of sports to all ranks and lays down new regulations governing organization and participation.

With the object of encouraging the greatest possible number of soldiers to participate and thus "materially enhance the esprit de corps of the arms or services," the order states that every possible encouragement is to be given to organization of sports activities after regular training hours in addition to der no circumstances, however, must the regular periods prescribed in the training syllabi. Sports activities uninterfere with other phases of training.

According to the new order, army teams, permission of the commander or D. O. C., may enter garrison leagues which include teams of the Navy, Army, Air Force, and other details of Allied services stationed in the same command or district.

Conditions governing participation in team sports by all ranks of the Canadian Army stated that army personnel may play only with or agianst a civilian team for practice purposes or for exercise but that they may not play in a scheduled league or exhibtion game as a team or team which has a civilian player.

Must Play in District.

Except where approval has been obtained from National Defence Headquarters, army teams may not play in any games outside the geographical boundary of the command or district to which the team belongs. In this connection Petawawa Military Camp is to be considered within Military District No. 3 Camp Borden, similarly, is to be considered within Military District No. 2. Army teams may enter leagues with civilian non-professional teams but may not take part in any games leading to group provincial and dominion championships. The regulation prohibiting army teams to play outside their command of district applies.

While the new ragulations are not intended to prevent individual officers or soldiers from taking part in sports of a recreational nature which are restricted entirely to individual competition, they may not participate in public boxing or wrestling performances other than those organized by the services.

Previous regulations governing Canadian Army exhibition games in the United States remain unchanged. Such games can be played when the invitation has ben made through the United States Department of State at Washington and National Defence Headquarters at Ottawa.

According to Major F. I. Tannen, chairman of the permanent sports committee of M. D. 3, the new order, despite restrictions laid down, has met with the unanimous opproval of all army athletes and sports organizers.

"The encouragement that has been given by National Defence Headquarters to the organization of sports is playing a great part in the development of health and competitive spirit among all ranks in this district, he said, "While periods are provided during regular training hours for sports activities as part of regular military training, organized sports after hours have proved of tremendous interest and the improvement in the morale and esprit de corps of those participating has been most noticeable."

Rained out last night, Trenton and Plazas will meet tonight at Riverside Park at 6 o'clock to settle the deadlock in their O.A.S.A. intermediate A series, now all knotted up with the teams each having won their home game. Yesterday afternoon's rain started in time for the Trenton team to be notified not to come and so they were spared an unnecessary trip. But they will be here tonight to battle it out for the round and the tussle should be just about the peppiest argument of the season, not excluding Saturday's exciting 5 to 4 overtime fixture. The delay will probably be welcome to the Trenton gang for it will give their ace twirler Chorner another day's rest and he will undoubtedly be sent in against Plazas for the third time in the series tonight. Plazas admit that they have found him a decidedly tough bird but they are hopeful that having looked over his wares in two games they will be able to break through his service tonight and salt the round away. Both teams are confident of the outcome and will have their strongest battle array in action for the tussle that means elimination for one club and give the other the right to continue along the championship trail. Trenton are about the strongest club the Plazas have faced all season, but the local representatives feel that they can come through with a winning effort tonight.

Tomorrow night at 6 o'clock, the champion Westclox team, Peterborough's entry in the P.W.S.U. intermediate series will clash at Riverside Park with the Belleville winners in their first provincial playdown battle with the second fixture slated for Belleville on Saturday. The Belleville representatives were to have been decided in a playoff game scheduled for last night but it is presumed that the fixture was rained out and that the winners will not be known until after tonight. One of the finalists is the Mountain View R.C.A.F. Bomberettes team who were favored to take the Belleville honors but dropped the second game of the playoffs after winning the first one handily. Westclox after cleaning up the local final series without a loss in six games are in fine shape for their provincial test. It is not known whether Joyce Withers or Isobel Bullock will be given the starting assignment. Both Westclox pitchers went well against the Bomberettes in exhibition games early in the season. Manager Ab Delahaye will be able to trot out a full team against the visitors and the Big Bens hope to get off on the right foot in the series by grabbing off the first game. It should be an exciting battle all the way.

Rugby Team's Drill

A practice of the Peterborough junior rugby team has been called for 6:30 tonight at King Edward Park and a full turnout of prospective players is expected. There also will be a drill at the same park Thursday night. If the team is to get anywhere this season regular attendance at practices will be necessary and the players who show their interest by faithfully turning out will be the boys who will get the first chance when lineups are being selected later on. Arrangements have been completed for home and home games with Trinity College School, Port Hope, in October and the executive is busy trying to line up more fixtures. There may be a junior team in Lakefield this season and a definite decision in regard to that outfit will be made next week. The Peterborough junior club, incidentally, is starting a draw this week to raise funds and announce that there will be some thirty prizes with a ton of coal heading the list. A complete lineup of these awards will be given later in the week. Friends of rugby in Peterborough will be asked to rally around the club by buying some of the pasteboards when they are offered for sale. Rugby equipment is costly and the boys must have it if they are to play the gridiron game this fall.

Swim Coach Gordon Minty led a squad of Y.M.C.A. swimming club members into Bancroft on Saturday afternoon to present an exhibition of swimming and diving in the fine swimming pool made possible by the enterprise of Provincial Constable Stanley Palmateer and other public-spirited residents of the village. Bill Lech, Canadian junior breast stroke champion, Stan McBride, David Cottingham, Bonnie Jackson, Cliff McInroy and Ed Nicholls were the Peterborough athletes who gave the demonstration and their work was appreciated. After the exhibition the visiting swimmers reinforced by Gordon Minty, Spinner Spencer, B. Simpson and Ian MacDonald battled Bancroft in a game of baseball and were beaten 7 to 4. The Peterborough delegation which included F. E. Johnston of the Y.M.C.A. board of directors were royally entertained by the people of Bancroft. They were guests at a supper and afterwards there was a dance and movies. A fishing trip was also arranged for those of the visitors who were interested in angling and F. E. Johnston took advantage of the occasion to land a fine salmon trout. It was a fine outing for the Peterborough party and they came home loud in their praises of the outstanding hospitality of the Bancroft folk.

They Will Be Tough

If the Plazas weather the round with Trenton they are evidently going to have plenty of opposition from the Oshawa Main Office team who will represent the Motor City in the provincial playdowns. The Oshawa winners include in their lineup such well known athletes as Roy Covert who formerly played softball here. Frank McGarry, former baseball star and Harvey Bennett, hockey celebrity who is a pitcher of note. Scribe George Campbell remarks in his Oshawa Times-Gazette sport column: "They made a much better showing at that than a lot of us alleged experts figured, but U.A.W.A. Bombers, champions of the "Union League," just weren't good enough to take the Main Office, "Big Four" Intermediate representatives. Harvey Bennett had 13 strikeouts and allowed only 1 hit as he chalked up a 3-0 shutout on Thursday night, and last night "Dutch" Hiller pitched the M.O. team to a 5-2 victory over Bombers, to sweep the series in two-straight and Hiller allowed only an even half-dozen hits each night, so he wasn't doing so badly either. Last night his support was weak in spots and the errors proved costly. Bombers now hang up their spikes after a very successful season and the "Union League officials can take a bow for having had a very fine year in their first attempt at organized softball. Main Office will now tackle the winner of the Peterborough-Trenton series, in the second round of the O.A.S.A. Inter. "A" playoffs."

There were only two games under the big top yesterday but they had important repercussions. In the only battle staged in the American League the Boston Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees 7 to 4, took over possession of second place and climbed to within 3½ games of the leading St. Louis Browns who were idle. That the Yanks lack the punch of great New York teams of other years is shown by the fact that Terry and Barrett who divided the pitching duties for the Red Sox passed no fewer than 13 of the McCarthy clan and the Yanks filled the bases four times but only were able to score in two of the frames. Bob Johnston again sparked the Boston attack. In the National League the St. Louis Cards set a new record by winning their 90th game, a day earlier than the Chicago Cubs accomplished the feat 38 years ago. Mort Cooper, pitching three-hit ball, triumphed over the Cincinnati Reds 3 to 2 and thus won the 100th victory of his big league career. The Cardinal star owes a vote of thanks to Ken O'Dea who went in as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning and smacked out a homer that gave the champs the decision.

Chicago Man Shocks Movie Actresses

By JAMES LINDSLEY

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29—(AP)—Leg-conscious Hollywood expressed horrified incredulity today at the assertion of a Chicago chiropodist that "women's curvesome calves are just distorted muscles bulging."

"Preposterous," exclaimed Dance Director Leroy Prinz, regarded as something of an expert on the feminine form. "That cannot be true even in Chicago."

Prinz was agitated also by a statement of the chiropodist, Dr. William J. Stickle, that a man's legs, if he wore high heels, would be just as attractive as a woman's. Dr. Stickle is executive secretary of the National Association of Chiropodists, which is campaigning against the constant wearing of high heels.

"I'll enter my current dancing girls at Warner Brothers in a leg contest against any group of men Dr. Stickle chooses—the Chicago Cubs for instance," Prinz offered. "We'll leave the verdict to an impartial jury (of men), and I don't care weather Dr. Stickle's gang wears high-heeled slippers or baseball spikes."

He added that the doctor "should get around a little more; maybe to Lake Michigan's bathing beaches. There let him look about him, not with the professional eye of a man seeking corn and bunions, but with the gaze of an artist seeking beauty."

"Pouf," said Latin Actress Maria Montez. "Maybe the doctor is out on a limb, no?"

"Maybe pretty legs are distorted muscles," remarked Jane Wyman, "but men seem to like the deformity."

"He hasn't a leg to stand on," cracked Paulette Goddard.

Byron Nelson Sweeps Tam O'Shanter Tournament

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)— Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., spreadeagled a field of 122 professionals and seven amateurs by five strokes on Monday with an eight-under-par 280 for 72 holes to win the fourth All-American $42,500 Open Golf tourament at Tam O'Shanter, the biggest money tournament ever staged.

Three Out of Four.

It was Nelson's third victory in four times at the classic, and he was never in danger after taking charge by two strokes at the end of the second round. Ed Dudley, president of the Professional Golfers' Association, fired a 69 to-day to come from well back to take second place with 285, but Nelson matched that score and won comfortably as other challengers faded in the stretch drive.

The victory was worth $13,462.50 in war bonds or $10,100 in cash to the Toledo pro, boosting his cash earnings for the 1944 tour to $25,700 or war bonds worth $34,252.50. That is a golf-for-gold record, smashing the $19,600 record of Sam Snead set in 1938.

A stroke back of Dudley came Pte Buck White, the Greenwood, Miss., soldier, who tied Harold (Jug) McSpaden for the laurels a year ago when Nelson finished third. Deadlocked at 287, a stroke under par, were Melvin (Chick) Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich.; Bub Williams of Lincoln, Neb., and Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Wright Field, Dayton, O.

Sgt. Vic Ghezzi of Camp Grant, Ill., seven strokes off the pace at the end of 54 holes, wheeled in with a 70 Monday to tie Les Kennedy of Pawtucket, R.I., at 288, even par.

McSpaden finished all alone at 289 as he needed 76 strokes Monday. At the three-quarter post Nelson had been only two strokes up on McSpadden and White, but he beat Buck by four strokes and Jug by seven in the final lap.

Eight Strokes Under Par.

In his winning effort, eight strokes under regulation figures, Nelson matched par on 50 of the 72 holes, registered a dozen birdies and two eagles, and was over par eight times

The decision gave Nelson his fourth major victory of the year, and gave him a 12-stroke edge over McSpadden for 57 rounds in 17 tournament. Nelson has used up 3,967 shots in the 57 rounds for an 18-hole average of 69.59, while McSpaden, the season's big money winner until today, has 3,979 strokes for a 69.80 average. Nelson has been over par only four times this year in open play.

Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., who defeated Nelson more than a week ago in the finals of the P.G.A. championship, wound up with 305 in the All-American, firing a closing 77.

The amateur section of the big-money cirus, which has roared through eight days, needs another day to reach a decision, as three simon-pures tied for the title. They were Ed Furgol of Detroit, a public links star; Earl Christiansen, a Miami, Fla., policeman, and Ken R. Heilemann of St. Louis, a chemist.

After the last two had tied for the crown, Furgol tossed away his chance to win by missing three-foot putts on each of the last two greens. A three-way 18-hole playoff tomorrow will decide the winner, who'll get $100 in war stamps, the second placer $90, and the third placer $80.

Betty Hicks Wins.

Betty Hicks, Californian professional, eked out the women's open championship by a single stroke over Dorothy Germain, the women's Western amateur queen from Philadelphia. Miss Hicks fired an 81, six over par, in the final round to finish with 318, 14 over even figures, while Miss Germain had an 81 to finish a stroke back. Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N.D., tied with Miss Germain two strokes off the pace at the end of 54 holes, blew to an 87 today for 325 and third place.

Miss Hicks picked up $500 in war bonds for her victory, Miss Germain $100 in war stamps, and Miss Tainter $90.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Aug. 29 —(CP) — Repercussions of the new services sport order are being noticed in numerous centres, making the athletic picture for the coming months just that much more indefinite.

When the servicemen were barred from playing with or against civilians in anything except garrison leagues or exhibition games, it upset applecarts of numerous teams which were banking heavily on the aid of uniformed talent.

One case in point in the Winnipeg Blue Bomber football organization, which was forced to close up shop when they lost their athletes in the service. That's a blow to the Winnipeggers, but it can't be helped. Then on the Pacific coast, hockey prospects are said to be quite dull for the coming winter, due mainly to player scarcity among the civilian population.

The one good feaure about the whole thing, though is the added freedom given the services for games within their own bounds. In most centres, good leagues can be formed with service talent available, and they'd provide good competition that should be crowd-appealing.

The services want to encouarge sport among sailors, soldiers and airmen— and the fans want all the sport they can get— so there should not be too much trouble making everybody happy if the thing is gone about properly.

Incidentally:

Winnipeg's football problem quite possibly may be solved by Lieut. Fritz Hanson, himself a Western pigskin artist of varied accomplishments Hanson now is sports officer of Military District 10, and claims he has a dozen or more former Eastern Canada and U. S. college football stars available for a team — if he can find someone to play against ....Add brother Act: Vic Love of Dauphin, Man., will join brother Bobby on the Oshawa Generals line up this winter .... None of the armed forces seem to want Gordon Gelbaye, 300-pound former lineman with Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver football teams. He was turned down by the Canadian Army on the grounds he was too big, and the U. S. forces also had none of the expected love for the fat man.

Newark Bears may relinquish the Internaional lead to Baltimore but the Orioles will have to fight to stay on top.

The Bears, with Danny Reynolds leading the attack, clubbed their way back to within two games of the league leaders as they whipped Syracuse last night, 9-5. Reynolds, whose grand slam home run won a crucial game for the Bears last week maintained his base-clearing tactics by blasting a triple with the sacks loaded in the sixth inning.

The blow was the high spot of the sixth during which Newark scored eight times to chase Hod Lisenbee from the mound and win the game. In addition to his three-run triple, Reynolds slammed another three-bagger as young Don Johnson fanned nine for his fifth win without a loss.

An international sandlot baseball series, four-of-seven games, will be staged at London, Ont., commencing Sept. 15, with the winning team of the U.S. tourney at Wichita, Kans., as the visiting aggregation, according to an agreement reached yesterday by the London club with President Ray Dumont of the National Baseball Congress. The series at London evolved from the inability of the Londoners to represent Canada at Wichita.

President Al Sutphin of the Cleveland Barons in the American Hockey League announced last night the trade of Eddie Emerton and Fred Ferens for Leo Richard and John Horeck of the Buffalo Bisons.

The recall of 13 players from their farm clubs after the close of the season was announced last night by Brooklyn Dodgers. On the list are Mike Ulisney, Eddie Basinski and Ralph Ubranca, of the Montreal Royals.

After spending close to $1,000,000 for thoroughbreds in a little more than a year, William Helas, New Orleans oil man, said yesterday all his horses will get plenty of hay and oats, but his policy would be not to race two-year-olds except his $66,000 Pericles, who will step out in 1945. Helas will shortly have more than 150 equines at his recently-acquired Rancocas farm in New Jersey.

Connie Mack, 81 year old field manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, yesterday admitted he was now skipping one game of each double-header because he had decided to "take it a little easy."

Quadruplets Born

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 29 — (AP) — Quadruplet boys, all apparently healthy, were born yesterday to the 23-year-old wife of an army private, Mrs. Charles E. Lee, who also is the mother of a three-ear-old daughter. The babies weighed about three pounds each.

Boston Defeats Yankees 7-4

Associated Press Sport Writer.

World Series talk was legitimate business in four American League club houses to-day after a routine post-war season planning session in Commissioner K. M. Landis' office but the four contenders were more intereted in vacuum-cleaning the bushes, looking for another starting pitcher.

If there was a footloose hurler in the minors who could win in the big show, operators of St. Louis Browns, Boston Red Sox, New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers would be much interested.

Pitching promises to be the decisive factor in the stretch drive when the Browns and Tigers will enjoy long home stands.

Boston took over second place by clubbing the Yanks, 7-4, in the only game in the Harridge loop yesterday. Red Barrett who relieved Yank Terry in the fourth, picked up his eighth win at Bill Zuber's expense. The Red Sox pitchers walked 13 men but left 14 New Yorkers stranded in a six-hit effort.

St. Louis Cardinals, who have nothing more serious to do than get ready for the opening of the series at Sportman's Park, Wednesday, October 4, came up with three runs in the last of the ninth to shade Cincinnati, 3-2. Mort Cooper notched his 100th big league triumph and 19th of the year with the help of Ken Dea's two-run pinch homer. Harry Gumbert was the Cincy loser.

Lakeshores Beat Burlington Team

TORONTO, Aug. 29. — Toronto Lakeshores defeated Burlington Braves, 18-14, on a rain soaked crease at Mimico stadium last night in a senior O.L.A. fixture. The game, in which wide-open play predominated, was played before a small crowd. Gordon Gair netted nine goals for the winners to set a new individual scoring record for the season.

Others who looked good for the winners were Murphy, Alfred Haney, and the Vipond brothers, R. Jamieson with five was top scorer for the losers. Bill Isaacs and Cleveland Longboat sank three apiece. By virtue of their victory, Lakeshores have a chance to tie St. Kitts for frist place. Two scheduled games remain to be played. Lakeshores play in Brampton Wednesday, while St. Kitts will visit Mimico Thursday.

There will be a floodlight doubleheader at Mimico to-night. Long Branch and Mimico Bantams will clash in the 7.30 o'clock game, while Mimico Juves and Toronto St. Vincents will go at it in the 9 o'clock contest.

Burlington — Thomas, Green, Johnston, Isaacs, R. Jamieson, C. Longboat, Jacobs, A. Longboat, Bomberry, Bowes, Hill, Peters.

Byron Nelson Sweeps Tam O'Shanter Tournament

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)— Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., spreadeagled a field of 122 professionals and seven amateurs by five strokes on Monday with an eight-under-par 280 for 72 holes to win the fourth All-American $42,500 Open Golf tourament at Tam O'Shanter, the biggest money tounnament ever staged.

Three Out of Four.

It was Nelson's third victory in four times at the classic, and he was never in danger after taking charge by two strokes at the end of the second round. Ed Dudley, president of the Professional Golfers' Association, fired a 69 to-day to come from well back to take second place with 285, but Nelson matched that score and won comfortably as other challengers faded in the stretch drive.

The victory was worth $13,462.50 in war bonds or $10,100 in cash to the Toledo pro, boosting his cash earnings for the 1944 tour to $25.700 or war bonds worth $34,252.50. That is a golf-for-gold record, smashing the $19,600 record of Sam Snead set in 1938.

A stroke back of Dudley came Pte Buck White, the Greenwood, Miss., soldier, who tied Harold (Jug) McSpaden for the laurels a year ago when Nelson finished third. Deadlocked at 287, a stroke under par, were Melvin (Chick) Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich.; Bub Williams of Lincoln, Neb., and Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Wright Field, Dayton, O.

Sgt. Vic Ghezzi of Camp Grant, Ill., seven strokes off the pace at the end of 54 holes, wheeled in with a 70 Monday to tie Les Kennedy of Pawtucket, R.I., at 288, even par.

McSpaden finished all alone at 289 as he needed 76 strokes Monday. At the three-quarter post Nelson had been only two strokes up on McSpadden and White, but he beat Buck by four strokes and Jug by seven in the final lap.

Eight Strokes Under Par.

In his winning effort, eight strokes under regulation figures, Nelson matched par on 50 of the 72 holes, registered a dozen birdies and two eagles, and was over par eight times

The decision gave Nelson his fourth major victory of the year, and gave him a 12-stroke edge over McSpadden for 57 rounds in 17 tournament. Nelson has used up 3,967 shots in the 57 rounds for an 18-hole average of 69.59, while McSpaden, the season's big money winner until today, has 3,979 strokes for a 69.80 average. Nelson has been over par only four times this year in open play.

Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., who defeated Nelson more than a week ago in the finals of the P.G.A. championship, wound up with 306 in the All-American, firing a closing 77.

The amateur section of the big-money cirus, which has roared through eight days, needs another day to reach a decision, as three simon-pures tied for the title. They were Ed Furgol of Detroit, a public links star; Earl Christiansen, a Miami, Fla., policeman, and Ken R. Hellemann of St. Louis, a chemist.

After the last two had tied for the crown, Furgol tossed away his chance to win by missing three-foot putts on each of the last two greens. A three-way 18-hole play-off tomorrow will decide the winner, who'll get $100 in war stamps, the second placer $90, and the third placer $80.

Betty Hicks Wins.

Betty Hicks, Californian professional, eked out the women's open championship by a single stroke over Dorothy Germain, the women's Western amateur queen from Philadelphia. Miss Hicks fired an 81, six over par, in the final round to finish with 318, 14 over even figures, while Miss Germain had an 81 to finish a stroke back. Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N.D., tied with Miss Germain two strokes off the pace at the end of 54 holes, blew to an 87 today for 325 and third place.

Miss Hicks picked up $500 in war bonds for her victory, Miss Germain $100 in war stamps, and Miss Tainter $90.

TORONTO, Aug. 29 —(CP) — Repercussions of the new services sport order are being noticed in numerous centres, making the athletic picture for the coming months just that much more indefinite.

When the servicemen were barred from playing with or against civilians in anything except garrison leagues or exhibition games, it upset applecarts of numerous teams which were banking heavily on the aid of uniformed talent.

One case in point in the Winnipeg Blue Bomber football organization, which was forced to close up shop when they lost their athletes in the service. That's a blow to the Winnipeggers, but it can't be helped. Then on the Pacific coast, hockey prospects are said to be quite dull for the coming winter, due mainly to player scarcity among the civilian population.

The one good feaure about the whole thing, though is the added freedom given the services for games within their own bounds. In most centres, good leagues can be formed with service talent available, and they'd provide good competition that should be crowd-appealing.

The services want to encouarge sport among sailors, soldiers and airmen— and the fans want all the sport they can get— so there should not be too much trouble making everybody happy if the thing is gone about properly.

Incidentally:

Winnipeg's football problem quite possibly may be solved by Lieut. Fritz Hanson, himself a Western pigskin artist of varied accomplishments Hanson now is sports officer of Military District 10, and claims he has a dozen or more former Eastern Canada and U. S. college football stars available for a team — if he can find someone to play against ....Add brother Act: Vic Love of Dauphin, Man., will join brother Bobby on the Oshawa Generals line up this winter .... None of the armed forces seem to want Gordon Gelbaye, 300-pound former lineman with Edmonton. Calgary and Vancouver football teams. He was turned down by the Canadian Army on the grounds he was too big, and the U S. forces also had none of the expected love for the fat man.

Newark Bears Whip Syracuse

Newark Bears may relinquish the Internaional lead to Baltimore but the Orioles will have to fight to stay on top.

The Bears, with Danny Reynolds leading the attack, clubbed their way back to within two games of the league leaders as they whipped Syracuse last night, 9-5. Reynolds, whose grand slam home run won a crucial game for the Bears last week maintained his base-clearing tactics by blasting a triple with the sacks loaded in the sixth inning.

The blow was the high spot of the sixth during which Newark scored eight times to chase Hod Lisenbee from the mound and win the game. In addition to his three-run triple, Reynolds slammed another three-bagger as young Don Johnson fanned nine for his fifth win without a loss.

Lakeshores Beat Burlington Team

TORONTO, Aug. 29. — Toronto Lakeshores defeated Burlington Braves, 18-14, on a rain soaked crease at Mimico stadium last night in a senior O.L.A. fixture. The game, in which wide-open play predominated, was played before a small crowd. Gordon Gair netted nine goals for the winners to set a new individual scoring record for the season.

Others who looked good for the winners were Murphy, Alfred Haney, and the Vipond brothers, R. Jamieson with five was top scorer for the losers. Bill Isaacs and Cleveland Longboat sank three apiece. By virtue of their victory, Lakeshores have a chance to tie St. Kitts for frist place. Two scheduled games remain to be played. Lakeshores play in Brampton Wednesday, while St. Kitts will visit Mimico Thursday.

There will be a floodlight double-header at Mimico to-night. Long Branch and Mimico Bantams will clash in the 7.30 o'clock game, while Mimico Juves and Toronto St. Vincents will go at it in the 9 o'clock contest.

Burlington — Thomas, Green, Johnston, Isaacs, R. Jamieson, C. Longboat, Jacobs, A. Longboat, Bomberry, Bowes, Hill, Peters.

BAG THREE U-BOATS—In less than two action-filled weeks R.C.A.F. Coastal Command crews based in Iceland bagged three German submarines. A German U-boat (Left) is shown surrounded by bursting depth charges dropped by FO. Lawrence Sherman, Yarmouth, N.S., and his crew. Wing Cmdr. C. G. W. Chapman of Fredericton, N.B. (Right), won an immediate D.S.O. for another successful attack in which his plane was downed. (RCAF Photos)

U-BOATS TAKE A BEATING—In 10 days R.C.A.F. fliers based in Iceland sank three enemy submarines and sighted a fourth. Wing Commander C. G. Chapman of Fredericton, N.B., was awarded a D.S.O. for a successful attack. His plane was downed in a gun duel with a sinking submarine and three died of exposure before his crew was rescued. Pictured in the Top, Left to Right, are FO. D. J. MacDonald, New Glasgow. N.S.; FO. Gordon McNulty, Toronto; FO. "Johnny" Guttormson, Winnipeg; FO. W. C. Lawrence, Yarmouth, N.S.; Sgt. C. G. White, Camrose, Alta.; Sgt. "Tommy" Harper, Chatham, N.B., and F.-Sgt. G. W. King of Kingston, members of the crew of "T for Tommy" skippered by FL. Robert MacBride of Woodstock, N.B. Sighting a U-boat, they peppered its crew with machine gun fire and sank it with well placed charges. FL. MacBride is shown at the extreme right in the bottom row. Others, all surviving members of Wing Commander Chapman's crew, are: Sgt. Robert Cromarty, Blissville, N.B.; FO. J. M. McCrae, Yarmouth, N.S.; PO. David Waterbury, Wolfville, N.S., and WO.2 J. J. C. Bergevin, Cochrane, Ont. (RCAF Photos)

R.C.A.F. Squadron Sinks 3 U-Boats Good Record Made In Iceland

REYKJAVIK, Aug. 29—In ten action-filled days prior to the air-sea battle in which the late Flight Lieutenant D. E. Hornell of Mimico, Ont., won the Victoria Cross, his comrades on R. C. A. F. Canso squadron here attacked three U-boats and sighted a fourth

All three attacks were successful, with two submarines known to be sunk and the third probably destroyed. Radio silence blanketed the fate of the crew making the sighting. They failed to return flashing "sub sighted" back to base.

The Canadians, who were moved here from an eastern Canadian port early in 1944 as a surprise manoeuvre in the Battle of the Atlantic, have piled up a splendid operational record since arriving in Iceland. Inluding the Hornell attack, which resulted in the first R.C.A.F. V.C., the squadron has dropped depth charges on six submarines after toe-to-toe gun battles. Four aircraft were lost, three by enemy action. In two cases, the Canadian flyers knew that in losing their aircraft they had destroyed a submarine.

Wins D. S. O.

Wing Commander C. G. W. Chapman (Woodstock Rd.) Fredericton, N. B., was awarded an immediate D.S.O. for a dogged attack in which he made four "runs" over a sinking submarine. Badly damaged but still dangerous, the enemy shot him into the icy Atlantic on the last "run-in". Three airmen died of exposure before the crew survivors were picked up nine hours later.

Surviving members of the Chapman crew were: Wing Command Chapman; Flying Officer J. M. "Jim" McCrae, co-pilot (Collins St. Yarmouth, N.S., and Huxley, Alta; Pilot Officer David J. C. Waterbury, navigator, Wolfville, N.S.; W. O. 2 J. J. C. Bergevin, wireless air-gunner, Cochrane, Ont; and Sgt. Robert Cromarty, flight engineer, Blissville, N. B.

Those who died of exposure were Sgt. H. D. Leatherdale, flight engineer, Jarvis, Ont.; Flight Sgt. G. F. Staples, Fredrickton, N. B.; and W.O. 2 Frank K. Reed, wireless air gunner, Leamington, Ont. Leatherdale's widow lives at 236 Queen St., Simcoe, Ont.; Staples' widow lives at Marysville, N.B.; and Reed's widow at R. R. 1, Blytheswood, near Leamington, Ont.

First Job Done

The crew of "T for Tommy", skippered by Flight Lieutenant Robert E. MacBride, 248 Grover St., Woodstock, N.B., started the Canadians on the triple bag. Other members were: Flying Officer J. K. "Johnny" Guttormson, co-pilot (937 Minto St.) Winnipeg; Flying Officer W. C. "Bill" Lawrence, navigator, Yarmouth and Galt, Ont.; Flying Officer Gordon McNulty, of (599 Bathurst St.) Toronto, and Margo, Sask.; Flying Officer D. J. "Dunc" MacDonald, wireless air gunner (268 North Provost St.) New Glasgow, N.S.; Flight Sgt. G. W. King, wireless air gunner (266 Victoria St.) Kingston, Ont.; Sgt. C. G. White, Camrose, Alta.; and Sgt. "Tommy" Harper, Chatham, N.B. Wing Commander Chapman and Flight Lieutenant MacBride both attended the University of New Brunswick.

A few days later, the crew of Flying Oficer Lawrence Sherman, of Yarmouth, N.S., and Vancouver, B.C., culminated a ten-minute gun duel by sinking the submarine with well-placed depth charges, leaving 35 Germans struggling in the water. Sherman was awarded an immediate D. F. C.

Out on patrol two days later he sighted another submarine and never was heard from again.

Other members of Sherman's missing crew were: Flying Officer Gordon Besley, co-pilot, (4 Hewitt Ave.) Toronto; Flying Officer J. L. Harrison navigator, (Suite 205, 1851 Haro St.) Vancouver; Flying Officer F. W. Lawrence, wireless air gunner, Falmouth, Hants, N.S.; Flying Officer R. R. Ward, Wireless air gunner, Middleton, Annapolis County, N.S.; Flight Sgt. F. R. Dreger, 109 21st St North Lethbridge, Alta; Flight Sgt. M A. Gislason (Apt. 6, 489 Furby St.) Winnipeg; and Sgt. J. E. Roberts (57 Galt Ave.) Toronto. A Canadian of Icelandic origin, Gislason went missing in the waters around the land of his fathers.

Gun Duels Feature

Gun duels featured all three attacks, with the Canadian machine guns gallantly replying to the heavier German cannon.

In the Chapman attack, Flying Officer J. M. "Jim" McCrae co-pilot, sighted the submarine before it saw the aircraft and the Canso dropped depth charges before the U-boat gun crews could reach their weapons. Giant plumes of spray from the underwater blasts hid the quarry as the Canso turned to renew the attack.

On the third run, to photograph the victims sliding under the waves with stern at 30 degree angle and with ten German sailors already in the water surviving Nazi gunners got the range and riddled the aircraft with great holes.

Wing Commander Chapman brought his two-motored amphibian down gently in a stall landing. The port dinghy was put overboard and filled with rations, cameras, and film—the treasured evidence of the sinking. A heavy swell burst the dinghy and it sank. Then the starboard dinghy, with three airmen in it, sprang a leak and began to founder. Meanwhile the aircraft began to break up. Other survivors swam for the leaky dinghy. A Liberator swept overhead and dropped sea markers and rations. They fell too far away, however. Another aircraft dropped an airborne lifeboat, while the Liberator and a Sunderland flying boat circled overhead. Seas were too heavy for the flying boat to set down.

Saves Lifeboat for Pals

Pilot Officer Waterbury of Wolfville, N.S., swam 150 yards to the lieboat—a tremendous feat in choppy water for a man burdened with heavy flying clothes. Somehow he reached it, pulled himself aboard, and paddled the lengthy craft over to his comrades. The lifeboat was damaged in the fall and leaked badly but the rubber flotation bags fore and aft kept it up. Some climbed into the half-sunken boat and held up the heads of others, exhausted and weighed down by sodden clothing, unable to get aboard. Another aircraft dropped a dinghy, but it burst and sank after a swell flung it against the lifeboat side.

Nine hours after the attack, a high-speed rescue launch pulled alongside, guided by radio directions from the aircraft. After a stay in hospital, McRae, Waterbury, Bergevin, and Cromarty returned to Canada on leave. Wing Commander Chapman stayed with the squadron.

Flight Lieutenant MacBride's crew sighted their quarry from several miles away and sprayed the deck with machine gun fire as they closed in. The Germans shot back but missed the aircraft. The submarine rose in the water as the depth charges threw up great plumes of water. Then the U-boat turned to starboard, bow down at an 80 degree angle, and sank.

Five German survivors, presumably the gun crew blown from the deck by the explosions, were seen in the water. The sub. left an oil patch a mile long and 400 yards wide.

The submarine which Sherman sent to the bottom was the first he had sighted in more than 800 hours of ocean-combing. For ten minutes, it threw up "flak" at the dodging Canso as the Canadian gunners vigorously replied. Then, getting in close, Sherman dropped his depth charges in a perfect "straddle." The U-boat vainly turned in a frantic effort at escape. When it sank, 35 Germans were in the water, clinging to rubber dinghies and pieces of wreckage. Before the submarine disappeared however, Flying Oficer Besley obtained a series o photographs with a hand camera which showed the attack and the U-boat's last moments.

Jubilant at their good luck, the Sherman crew took off again next night in quest of another kill. The next morning they radioed "sub sighted." Then came silence. A week later the squadron learned that Sherman had been awarded the immediate D.F.C. for his first attack.

Britain Discards First-in, First-out Plan

LONDON, Aug. 29—(CP-Reuter)—The "first in-first out" plan for the demobilastion of Britain's armed forces has been abandoned it is understood, and a system under which national and personal needs are primary considerations has been substituted.

The House of Commons and the whole country are waiting a statement by Prime Minister Churchill on the subject when parliament reassembles next month. A committee under Malcolm McCorquodale, Parlimentary secretary to the Ministry of Labor, has prepared a plan for the cabinet's consideration, the basis of which is that no man will be deleased until or unless he has a job awaiting him.

Under the plan various Government departments would co-operate with industry and commerce to produce a balanced demobilization.

The plan would work something like this:

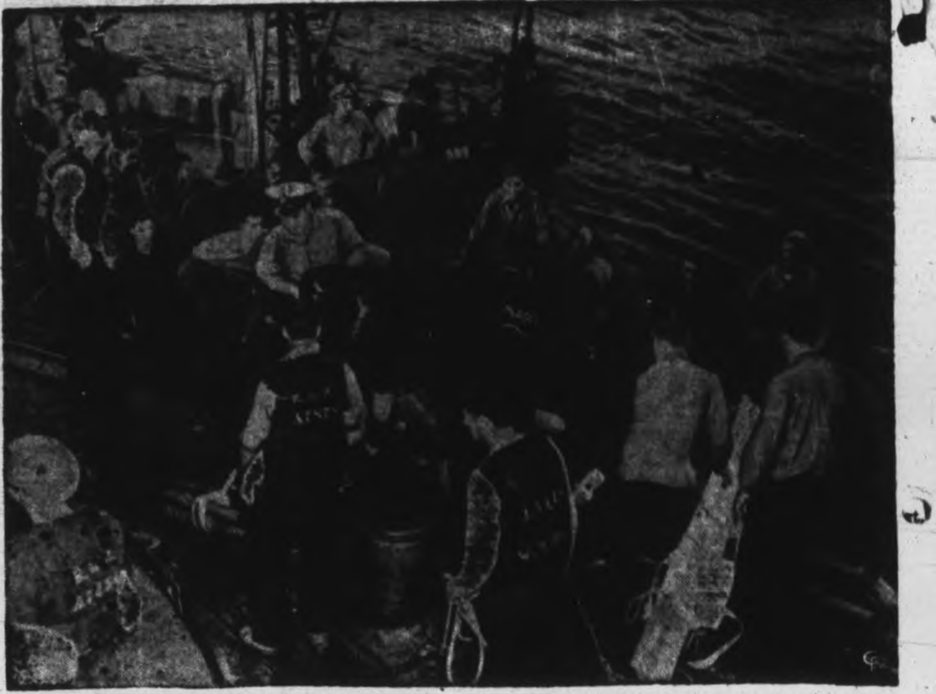
1. Instead of a schedule of reserved occupations there would be a list of priority occupations which would offer first releases from the forces. Most obvious industries on the list would be building, coal-mining and teaching. Other industries would be added as the turnover from war to peace proceeds.

2. The miner or builder who has been away from Britain longest in India or with the 8th Army, or in a prisoner of war camp, would have a higher priority than one who had put in all his service at home bases.

3. Demands by the employers for the return of specified experts for building up a business or preventing one closing would influence demobilization priority

4. Degree of domestic responsibility: a married man with children would rank before a married man without children or an unmarried man. Compassionate release might override these considerations.

5. Men from the less essential industries and those with no particular skill would be among the last to be demobilized.



CANADIAN SAILORS LEND HELPING HAND TO WOUNDED GERMANS—Canadian seamen, aboard one of the Canadian ships that took part in the invasion of Southern France, man stretchers to bring burned and injured German naval prisoners aboard their ship in the Mediterranean off the invasion beachhead. The Germans were picked up by an American PT boat from which the transfer is being made.

Destroys 3 Planes Without Firing Shot

SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN, Aug. 2..9.—(CP).— Col. Carol W. McColpin of New York, an American fighter pilot, tangled with four Focke-Wulf 109's four miles east of Paris yesterday and destroyed three without firing his guns.

When attacked by the four, two on each side, McColpin cut his air speed to almost the stalling point.

"I was flying at tree-top level," he saiad. "I weaved back and forth and finally manoeuvred all four to one side. Then I went into a series of tight turns making my turn faster every time. Three of them spun in, one after the other, as they tried to turn with me. They fell off at stalling speed when they were unable to turn so tightly at such a slow speed. The fourth Nazi gave up the chase and flew away. I came back with all of my ammunition."

ALWAYS TIRED —Yet Sleep Didn't Help!

Doesn't it feel swell to wake up in the morning clear-eyed, refreshed, full of pep? Yet so many, especially over 40, get up tired all over, with aching joints, never really feel their best.

The reason is often a common complaint—a system clogged with poisonous food waste. Like many people, you need help to clean out a sluggish system, get back pep and sparkle rightfully yours. The mild action of BILE BEANS is an effective aid thousands rely on.

Made from 10 pure vegetable extracts, Bile Beans are so gentle, yet effective, they are called "The Medicine That Wakes Up Nature". These small laxative liver pills tone up the system by stimulating flow of liver bile, so essential to good digestion and daily regularity.

Why not enjoy that "glad-to-be-alive" feeling every day? Try Bile Beans tonight—they work while you sleep. Over 7 million boxes used last year, convincing evidence of how greatly they are helping others. 33

A LIGHT DOCKET

Vincent Eastwood, J.P. presided at police court this morning but there was only one case on the docket and it was remanded until Wednesday so that today's proceedings were the shortest in some weeks.

ANOTHER CALL

A small pile of rubbish burning at the rear of 426 George street north, brought out a fire engine at 2:53 this morning, and it was extinguished in a few minutes. This was the second alarm for firemen within a 6-hour span, the first bringing out firefighters to a blazing saw mill on Gilchrist street.

TO MAN TWO BOOTHS

At Monday's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club it was announced that Rotary would man two booths in connection with the Labor Day celebratin arranged by the Women's Auxiliaries to the Navy, Army and Air Force. The proceeds of the big day will be devoted to sending Christmas parcels to Peterborough boys in the armed services.

BLOOD DONORS.

At the Red Cross Blood Donors' Clinic Monday morning, 58 people gave donations. The group included 25 employees of the C.G.E., with Westclox, Quaker Oats and Canada Packers also represented. Other donors came from Lakefield and Keene. Harry McLay, of radio station CHEX, gave his 10th donation, A. E. Hutchinson, of C.G.E., gave his 10th, and Dr. G. R. Penhall, of the Department of Agriculture, completed his 12th donation.

WHITE CARROT

While hunting for a juicy carrot for his rabbits this morning, Bill Milne, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Milne, 35 Armour road, found a long white carrot growing in his father's garden.

TO BE INVESTIGATED

Fire Chief Gimblett reported today the blaze that destroyed a saw mill operated by Hugh Given, Monday evening, will be investigated by the Fire Marshal. Damages were estimated to be from $3,000 to $5,000.

TOO LATE FOR BIRCHES

Yesterday's rain, breaking the dry spell, arrived too late to do anything toward saving the foliage of the birch three throughout the district which for several weeks have been presenting an appearance that suggested October rather than August. The leaves have taken on an autumnal color and drying up, have been dropping from the trees to such a degree that some birches are already denuded.

KNOCKED OFF BICYCLE

Fifteen-year-old Thomas Ephgrave, 854 George street, received a bruised hip when he was knocked off his bicycle Monday as he was riding south on Aylmer street across the McDonnel street intersection. Percy Hawthorne, 262 Aylmer street, driving a taxi east on McDonnel street, reported that the cyclist rode from behind an east bound automobile and that he could not stop in time to avert an accident. The bicycle was damaged and the headlight of the truck shattered.

Building Permit Being Withheld Until Storage Tanks Removed

City council is nearing the end of protracted prelude of appeasement with two oil companies. Its members resorted to something like fighting words Monday night as they switched their attention and irritation from the British-American Company to the Canadian Oil Company.

This latter company is asking for a permit to build a service station on Hunter street east, on their property which was singed by fire with alarm to the neighbors and appearance of menace to the institutions on the slope of the hill.

Expecting the company to remove their gasoline storage tanks from that location the council has been withholding a permit to build. And the company sent a "why" letter Monday night through their solicitors, Tilley-Carson, Morlock and McCrimmon, which prompted Alderman Glover to remark that "these oil companies have lots of lawyers," and Alderman Sands added, "and money to pay them."

Promise Unfulfilled

The substance of this query from Tilley and associates was—"under what bylaw or other authority is the granting of the building permit being withheld?"

Mayor Hamilton remarked that the company had promised to remove their tanks to some other place, but they were reporting that they had been unable to find a suitable site. And they contended that the granting of a permit should have no bearing on the removal of the big tanks.

Alderman Bradburn said that any undertaking regarding the moving of tanks should be in writing and should also be the promise of the company and not of one of its officials.

"If the shoe was on the other foot you wouldn't find one of the oil companies satisfied with doing business by telephone," Alderman Dutton said. "If they are willing to move the tanks why don't they say so, and have no doubt about it. Personally I am willing for them to have a permit, but we should have some assurance from them that they will move their storage tanks."

Consider Residents

"If they build the service station they will be just restoring what they had before the fire," Alderman Glover commented. "No matter what the company thinks about it, residents of that part of the city believe that these storage tanks are a source of danger and a menace to their property and their lives. If this company gets a permit, the people will say that we have not taken care of their interests, but that we have added to the danger that is there now."

Mayor Hamilton enquired of City Solicitor Huycke what might be the company's next step.

"They'll probably ask for a mandamus ordering the permit to be issued," Mr. Huycke replied, "and we'd be in a lawsuit. Our difficulty is we have no bylaw restricting these things."

"Well, let's get one," Alderman Bradburn suggested, and also that in the event of an injunction by the company, the city might be able to show in court that these oil properties actually established a menace and that the service station increased the danger to the churches, hospital and other buildings nearby and to the personal property.

"We haven't accomplished a single thing so far with these two companies and if we get into a scrap it at least clears our skirts and shows we have gone the limit for the Ashburnham people.

Preparing Bylaw

The discussion closed with Alderman Bradburn's motion, seconded by Alderman Ovens, that the Canadian Oil Company be informed that the service station permit is being withheld until the company gives a written undertaking to remove the storage tanks from their present site in the centre of Ashburnham.

Mr. Huycke was asked to prepare a bylaw regulating the use of land and the erection of buildings for service stations, storage and transport of gasoline and other "explosives."

The bylaw has no retroactive effect, and is locking the door after the horse is gone, but successive councils in their statutes of control overlooked the gasoline companies.

"Has anything else been overlooked, so we can tend to them now?" Mayor Hamilton asked.

Some one mentioned funeral homes, but the scope of the draft bylaw was left to the City Solicitor.

One of Alderman Bradburn's remarks was to the effect that if these gasoline companies wish to fight public opinion in Peterborough they might eventually realize that it was costing them plenty in goodwill and business.

J. A. Gibbs Opposes Grant To Arena

"Many citizens are greatly against the proposed gift of $50,000 to $75,000 for the proposed arena," J. A. Gibbs, real estate agent, wrote the council Monday night. He commented that it was very unfair to have compulsory taxation brought against the taxpayers, especially at a time when rentals were fixed.

The letter was received, and Alderman Bradburn said that Mr. Gibbs seemed to think the decision rested with the council, whereas the question of a grant to the Community Centre would be submitted by the council to the ratepayers at the time of the December elections.

Canada Packers Employees Boost Fund $100

When something of real importance is repeated week after week, there is perhaps some danger of it sinking to the commonplace and its real significance being lost, by virtue of the very repetition which follows for a long period of time, thus becoming something which so many take as just a matter of course, in a world which rushes by and is chiefly concerned with things of the moment or something that happens to be entirely new.

To the employees of the Canada Packers Ltd. plant this however can hardly be the case when the whistle blows at 11.15 every Friday morning, for it calls them to labor for a fifteen minute period in the ever blessed task of doing some good for others beside self, besides reminding all those within the hearing of its sound, that these loyal citizens are now doing something for the good of their country in general, by laying aside the money thus earned in that time, to be used in the so many avenues created through the necessities of a cruel war.

There is a certain something about this arrangement between the plant management and the employees which should bespeak confidence in each other, for the plan creates responsibilities on each side and unites them in a pact or bond which proclaims a united front when it comes down to the basis of doing something in common for humanity, and as such should commend itself to a wider application in a general way to many other plants and their employees.

Through this once a week act, this group of people have been able to do a tremendous amount of good, not the least of which has been the rendering of real practical aid to the sufferers from air raid attacks over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, who have reported two contributions, each of $100.00 in the preceding years of the fund's operations.

With a greatly increased need at this moment due to the large amount of destruction caused by the almost daily and nightly attacks by robot bombs, it is most gratifying indeed to recount how they are still standing by in this great humanitarian task, and are today credited with a further $100.00 as a result of their continued service for the cause, for as the letter accompanying this gift naively puts it, "The whistle still blows at 11.15 on Fridays."

Oftentimes in an individual way, people work best when the result of their labors is purely for themselves, so lest there might be any impression that they somewhat lay down on the job in this 15-minute period, it can be stated on very reliable authority, that they if anything do better still in this labor of sacrifice for others.

Brother and Sister Help

Two youngsters, Ronald and Doris Genge, living at 270 William street, again help to emphasize the part that children can play in helping others through the fund. Last Thursday, they held a bazaar on the lawn at the family residence, selling some canned goods and vegetables, and lemonade to raise the sum of $3.06 listed in their name today.

Pte. George Bowen Highlander Casualty

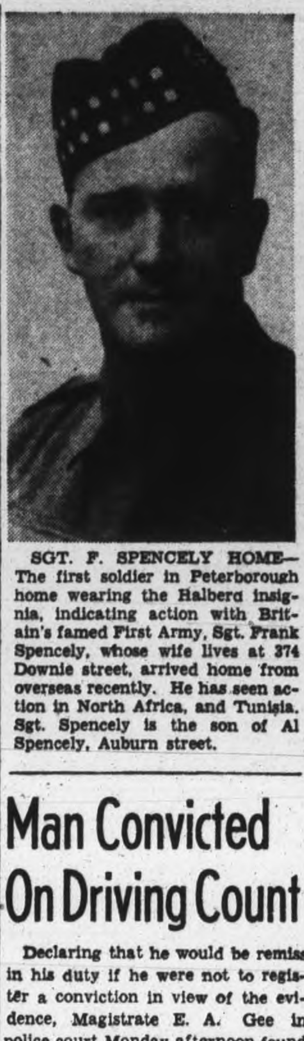
Enlisting in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders in June, 1940, Pte. George M. Bowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowen, 3 Grandview avenue, has been officially reported wounded in action in France, and is now in a hospital in England, information reaching his parents revealed recently. The date he was wounded, or additional information about his wounds were not disclosed, also the telegram received indicated the young soldier's wounds were slight.

After receiving training in Peterborough and Debert, N.S., the 25-year-old Glengarrian went overseas in July, 1942. Previously, he was employed at the C. G. E. A brother Herb, is a sergeant in the Canadian Army, and is in Normandy. Another brother, L. Cpl. Clarence, was drowned while on active service overseas, some time ago.

Parks Committee Wants Spring Grading

Residents of Waterford street and generally the neighborhood of the west approach to the footbridge over the river above the Quaker Oats dam will be interested in the arrangement Alderman Curtis is making with the council's approval for the early completion of the grading that was begun in the spring.

Alderman Curtis reported that a power shovel is available to remove sufficient earth from several parts of Nicholls Oval to be hauled to the west side of the river at the foot of London street where a fill of ashes will be thoroughly graded and covered. The removal of earth from the Oval is a detail of minor changes and improvement to that park. The council's approval Monday night was given in a motion by Aldermen Sands and Curtis.



SGT. F. SPENCELY HOME—The first soldier in Peterborough home wearing the Halberd insignia, indicating action with Britain's famed First Army, Sgt. Frank Spencely, whose wife lives at 374 Downie street, arrived home from overseas recently. He has seen action in North Africa, and Tunisia. Sgt. Spencely is the son of Al Spencely, Auburn street.

Man Convicted On Driving Count

Declaring that he would be remiss in his duty if he were not to register a conviction in view of the evidence, Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court Monday afternoon found Rollie Saltern of Dummer township guilty of drunken driving in Peterborough on July 15 and sentenced the accused to seven days' imprisonment.

"In view of the fact that there was no accident I think the minimum penalty will be sufficient," declared His Worship.

At the afternoon session the missing witness, Lloyd Peacock, was in attendance and was called to the witness box by Defence Counsel W. J. Arthur Fair.

Peacock's testimony was that Saltern had had two glasses of beer in the Empress Hotel at noon on the Saturday in question, and that during the afternoon he had had one pint of beer out at the Sharpe place where the party had gone. Peacock said that Saltern's driving was all right and that the accused was sober.

In his judgment Magistrate Gee said that the evidence showed that after having several drinks at a hotel Saltern and the rest had gone to the brewery warehouse and bought two cases of beer which was taken out to the Sharpe home. "We are asked to believe that Saltern stood around and saw all the beer he had bought drunk by other people while he only had one pint," said His Worship, adding that police officers were not in the habit of stopping people who were driving cars unless they were satisfied that the motorist was not in shape to drive.

His Worship cancelled the driving license of Saltern for a period of three months.

Pte. Thomas Maudsley Casualty In France

Well-known in Peterborough where he was active in hockey and baseball circles, Pte. Thomas Maudsley, whose wife lives at 603 Water street, has been officially reported wounded in action in France, where he is serving with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Maudsley, 33 Lafayette avenue. Pte. Maudsley has two nephews that have also been reported wounded. His wife, who works at the Raybestos, received a letter Saturday that was written by Pte. Maudsley Aug. 12, from the fighting front in France. He was formerly a weaver at the Brinton Carpet Company, before enlisting.

SERVING OVERSEAS — Jack Flagler, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Flagler, Western avenue, is serving overseas. He is the third son in the forces, a brother Stephen is in France, and a second brother, "Bun," was invalided home from Italy some weeks ago. At the time he enlisted, Jack Flagler, 19, worked at Canada Packers, and for years was boy soloist at Sacred Heart Church.

Workers Want To Discuss Post War Plans

Expressing belief in the probability of full employment in the postwar period, Ellis Blair, district representative of the United Electric, Radio and Machine Operators' Union, presented a request to Mayor Hamilton and the council Monday night to call a public meeting in the near future at which various phases of that approaching future might be discussed.

Mr. Blair frankly declared concern about the number of employees of employees of Genelco Limited who were facing social dislocation because the company's contracts were terminating. If work could not be obtained here for these men, who in some instances, Mr. Blair said, had been long resident in Peterborough, the city and its manufacturing industries in general were going to lose, before postwar operations began, the ability of these men who were interested in the welfare of Peterborough and themselves and who greatly preferred to continue as residents of this city.

Could labor find an opportunity of helping the community generally in the postwar and rehabilitation period, Mr. Blair asked? That was their hope, that they could contribute something to the cause, he considered in it and also have some voice in promoting that better future which everybody hoped would follow the war. Would the council sponsor a meeting which could enquire into the potential capacity of local industries, what might be the future of the city in opportunity for labor and employment, and generally what might be expected of the future of Peterborough and its people as a whole.

Great Promise

Mr. Blair said that surveys made at Kitchener and elsewhere, and the experience of business, indicated a tremendous backlog of manufacture of all kinds of products, promising even an increased peak of employment and manufacture. Everything indicated that a great industry like the Canadian General Electric Company would be very busy and very largely employed when it transferred to peace time production.

The United Electrical Workers had suggested to the Government that certain contracts be shifted to Genelco and that deliveries of orders be accelerated. "Genelco Limited management said they did not feel like going along with us in those representations because they had felt they had exhausted their own endeavor and had done all they could in proposals to the Hon. Mr. Howe."

H. J. Pearse and W. Robinson also spoke for the deputation accompanying them and Mr. Blair.

Agree To Meeting

"We are glad to have you here," Mayor Hamilton replied, "and I assure you that I will try to arrange something, such as you suggest, in a week or so, but we can't go into it tonight because we have several other specific matters before us."

His Worhip said he wished Mr Blair might be a little more definite and concrete in his suggestion, and possibly he could prepare it in writing in the meantime.

Comments were also made by Alderman Glover and Alderman Dutton.

"Mr. Blair would like to see representatives of various bodies come together and find an opportunity of expressing their opinions, people who so far have not had an opportunity of expressing themselves," Alderman Glover said. "I don't know whether the Town Planning Committee should be increased, whether that would be the opportunity desired. The question is how you are likely to get such a meeting as has been suggested and also get the best out of it."

Expect Speed

Alderman Dutton said he felt certain that industry, here and elsewhere, would speed up as quickly as possible, its process of returning from wartime to peace production. The government had passed the eight hour day as one benefit for the worker especially as a means of increasing the number of men in employment.

Mr. Blair remarked that investigation had indicated that 85 per cent of the women in wartime work wished to continue in much the same kind of employment after the war ended.

Problems would arise in the changing condition which would affect the entire community. Was it not possible, Mr. Blair asked, for the community by the kind of meeting he proposed to be able to consider such problems, to do something about them, and generally to avoid the slump in employment which was already being felt by certain Peterborough workers who had been living here quite a number of years and for whom removal meant a serious dislocation of their homes and families.

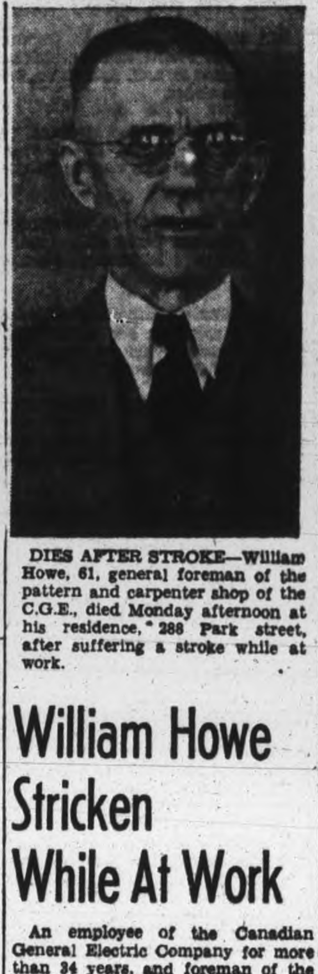
Mr. Blair said things should be attempted to maintain community morale, and workers sought a voice in any endeavor to accomplish such things by the general meeting which was being proposed to the council.

The deputation retired with Mayor Hamilton's promise that he would put the proposal near the top of his list of engagements.

War—4 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

Aug. 29, 1940—Germans bombed and machine-gunned civilians in Sicily Isles. General de Gaulle announced French Cameroons and Congo declared for support of Britain. Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg arrived in London from Lisbon to re-organize her government.



DIES AFTER STROKE—William Howe, 61, general foreman of the pattern and carpenter shop of the C.G.E., died Monday afternoon at his residence, 288 Park street, after suffering a stroke while at work.

William Howe Stricken While At Work

An employee of the Canadian General Electric Company for more than 34 years, and foreman of the carpenter shop since 1929, William Howe, 288 Park street, died Monday afternoon, only a few hours after he had been taken home from his work in an ambulance when he suffered a stroke. He was in his 61st year, and was a member of the C.G.E. Quater-Century Club.

Born in Cortachy, Scotland, in 1883, Mr. Howe came to Canada in 1910, and after being employed on housing construction in Cavan for a few weeks, joined the staff of C.G.E. as a carpenter in November of that year. Since then, he has made rapid strides in his work, being formally appointed foreman over the pattern and carpenter departments in early 1929.

Fellow-workers at C.G.E. and the host of friends he has made since coming to Peterborough, will suffer a loss in his passing, and he was known as a man devoted to his job, and a keen worker.

Educated in Scotland, Mr. Howe was a devout Presbyterian, and is well-known by members of St. Paul's Church. He was active in social life, and is a member of the Peterborough A.F. and A.M. Chapter, the Preceptory, the Shrine, and also of the Scottish Rite.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Gertrude Hutcheson, 288 Park street; a son, Sgt. Ronald Howe, with the Dental Corps in Kingston; a sister, Mrs. William Young, Peterborough, and by three brothers, all in Scotland: Walter, Edinburgh; John, Hawick, and David in Cortachy.

His death came as a shock to hundreds of workers at the C.G.E., some of whom he had been talking with only a few minutes before being stricken. He was known as a man who lived for his work, and the progress and success he made in his chosen profession bears out that fact.

The funeral will be Wedneday at 3.30, from Comstock's Funeral Home, 305 Water street, to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. William MacDonald will officiate.

Hospital Plans Progressing Council Reports

Preliminaries in the planning for a new hospital advanced at the Council meeting Monday night with the extension of the commission of the joint committee which will presently submit a report to the public on the discussion and progress that have been moving forward

Alderman Sands, chairman of the special hospital committee, recommended in his report "That this joint committee of the council and Nicholls Hospital Board, having discharged the duty it was appointed for, we recommend that the City Council accept the responsibility for furthering the prospect of building a new civic hospital, and that authority be delegated to some committee to proceed at once with the necessary details."

It was explained that the special committee had been asked to investigate the city's hospital problem with special reference to Nicholls Hospital and to confer with the Hospital Board on the broad question of funds and property and vested rights and other phases which arose in the preliminary stage.

That committee was authorized to obtain certain information. It was fact-finding, and the motion in the report affirmed that the joint committee had completed its duties as prescribed.

Given More Authority.

The Council decided to retain the committee and extend its authority to the next stage, even to the bounds of obtaining options on certain properties. It was felt that certain expenses would be necessarily be incurred, and to provide for such contingencies the committee was granted the sum of $1,000 for interim expenses

The personnel of the continuing committee is: Alderman Sands, Dutton, Swanston, Ovens, Glover, Dr. G. S. Cameron, Mr. Malcolm McCulloch, Dr. H. M. Yelland, Charles Lacheur, E. B Fowler, John Hornal and Warden Isaac Anderson.

Another resolution in the Sands report was also adopted; "That Dr. Harvey Agnew be invited to come to Peterborough in order that there may be discussed with him all matters pertaining to the building of a hospital."

So far the purpose of the Council has been to prepare a broad and informative statement of the hospital proposal and submit it to the ratepayers for their approval at the municipal voting on the first Monday of December.

Workers To Choose Arena Representative

Workers of the city, organized and otherwise, are being asked to attend a meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the premises of the United Electrical, Machine and Radio Workers at 291 George street to appoint a representative to the Sports Arena and Community Centr arena.

Ellis Blair, representative of the "U.E.," said today, "Our organization would not presume to speak for workers generally, but we do feel that labor as a group should be consulted on this rink project and should take a part in it. After all it is the public generally that provides the "fans" for all sports, and it is only right that they should be taken into consideration.

"We hope there will be a good attendance Thursday night and that we can join together in naming someone who will be capable of speaking for the working people generally, and of taking an active interest in the progress of the arena.'"

Police Spitfire Fund Lacks Only $1,575

The Canadian Police Third Spitfire fund requires only $1,575.78 to reach its required objective of $22,350, Inspector James F. Reid, Dominion treasurer of the fund, announced this morning.

The Kingston police department has sliced a large portion off the needed balance with a donation of $1,000, received today. This sum represents the proceeds of a benefit ball game recently staged in Kingston between the Canadian Locomoitve Works teams of that city and the Toronto Tips.

Two more similar subscriptions would more than send the fund over the top and Inspector Reid is hopeful that the objective will be reached in the near future.

PRISONER OF WAR — Flt.-Sgt. Edmund James Downing, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Downing, 217 Brock Street, has been reported wounded and a prisoner of war. He had previously been reported missing in June.

Flt. Sgt. Downing Wounded; Prisoner Of War

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Downing, 217 Brock street, were officially notified over the week-end that their son, Flt. Sgt. Edmund James Downing, reported missing in June, is now a prisoner of war in Germany, and wounded.

He is the third member of his crew, all previously reported missing or dead, who has turned up. Of two boys reported killed, one was later found to be a prisoner of war. Flt. Sgt. Downing, who was a member of the Blue Goose Squadron, was reported missing following a raid on Germany.

A popular employee of the Western Clock Company, Flt. Sgt. Downing worked in the tool room prior to enlisting in April 1942. He trained as a navigator and won his wings at London, going overseas in May 1943.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

Our recipes for today are going to be for fancy cheese and meat dishes, ways of fixing meat so that it does not appear to be made of leftovers. It will be so very tasty and appealing to the appetite. All these dishes are very easily and quickly made and also very inexpensive.

Luncheon Cheese and Eggs

1 cup cream, 6 eggs, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, salt annd pepper to taste. Put the cream into a frying pan and let it heat to the boiling point. Then carefully break in the eggs. Lower the heat under the eggs and cook until they are set, as in poaching, spooning the cream over the top of the eggs, while they are cooking. Put them on a hot platter. To the cream left in the frying pan add the grated cheese and seasonings. Stir until melted and pour the mixture over the eggs.

Cheese Cutlets

2-3 cup grated cheese, 2 cups mashed potatoes, 4 tablespoons minced pimiento, 1 cup lima beans, ground, 1 teaspoon salt. Combine ingredients and shape the mixture into cutlets about ½" thick. Saute them in a small amount of hot fat and serve with horseradish.

Beefsteak Pie

2 pounds rump, flank or chuck steak, pie paste, chopped onion, salt and pepper, sliced potatoes, flour, butter, egg.

Cut the meat into strips 2" long by 1" wide. Put them with the bone, just cover them with water and simmer about one hour. Line the sides of a baking dish with pie paste, put in a layer of meat with a few thin slices of onion and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Next add a layer of sliced potatoes, with butter dotted over it. Alternate the steak and potato layers until the dish is full. Thicken the gravy with browned flour and pour it in. Put on a top crust, brush it with beaten egg and bake at 450 degrees until quite brown, about half an hour. Leftover meat from a roast may be used.

Fricasse of Beef

Sliced cooked beef, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons fat, 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon onion juice. Season the meat with salt and pepper, make a sauce of the fat, flour and water and remainder of the seasonings. Add the cold meat and cook gently for three minutes. Serve on a hot dish with a border of rice, mashed potatoes or toast.

1944 Grandmothers Don't Let Old Age Bother Them

Women in the upper age brackets, are divided into two classes, those who know how to grow old gracefully and those who don't. Once a woman reaches 55 she should begin to think about how she is going to spend the next 25 or 30 years, and whether it will be a pleasure to have her around or a burden.

Up until the 1900's, it was the custom that when grandmother reached a certain age, she retired to her rocking chair, to eke out a boring existence until death claimed her, irregardless of the fact that she might be in perfectly good health and able to enjoy family activities. Most grandmothers of today are modern in their viewpoints and participate in as many activities as health will allow; but there are still a few who are obsessed with the idea that because a woman is 75 or 80 she is automatically reduced to spending the rest of her days as a helpless invalid.

Recently a Windsor woman, Mrs. D. G. Archer, observed her 87th birthday by accompanying her grandson on an airplane ride from Windsor to Toronto and from there she took a cruise up the Saguenay. She was the most elderly passenger ever carried by the plane company.

Mrs. Archer never appears to find time hanging heavily on her hands. She does the housekeeping for her son, enjoys seeing motion pictures, and her outstanding hobby is collecting pitchers. Up till now she has collected 1,600. Until a year ago she was an ardent quilt-maker, and at one time sold more than 100 in a week. She was born in Bowmanville.

Enjoys Young People

Another grandmother I know, is as alert and interesting at 82, as she was at 50. In her early seventies she accompanied her son on a motor trip to Florida and before reaching her 82nd birthday this year, she and her husband took a trip up the Great Lakes. She is an active member of the W.M.S. and the Ladies Aid, enjoys travelling and does all her own housework.

One of the outstanding things about her is her youthful outlook. Wherever she goes, she is not long before she is surrounded by a group of young people and she gets as much enjoyment from their interests and experiences as they do. The mere thought of having to sit around taking it easy, is enough to send her blood pressure shooting.

On the other side of the balance sheet are the women who have sat at home for the last 20 years, and although able to have a certain amount of outside activity, have retired to their fireside. They never listen to the radio, never read the new books or see the movies. Life for them revolves solely around family activities bounded by a few rooms. When visitors come they hear only a tale of woe and anything which they might produce to brighten the conversation falls on hard ground, because it is completely outside their sphere of life.

The modern world has advanced to such a stage that it no longer slows up for anyone. If women want to be popular with their friends and their families, they must look upon their isolated place by the fireside as a thing of the past, and not fear approaching old age, but handle it with dignity and intelligence.

Miss Della Smedmor, 148 Murray street, leaves today to spend a week's vacation at Kilcoo Camp.

Agatha Ireland Takes Vows At All Saints

All Saints' Anglican Church, decorated with ferns and gladioli, was the setting of a pretty wedding when Agatha Muriel Ireland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ireland, R.R. No. 2, Peterborough, became the bride of William Edward Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Fisher, Omemee. Capt. Smith oficiated, and the music was played by Mrs. Logan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white sheer crepe, with shirred bodice and sweetheart neckline. The long full sleeves were pointed over the wrist and her long flowing veil of white net was in halo shape, caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Bettertime roses.

Miss Melba Magee, bridesmaid, was frocked in a floor-length gown of white sheer, with fitted waist and ful skirt. She wore a blue veil, caught with flowers, and carried a bouquet of Briarcliffe roses. The best man was Donald Ireland, brother of the bride, and the ushers were Edgar Fisher and Vincent Cornwall.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received, wearing a two-piece gown of navy crepe, with black accessories. She carried a bouquet of Briarcliffe roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of black crepe, with matching accessories, and carried a bouquet fo Briarcliffe roses.

Later the bride and groom left on a trip to the north. For travelling the bride wore a two-piece brown ensemble, with brown and beige accessories, and carried a corsage of yellow roses. On their return the bride and groom will make their home in Omemee.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold locket with matching bracelet, and to the bridesmaid a gold locket and chain. The best man and ushers received military cases.

Pen Set Given To Martha Belch

MILLBROOK, Aug. 29 (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. Edward Armstrong, and their daughter, Audrey, were host and hostesses at their home, west of the village, for over seventy-five guests, who gathered to honor Miss Martha Belch before she leaves for her school near Newtonville, this being her initial year of teaching.

The Fallis Line Juvenile L.O.L., of which the guest of honor is a Past Mistress, sponsored the event. The early part of the evening was spent in dancing, card games and other entertainment. Previous to the supper hour, the guest of honor was invited to be seated, when Joseph Burns read an address, and a pen and pencil set was presented by Ivan and Edwin Fallis, on behalf of a wide circle of friends.

The vote of thanks to the host and hostess was voiced by J. Burns and Stephen Morton.

Pin Up Girl Contest Planned

For some time past pin up girls have been the sweethearts of the nation and in keeping with the times, Peterborough's Future Pin Up Girl will be chosen in a contest September 4, at the Labor Day Sports program.

The event will be operated in two sections, Senior Ages— 13, 14, 15; and Junior Ages — 9, 10, 11, and 12. Each contestant is required to wear a play suit, shorts or sun suits and sandals or shoes. All entrants must be at the platform by 4.30 p.m.

The Peterborough pin up girl will be judged on the following points: personality, naturalness, cleanliness, poise, graciousness, good physique, deportment and development.

The beauty contest will be held at 4:40 p.m. on the platform in Ashburnham Bowl.

Hastings Flier Weds In West

St. Mary's Church, Portage La Prairie, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday afternoon, August 19, 1944, when Edith Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Mitchell of Keewatin, Ontario, formerly of Portage La Prairie, was united in marriage to L. A C. Norman Martin Rusaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Rusaw of Hastings. The ceremony was performed by the rector, the Hon. Captain P. C Boys, Mr. D. R. Shackwell presided at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an aqua fine wool suit. Her accessories were in nigger brown and she wore a corsage of Talisman roses and bridal wreath.

Mrs. A. B. Preece, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mr. George Zemlock, R. C. A. F., attended the groom.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Preece, the bride's mother receiving in a moss green, two-piece dress with corsage of pink roses The table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake in a setting of tulle and pastel blossoms and lighted ivory tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Rusaw left for a wedding trip to the Lake of the Woods and upon their return will reside in Portage La Prairie where the groom is stationed at No. 3 Bombing and Gunnery School, Macdonald.

Out of town guests included Miss Winnifred Cooper of Winnipeg and Mrs. G. D. Storey of Vancouver, B. C.

Conductor's Award Is Captured By Peterboro Girl

Twelve members of the Peterborough Songster Brigade of the Salvation Army attended the camp at Jackson Point on Lake Simcoe last week. The theme song for the 1944 camp was written by Mrs. Stanley Richardson, A. T. C. M. who along with Mayor J. Wood was on the faculty staff.

For the third year in succession the conductor's prize has been won by a Peterborough student. This year it was won by Ruth Smith, who also took second prize in vocal practice. Ardyth Bolam won second prize in melody composition.

More than 150 attended the camp and those from Peterborough included Peggy Parnell, Miriam Butcher, Ruth Smith, Nola Smith, Ardyth Bolam, Grace Lang, Ronald Butcher, Wilfred Jones, Carlos Braund, and Murray Lindores.

On Monday evening a final festival of music by the prize winners choral groups and faculty band was held in Toronto.

MARRYING STRANGER IDIOTIC

Why Fathers Don't Investigate Men Daughters Want for Mates, Is Beyond Comprehension.

One of our most familiar proverbs concerns the folly of buying a pig in a poke, but it is nothing compared to the sheer idiosy of marrying a perfect stranger without even inquiring if the name he goes under is his own or an alias, or attempting to find out anything about his family and background and future prospects.

Yet in these war times we see innumerable girls committing this monumental stupidity. Girl meets boy in uniform at the U.S.O. or a canteen, or she picks him up on the street. She is hypnotized by his brass buttons and thinks herself in love with him, and after a few dates she finds herself married to a man of whom she knows no more than if she had pulled him out of a grab-bag.

That such marriages almost inevitably end in a tragedy for the girl is a foregone conclusion. My mail is filled with tear-sodden letters of brides who have had their honeymoons interrupted by the unexpected arrival of their husbands' wives and children, and from desperate young mothers who do not even know from what part of the country the gay Lotharios who went through a wedding ceremony with them came from, or what name, if any, their babes are entitled to bear.

Among these heart-breaking letters to came to me yesterday that were peculiarly pathetic. One was from a girl who told of falling madly in love with a handsome and dashing young soldier and marrying him after a three weeks' acquaintance. On his first furlough he took her back to his home town to visit his people and she found out, to her horror, that his mother and a sister and a brother were in a lunatic asylum and that for generations insanity had run through the family.

United to Shiftless, Illiterate Family.

The other letter was from a girl who belonged to an aristocratic and cultivated family whose name is a part of our national history. She also fell in love with an upstanding young service man, with a way with him, and married him after a whirlwind courtship. And when he took her to visit his people she found them uncouth and illiterate and shiftless, living almost in squalor, and, worse still, when her husband got back among his own kind he reverted to type and became just as common as they were.

These girls, who are the victims of the short-order marriage, ask what they shall do, but no one can tell them an easy way out of a mistaken marriage. Every foot of the road to the divorce court is paved with regret and wet with tears. It is folly for a woman to say that she married the man and not his family. She bears his name. She takes his social status. His blood flows in her children's veins.

It is understandable how a foolish and inexperienced young girl, carried away by the glamor of a uniform, can marry a man without asking anything except that he is he, but why fathers do not take the trouble to investigate the men their daughters marry, passes comprehension. They ask fewer credentials from their daughter's husbands than they do from the office boy, and that is why many a war marriage is such a bitter tragedy.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, August 30.

Matters should move along under high tempo on this day and with much stability and common sense despite excitement, commotion, change, travel and swift-moving events. This in both social and business life. Quick action, clever grasp of opportunities, may bring decisive and lucrative results. In all pertaining to writings, publishing, travel, agencies, as well as in the realm of social, domestic and affectional life. Finances are fortified but need wise management. In a crisis the co-operation or favors of elders or superiors may be helpful.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of an extremely lively and exciting year, with sudden moves, and changes, travel, new contacts and also new contracts or agreements. Keen insight and sound conclusions and values may prove gainful, with elders or superiors ready to assist, where safe propositions are in view. But shun speculation and overacting. The same policies and tactics apply to social, professional, and domestic life. Romantic affairs may move likewise under high but pleasant tempo. Shun extravagance and all sorts of excesses.

A child born on this day should be exceedingly versatile and sagacious, with keen insight and ability to grasp worthwhile opportunities for success and happiness. It may have pronounced intellectual and social talents.

With The Armed Forces

The editor of this column will welcome extracts from letters from boys serving or any other information concerning them.

By JEAN STENTON

The country through which the Allies are advancing in Italy is described as an apalling scene of desolation by Sgt. A. Thompson, a former C. G. E. employee, who comes from Cobourg. He wrote recently that he went 15 miles one day before he saw a building that wasn't in ruins.

Life is anything but dull in the Mediterranean area, according to his letter. He said that he got out his pick and shovel that morning in order to ensure a little more comfort for himself.

"Jerry comes over at night with planes, dropping bombs and machine gunning the road. The splinters from the ack-ack shells fall like rain, and there is not much you can do about it, except hug your trench, since there are no umbrellas to help withsand the downpour. Since my trench has proven too narrow, I am making a few changes.

"We are in the thick of it at present. As I write, our guns behind me are blasting the dickens out of Jerry. The shells go screaming on their way and I find it hard enough to stand on the sending end. The Germans give us a dose now and then, and I don't take long to hit the ground or dive into a trench.

"I nealy lost my dinner the other day when the Germans sent over a burst ahead of time. I was trying to keep my meat on the plate, tea in the cup and at the same time dive into a slit trench. I did it, and finished my dinner in the hole. This hole in the ground has become my home. I even sleep in it."

Leave In Rome

Pte. F. H. Revere, 261 McDonnel street, who is a driver in the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, recently spent five days leave in Rome. His sister Pte. Ruby M. Revere, is with the C.W.A.C. in Western Canada.

Through Thick and Thin

Three Lindsay men, Gunner Laurie Hutchinson, Gunner Fred Lewis and Gunner William Wallace, have had some exciting experiences in the Invasion in France.

The three were members of the reserve unit at the outbreak of war and enlisted on the same day and at the same time in Ottawa. They sailed overseas in the same ship.

In England the boys were separated and went across the channel to France in different units. They fought in the opening days of the invasion and all three were wounded. The three friends met again when they found themselves in the same ward in the same hospital in England. Gnr. Hutchinson was wounded in the arm and shoulder; Gnr. Lewis was seriously injured with shrapnel and Gnr. Wallace wounded in the head.

Must Help Soldiers

One of the biggest problems facing the people of Peterborough and those in the rest of Canada is the rehabilitation of badly wounded and seriously injured sailors, soldiers and airmen. The most difficult period is not the time they are tied own in a hospital, but the time when they leave to take up a normal life in a civilian world.

A man who has lost an arm or a leg, doesn't think it so important when he is in with hundreds of other men who are in the same condition as himself, and he learns to joke about his disabilities and laughs at his clumsiness, with the best of good humor. It depends on the people with whom he comes in contact after he moves into the outside world, whether he's given a chance to become an ordinary citizen, doing what those around him do, or whether he's broken for life, by carelessly uttered thoughts or actions.

The vast majority of casualties have refused to remain casualties and once discharged have resumed jobs in civilian work. One of the most striking examples of this is Capt. Allan Piper, whose arms were injured overseas. Artificial limbs and constant practice have given him amazing dexterity and he is back doing work similar to that he did before joining the army.

Don't Pity Them

The first step toward getting a disabled boy back to a useful, normal place in society is to make him feel he can do it. No goal is too high to aim at, and with a little unobtrusive encouragement, minus any open signs of pity, the injured man can be made to feel that he can take on anything. A man without an arm or leg, or both, learns new methods of doing things, which often put the person with all his limbs to shame. Once a veteran fights his way out of the dumps, and past his handicap to a job, his morale is tops.

Boys who (mistakenly) consider themselves scarred and disfigured for life, are extremely sensitive when they are plunged into a world where too often the people with whom they associate drool over them with pity, every glance seeming to say "you poor thing, we know you can't do what the rest of us do, so we'll just have to make it as easy as we can for you."

Any long term patient, civilian or military, will tell you that is absolutely the most soul searing attitude which could be taken. A man wants to feel that he is normal and that nothing is too difficult even if he has to do it in a round about way. His family and friends should treat him in the same way they always have, kidding him, and offering no help unless absolutely necessary, then as unobstrusively as possible. They should include him in all their activities with the attitude they expect him to carry his share of the load, and not sit back and play the invalid. It is a tremendous morale builder to know that those around him do not consider him helpless.

Fear Sympathy

This idea haunts many soldiers from the time they are injured and causes them far more suffering than the thought of getting along without a leg, or arm. On a visit some months ago to Christie St. Hospital, one soldier who had his left leg amputated said to me:

"If people outside the hospital only knew how we boys hated to be pitied. It is a fear that haunts all of us. The artificial arms and legs they give you are great and you can use them almost as well as your own. I had my leg off three days ago and I expect within a month to be getting around and stirring up a little excitement."

Faith In Themselves

One of the foremost things in treatment of long-term patients in orthopedic, military and tuberculosis hospitals, is the creation of a proper mental attitude in the patient. They are taught not to consider themselves as different from outsiders and to learn to do things again, that they ordinarily would. The difference is this. In a hospital, the casualty is surrounded by people who realize the importance of making a patient feel he is normal, and who have the training to do it. Outsiders, through well meant but mistaken words and actions, may undo in a short time, what it has taken months to build up.

What are you going to do? A few mistakes at the beginning when Peterborough boys are discharged from hospitals, can ruin their lives, and shrivel love of life within their souls, or the proper encouragement, can help them resume their useful places in society. Their fate lies in the hands of the people at home. When a veteran applies for a job give him a chance to do his stuff, and you may be surprised at the results.

Tricked The Germans

After 17 months in a country dominated by the Germans, P. O. Alex. Markle, has returned to Canada. He spent 10 months in a prison camp in Italy, and another seven evading the Nazis after his escape, until he was able to reach Allied lines. He is one of the few ex-prisoners to tell of his experiences.

P. O. Markle is the son of a former Peterborough man, J. W. E. Markle, now principal of the Camrose High School in Alberta. Mr. Markle attended the Peterborough Collegiate and when the last war broke out, he enlisted in the Royal Flying Corps. When the peace was signed and he returned to Canada, Mr. Markle went West.

His first adventures began when the 25-year-old flier was shot down August 29, 1942, while dive bombing enemy troops at El Alamein. He crash landed behind German lines, but was picked up by two British Armored cars. This little mishap kept him two weeks in the hospital and then he returned to the Royal Australian Air Force Squadron of which he was a member, for the big show when General Montgomery smashed through at El Alamein.

He got it the second time in November, 1942 when flying in a squadron of 12 planes strafing enemy trucks and troops in flight between Sidi Barani and Salum. P.O. Markle was cover man for the squadron and he got in three long bursts when the Italians began blasting with Breda guns. The plane was hit but he managed to land on the desert, which seemed to sprout Italians, some of whom were all for killing him.

Terrible Trip

"They took me by truck on a 12-mile trip across the desert to Tripoli and I slept in every jail there on the way. By the time I got to Tripoli, I was crawling. In two weeks I was taken by boat to Naples. There ere 1,500 prisoners on the ship, 75 per cent, of whom were dysentry cases. We were taken to a prisoner-of-war camp half way between the Rome-Pescara Line, and when the Italian armistice was signed, we decided to make a break, September 12.

"Two thousand men in camp all made the break and we heard about 800 were recaptured. Four men comprised our party, a New Zealander, a South African, an Englishman and myself. The others were all soldiers. We met two Italian girls in the mountains, and the South African, who spoke Italian, asked for food. They took us to their family, and the old people were grand. The New Zealander and the South African decided to push on, but the Englishman and I stayed for seven months. Every day Jerry came around looking for food and we'd dig a hole in the manure pile in the barn and cover ourselves up till they were gone.

"We made three attempts to get through to our own lines. It was the worst winter Italy had had in 50 years and the first time we turned back. The second time we started out we lost our way in the mountains and went snow blind. Another Italian family found us, bathed our eyes and we stayed with them until we tried to escape the third time. We finally got across th mountains and reached our own lines in May of this year."

WRENS CONGRATULATED ON SECOND BIRTHDAY—"My sincere congratulations on a job well done!" Vice-Admiral G. C. Jones, C.B., Chief of Naval Staff, Royal Canadian Navy, congratulates Commander Adelaide Sinclair, director, Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, on the occasion of the Wrens' second birthday.

Wrens Observe Second Birthday

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—(CP).—The girls in navy blue, now grown to more than 5,000 from a force of 67, reached their second birthday to-day.

It was two years ago—Aug. 29, 1942—that the first class of the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service reported to Kingsmill House here for basic training. They were the 67 "originals" who scattered throughout the land to recruit more Wrens, work in naval establishments and open a training establishment at Galt, Ont.

To-day, with thousands of them working in more than 30 different trade categories in the Royal Canadian Navy, messages of birthday greetings poured into the office here of Cmdr. Isabel Sinclaiar of Toronto, the first Canadian director.

Vice-Admiral Percy Nelles, chief of the Royal Canadian Naval Mission overseas, cabled from London: "I am mighty proud of my Wrens here, particularly those in the signals division up on the roof, who carry on day and night, bombs or no bombs, without batting an eyelid. Congratulations!"

Vice-Admiral G. C. Jones, chief of naval staff at headquarters here, expressed satisfaction with the progress of the Wrens and congratulated Cmdr. Sinclair on completion of her first year as director.

Greetings also came from the Army and the R.C.A.F.

Within the service itself, the occasion was celebrated with advancements in ratings for 78 Wrens from all parts of Canada.

Wrens celebrated the birthday at naval establishments across the Dominion and in New York, Washington, Newfoundland, London and elsewhere. They were toasted by naval men in naval wardrooms and mess halls at sea and ashore with the greetings "happy birthday, off caps to the Wrens."

Fewer Marriages For This Year

TORONTO, Aug. 29—It is no surprise to the thousands of unmarried females in Ontario to hear about the enormous number of Canadians overseas—in France and Italy, in the R.C.A.F., and patrolling the Channel for the R.C.N.

Marriage license bureaus, ministers and statistic-minded civil servants agree with the girls that there is a real dearth of marriageable men these days—and they have positive proof.

Judging from their glum predictions, it appears that there are going to be fewer marriages this year than at any time since the barren depression yars.

Here are the facts:

In 1938 30,080 coupls were married in Toronto. In 1939 a mild flurry of this-is-war marriages raised the total to 34,657. The following year the total shot to 41,229.

By 1941 licenses couldn't be issued fast enough. There were 43,270 marriages that year.

But the all-time high occurred in 1942. Precisely 45,466 couples were married. The License Bureau at Toronto's City Hall still refers to this period as a "nightmare."

Commenting on the marked decrease since that mad year, an official at City Hall groused: "What do you expect? It couldn't go on like it was—there just aren't enough people to go around."

That's only part of the answer. In 1943 approximately 36,951 marriages were conducted, a drop of almost 9,000. During the first six months of this year only 13,926 couples have been married. At that rate the 1944 total won't break 28,000.

The basic reason for the drop can be found in the war news. There just aren't very many men in the country, and the ones returning from the front seem always to be welcomed by wives they married in 1942. What's a gal to do?

Committee Suggests Insurance Tender

Of the five tenders for the city's public liability insurance for twelve months beginning September 1, the lowest bid, from Hill, Weddell and Hills, for $1,230 was recommended by the legal committee for acceptance by the council in a report by Alderman Sands Monday night. The motion proposed that the insurance limits be doubled to 10,000 and $20,000 at a cost of $1,414.50.

The clause in the committee report was: "We recommend that, since Hill, Weddell and Hills offer a policy at $1,230, which is the lowest, their tender be accepted but that the limits be made $10,000 and $20,000."

Car Industry To Face Unemployment

Predictions that it would take a period of from four to six months at the end of the war before the automotive industry could begin to handle the production of private cars and that in the meantime there would be a large amount of unemployment in the industry were made by Rotarian William S. Cowell, manager of equipment sales and engineering with the Canadian Raybestos Company Limited in an address before the Peterborough Rotary Club at Monday's luncheon.

Contrary to general expectations there will be few radical changes in car construction for some time, Rotarian Cowell intimated. When production does get under way, he said, it will start with cars of the 1942 vintage and the transition into more striking models will be gradual. The speaker pointed out that it was a question of tooling and that in beginning private car construction again the industry would have to start with what it had until new tools could be manuactured.

Rotarian Cowell said that the car of the future would probably be lighter, would have more speed and would need fewer repairs, but expressed the opinion that plastics and aluminum would not be employed so generally as most folk seemed to believe.

The speaker who was introduced by Rotarian Will Eastwood, announced that instead of speaking on his own classification, he proposed to talk about the past, present and future of the automotive industry in Canada generally.

Speaking of peace-time production Rotarian Cowell said that in 1938 Canadian car manufacturers turned out 123,761 private cars and 40,000 trucks, representing an outlay of $21,000,000 in wages alone.

Thirty-five per cent of this 1938 production was for export and that was a factor to be considered in after-the-war years.

The speaker pointed out that the development of the automotive industry in Canada had been marked by slow, progressive stages. There had been few radical over-night changes because these requiring a complete change in tooling were an expensive proposition.

Has One Fine Job

He paid a tribute to the manner in which the industry had arisen to the war challenge and had grappled with the vast problems of turning out military vehicles to such good purpose that the output now equalled the country's peacetime production of private vehicles. "Many of the problems that had to be handled" said the speaker "were different to anything that had been done in the industry before and yet the automotive industry of Canada has done an outstanding job."

Rotarian Cowell said that in his own Company at the plant here it had been possible in four days to turn out brake-lining material needed for a special war job that duplicated the English material sent out to show what was needed. He pointed out that the automotive industry had been turning out many other war supplies in addition to military vehicles, listing among others Browning machine guns, fuses, tanks, naval guns, shell components, aircraft fusilage, and universal carriers.

Speaking of the future of the industry Rotarian Crowell said that some of the fanciful designs that were heard of frequently today might eventually be manufactured for folk who had the money to pay for them but intimated that radical changes would be a matter of time.

The thanks of the club were extended to the speaker on motion of Rotarian Ronald J. McGrath.

Ken. Currie occupied the chair at Monday's luncheon and there was a large attendance, including a number of guests.

Christmas Boxes To Be Mailed By October 25

OTTAWA, Aug. 29—(CP)—Postmaster General Mulock announced today that Christmas gift parcels to member of the armed forces in the United Kingdom and France must be mailed this year before Oct. 25, and parcels for trops in more remote theatres of war must be mailed between Sept. 15 and Oct. 10.

Parcels for the Far East, India, Burma, Ceylon, etc., must be mailed by Sept. 15. Gifts for the Middle East area—Egypt, Iran, Iraq, Syria, etc., must be posted by Oct. 5. Deadline for parcel mailings to the Central Mediterannean forces has been set at Oct. 10.

Col. Mulock said in view of the rapid progress of the war the dates set might possibly be subject to change.

The authorities urged that parcels be kept below the maximum weight of 11 pounds so a greater number of parcels could be shipped. Careful attention to correct addressing and proper packing of parcels also was urged.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 —(AP) — The recently-revived discussion of whether match play provides a true test of golfing ability leaves this corner cold ...... The argument against match play is that a player can blow a couple of holes with "s or 8's and still win .... But in a 72-hole medal tournament, the guy who ruins a round that way still has three chances to make it up, so what's the difference ...... After expending a lot of thought on a scoring system that would give credit both for match-play victories and medal scores, we found no way of making allowances for the ability to win when chip are down, and it's human fallibility that makes golf interesting ..... Any good mechanic could revise a machine that would shoot better than Byron Nelson, but no one would put up $10,000 prize money for it to win.

He'll whistel for it.

Bill Helis, who takes his money out of oil and puts it into morses has made such a pet of his $66,000 colt, Pericles, that the horse follows him around Rancocoas farm and responds eargerly when Helis whistles. When Bill was showing off the horses's tricks to a group of visiting newspapermen the other day, one sour scribe wisecracked: "If he ever wants to win a race he'll have to stand at the finish line and whistle."

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

We doubt very much if any of our bowlers were disappointed when the club singles were postponed last evening on account of rain. It is more than likely that Chairman Harold Freeman will set aside a night for this final stage of the club's singles some time early in September.

There are just a couple of items causing concern to the open tournament committee in connection with the play for the Stratton trophy. The first is, they are wondering; just how kind the weather man is going to be to them. Remember, the day is Wednesday. And second, just what support they are going to receive from outside clubs.

So far we have twelve local rinks entered and we expect more. From outside clubs we have J. Elsden and Charlie Bell from Lindsay; Wm. Livingstone, Cannington; Harry Rosevead, Port Hope; Ben Ward, Whitby; Dr. Charlie Brereaon, Toronto Granites; C. L. Reburn, Runnymede, Toronto, and C. Murphy, Bobcaygeon. Mose of these skips have been to our tournaments many times and we are glad to see them back. C. L. Reburn and C. Murphy are newcomers, and we hope that this, their first trip to our club, will be a pleasant one. There is still plenty of time to get up a rink before 1.30 o'clock to-morrow.

The following verses were written by H. W. Barker and they appeared in the 1944 Annual of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association. Its title is "The First Game of Singles."

No one knows where bowling started
It was played so long ago,
Someone says, "In Eden's Garden,"
I'll begiggered if I know.

But if this is true to history,
It was singles that was played,
For at that time only Adam
And his helpmate had been made.

What they used for bowls were apples,
There was nothing else to do,
The result—Eve, 81,
And Adam, 812.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DISTRIBUTION DEVILISH

IT IS infuriating to have the devils of distribution ruin a lot of beautiful high cards in your hand. When this happens to you it is well to become philosophical, or at least try to. Remember that one reason your opponents enjoy bridge is the fact that such things happen to you. And one reason you enjoy it is the fact that such things happen to your opponents.

One of the world's greatest players, Lee Hazen, the famous New York attorney, who has won practically every national championship including the individual, was the victim of diabolical distribution on this nasty rubber bridge deal. Do you think he bid conservatively enough on the mighty West hand? You certainly do. And would you have doubled the 4-Hearts as he did? You probably would.

Now let's see what happened to him—and would have happened to you also, in all likelihood.

He led the diamond K. Wouldn't you? South took it with the dummy's A, discarding his spade, then ruffed the diamond 3, ruffed a club, ruffed a third round diamond, ruffed a second club, and led the diamond 10, which now was high, discarding his club 8. Mr. Hazen ruffed that with his heart A and laid down the spade A. South trumped that, ruffed the club K in dummy and took the rest of the tricks with trumps, getting all except the one ruffed by the trump A.

South in high glee wrote down the score—480 for making 4-odd redoubled, 400 for the two extra redoubled tricks at 200 each and 50 for making the redoubled contract, plus the value of the game.

Paris Streets In Uproar Policing To Be Difficult

By HOWARD COWAN—Associated Press Correspondent Representing the Combined American Press.

PARIS, Aug. 29—(AP).—Today—some 96 hours after Paris was liberated—the city is still in an uproar. Wild-eyed youths waving rifles and machine-guns and driving careening automobiles still roam the streets. There still are sporadic outbursts of rifle fire and fist fights among the French themselves. The streets present no semblance of order.

Tanks which Brig.-Gen. Jacques Leclerc's French 2nd Armored Division drove into the strife-torn city still are parked under trees which line the capital's broad avenues. There are ugly gaps in these lines of sentinel trees. Many of them are reduced to stumps in little pools of sawdust. Some are bullet-chipped and parts of long barricades blocking streets.

The majority of the Maquis and the F.F.I., one observer estimated, are level-headed patriots who are anxious to return to the task of restoring Paris and France to prewar peacetime existence.

A small percentage was described as the "rougher element" who did not intend to give up the weapons which the Allies dropped to them by parachute.

The situation is unpleasant. The Allies are shying away from the use of the military, which would expose them to the accusation of using Nazi methods.

Though he was absent from Sundays' parade, General De Gaulle saw Gen. Eisenhower when the supreme commander visited Paris yesterday. It is known that he asked Eisenhower to send two divisions of British and American troops on parade through the city, and it is not unlikely that Paris soon will see a demonstration of Allied might.

But the supreme commander has given no indication he intends to take over the job of policing the city.

Havelock Cadets Enjoy Training At R.C.A.F. Station

HAVELOCK, Aug. 29—(ENS)—The 149th Squadron Havelock Air Cadets have returned from attending camp at Trenton R.C.A.F. Station full of enthusiasm and praise for the holiday, coupled with the training they had received in discipline and subjects pertaining to the Air Force which included lectures on Aircraft Recognition, Meteorology, Armament, and General duties of Air Cadets.

One of the highlights of this year's camp, not featured other years was a flight in a plane. As one cadet put it—"There was only one thing wrong with the flights—they were not long enough, although some of our stomachs didn't agree with us." He went on to say "There were three highlignts every day—the meals, and they were swell." They also had great praise for the canteen service.

The 149th Squadron were Soft Ball Champions at Camp, winning from Squadron 181 Toronto Squadron 277 Newmarket and Squadron 362 Gananoque.

In the first game Havelock was matched with Gananoque winning by a score of 21-4, while Newmarket won a game against Toronto by a score of 30-17. The play off with Newmarket resulted in a win for Havelock, the score being 20-8. The next game was with Toronto and was a hard fight all the way through, Toronto winning 14-12. The final game was again with Toronto, and this game determined the championship. It was bitterly fought and Havelock finally eked out a 12-11 win.

The Havelock Squadron again came out on top in a track meet and field day when they edged out Toronto with 22 points to 21 to win the event, Newmarket coming a close third with 19 points.

Field Day Winners

Winners of the sporting events in the field day were:

High Jump—A.C. 2 M. Wight
Broad Jump—Sgt. C. Price
100-yards dash—F/Sgt. C. Longmuir
220-yards dash—F/Sgt. C. Longmuir
Shuttle Race (team) Sgt. C. Price, Cpl. R. Goheen, Acting Cpl. L. Hubble and A. C. 2 W. Pollock.

The second last day was a big day in camp, the gala event being a parade and march-past of squadrons, officers, airmen and W.D.'s, the Commanding Officer Group Captain Beel-Irving taking the salute as each unit marched past to the strains of martial music played by two R.C.A.F. bands. Approximately twelve hundred personnel took part in the parade.

Boy Puts Lions Through Paces

Every kid who has even seen a circus has wished he could be a lion tamer. Manuel King, of Brownsville, Texas, just 10 years old, is one youngster who made his wish come true.

Manuel's father is proprietor of an animal farm. On it he has 10 young lions. For two hours every day, Manuel works with the lions, training them to know and obey the rules of the show ring. His "cats" do tricks with a precision that is the envy of professinoal lion tamers. He has taught them the barrel roll, runs them on chutes, and makes them climb, pose and roar at his command.

When four litters of African lions were born on the farm last year, Manuel's father let him play with the cubs. Every day after school, Manuel would go into the cage with them and pet them. Pretty soon he had names for them. One he called Yo-Yo, another Mickey, others Dynamite, Prince, Bubbles and Tige. About that time, he was given a police dog puppy as a pet. So he adopted the lion cubs and the dog together.

The lion cubs grew rapidly, and one day Manuel's father noticed that the cubs were getting frisky and too playful. He was afraid that they might harm Manuel, so he stopped the child from going into the cage.

"I had to stay outside and rub their heads through the wire," says Manuel, "and they got so they would run to the fence and get ready to have their ears scratched as soon as they saw me. Trixie the dog still stayed in the pen and would stop any fights by biting the cubs on the nose."

King made arrangements for a noted lion tamer, Chubby Guilfoyle, to come to the farm and train some of the animals for the show ring and exhibition purposes. Young Manuel wanted to help with this work.

The boy found that genuine lion training is slow. When he would start to make a lion do something, he would have to keep at it until the lion obeyed his command. That was for discipline. Sometimes it would take two hours to make a lion move a certain way. Sometimes the boy missed a meal for an hour or two, but he stuck until he made the lion do as he wanted.

Later, four new cubs were bought and added to the six at the farm. The new ones were "regular spitfires." They still have a queer sense of humor, which consists mainly of suddenly grabbing some other cub by the hind quarters with their teeth.

Manuel has learned the most important requisite of all for lion tamers—concentration. "Chubby taught me never to look away or bother with anything else when I am working lions," he says. "I'll answer if you call me, but I won't look around."

Bombers Lash Robot Coast And Hun Cities

LONDON, Aug. 30. — (CP). — Large formations of American bombers, battered the continent to-day, bombing the German ports of Kiel and Bremen through clouds and the robot platforms in Northern France.

Very heavy forces of British bombers before dawn supported the Russian armies of the north with attacks on the Nazi Baltic ports of Stettin and Konigsberg, and Mosquitos hurled many two-ton blockbusters on battered Berlin and Hamburg.

Weather was bad to-day and bombers cast thier explosives by instruments through clouds. A communique said one bomber was lost over the robot bomb sites and that all fighters returned. No mention was made of losses over Kiel and Bremen.

Up to 500 heavy bombers with fighter escort smashed at the Pas de Calais targets. More than 500 heavy bombers and 250 fighters went over the German ports.

The flying bomb targets are just in front of advancing Allied armies in Northern France.

More than 1,000 heavy bombers participating in overnight attacks, unloading approximately 1,500 tons of high explosives and incendiaries upon Stettin and another great cargo of destruction upon Konigsberg. Forty-one bombers, including 1 Canadian failed to return.

This twin blow was in direct support of Russian armies battering at Germany's eastern frontiers. Both the Baltic port of Stettin and the East Prussian capital of Konigsberg are important links in German supply lines leading to the Russian front. Canadian planes concentrated on Stettin.

Sheep Slaughtered

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 30 — (CP). — When Sydenham township council meets this week, it is expected that it will have before it applications for $500 to $1,000 in claims for sheep killed in the Leigh district. Reeve James Reid said that approximately 45 animals have been slain by killer dogs since the last meeting of the council in July.

21 Ministers In New Cabinet

QUEBEC, Aug. 30.—(CP).—Maurice Duplessis, leader of the Union Nationale, to-day was sworn in as Premier of Quebec, together with 20 Minister of his Cabinet. The total of 21 Ministers in the Cabinet made it the largest in Quebec's history.

Mr. Duplessis will be Attorney-General and Leader of the Executive Council as well as Premier.

Other Cabinet members:

Onesome Gagnon, Provincial Treasurer.

Sir Thomas Chapias, Minister without portfolio and Government leader in the Legislative Council.

John S. Bourque, Minister of Lands and Forests.

J. H. A. Paquette, Minister of Health.

Bona Dussault, Minister of Municipal Affairs.

Antonio Talbot, Minister of Roads.

Rome Lorrain, Minister of Public Works.

Jonathan Robinson, Minister of Mines.

J. D. Begin, Minister of Colonization.

Dr. Camille Pouliot, Minister of Game and Fisheries.

Antonio Barrette, Minister of Labor.

Paul Beaulieu, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Laurent Barre, Minister of Agriculture.

Omer Cote, Provincial Secretary.

Ministers without portfolio:

Antoe, Tancrede Labbe, Dr. Marc Trudel, Patrice Tardif, J. T. Larochelle, J. H. Delisle.

Speakers of both the Legislative Council and Assembly will be appointed when the 22nd Quebec Legislature meets for its first sessions but indications are that Hon. Alphonse Raymond (U.N., De Lorimier) will preside over the Council with Alexandre Tache (U.N., Hull) slated as Speaker of the Assembly.

It is understood that a Minister of Social Welfare, created as a separate department at the last session of the 21st Legislature, would be appointed later. Formerly, the Minister of Health also administered Social Welfare, but Dr. Paquette to-day was sworn in as Health Minister only.

Germans Set Up New Regime To Hold Hungary

LONDON, Aug. 30 (CP)—An armistice proposal couched in "take it or leave it" terms probably will be handed to Bulgarian emissaries within the next few days, and under present plans probably will be signed in Cairo, a dispatch from that capital said today.

The identities of the Bulgarian delegates, who probably number four, have not been disclosed. It may be some days before the document is signed, but the best available information in Cairo indicated any suggestion of "negotiations" has been avoided carefully.

A new government has been installed meanwhile in Hungary in an apparent German attempt to restore the enemy's last defences against the Red Army offensive in the Balkans.

Berlin broadcasts last night announced the fall of Premier Doeme Sztojay's regime less than 24 hours after Russian forces had speared deeply within Hungarian - held Transylvania.

Headed Army

The German propaganda agency, Transocean, said Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Hungarian regent, had appointed Col.-Gen. Vitez Geza Lakatos to form a new government. Lakatos' cabinet, announced simultaneously, was studded with military figures.

Lakatos himself was Hungarian commander of the Russian front.

This abrupt government change in Hungary, under tight Nazi control since Hitler's troops marched in last March, came amid reports from both Axis and Allied sources that the Germans were withdrawing as hurriedly as possible from Bulgaria, now on the verge of peace.

Moscow, which announced Saturday that Bulgaria had proclaimed herself a neutral, declared last night the Soviet government had accepted this stand—a statement which in effect served notice upon Sofia to

Curb On Liquor To Be Lifted

TORONTO, Aug. 30—(CP)—Hon. Leslie Blackwell, Ontario Attorney-General said today that the federal order-in-council restricting provincial liquor sales to 70 per cent of the amount in the 12 months ended Oct. 31, 1942, "no doubt soon will be repealed."

His remark came in an address of welcome to the Canadian Bar Association annual meeting after an expression of regret that Ontario's welcome to the delegates "would not be as stimulating as might be desired" because of the federal restriction.

Robots Hurtle Toward England

LONDON, Aug. 30—(CP)—Heavy bombers, anti-aircraft fire and fighter pilots all were directed today against German robot bombs which kept hurtling the Channel toward London and Southern England.

One pilot shot down three before dusk. Ground fire brought down many more. The heavy bombers attacked launching platforms in Northern France.

Flt. Lt. Rene Van Lierde, a Belgium, had bagged 27 bombs so far; another pilot had 50 and a Pole had downed 20. Many of the pilotless explosives have been destroyed by American fliers who have spotted them by chance while on their missions.

During the night, new waves of flying bombs hurtled against London and Southern England, most of them apparently coming from the region west of Boulogne upon which Allied armies now are rapidly advancing.

The assaults against the southern counties continued after daybreak and an alert also was sounded again in the London area.

The attacks ended a lull which had continued for two successive nights — a break believed due in part to German difficulties in transporting the robots to launching sites.

Bradley Given Promotion

Will Have Equal Status With Montgomery

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—A new command organization in France giving Lt.-Gen. Bradley equal status with Gen. Eisenhower as an army group commander was reported today to be nearly ready for formal announcement.

Such a command change previously was reported by correspondents at General Eisenhower's headquarters. The report was received critically by some in Britain, however, who interpreted equal status for Bradley as a "demotion" for Montgomery. The original invasion organization, Montgomery not only had field command of all British troops but also was senior commander of all Allied group forces.

After publication of these criticisms, a statement was issued at Allied Supreme headquarters Aug. 16 which said:

"It is officially stated at Supreme Headquarters that announcement of General Bradley's command of the 12th Army Group in no way affects the position of General Montgomery as over-all commander of all Allied ground forces in France under General Eisenhower."

Huns Fleeing From Italy Into France

Montelimar City On The Rhone Falls To Allies

By GEORGE TUCKER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ROME, Aug. 30 — (AP) — American forces of the 7th Army and German troops fleeing up the Rhone Valley from southern France were locked in heavy battle today near the Drome River a dozen miles north of captured Montelimar.

The Americans struck last night while the enemy was making a desperate effort to cross the Drome, which runs into the Rhone from the east, midway between Montelimar and Valence.

The heaviest fighting centred around Loriol, south of the Drome along Highway 7. The Germans threw pontoons across the stream, but whether they succeeded in getting any sizeable group across was unknown.

Meanwhile, due east near the Italian frontier, American troops were forced back to the outskirts of Briancon, a city on a 4,330-foot elevation in the Hautes-Alps 90 miles north of Ice, by an enemy force which was reported here to have crossed into French territory from Italy.

May Indicate Flight

(Whether this indicated the flight of any large force of German troops from northwestern Italy was not made clear.)

The retreating German force in the Rhone Valley, remnants of the Nazi 19th Army, was declared fighting for its very existence.

Scenes of destruction and chaos lined the road of the enemy's retreat. An army spokesman said today more than 800 German vehicles, including trucks fully loaded, were taken after the enemy abandoned them. Two batteries of German 88s also were taken by the pursuing Americans.

A naval announcement indicated many Germans are fleeing the Southern France dragnet by sea in attempts to get to Northern Italy. The announcement said many small boatloads of Germans had been captured.

Allied headquarters said the prisoner total had passed 45,000, more than 10,000 being taken in the Marseille area alone.

Ambitious Pullet

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 30 — (CP). — There is a pullet in the Chatsworth district which, to put it mildly, is ambitious. This particular pullet is four months old and belongs to Mrs. Chester Jackson. This week Mrs. Jackson found an egg, a somewhat remarkable event for a four-month-old pullet. So was the egg, because it had three yolks.

8th Army Units 8 Miles From Pesaro

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, Aug. 30 (AP)—Smashing through veteran German parachute troops in the first full-blown attack on the Italian front in recent weeks, British and Polish forces are driving the enemy off his last hill positions before the Adriatic end of the Gothic Line and are within 18 miles of the Po valley rim.

Heavy fighting was reported as the British 8th Army dislodged the crack Nazi 1st Parachute division—reformed since its defeat at Cassino—from a three-mile-long ridge overlooking the Foglia River after crossing the Arzilla River.

The Foglia flows into the Adriatic at the heavily-fortified town of Pesaro, which would be threatened with being outflanked if the advance further inland were continued.

On the coast British forces operating with the Poles advanced more than two miles beyond Fano.

Capture of the ridge overlooking the Foglia River put 8th Army elements in Monte Ciggardo, eight miles southwest of Pesaro. Further to the southwest other units reached Colbordolo, 18 miles south southeast of Rimini, and were on heights within 1,000 yards of Foglia.

Naval Support

Urbino, 19 miles southeast of Pesaro, fell to another column driving toward the Gothic line through the mountains, headquarters announced.

The naval command disclosed that a British destroyer had supported the advance by bombarding the fortified Pesaro area.

In the centre of the Italian front the Germans continued slowly pulling back into strong defences in the

Hitler In Worse Spot Now Than Kaiser Was In 1918

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The speed with which the Allied mechanized forces are advancing and cutting the Germans to pieces in France, in a warfare of amazing fluidity, is impressing observers with the possibility that the retreating Nazis may arrive on their own frontiers in such disorganized state as to precipitate chaos within the Reich itself.

This idea fits with the fear among military leaders in Washington that Hitler and his captains may find refuge in neutral countries. It's a year since the Allies asked neutrals not to give sanctuary to these war criminals, and the subject may be raised with them again now.

Should Hitler and the other Nazi leaders flee in the face of military disaster, it would create an unprecedented situation. The vast German public would have little organization and no head, for the dictator and his personally-appointed aides are the sole government over a people who are so utterly regimented that they have no will of their own.

May Resist To Last

Just suppose that on top of this the disorganized armies should retreat into Germany and carry on the fight in separate units under fanatical Nazi officers—and that's envisaged by some observers. You'd have a fine keg of kraut. There would be no armistice day, but the Allied forces would have to go in and clean a mighty dirty house.

The above isn't a prediction. It's a possibility.

We don't get much help in trying to gauge the present climactic fighting by what happened at the end of the First Great War. There's little similarity. Militarily speaking Hitler is much worse off than was the Kaiser at this stage of the conflict.

The fluidity of the present fighting in France renders the future of any army in retreat most uncertain and precarious. Thus, for example, while we know the Germans normally would make a stand on the Somme River in the northern tip of France, there's no assurance now that they will be able to reorganize on that line in view of the Allied drive which has taken American advance guards to within less than two score miles of Belguim.

It's posible that when the Germans near their own frontiers we shall see a reversion to static defence in the great Siegfried Line or the Maginot Line, or both, if the Germans can maintain their organization. There may be a similar stand behind the Oder against the Russians. Then we shall see whether the Fuehrer can defend himself against being flanked. Anyway, the lines will be taken.

Armored Unit 10 Miles Past Reims

Two Great Armies Slicing North At Mile An Hour

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 30—(AP)—American steel and infantry thrust to within 38 miles of the Belgian border today, nearing Laon and rolling back the Germans retreating from the Aisne river, while along the Allied front to the west the German high command reported enemy withdrawal from Rouen on the Seine, object of the present 1st Canadian army drive.

Meantime British troops carved their way as deep as 20 miles north of the Seine between Paris and the sea, driving on the buzz-bomb coast.

Two great Allied wings were swiftly slicing up Northern France.

American armored units reached Reims today and stormed across the Vesle River. Reims is 50 miles south of Belgium and 107 miles from the German frontier.

Famous In Last War

The United States armor advanced several miles to the east and north of the ancient cathedral city, a siege bastion of the First Great War. Other units reached a point 10 miles north of Reims on the Aisne River, while to the south one of many American columns stabbed across the Marne at Epernay.

Chalons on the Marne was captured along with Les Grandes Loges, eight miles northwest. Vitry, also on the river of three battles, was being mopped up as the Americans pushed forward all along a broad front forming an expanding arc east of Paris.

The Allies now have consolidated their hold on the north bank of the Seine from Louviers to Paris, a distance of 45 airline miles but considerably more along the meandering course of the river.

Nearing Laon

The U.S. 3rd Army, rolling forward northeast of Paris from two bridgeheads over the Aisne at Soissons and Pont-Arcy 14 miles farther east, struck within two miles of Laon, 19 miles beyond Soissons. The Belgian border was but 38 miles ahead of these columns picking up more than a mile an hour.

Other units of Lt.-Gen. Patton's army penetrated to Montaigu, 10 miles southeast of Laon, and 50 miles from Sedan—gate of the Nazi break-through into France in 1940.

East of Paris the Doughboys cleaned up Vitry le Francois on the Upper Marne. It is 96 miles from the German frontier and 45 from Verdun, siege city of the First Great War. They closed on Chalons Sur Marne northwest of Vitry, headquarters said, without confirming reports Chalons had been taken.

Germans, by-passed and cut up by lightning armored strokes, were being killed or seized by mop-up columns in a great area northeast and east of Paris.

The Germans also declared today that all the 7th Army remnants had been pulled back across the Seine from the disastrous traps in Normandy. Allied officers said some Germans still were trapped in two big loops of the Seine.

Czech Army Fights As Unit

LONDON, Aug. 30—(CP). — The Czechoslovak underground army came into the open today as a fighting unit. In its first communique, delivered to London by underground radio, it reported the capture of one town and fierce fighting against the Germans in four areas.

The communique issued by the Czechoslovak press bureau said:

"The German High Command has since August 29 been occupying Slovakia. Czechoslovak troops in Slovakia, together with guerilla detachments, have offered resistance to the Germans.

"According to reports so far received, the town of Cadaca, on the frontier between Slovakia and Moravia, has been taken by assault.

"Heavy fighting has been reported from the regions of Zilina, Pomasska, Bystric and Trencin."

Will Fight Japan

LONDON, Aug. 30 — (CP). —Radio France in Algiers declared today that French forces under General De Gaulle would fight on with the Allies to crush Japan after Germany has been defeated. "The French government," the broadcast said, "voids the Vichy declaration giving the Governor of French Indo-China power to collaborate with Japan."

Reds Within 29 Miles Of Bulgaria

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press War Correspondent

MOSCOW, Aug. 30 (AP) — The beaten Germans fled today from their last strongholds on the Black Sea as Russia, with troops within 29 miles of Bulgara, appealed to the Bulgars for support in quick liberation of the Balkans.

The capture of Constanta, Romania's largest port, appeared likely to be followed within a few hours by a complete mop-up of scattered German forces in the Bucharest-Ploesti zone by Soviet armored columns last reported 37 miles to the northeast.

The Nazi rout in Wallachia province was so disorderly that road and rail bridges escaped demolition. Little sabotage was reported in the Ploesti oil fields.

(The German communique said Rusian attacks were checked in the Buzau area of Romania and that Soviet troops invading Transylvania, part of Hungary since 1940, were thrown back in counter-attacks.)

With Hungary in the hands of a new government of Generals and the Germans hastily increasing their garrison in the rump state of Slovakia, Central Europe continued to be jarred politically as well as militarily by the power blows of the Red Army groups under Generals Rodion Y. Malinovsky and Fedor I. Tolbukhin.

Hungary Menaced

The Russians are in a position to capitalize immediately on any new defection by Nazi satellites on the eastern fringe of the Reich.

Bulgaria was warned that passive neutrality was not enough.

Imminent defeat of Hungary, too, was predicted officially by the Russians today as Red troops thrust deeper into Hungarian-held Transylvania and deployed swiftly in neighboring Romania.

Red Army troops drove upon Bucharest, Romania's capital, from three directons—one column from less than 60 miles away on the northeast through the Ploesti oil region.

On the southeast Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 3rd Ukrainian Army forces also ranged close to the city. In the centre other columns drove along the Danube Valley.

Navy Assisted

In an order of the day Premier Stalin credited the capture of Constanta to Bolbrukhin's fast-moving motorized and tank formations teaming up with naval forces under Admiral E. S. Oktyabrysky.

Constanta, a city of 60,000, has been for three years the main German naval base in these Black Sea waters. It is the terminus of the oil pipeline from Ploesti.

Canuck Units At Rouen City Suburbs

Germans Report Evacuation Of This Key City

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY ON THE SEINE, Aug. 30—(CP Cable)—Ontario and Maritime infantry were near the southeastern outskirts of Rouen today as the 1st Canadian Army advance from the Seine bridgehead speeded up.

The town of Boos, four miles southeast of Rouen and on the main road leading into the city, was captured and infantry pushed up this road. Armored elements now are beyond Boos and east of Rouen.

The advance was made overnight in rainy weather against comparatively light opposition. The odd bit of shelling and mortaring has been reported but the most resistance comes from German machine-gunners in rearguard actions.

Dominate City

From high ground on which they are located, Canadian infantry and armored forces dominate Rouen, the hub of an important highway leading to Dieppe, Le Havre and the Somme valley.

(The Germans announced today they had evacuated the town.)

The Germans are continuing to resist the other Canadian advance through the Rouen loop south of the city where the Seine makes a big bend and there has been fierce fighting there for several days.

On the Canadian left, British troops of the 1st Canadian Army cleared the forest of Orotonne. The town of Quillebeuf on the Seine, on the extreme left flank, was reported clear of the enemy.

Canadians Fight In Londe Forest

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 30—(CP-Reuter).—Heavy fighting continued today in Londe Forest, southwest of Rouen, with the Germans fiercely resisting every Canadian attempt to thrust into the Rouen loop at the city itself.

About three-quarters of the huge wood now is held by the Canadians but the other quarter is strongly held by the Germans, who are equipped with 88 mm. guns and mortars and seemingly unlimited number of small arms.

Yesterday the Canadians advanced almost to the eastern tip of the forest but were strongly counter-attacked and fell back to their original positions.

The forest is so thick that there are still a number of Germans wandering around behind the Canadian lines, most of them seeking to give themselves up. Many are members of the Todt organization.

This is the heaviest fighting since Falaise and is in direct contrast to the type of opposition being met with by Canadian troops who have crossed the Seine south of Rouen.

Art Ross Safe

BOSTON, Aug. 30 — (AP) — Flt. Lt. Arthur Ross, Jr., of the R.C.A.F., son of the General Manager of the Boston Bruins, is safe in Paris, according to a cablegram to his wife from John Thompson, Chicago Tribune correspondent.

The 26-year-old Ross was last reported to have bailed out of his plane June 11 somewhere near Falaise.

Moscow Angry At Turkey

Claims Too Friendly With Germans

MOSCOW, Aug. 30 —(AP)—The semi-final newspaper Pravda today accused Turkey of harboring German spies and turning her diplomatic break with the Nazis into a "friendly rupture."

With Russian troops closer to the Dardanelles than on any occasion since the First Great War, Pravda asserted German diplomatic, military, aviation and commercial attaches still were in Ankara 20 days after their scheduled departure.

The article carried the dateline of Batum, nearest Russian Black Sea port to Turkey, and was spread over two columns on Pravda's foreign news page. Its significance could hardly be over-emphasized.

The United States federal communications commission reported a Moscow broadcast appealing to Spaniards to oust the Franco regime and break with Germany "to gain a place for Spain among the democratic and freedom-loving nations." It said Franco was a "willing host for all Fascists who are trying to escape the people's justice."

Poles Fight Grimly For Survival

Nazi Slaughter Decimated The Population

By DANEL DE LUCE,
Associated Press War Correspondent.

LUBLIN, Poland, Aug. 30 —(AP) —A Poland unbroken in spirit after five years as a Nazi slaughterhouse gropes courageous to-day for a new life of freedom and peace.

In Lublin, 35 miles behind the Red Army front and 700 miles from Moscow, a Provisional Government of Poles exercises wide authority without the appearance of foreign interference.

Roman Catholicism continues as the state religion and priests teach in the public schools. Church property and lands are untouched.

Thousand of young Poles, most of them still in civilian clothes, for uniforms are scarce, drill in the cobble-stoned streets under grizzled veterans of guerilla warfare— recruits for a Polish Army that is expected soon to be 500,000 men and women. Women carry arms and serve in all types of national defence except actual combat.

A few score jews, all that are left of the pre-war Ghetto population of 40,000, never can efface the memory of the German terror but in this new Poland—whose national committee includes prominent Zionist—there are no barriers of race or creed against them.

Stench Remains.

Anti-aircraft guns bark on the outskirts of Lublin and high-flying German observation planes are a daily sight. The stench from the infamous Majdanek prison camp, where it is estimated 600,000 or more victims of Nazi sadism were put to death within view of Lublin's cathedral spire, becomes a nauseating reminder when the wind is from the east.

Poland still is in the agony of war. Lublin citizens know there kingolk have been dying by thousands in the mouldering ruins of Warsaw. But here, where Polies sit in the highest government offices. Polish judges and police conduct the administration of justice and Polish newspapers forecast an era of prosperous democracy, Polish pride and hope are unborn.

Standing in busy Krakow street beside the bomb-wrecked clock tower,you meet Poles great and small who speak with unquenchable hatred of past German tortures and with determination of rebuilding a strong independent Poland.

Former Grove Student Killed In France

TORONTO, Aug. 30—Serving with a Quebec tank regiment in France, Lieut. Ian James McCrimmon, formerly of Toronto and Kincardine, has been killed, according to official notificaton received here.

He is the son of Major and Mrs. K. H. McCrimmon of Rio de Janeiro, where Major McCrimmon is associated with the Brazilian Traction Co. Major McCrimmon is a veteran of the last war, in which he saw service with the 18th Battalion of London, Ont. Leut. McCrimmon is a nephew of Mrs. Niven Beardmore of Toronto.

Educated at Grove School, Lakefield, and McGill University, from which he graduated in May, 1943, Lieut. McCrimmon went overseas a month later with the Sherbrooke Fusiliers, 27th Canadian Armored Regt. He was killed on Aug. 13.

north of their Seine bridgehead at Vernon captured Longchamps and Mainneville.

The Americans and British over the Seine were joined into a 35-mile front, driving northward toward the Pas de Calais area, and wrecking any German hope of a stand on the Lower Seine.

The strategic port of Le Havre was rapidly being outflanked.

With the battle for southern France nearing completion the two great Allied invasion forces liberating France now stood only 192 miles apart. The distance had been narrowed by an American push 15 miles beyond Troyes, southeast of Paris, to Finey.

Although the Americans were meeting little resistance in their rapid advances northeast of Paris the progress was harder at the western end of the Allies' S-shaped front.

The Seine bend south of Caudebec was entirely in Allied hands but the Germans were cleared out of the Brotonne forest in that area only after hard fighting.

What Germans were left on the south side of the Seine were in two remaining horseshoe loops. They were resisting fiercely, but Gen. Montgomery's troops were smashing into both loops to clean them out.

"This is Moscow getting into line with us and notifying Bulgaria to make terms with us," said a British Foreign Office spokesman.

Both Russian and German reports said Nazi troops were getting out of Bulgaria as quickly as possible and rushing to Hungary to bolster Hungarian-German garrisons.

Germany also rushed troops into Slovakia, the puppet state Hitler created immediawtely north of Hungary. Gen. Ferdinand Catlos, commander-in-chief of Slovakia's armed forces, appealed to the people to receive the Germans as allies and obey "only government orders." Recent parachutist and guerilla activity have been reported in Slovakia.

New Method To Make Rubber

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP) —A new method of processing synthetic rubber was disclosed Tuesday by the General Tire and Rubber Co., which said the development will step up production of military tires and "hasten the day" when civilians can replace their passenger car tires.

The development consists of a process of adding carbon black —which provides the wearing surface of a tire— to the rubber while the rubber still is in the liquid stage.

Hitherto in the processing of both natural and synthetic rubber, the company said, it has been necesary to grind the carbon black into dried rubber in a lengthy milling process.

Company officials said the new techinque had these advantages: A 35 per cent reduction in milling time; and equal percentage cut in manpower on milling operations; a 20 per cent reduction in power consumption; lower production costs.

Army Seizes War Plant Strike Ends

HUNTINGTON, W.Va., Aug. 30—(AP)—Production of vital war materials was resumed by some 2,000 workers at the International Nickel Co. today after the United States war department seized the strike-bound plant under a presidential order.

Moving with unprecedented speed in a labor dispute, a group of seven officers headed by Lt.-Col. George D. Woods took possesion at 10 o'clock last night.

Two hours later, a stream of employees coursed through the gates in the glare of floodlights to resume operation on the midnight shift, and the strike had ended.

Representatives of the C.I.O.-United Steelworkers Union and the company declined comment, but Col. Woods said he was "pleased with the co-operation of both the company and the union."

Normal production was expected to be restored by Friday or Saturday.

Although the order of seizure issued in Washington empowered the army to use troops, none appeared at the plant and an army spokesman said none would be called unless they were needed.

A Grievance

The three-day strike had started within 48 hours after a strike of seven days which began Aug. 16 as a result of alleged grievances between the union and the management.

Reviewing the history of the two stoppages in a broadcast appeal to the employees to return to their jobs, District Director W. D. Mackay of the union said the original strike was an outgrowth of a dispute over the status of one employee.

Mackay made his appeal one hour after the army seized the plant. The district director attributed both strikes to a "small group" within the local union, whose affairs have since been taken over by the international union.

Prior to this suspension of local autonomy which Mackay said was temporary, union members disregarded back-to-work directives by the war labor board and their international president, Philip Murray, who declared the strikes to be in violation of their contractual obligations.

Huns Evacuate City Of Rouen

LONDON, Aug. 30 —(CP)—The cathedral city of Rouen in France has been evacuated, a Berlin broadcast said today.

The Germans asserted their 7th Army had crossed the Seine in what they described as disengaging movements.

A German communique admitted a retreat northeast of Paris but claimed Americans attacking between Paris and Reims were "halted in bitter fighting."

A Berlin radio commentator, discussing the withdrawal of the 7th Army across the Seine, said this "is a noticeable relief for the German command. It showed itself already in the Paris-Reims area by an increase of German resistance there."

The comentator asserted Rouen, a city of 122,000 toward which Canadian troops have been advancing, was evacuated "after destruction of all military establishments."

"Allied formations which had been driving up the country between the Seine and the Marne more or less unmolested in the recent past are now enc ntering everywhere a strong German defence of German troops operating in that area," he said. "The threat to the German right wing might now be described as having been removed."

Mining News

TORONTO, Aug. 30—Gold registered a moderate advance this afternon on Toronto exchange. Other groups were steady to lower. Volume was a little heavier at 283,000 shares.

Giant Yellowknife advanced 35 cents to 8.75, gains of 10 to 15 cents came out for Conwest and Frobisher and Bear and Negus were up 5 to 8 cents. O'Brien, Central Patricia, Upper Canada, Malartic Gold Fields, Madsen and Siscoe all improved. Roche Long Lac gained 3 cents on heavy volume.

Steep Rock firmed 15 cents to 4.10 and Falconbridge, Aldermac and Jack Waite were other strong base metals. Nickel and Labrador were down.

The food, steel and paper stocks were up and the miscellaneous industrials weakened slightly. Abitibi Pfd gained 1⅝ to 46½ and fractions were added by Minnesota and Abitibi Common.

Bombers Lash Out

Stettin, the air ministry said, reconnaissance revealed smoke from very large fires rising to a great height.

Clouds prevented clear observation of the results at Konigsberg, which was attacked for the second time in four nights.

Both Berlin and Hamburg were hit by speedy Mosquitos, which carried a bomb load of 4,000 pounds.

The air ministry said in the overnight operations many mines were laid in enemy waters.

Up to 750 heavy U.S. bombers from Italy also struck yesterday in tactical support of Russian armies cutting through Romania by bombing Hungarian rail bridges and yards at Szeged and Szolnok and enemy barracks and trains moving through that threatened Balkan land.

Some of these planes flew into Czecho-Slovakia and bombed steel works at Moravska Ostrava, the largest plate-rolling mill in Europe. The Mediterranean Allied air forces struck transport facilities in northern Italy, Yugoslavia and southern France as well as destroying 12 German planes at the cost of 21.

Russian airmen bombed a German supply convoy off the Lithuania port of Leipaja sinking a 12,000-ton ship and two submarines. Moscow's communique listed 27 enemy planes destroyed in the east.

The importance of Konigsberg and Stettin to the German army facing Russia cannot be overestimated. Stettin is connected with waterway with Berlin and provides an alternate route to railroads used to move supplies and to funnel refugees out of the Baltic territory. The Stettin Canal, probably more important presently to Germany than the Kiel Canal, was mined during the last British attack.

Set Large Fires

Mosquitos in two groups dropped two-ton bombs in considerable number on battered Berlin and Hamburg and the crews reported large fires and explosions.

Operations over the western front from British and French fields were curtailed drastically by the weather, but U.S. fighters skimmed under the clouds to smash rail traffic in France as far south as Lyon, in the low countries and western Germany.

Fighter-bombers destroyed or damaged 90 locomotives, 316 railcars, more than 300 motor vehicles, two roundhouses and two tunnels. They destroyed 20 German planes on an airdrome near Brussels.

Americans Take French Island

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP). —Surrender of the Island of Porquerolles to the United States cruiser Omaha in connection with the invasion of Southern France was reported by Navy Secretary Forrestal to-day.

He said the island off the coast of Southern France was "stubbor nly defended" but that the enemy garrison ran up the white flag and surrendered "following several days of bombardment by naval forces."

"The capture of the bastion guarding the eastern approaches to the Toulon area area completed the investment by Allied forces of the Hyerès Islands," he said.

English coastal resident heard a strong force of medium bombers roaring over the Channel today toward the Somme and Seine front areas.

British Beaufighters attacked with rockets a five-vessel convoy in Helgoland Bight and left two flak-ships, an auxiliary ship and a merchant vessel wreathed in flames. Two attackers were lost.

Paris Breathes Again; Germans Gone

By MAURICE DESJARDINS
Canadian Press War Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 30—(CP).—The people of Paris still form long queues for bread but they don't mind. They are free of the Germans now and they know food is being rushed to them by all means available to the Allies.

During the Allied entry into Paris the other day one laughing Parisienne was asked how she had managed to keep her chic and allure.

"Only to make the Boche mad," she replied, "but thank God he's gone. I was wondering how I was going to do it any longer."

She wore a tricolor skirt with a tricolor ribbon and like thousands of others she was riding a bicycle.

There were wildly happy, half-hysterical scenes as Paris was liberated.

On the Boulevard Raspail our jeep was surrounded by a group of lads of the French forces of the interior, who had been stalking the Germans for eight days. Just then six motorcycles roared by followed by a car in which rode Gen. De Gaulle.

Became Speechless.

One of the youths became speechless. At last he had seen the man for whom he had been fighting. He started kissing everyone in the group. Then he grew pale, sat down and cried like a child.

Dozens of Parisians offered me drinks as I sat at a bell boy's counter in the Hotel Scribe lobby, writing my first dispatch from the capital. One was a little red-head named Christiane Pons. She said she was a sister of the singer Lily Pons.

Canadian correspondents got a great welcome. At one point a tall, distinguished-looking man ran out of his home with an orange drink. He said it was made from pre-war extract which he had saved to offer to the first Canadian he saw in Paris.

Paris gave the incoming Allied troops a delirious welcome.

There were children waving fistfuls of flags and grown-ups just standing there, making the V-sign and shouting at the top of their lungs. Mothers lifted their children up for American and French soldiers to kiss.

This was the people of Paris coming to life after four years of occupation—four years of Kommandantur and Gestapo. Now the men in green uniforms whose presence was unbearable were gone and Paris breathed again.

Capt. Robt. Lucas Slightly Injured

COBOURG, Aug. 30 (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lucas have received word that their son, Captain Robert Lucas, has been slightly wounded and is in hospital in Normandy. Mrs. Lucas received particulars from her son who advised that his injury was not serious. She was notified from Ottawa Tuesday that he was wounded.

He enlisted in 1940 at Cobourg with the R.C.A. and was sent to O.T.S. at Brockville, receiving his commission in December of 1940. He went overseas in July of 1943 and before going over was promoted to captain. A brother, Lieut. John, Lucas, is in the navy.

Mining Man Dies

MASSEY, Ont., Aug. 30—(CP)—John Lorne Campbell, 63, one of the most colorful figures in the lumbering and mining life of the north, died Monday night. The popular mining man was a prominent member of the Conservative party. In the last Federal election he ran in Algoma East. Born in Mattawa, Ont., he and his brothers were first prospectors in the Porcupine and other mining areas. In 1907 he was chief fire ranger for Northern Ontario and in recent years was employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Officer Accused By Magistrate With Misleading His Client

COBOURG, Aug. 30—(ENS)—Further adjournment was necessary Tuesday in the purse snatching charges against Harold White and Isabella Smith of Toronto, due to the fact that their counsel, Lieut. H. Gordon of Bowmanville Internment Camp was not present. Magistrate R. B. Baxter, in adjourning the matter until Wednesday morning at nine o'clock, was critical of the attitude of Lieut. Gordon.

"Mr. Gordon said that he would be here today and he has failed to appear. It was adjourned Monday afternoon after he did not appear that mornnig and as I had court in Port Hope with witnesses from a distance, we had to finish up. We got down in Cobourg about 4:35 in the afternoon and found that Mr. Gordon did not see fit to wait and had returned to Bowmanville. I was supposed to be in Peterborough today but arranged to have court postponed there. Mr. Gordon today informs me that he cannot come and the camp commandant also says that Mr. Gordon cannot come and has no authority to come. I told him that Mr. Gordon interfered and that you had dismissed your local solicitor and now he says that he had no authority to appear.

"I am going to proceed Wednesday morning and I would suggest that you get your former solicitor. The county is not going to be put to any more expense in this matter and there will be no further adjournments. British justice says that the accused is entitled to counsel and I have done the utmost to carry that out. I believe that Mr. Gordon has mislead you and trifled with the administration of justice in this court and that will be dealt with in another manner," said the magistrate to the accused.

Flier's Moustache Turns Green When He Parachutes Into Ocean

WIT THE R.C.A.F. IN ITALY, Aug. 29—(CP)—The Duke is living on his memories now.

The Duke is Flying Officer J. W. Munro of Madoc, Ont., whose handlebar moustache was famed throughout the Mediterranean for its luxuriance.

The Duke really shook the boys back on the squad when he returned from baling out into the sea with his moustache colored a vivid green.

The florine from his Mae West had acted with salt water to dye it the color of brilliant spinach.

Now the Duke, after completing a lively tour of operations with an R.A.F. Spitfire squadron, blasting the Jerries in Italy and Yugosiavia, has been stuck on a ground job—C.O. of communicaion flight in the new Balkan air force.

Grounded

He is shorn of his moustache, the pride of the Adriatic, and he lives an earth-bound existence, mulling over his memories.

It's the second-time the Duke has sacrificed his moustache. The first was when he parachuted into the drink after an air-sea battle off Elba.

The Duke joined his squadron in North Africa August 1943. He was in time to take part in the air cover for the Sicilian invasion. From there the squadron moved to Salerno and later was given the job of defending liberated Naples from enemy air attack. Next came a period in Corsica, where Munro flew for two weeks with an American unit.

Soon afterward, the squadron's Spitfires were fitted for carrying bombs and the unit swept enemy communications and transport from Rome to Genoa, dive-bombing and strafing. Still, later it became one of the first squadrons assigned to the same work in Yugoslavia. Munro, who has never counted his score, shared in attacks on railroads, power-plants and road convoys.

In one sweep he destroyed three tanks, and another time helped wipe out a convoy of over 100 trucks. Sixty went up in flames and the rest were riddled with bullets.

His most exciting day was the one which cost him his moustache. He was shot down within an hour, but shares in the destruction of two German F-boats at Elba.

"We went down in on the deck at dawn," he releates, "and caught the two vessels just entering the harbor in line astern, we blew one of them up and the other was driven ashore. The shore batteries were firing at us and I saw something hit my wing, but paid no attention till one of the boys called me and said I was streaming smoke.

"I swung away and got up to 2,400 feet and tried to bail out. I was caught in the cockpit, and did not get away till I was down to 800 feet. I didn't have my dinghy, so I drifted around in my Mae West.

"All of a sudden I found myself in the midst of a little war. The shore guns were firing at me the other Spits would dive in and strafe them, and then as the Spits pulled away they'd open up again. It kept getting hotter. I wouldn't have been surprised to see a couple of cruisers appear and brins the navy into it too."

After about an hour, a R. A. F. seaplane appeared, landed beside Munro and took him aboard. As it taking off from the shore. Munro and the crew took to a dinghy, and eventually were rescued by a surface craft.

Munro got his wings at Uplands in 1940, and spent two years instructing at Claresholm and Vulcan, Alta., before coming overseas.

DRIVE NEARS OLD WAR SCENES—Ghosts of another war stalk the French areas which now lie in the path of major drives in the current Battle for France and it may well be that many a son will fight close to the grave of his father. As the drive turns northward from below Paris, the Marne River again is in the limelight and, pushing north and eastward, Allied troops move toward World War 1 battlefields (indicated by circles) such as Soissons, Amiens, Ypres, St. Quentin and Cambrai. At Abbeyville lies one goal which may be of vital importance in wiping out the rocket coast, already harrassed by the successful push to the Seine.

Sten Gun Wounds Sgt. E. D. Hayden

COBOURG, Aug. 30 (ENS) — Word has been received here that Sergeant E. D. Hayden of Cobourg, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Hayden and husband of the former Grace Kidd, has been wounded in France. Sergeant Hayden was wounded in the leg by the discharge of a Sten gun and is in hospital in France.

He enlisted in 1940 at Cobourg during the month of August and immediately was sent to O. T. C. at Brockville as a sergeant-instructor. He went overseas in September of 1943. A brother, Major Harold Hayden is also in France.

Launching Sites Camouflaged Very Cleverly

By WILLIAM STEWART,
Canadian Press War Correspondent.

BOISNEY, France, Aug. 30—(CP Cable) — In an apple orchard near this tiny village about 25 miles southwest of Rouen we have located what is evidently is an authentic launching-site, either for flying bombs or for some other type of German "V" weapon.

R. A. F. officers who have examined the emplacement with its carefully-camouflaged 150-foot ramp also believe it is the launching site for one of the "secret weapons."

In the past few weeks various kinds of concrete constructions and excavations have been mistaken for such sights, so when we set out yesterday morning in the rain, following a clue given by a Canadian officer, we weren't certain that our search wouldn't lead only to a German pill-box or an installation for an ammuntion or oil depot.

The construction was built by the Germans on a piece of farm property requistioned from its French owner. Work started last March 3, and heavy labor ended D-day, June 6, when a group of German specialists was due to put the finishing touches to it and instal technical equipment.

Utmost Secrecy.

The area was blocked off and concrete-laying was carried on in such secrecy that only the farmer—whose home is about 200 feet from the site— suspected what was going on.

Other persons in the sprawling village knew only that a party of 25 conscripted laborers was pouring concrete under direction of German supervisors in civilian clothes.

One Frenchman was about to ride away on his bicycle after we had questioned him, then returned to the side of our jeep and said: "You couldn't mean the block-house on the farm by the crossroads?"

The proprietor of the farm—whose aged mother had been shot in cold blood by a German sentry for merely stepping out of the farmyard and peering toward the orchard—led us to the ramp.

It was painstakingly concealed and is still covered with sod lifted from a nearby field and placed over every section of the concrete spine of the ramp, which points in a generally northern direction.

Use Not Known

The launching installations consist of the camouflaged storehouse, two sheds alongside the 25-foot reinforced platform containing eight cubic metres of conrete, another platform 50 feet to the right designed to take a semi-circular track for traversing purposes, and eight-foot-by-eight concrete dugout and two other smaller concrete dugouts intended for storage.

At the right edge of the launching platforms is a concrete reservoir now filled with some 2,000 litres of rain-water. It was not possible to learn its purpose.

The ramp, which rises at an angle of only three or four degrees, was built with such an eye for camoulage from the air that every wheelbarrow of earth carted by conscripted Italian laborers was sprayed with green liquid as soon as it was dumped in and around the farm building half-concealed by the orchard.

The farmer is under the impression that this site is one of a series of at least seven well-hidden installations west of the Seine.

Staking Rush Sets Record

TORONTO, Aug. 29.— (CP). — The Ontario Department of Mines said to-day that all 36 square miles of Midlothian township, 50 miles southwest of the Kirkland Lake gold camp, has been staked solid by gold-seekers and that the staking rush now has spread to adjoining townships to the east and north.

An official of the Department said the staking rush in the area was the biggest in Ontario in years and that many of the larger mining companies are interested.

The intial discovery was made about 16 days ago by Felix Roche and first news about it was made public Aug. 23.

A Mines Department official said Department geologists will be sent to the area soon. He recalled that in 1921 Cyril Knight, then a Department geologist, carried out a survey of the Midlothian area and his report expressed the view it might be an extension of the Kirkland-Larder Lake and Porcupine gold breaks.

Liberals Are Returned

New Brunswick went to the polls on Monday and in no uncertain terms returned to power the Liberal Government of Premier J. B. McNair, when 36 government candidates were returned in a Legislature of 48. The Liberals decisively outscored the Progressive Conservatives, who elected 12 candidates for a loss of seven seats. The C.C.F. party, making its first major attempt to gain seats in the Legislature, failed to elect a candidate and 17 of the party's 41 candidates will lose their deposits.

In 1939 the Liberals elected 29 members against 19 Conservatives, while at dissolution the Government had 25 supporters, Conservatives nine and there were seven vacant seats.

It was Premier McNair's first appeal to the people, for he became government head when Premier A. A. Dysart accepted a county judgeship in 1940. However, the Liberals have been in power for nine years. Hugh MacKay, Conservative leader, and J. A. Mugridge, the C.C.F. chieftain, were also appearing for the first time as leaders of political parties.

The result is full of significance to all three political parties. The Liberals had suffered defeat already this year in Saskatchewan and Quebec and one year ago in Ontario. This decisive victory in New Brunswick will do much to turn the tide which appeared to be going against the party at Ottawa. For the Conservatives the outlook is not bright, in Quebec and Saskatchewan they had failed to elect a representative to either legislatures and in Ontario their's is a minority government. That the party leaders were counting on a win in New Brunswick had been evident in recent weeks and John Bracken, the federal leader, had called them to win the election. There is little hope for the future for the Progressive Conservatives in the New Brunswick results.

The C.C.F. had swept into power in Saskatchewan and their high hopes of a win in Alberta had been smothered, while in Quebec they managed to squeeze in one candidate. The party was anxious to make some kind of a showing in New Brunswick and at least to gain a foothold in the legislature.

The results can be taken as a forerunner of the general trend in the Maritimes and do not hold a very bright ray of hope for either the C.C.F. or the Conservatives. It was to be expected the Conservatives would at least hold their own, especially after the Liberals had been in power nine years, but instead they lost seven seats.

Premier McNair went to the people on the government's past record and also an extensive program of social measures and economic development. This again shows that in these times a record is not enough, parties must also plan a program for the future. The Liberals in Ontario discovered this last year much to their disappointment.

While it will be a week before the soldiers' vote at home and overseas is tabulated the handsome majorities which many of the Liberal candidates obtained will hardly change the final results. In fourteen seats the Liberal majorities were in the four figure mark, while in several others the majority over the other two parties was in excess of 500 votes. In no constituency was the civilian vote as close as in many ridings in Ontario and Quebec. The Conservatives on the other hand won by big majorities in several ridings.

Talk Fitness

Major Ian Eisenhardt, National Director of Physical Fitness, is meeting this week in Ottawa with the National Council on Physical Fitness. British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island have already joined the movement and it is expected that Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick will come in shortly.

This physical fitness program hooks up with the three armed services, who have already made survey on the physical fitness of Canadian youth, and steps to eliminate some of the defects found in medical examinations are to be suggested.

What is being started by federal and provincial authorities must of necessity be passed on to the municipalities if the program is to be put into effect. Medical examinations of Canadian youth during the war have shown the great need for a physical fitness program for the youth of this country. Our "A" category men and women have been far too few for a healthy country.

Peterborough with its plans to establish a Memorial and Community Health Centre is only keeping pace with the trend of the times. The necessity of such a centre in this community in order that the health and physical fitness of our young citizens may be improved is apparent to everyone. With our proposed centre we will be ready when the program is completed by Ottawa and the provinces. Other towns and cities are now making similar plans for their youth. Peterborough must not lag behind.

Religion In The Schools

With great fanfare and the blowing of trumpets on the part of Premier George Drew's Toronto press, it was announced in April that commencing in September a course in religious training would be started in the schools of Ontario. A whole new course of study was to be turned out over night and teachers "primed" to teach this course during the summer.

The Examiner at the time of the announcement endorsed the idea of the new course but was critical of the idea that a worthwhile course could be organized in so little time. We advised care and preparation and the taking of plenty of time in the outlining and planning.

In July the Department of Education in a statement announced that the course would not commence in the secondary schools in September, but it would start in the public schools. Apparently the Department had found it impossible to get the course outlined and the proper manuals and textbooks written and published.

Now we read that when school reopens next week, that while religion is going to become part of the curriculum it will only be tried out in Grades I and II. The intention is gradually to extend it until it reaches all ages. While naturally these are the logical grades to start any new course, but, if as has been intimated this new system will be on trial this coming term, we feel no more unfortunate choice of grades could have been made. These are the very children in our schools, who under our present system, have been pretty thoroughly trained in Bible stories for their age and they are not the problem children in our Sunday schools. Few Sunday schools are experiencing difficulty in getting children of six and seven years of age to attend; they are a few years older before they commence to slip. For the most part our churches are well organized to look after these young children, both in the Sunday schools and junior congregations. Hence giving this new course a trial with children of this age will hardly be a testing ground.

Starting the course in these grades where few manuals and courses of study are required looks to us too much as if the Department of Education is simply trying to save face.

We still maintain that there is a place in our schools for religious education, and that such training can be made non-sectarian and offensive to no denomination or creed, and that this course when established should be put into every public and secondary school no matter whether children of the Protestant, the Roman Catholic or the Jewish faiths predominate. But it must be a wholehearted effort on the part of the Department of Education and this can only be an all-out effort when sufficient time has been taken to prepare the necessary manuals, books and train the teaching staffs.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There's a healthy hint of fall in the air, lending sharp emphasis to Hon. C. D. Howe's advice that now is the time to make sure of a full coal-bin.

The United States rubber director has paved the way for more and superior girdles, showing that things are shaping for the better.

Stratford Beacon-Herald knows a girl named Dora who, when told to keep it under her hat, replied it would have to be a very small secret. Or an oddly-shaped one.

It is conceded that women show their good sense by wearing such light summer clothing, but Ottawa Citizen's T.D.F. wants to know what the verdict is when they continue to wear it all winter. Well, it could be a matter of good form.

Beck's Death Ends Sordid Career

(FROM WINDSOR STAR)

On June 6, the Nazi controlled Romanian radio announced that Col. Beck, ex-foreign minister of Poland, had died of a long illness. That was the second announcement of Beck's death in a little over a year—the first time they killed him prematurely by cable; the second time tuberculosis really did claim him.

Beck was neither a colonel nor a Pole, says Affairs Week by Week. He was probably born in one of the Baltic countries, like Alfred Rosenberg, Baron Wrangel, the fugitive conqueror of Outer Mongolia, Ungern von Sternberg and a good many other European adventurers. If he had not died a natural death, he would certainly have been hanged or shot after the Allied victory, as just punishment for his part in starting the Second World War.

He was a treacherous looking bald-headed man of 50, wasted by disease and vice. He played an obscure role in the Polish war of liberation, at the age of 14-18, as Pilsudski's shadow. His name and person became internationally known in 1926 after the coup d'etat by his chief and protector, the ex-socialist marshal.

In 1928, at the instigation of Marshal Foch, who had reason to regard Beck as a German spy, Briand requested Warsaw to remove Beck, then military attache in the Polish Embassy in Paris, and repatriate him. It was done, and subsequently Beck was appointed chief of Pilsudski's political cabinet and substitute president of the council. A few years later, after Pilsudski's death, when the inept Marshal Smigly-Ryds had taken his place, Beck became Minister of Foreign Relations and thus the inspirer of all the chiefs of state of the dictatorial period.

Risen out of nothing, the tall, arrogant Beck with his perpetual monocle had become so vain that he kept Barthou—one of the outstanding statesmen of Europe—waiting in an anteroom for two hours. And although he was a Catholic, he flouted the Church's authority by marrying a rich divorcee.

His ambition—in respect to money and vanity—knew no bounds. His megalomania and his Germanophile interests made him believe himself capable of sharing with Hitler a duumvirate to rule the Old World from which Soviet Russia would be excluded or exist as a subject nation. He conceived of an Axis parallel to the Nazi Fascist Axis, running from the Baltic to the Aegean. But all his efforts were frustrated in Romania as well as in Finland.

In 1934, breaking the Polish Pro-Allied tradition, he signed a 10-year non-aggression pact with the Reich, which the Fuehrer, disregarding Beck's services, broke in 1939 by invading and subjugating Poland. Nevertheless, Beck continued to an apish imitator of Hitler. In 1938, thanks to the Nazi mutilation of Czechoslovakia, Beck snatched the Duchy of Teschen; in 1939, having seized the Vilna region of Lithuania, he forced that country by a typically Nazi ultimatum to resume relations with Warsaw. If Lithuania had not acceded perhaps the World War would have started then, and Poland, under Beck, would have fallen in line with Germany.

But the Fuehrer, determined to conquer Poland, did not concern himself with his former accomplice Beck, and the latter, against his wishes, was obliged to play the role of enemy to the Nazis. The dizzy pace of the German attack prevented Beck from helping the Reich and sent him fleeing to Romania after the downfall of his country.

For a time he was placed in a concentration camp, but as a privileged guest, with the right to get drunk and live like a decadent Roman. Then he was set free and his dissolute life aggravated his numerous physical weaknesses. Still Beck worked insistently for a reconciliation with Hitler, hoping to be the Polish quisling. His aspirations came to naught, but he again won the favour, though tinged with disdain—of Hitler.

When the Wehrmacht occupied Romania, Beck renewed his bid for the position of puppet, but all the German diplomats in Bucharest rejected his advances with disgust. "The traitor is no longer needed after his treachery."

But, if they did not hire him, neither did they persecute him. They permitted him to squander his wife's fortune in cabarets; they winked at his riotous drunks when he broke mirrors by shooting at them, and ran around naked; and when he was dying they supplied doctors unattainable for 99 per cent of the Romanians.

The defunct adventurer, who was for a time the virtual dictator of Poland, had lived for nearly a year in horrible agony, reduced to a skeleton and gnawed by frustrated ambition. It would have saved him a great deal of misery if Marshal Foch had been able to shoot him, as he wanted to. "All my life, I shall regret not having succeeded in having that damned spy shot," the great Frenchman repeated hundreds of times.

La Marseillaise

Ye sons of France, awake to glory!
Hark, hark, what myriads bid you rise!
Your children, wives and grandsires hoary,
Behold their tears and hear their cries!
Shall hateful tyrants, mischief breeding,
With hireling hosts, a ruffian band,
Affright and desolate the land,
While Peace and Liberty lie bleeding?

Refrain:
To arms; To arms ye brave!
The avenging sword unsheath!
March on! March on, all hearts resolved
To victory or death.

Now, now the dangerous storm is scowling
Which treacherous Kings, confederate, raise;
The dogs of war, let loose, are howling,
And lo! our fields and cities blaze
And shall we basely view the ruin,
While lawless force, with guilty stride,
Spreads desolation far and wide,
With crimes and blood his hand embruing?

With luxury and pride surrounded,
The vile, insatiate despots dare,
Their thirst of power and gold unbounded,
To mete and vend the light and air;
Like beasts of burden would they load us,
Like gods would bid their slaves adore:
But man is man, and who is more?
Then, shall they longer lash and goad us?

O Liberty! can man resign thee!
Once having felt thy gen'rous flame?
Can dungeon, bolts, and bars confine thee,
Or whips thy noble spirit tame?
Too long the world has wept, bewailing
That falsehood's dagger tyrants wield:
But freedom is our sword and shield,
And all their arts are unavailing.

THE GREAT LEADER —By Thomas

Our Ethnic Groups

(By B. T. RICHARDSON)

OTTAWA: Recent announcement that call-ups will be issued to Canadians of Chinese ancestry, of whom perhaps 3,500 to 4,000 will be eligible to enter Canadas' armed forces, will add another element to the cosmopolitan army created by Canada in this war. The latest issue of the official pamphlet, Canada at War, puts the present strength of army, navy and air forces of Canada at 765,900, including 31,900 women.

About one-sixth of the Canadian population derives from ethnic groups other than those of the United Kingdom and of France. About the same proportion is represented in the armed forces. The best analysis of this was given last June by Hon. L. R. LaFleche, Minister of National War Services, in a speech to the Canadian Legion in Vancouver. His estimate was based on a sampling taken of occupational history forms of half a million men in the Canadian armed forces.

Canada has the equivalent of at least three divisions of men in its army who can speak fluently another European language other than English or French. These men will serve an invaluable purpose as the Allied invasion extends and during the coming period of occupation of the European continent.

The estimate of three divisions of men able to speak a European language other than the official languages of Canada does not represent the whole enlistment contribution of European ethnic groups in the Canadian population, for many service men who are 2nd and 3rd generation have forgotten the mother tongue of their parents and grandparents.

The Canadian army could assemble more than a division of men who speak a Slav language, and of these about 12,000 would be Ukrainian-speaking. More than 9,000 men in the Canadian army can speak German. More than 2,900 speak Polish, despite the fact fairly heavy enlistments in the Polish army have occurred in Canada.

Mr. LaFleche put the number of Canadian soldiers able to speak Hungarian at 1,000 and the number speaking Italian at 2,200. Speaking of awards, he said:

"Run your eye through the list of Distinguished Flying Crosses awarded to junior officers of the R.C.A.F., and what have we? Bezer, Bloch, Blumenauer, Boczar, Bodnar, Cybulski, Dierkes, Grudzien, Kallio, Klassen, Koester, Kropf, Kusiar, Miesen, Oleinek, Schmidt, Schmitt, Schultz, Shemilt, Shork, Sondegaard, Sorsdahl, Wagner, Weisner, Wilhelmson, Zoo".

The Minister went on: "This country is too big, the pioneer work of many peoples too great, the service and sacrifice too widely distributed throughout the land, to stand for any anti-semitism, or anti-French or anti-Anglo-Saxon, or anti-foreigner movements".

He noted the existence of religious pacifist groups in Canada, but said that, except for the Sons of Freedom group of Doukhobors, such groups have co-operated with the Red Cross and other war work. The Mennonites maintain a home for bombed-out children in England, a refugee centre in Palestine and another in India, and they have furnished $2,500,000 to the federal government, of which $800,000 is non-interest loan.

Election In Sight?

(By B. T. RICHARDSON)

OTTAWA: A statement regarding the prospects of a general election in Canada, in more explicit terms than at any previous time, came from Prime Minister King only a few minutes before Parliament concluded its recent session. In announcing postponement of the Dominion-Provincial conference, he said:

"The date of the federal election is necessarily uncertain, but as I have repeatedly said, once the war is won it may come at any time. It will not, however, be delayed on any account beyond the legal term of the present Parliament."

The phrase "once the war is won" obviously does not necessarily mean that a formal armistice must be reached before steps would be taken to dissolve Parliament and set the date of an election. The minimum interval between issue of the writs and day of voting is 57 days. However, the progress of the war is evidently the main factor in determining the date of an election, for the Parliament that was elected in March, 1940, will reach the expiration of its legal term in April, 1945.

There are convincing, but not necessarily conclusive, arguments against a mid-winter election in Canada. The election would likely be either in November or early December at the latest, or else it would be next March or April. On balance, the politicians do not favour the idea of an election in the winter months from December to February.

If the election comes this year, therefore, the decision to dissolve Parliament and issue writs would likely come in the next two or three weeks. If that decision has not been made by mid-September, the odds would favour postponement of it to next January, with voting in March.

Under the circumstances, the politicians cannot be blamed if they are concentrating on the political outlook. Members who intend to run again left Ottawa to launch immediately plans to organize and campaign. Mr. King himself predicted the government would be returned.

Since it may happen that Canada will have a general election campaign under way at the same time as the U.S. presidential campaign is in full swing, an interesting coincidence is found in the arguments advanced by supporters both of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. King. That it is unwise "to change horses while crossing the stream" already figures in the Liberal party campaign.

But it was an opposition M.P., E. G. Hansell (Social Credit, Macleod) who, doubting the Liberal government will be returned, said he hoped Mr. King would be in the Canadian delegation to the coming peace conference or conferences. He hoped, he said:

"No matter what government is in power, that by a gracious as well as a common sense act which will be pleasing to the people of Canada, the present prime minister will be at least one of the delegation which will represent this country."

The current fashion in Ottawa is to predict a deadlock in which no party will have a clear majority in the next Parliament. Whether this prediction will be fulfilled, it rests upon two contentions which most observers accept. In the first place, the King government is widely unpopular in many parts of Canada. Government supporters ascribe it to many factors, such as public animosity to wartime controls, but they cannot explain it away. The other factor is that no reasonably certain alternative exists in Canada to a government led by Mr. King. Upon the basis of political prospects, neither Mr. Bracken nor Mr. Coldwell can be conceded any strong chance of leading a majority into the next Parliament, which will consist of 245 members.

These two factors may not, of course, bring a deadlock in Parliament, for the issues of a campaign on the heels of victory in Europe may crystallize opinion in Canada one way or the other and produce a definite majority. Until the votes are counted, one may be sure, the politicians will not commit themselves to any possible coalition arrangement.

Letter To The Editor

FAVOURS CHARLOTTE STREET

August 28th, 1944.

Sir,—The probable reason the people are not discussing the new city hall very much is because generally speaking they have confidence in the council and committee that good judgment will be used in selecting a site.

Naturally, there will be differences of opinion as to which is the best site, but I think most people will agree that on account of the rapid growth of the city to the southwest, a site on Charlotte street would be the most convenient to the bulk of the people.

Charlotte street is destined to be a very important business street in Peterborough because, partly of the large proportion of the population south of Charlotte street and the natural growth of the city is taking place in that direction, and also because of the number of properties on George street that are owned by professional landlords.—Yours truly,

G. N. GORDON.

Eddie Yocum Leads Riders In Percentages

By Central Press Canadian

Little Eddie Yocum, 17-year-old apprentice rider from Indianapolis, Ind., boasts the highest winning percentage among the country's top-ranking jockeys.

EDDIE YOCUM

Through August 23, Yocum has accepted 341 mounts this year and has won with 112 of them for a batting average of .328.

However, the national jockey championship is determined only by the number of winners ridden, and not on percentage. Ted Atkinson, current No. 1 reinsman, has booted 178 of his 985 mounts home in front.

The 102-pound Yocum, a mild-mannered youngster with blue eyes and light, curly hair, began his riding career at Churchill Downs, Louisvlle, Ky., last spring. He accepted 12 mounts at the Louisville course and rode one winner kicking Lovely Dawn in first on May 3. Lovely Dawn was the ninth mount of his saddle career.

From Churchill, Yocum came to Beulah Park, Grove City, O., to win 33 races in a 21-day meeting. Then he went to River Downs, Cincinnati, to account for 43 races. After a rest, he resumed riding at Dade Park, Hendersonville, Ky., where he won nine races in a week. Now he is back at Beulah Park, Grove City, O., and he has won 26 times in the first 10 days of the 20-day meeting.

PARIS, Aug. 30—(CP)—A French informant declared last night that Georges Mandel, anti-collaborationist who sought to form a government to carry on the war against Germany from North Africa after the French collapse of 1940, was taken from prison in Paris early this month by the Germans and slain in reprisal for the Maquis killing of Philippe Henriot, Vichy minister of propaganda.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

As far as Group 1 and 2 of the men's schedule is concerned the race is all over. True there is the odd postponed games to play, but they will not effect the winners.

In Group 1 Tom McMillan's rink breezed home an easy winner. Taking the lead at the early part of the season his rink was never in danger of being ousted. The closest rival is five points behind.

But it was not so in Group 2. Bill Jeffries' boys won out, but by the smallest of margins, one point. This group furnished the tightest race possible. There were three rinks fighting it out all summer and after one night's results would alter the entire situation. R. Payne finished just one point behind and H. Martin right bang up behind R. Payne. It was an interesting series all the way through.

It will be men's rinks on Friday night.

A number of our lady bowlers are playing up in Lindsay this afternoon and evening. It's Lindsay's annual treble tournament.

Now we have a special announcement for the men bowlers. On Monday, Sept. 11th we are commencing a new series of games. There will be three competitions, Primary, Consolation and Hard Luck. Everyone who enters is sure of three games. It is to be run on the straight elimiantion basis. There are just a couple of rules that the committee is going to enforce:

1st—All rinks entered must be of schedule strength.

2nd—All rinks shall be allowed one sub, and must continue the contest with three of the original players.

3rd—No trink shall be allowed to play with three men; must have four.

4th—Entries close on Wednesday, September 6th.

In a day or two there will be a box placed in the club house so that skips who wish to play may deposit theier names. One prize only in each of the competitions.

DIZZY TROUT, Tigers—

Dizzq Trout, Tigers—won 22nd of year and eighth straight by stretching scoreless inning string to 19 with fifth shutout in 7-0 swamping of Chicago; hit homer, double and single, driving in five runs.

Clem Driesewerd, Red Sox, and Floyd Bevens, Yankees—Dreisewered halted New York with six hits in American League debut, 8-1; Bevens won first start for Yankee, 11-2.

Dixie Walker, Dodgers-boosted average to .357 with single, double and triple in 2-1 Brooklyn shade over Phils.

Ernie Lombardi, Giants—homered to break 2-2 tie in sixth inning and singled home fourth tally as New York topped Boston, 4-2.

Bill Nicholson, Cubs, and Frank Gustine, Pirates—Nicholson hammered out three hits, including 29th homer, in Chicago's opening 15-4 slaughter of Pittsburgh; Gustine went four for four in pacing Pirates to 5-4 victory.

Teddy Wilks, Carde—shut out Cincinnati with three hits, 3-0, stretching consecutive victory string to 11, longest in Majors.

Westclox girls, champions of the Peterborough Ladies' Softball League will begin thir quest for an Ontario championship at Riverside Park at 6 o'clock this evening when they meet Belleville Reliance in the first game of a best-of-three intermediate series. The second battle will be staged at Belleville Saturday afternoon and if a third game should be necessary it will also be played in Belleville on Saturday evening. Although the Belleville girls have a strong club, with good pitching and strength in other important departments the Big Bens have a well-seasoned ball machine with two fine pitchers in Isobel Bullock and Joyce Withers, backed by a team that is usually strong defensively and that packs plenty of power at the plate. Most of the Westclockers have been through provincial campaigns before and their experience should help them materially in their battle for Ontario honors. They have just finished a hard series with Aircraft and will go into tonight's battle with Belleville in the best of shape. There has been no announcement as to who will pitch for the Peterborough champs tonight but it would not be surprising if the assignment were to be handed Joyce Withers, leaving Isobel Bullock to face the Belleville girls in the Saturday fixture.

By the way this column had a letter yesterday from a former C.G.E. star in the person of Corp. Bea McDowell of No. 1 R.C.A.F. Wireless School at Montreal in which the ex-C.G.E. picther and utility player stated that she was playing ball with the Montreal Royals, a strong girls' club and that they were anxious to arrange a game with a combined Westclox-Aircraft team either in Mnotreal or here. Corp. McDowell says the Royals have a strong club and a few days ago won a couple of games from the Toronto Staffords. The former Peterborough girl pitched against the formidable Toronto team last Saturday and defeated them. She herself will not be able to play any longer with the Royals as she is being posted to Mount Hope but says that the Montreal team is very anxious to arrange the game with the Peterborough girls. The manager of the Royals is Mr. Ogilvie of the Canada Car Company and Corp. McDowell says that he will be anxiously awaiting word from the local management in regard to the proposed battle. The only difficulty, from this end, would seem to be that Westclox are deep in the Ontario playoffs right now and might not be in a position to take on any exhibition obligations. However there is the proposition. Anyway this column was glad to hear from a girl athlete who always gave her best in local softball and who is doing just that in the bigger game in which she has enlisted for the duration.

Plazas Come Through

Plazas, Peterborough City League champions, came through like titleholders in their playoff game with Trenton at Riverside Park last night. Half way through the battle the local club looked to be well beaten for Trenton were leading 4 to 0 at the end of the fifth and Plazas had not been able to do very much with the offerings of Pitcher Benny Chorner of the visitors. But the Plazas are a tough team to hold in check for a full game. Their latent power usually develops into a scoring rally sooner or later and last night they got to Chorner for ten blows, most of them for extra bases, in the last five innings to score five runs and take the game and the series. The hitting of Mike Conroy and Joe Blewett, a most opportune homer by Jack Tucker to tie up the game and two timely hits by Les Burton and George Hawks featured the Plaza attack while Dave Wilson arose to the occasion with one of his best pitching efforts of the season. He held Trenton to five singles and on the run of the play might quite as easily have had a shutout as to have four runs scored off him. Trenton proved decidedly tough opposition during the series, and the Plazas had no easy task in taking the series. The winners are in action again today playing Main Office, Oshawa winners in the Motor City this afternoon with the return game here Friday or Saturday. That should be another great round.

* * * * * *

"Last week's 'old timers' baseball game at Oshawa was a howling success, the huge Alexandra Park grandstand was filled to over-flowing," says Ken Colling, Belleville sport scribe. "One of the features of the game was the pitching of Harold "Duke" Dainty, one of the better C.O.B.L. pitchers of two decades ago. Age apparently hasn't taken any toll on the perennial Duke, who struck out three and allowed only two hits as he teamed up with Ty Tyson his old battery mate. Scribe George Campbell says Dainty received a great hand, a reception seldom afforded a veteran athletic star of former years. Last week we suggested an 'old timer' game here in Belleville, but forgot to mention one who was "Mister Baseball" himself in Belleville. We refer to none other than Walter Gerow, first baseman deluxe and manager of some great Belleville teams years ago. Walt would be one of the first to come out and help the kids in an 'old timers' game. Incidentally both Carl Casey and Stan Hagerman are very much in favor of such a game so appraently all that is needed is to have some responsible person start the ball rolling."

Not So Strong

Peterborough fans will be interested in the following gossip from Chick Appel's Stratford Beacon-Herald sport column in regard to the Kroehlers who eliminated Westclox in the P.W.S.U. race last year: "Perhaps it was the absence of their regular first and third sackers, Helen Dounrough and Kay Johnson, but in any event Stratford Kroehlers will have to play much better than they did against London Eagles, Friday night, if they entertain any hopes of retaining their Ontario ladies' intermediate softball championship. One thing that was very noticeable was the pronuonced weakness of the Stratford batters against a slow ball. Both Joan Smith and Phyllis Johnston, the London pitching pair, made the local girls look rather foolish when they served up their tantalizing bloopers, and it may be just too bad if Kroehlers encounter a hurler who can mix a slow one with her fast pitch. Kroehler girls are scheduled to go to Preston on Wednesday, for their first game in the Provincial Women's Softball Union intermediate playdowns. The return game with the Rivulettes is billed for Kroehler Field, on Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. This will permit of a possible third and deciding game, at the same place, Saturday evening."

St. Louis Browns increased their lead in the American League race yesterday to four games by knocking off Cleveland 8 to 3 while the second place Boston Red Sox were breaking even with the New York Yanks in a double-header in which each club successfully used a rookie pitcher. Detroit Tigers, incidentally took over second spot by the narrow margin of a couple of percentage points when Dizzy Trout pitched and batted the Bengals into a 7 to 0 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Philadelphia took both ends of a double-header from the Washington Senators with Catcher Frankie Hayes supplying the power in both cases. Nothing of real note happened in the National loop except the fact that the St. Louis Cards expanded their lead to 19 full games when the league's leading pitcher Ted Wilks won his 11th straight victory and 14th of the season at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds who were blanked 3 to 0. The second place Pittsburg Pirates lost ground when they split a double-header with the Chicago Cubs.

Plazas Defeat Trenton To Win Round

George Hawks' single into centre field in the last half of the tenth frame, scoring Les Burton who had doubled past first a moment before gave Plazas a 5 to 4 victory over Trenton in their O.A.S.A. intermediate A playoff game at Riverside Park before a huge crowd on Monday night. The win sent the Peterborough representatives into the next round against Oshawa Main Office and eliminated the classy Trenton outfit.

Plazas had to come from far behind to turn the trick. They were down 4 to 0 at the close of the fifth inning and Benny Chorner on the rubber for the visitors had held them to two hits, a pair of ringing doubles off the bat of Mike Conroy. The same Conroy walloped a homer to deep centre field in the sixth to score Art Heal, who had singled, and that pair of runs put Plazas back into the ball game. Eddie Starr and Joe Blewett combined two doubles in the seventh to make it 4 to 3 and Jack Tucker drove a long circuit clout to left field in the eighth to sew up the game.

Neither team scored in the ninth and then came the Plazas' quick run in the last of the tenth to take the decision.

Dave Wilson went the route for the winners, holding the free-swinging Trenton gang to five singles, two of them scratchy. The big Plaza pitcher had tough luck in the early stages, being nicked for a soft run in the first when Eddie Starr dropped the third strike on a batter and had to throw him out at first, allowing a base-runner on third to score, and for a pair in the fifth when it looked as if a little hustle in the outfield might have cut off the two markers. After that, however, Wilson had the Trenton batters handcuffed. He blanked them for the last five innings and allowed only two singles during that period.

Chorner Weakens

Chorner, who pitched both the other games against Plazas, was as effective as ever for the first five frames, but he weakened on end and the winners did some lusty clouting in the final stages to pull the game out of the fire. Altogether they got to the Trenton ace for a total of 12 hits, including homers by Conroy and Tucker and seven doubles, but in spite of all this extra base hitting Plazas had a lot of trouble manufacturing runs.

Mike Conroy with a homer and two doubles and Joe Blewett with three two-base hits led the attack for the winners.

Thirdbaseman Hall was the only Trenton player to get more than one hit off Wilson. He bunted safely in the first and got a scratch single on a bad-hopping roller to Tucker in the tenth.

A fast double play by Plazas in the tenth, a running catch by Joe Blewett in centre field and a fast play by Lesperance, Trenton shortstop, on a hard-hit ball deflected to him by Hall, were outstanding fielding features. It was a tense, well-played and exciting ball game and the fighting finish staged by Plazas sent the home crowd away happy.

Trenton Score First

Trenton opened the scoring with an easy run in the first. Hall bunted safely to open the inning and was sacrificed to second by Heaney. A wild pitch put him on third and when Starr dropped the third strike on Lesperance and had to toss him out, Hall scored from third. McColl was thrown out by Wilson.

Conroy doubled through short and Blewett walked with two out in the Peterborough half but Ellis hit into a force play to retire the side.

In the fourth for Trenton, McColl got a life when his roller got away from Tucker. He went to second while Hawks was tossing out Chorner, to third on a wild pitch and scored on Istead's slow tap to Heal. Tucker threw out Mills for the third out.

Conroy doubled to open the Peterborough end of the frame but Tucker fanned, Ellis rolled to the pitcher and Tucker popped an easy fly.

Trenton went further in front in the fifth. Long walked to open the frame. Drake was out on a hot shot to Wilson, Long going to second. A wild pitch moved him over to third. Bell cracked one to the box which Wilson partially stopped and Tucker recovered the ball in time to toss Long out at the plate, a nice play. Heaney singled into centre field, sending Ball to third and going to second on Blewett's toss to the red light corner. Lesperance hit a fly to short centre which dropped in front of Blewett for a single, scoring Bell and Heaney, and the batter went to second on the throw to the plate. It looked, until the last moment, as if Blewett was going to catch the shortstop's drive. Heal tossed out McColl and that was the end of the Trenton scoring for the night.

Plazas Start Rolling

Plazas started to roll in the last of the sixth. Heal opened with a Texas League single over Lesperance's head and scored ahead of Mike Conroy when the Plaza left fielder drove a long homer to deep centre. McColl made a fine effort to grab the drive but just got to the ball. Blewett got a scratch double on a high fly back of third

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 — (AP) — Along about September or October (when the baseball season is over) those high-powered Navy ball teams at Norfolk, Great Lakes, Sampson and Bainbridge will be busted up and many of the players shipped overseas....Johnny Rigney, Eddie Robinson and Frankie Marino of Norfolk already have received their orders and Elbie Fletcher, Fred Chapman, Sherry Robertson, Maxie Wilson, Truck Fernandez and Bob Scheffing are due to leave Bainbridge....There's also a rumor (still unconfirmed) that Mickey Cochrane will be pushing off from Great Lakes.

The golf pros, who finish their summer tour at Dallas, Sept. 10, will open the "winter" campaign by shooting for $13,333 in war bonds at Portland, Ore., Nov. 23-26. Then will come San Fransisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Del Mar, Phoenix, San Antonio and New Orleans open tournaments before the usual starter in Miami....If southern training is allowed next spring, the Dodgers may go to Mexico City—which won't be far enough away to suit some fans.

Today's Guest Star

Simcoe Loses To Brantford

SIMCOE, Aug. 30—Simcoe Army softballers bowed out of the Intermediate "A" OASA playdowns here last night when they were handed a 3-0 shutout at the hands of the Brantford Training Centre team. It was the second straight win in the second round series for the Brantford outfit, who took a 6-2 decision on their home diamond last Thursday.

Only one of the runs was earned in last night's game, that being a homer with none on by Smith in the fourth inning. The other two runs were gifts in the second frame when Seymore, Simcoe's starting hurler, and Carrier, who replaced him in that inning, each walked in a run. The locals could get only four hits off the slants of Norm Burtch, who went the route for Brantford.

Syl Apps made the best play of the game when he came through with an electrifying catch of Johnstone's smashing liner which looked good for two bases. Rich and Edwards were also outstanding for the homesters while Gibson stared at short for Brantford. Brantford will now play Hamilton in the next round.

REMEMBER WHEN—

By The Canadian Press

Tonypandy Tommy Farr, Welshman who wasn't supposed to have a chance, stunned experts with his plucky 15-round showing against Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion, at New York seven years ago tonight. The champion had little difficulty winning the decision, but he couldn't stop the rugged challenger.

Where's Joe?

JOE SAYS:

"Old paper used to be something to get rid of—fast! It littered up the house. So we'd burn it, or toss it in the garbage can. But, not today, no Sir! We know, now, that old paper is ammunition; that it can help win this war.

For waste paper can be turned into war maps, shipping cartons, even emergency water pipes and bandages.

So, let's save all of our old paper, and, when we've collected a sizable pile, either 'phone your nearest Salvage Depot or take it down yourself."

Segura-Talbert Meet In Tennis Match

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 — (AP) — The luck of the draw today indicated that two of the hottest matches in the 63rd United States national tennis championships, which began Wednesday at Forest Hills, will take place in the semi-final round rather than in the finals.

Francisco (Pancho) Segura, the two-handed swatter from Ecuador who has won nearly every important tournament this summer, and Billy Talbert of Indianapolis, his leading rival, were drawn in the same half of the men's singles. In the women's journey, Pauline Betzof Los Angeles and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Cal., winner and runner-up for the past two years, also landed in the same half of the draw.

The seedings, based on this season's tournament records, placed Segura in the No. 1 spot ahead of Lieut. Don McNeill of the U.S. Navy the 1940 national champion, and Margaret Osborne of San Fransisco at No. 2 on the women's list ahead of Miss Betz. McNeill, who has played in only one tournament since beating Segura at Buenos Aires last year, lost to the Ecuadorean at Southampton, N.Y., last Sunday.

Talbert, like Segura, a semi-finalist last year, was seeded third, followed by Sgt. Frank Parker, Muroc Field, Cal.; Lieut. Seymour Greenberg, Chicago; Air Cadet Robert Falkenburg, Hollywood, Cal.; Sidney B. Wood, Jr., New York, and Jack Jossie, Oakland, Cal.

TORONTO, Aug. 30. — (CP).— One thing everyone seems well agreed upon in the current N.H.L. president-candidate guessing match, and that is that the amount of freedom, or lack of it, given the successful job-seeker will play an important part in the decision.

It has always been bruited about darkly that the man at the helm had to be too much of a figurehead for the Board of Governors and other with their fingers in the league pie. That also has been given as one reason why the loquacious Red Dutton chafed under the collar and finally left the ship—because he wasn't given a free hand in the job.

If the league heads really want to do the best possible thing for the future of hockey, they would be well advised to select someone with power to wield the big stick—like Judge Landis does in baseball and let him have some scope for free expression. Otherwise, there is apt to be too little of a constructive nature coming from the president's office to satisfy any ambitious hockey-lover who succeeds to the mantle of Frank Calder temporarily borrowed by Dutton.

Underdogs Befriended.

A word of sympathy for the sometimes-maligned baseline coaches of baseball come from Hal Cole of the Guelph Mercury. Pointing out that quite often dodgeresque base plays are the fault of the runner, and not the coach, Cole adds darkly that "after all a baseline coach isn't allowed to lay hands on the runners."

It's probably lucky at that, or there might be mayhem right on the field.

Incidentally.

Now that the service sport picture is cleared up, plans are fast getting under way for a service hockey league on the west coast. Only proviso laid down by the army sports officer was that a "soldier first" policy must be followed. Only active service men and other G.S. soldiers medically unfit for overseas duty will be allowed to play. That will prevent a recurrence of the nasty little business that upset the lacrosse applecart out west this summer.

APTLY NAMED

The word grenade was taken from the French word for pomegranate becaus of a resemblance in shape to the fruit.

Two Wrestlers Mix It Outside Ring

Mathematics played a considerable part in the main bout of Frank Tunney's weekly wrestling rodeo at the Brock Street Arena Tuesday night when according to Referee Bert Maxwell, Earl Mose McCready and hustling Dr. Len Hall wound up with 1½ falls each and the bout was declared a draw. The mixup came when Doc Hall had taken the first fall and then in the second round the two gladiators had rolled out of the ring and got so busy manhandling each other on the arena floor that both were counted out by Referee Maxwell.

Hall was exultant. He claimed that the decision gave him two straight falls and won him the bout. Referee Maxwell, however, had it all figured out quite differently. Counting the two out, he ruled gave each of them half a fall and therefore it would be necessary to continue the battle. Hall retired to the dressing room in a highly indignant mood and when the rest period was up he refused to return to the ring, claiming that he was the winner of the bout.

Referee Maxwell issued an ultimatum that unless the angry Hall made an appearance within one minute he would award the match to McCready. The Doctor decided that the official would do exactly what he said and accordingly he got back into the ring within the time limit and the battle was resumed.

McCready evened up the match in short order by an effective application of his rocking chair cradle hold and that was that. Maxwell declared the result a draw, which did not make much of a hit with either battler.

A Tough Battle

Outside of the confusion over the half falls it was a grim, hard-fought and always exciting battle between two big grapplers who know all the answers in the wrestling game. This Hall is a tough hombre. He is fast for his poundage and is not a bit particular about what kind of tactics he uses and before long he had the even-tempered McCready fighting him at his own game. Probably the Moose got tired of being pushed around by a series of ring villains and decided it was time he handed out some of their own medicine. At all events he was in there swinging with wallops to the jaw, rabbit punches and elbow smashes and the result was plenty of excitement. The fans were pulling for the Aurora farmer and they seemed delighted to see him cut loose.

Hall took the first fall after 15 minutes tough battling by softening McCready up with a few punches and then applying the pile-driver to take the fall.

The second round was even tougher with both battlers turning it on and the climax came when the pair rolled out of the ring together and then resumed their warfare on the floor of the arena. Lusty punches were exchanged and every time one of the battlers tried to climb into the ring, he was pulled out again. Meanwhile Referee Maxwell was counting them out. Hall finally did succeed in getting through the ropes but he was too late. He made a violent protest but it did not prove very successful.

When the battle resumed after the rest Hall tried to carry the fight to his big opponent and he had McCready in trouble several times. Finally, however, the Moose caught him flat-footed with a flying tackle. He bowled him over in the same way twice more, then slammed him down a couple of times hard enough to make the ropes quiver and finally trussed him up with those powerful McCready legs and trundled him around the ring with the rocking chair hold before pinning him for the fall.

Sexton Beats Dunlop

Frank Sexton, popular Ohio wrestler, took the measure of Bunny Dunlop in a hard-fought semi-final. In accomplishing the feat Sexton did not have to use his favorite and spectacular giant swing. On the contrary he won the argument by the simple tactics of tossing the Toronto strong man out through the ropes and booting him back again every time he tried to get back into the ring. After the fourth tossout Dunlop was through and he was counted out before he could get through the ropes to resume the argument.

Bunny, however, did not go down without a fight. Previous to his repeated dives on to the floor of the arena he had been treating the popular choice about as roughly as the liberated French people are handling Nazi sympathizers. Dunlop kicked and gouged, brought punches up from the floor, apparently used a secret weapon on Sexton's eyes and in general carried on a one-man riot. The crowd were demanding his head about this stage and Referee Maxwell got a panning because the fans figured he was not checking up on the bad man from Toronto.

In the preliminary the fast-moving Johnny Gyroffy had too much moxy for Jimmy Burke, former member of the Canadian Navy who substituted for Tom Collins, out of action because of boils. Burke tried hard to take the decision over the ex-airman but Gyroff's speed and experience were too much for the youngster who recently wore the blue of the Navy. Gyroffy finally won the bout after 15 minutes with a crotch hold and body slam.

Referee Bert Maxwell weathered the storm in the three bouts while as usual Fred Scates introduced the battlers and took care of the timing chore.

CLOSE SHAVE FOR DIZZY—Paul (Dizzy) Trout, who tosses up victories for the Detroit Tigers, is more scared at the antics of his barber in Detroit than he is of the big bad St. Louis Brownies, which club the Tigers meet in an all-important four-game series which may decide the pennant race. Dizzy is getting a close shave—and no fooling.
